

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7766

The villas in Shanheyue are all designed in the style of traditional Chinese courtyard houses. In order to maintain the classical Chinese charm on the ground, the entire community adopts a system of separating pedestrians and vehicles. Vehicles are not allowed to drive on the ground, and all vehicles must go through the underground garage to the basement of their own villas.

Nanako was always meticulous, so she waited for charlie Wade at the entrance of the community. After charlie Wade arrived, she got into his car and guided him into the underground parking garage.

As charlie Wade drove into the underground parking garage, Nanako hesitated for a long time before asking him, "How have you been these past few days, charlie Wade-kun?"

charlie Wade shook his head: "I've been in seclusion, but because I can't calm my mind, it hasn't been very effective."

Nanako sighed, "It must be because I miss Ms. Hsiao so much, right?"

charlie Wade didn't shy away from the topic and nodded slightly, saying, "I've been thinking about where she might be, how she's doing, and I'm also hoping that Detective Li will find a clue soon, so I haven't been able to focus on my cultivation."

After saying that, he asked Nanako, "What have you been busy with lately?"

Nanako said, "I went back to Japan a few days ago."

"Oh?" charlie Wade asked curiously, "Why did you suddenly go back to Japan?"

Nanako asked him, "Does charlie Wade-kun still remember the amulet that Nanako gave you?"

"I remember," charlie Wade nodded and said, "It seems you asked for it in Japan?"

"Yes." Nanako nodded and said, "It was obtained from Kinkaku-ji Temple in Kyoto."

charlie Wade asked her, “You didn’t go and ask for amulets again, did you?”

“No.” Nanako said somewhat sadly, “I went back this time because the abbot of Kinkaku-ji Temple, Master Kūin, passed away. I had received guidance from him before, so I went back to pay my respects.”

charlie Wade has always been an atheist and does not believe in any religion, so he knows nothing about Master Kongyin. When he heard that Nanako went back to pay respects to a high-ranking Buddhist monk, he did not think it was anything special. He just casually said, “You traveled a long way back to pay respects, so this monk must be very remarkable.”

Nanako nodded: “Master Kūin was the most respected monk in all of Japan. He lived to be 125 years old when he passed away.”

charlie Wade asked her, “So old? Are you a cultivator?”

Nanako shook her head and said, “No, he was obsessed with Buddhism all his life and spent his whole life studying Buddhist scriptures and Buddhist teachings.”

charlie Wade was somewhat surprised; it was truly rare for an ordinary person to live to be over 120 years old.

However, rare doesn’t mean nonexistent, so he didn’t take it too seriously and asked Nanako, “When a national treasure-level monk passes away, is the funeral very grand?”

“No, not at all,” Nanako said. “The monk’s funeral was not open to the public; it was held inside Kinkaku-ji Temple, and only monks attended. I was not qualified to attend his funeral.”

As she spoke, Nanako suddenly remembered something and said, “Oh right, charlie Wadejun, the one who presided over the funeral for Master Kongyin was Master Jingqing, who enlightened me and helped me attain enlightenment.”
“Master Jingqing?”

charlie Wade was somewhat surprised to hear the name.

This person has appeared in my ears quite often. He was able to help Nanako attain enlightenment at Qixia Temple, and I never expected that he would also have connections with a high-ranking Japanese monk.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7767

He wasn't a suspicious person, but his intuition told him that if someone unrelated to him kept appearing in his life, there must be something to it.

So he asked Nanako, "Did you see that monk Jingqing again this time?"

"No." Nanako shook her head. "After Master Jingqing presided over the funeral, he left Japan. I didn't attend the funeral, so I didn't see Master Jingqing. I went to Kinkaku-ji to pay my respects to Master Kongyin after the funeral. Kinkaku-ji is currently under renovation and was not accepting worshippers for the time being. However, fortunately, the Ito family has always been the largest donor to Kinkaku-ji, so the temple made an exception for them."

charlie Wade nodded slightly and sighed, "There aren't many cultivators I actually encounter in life. The few I do encounter are either enemies or were enemies in the past. This Master Jingqing can enter the Dao through Buddhism, so he must have extraordinary abilities. I wish I had the opportunity to meet him and discuss the Dao with him."

As he spoke, he was reminded of his own reflection.

Cultivators are extremely rare, so from the time he began to comprehend the Dao, every cultivator who appeared around him had some connection with him.

They're either members of the Anti-Seimei Society, or people close to them, like Nanako.

The former was targeting him, while the latter suddenly attained enlightenment beside him, and was enlightened by that Master Jingqing.

Looking at the issue from this perspective, it seems that the appearance of Master Jingqing would not conform to this pattern if he had no connection with me at all.

At this moment, Nanako had no idea what charlie Wade was thinking. When she heard that charlie Wade wanted to meet with Master Jingqing, out of love for her beloved, she blurted out, "Since charlie Wade wants to see Master Jingqing, then Nanako will try to contact him for you and see if he is willing to meet with charlie Wade.”

charlie Wade asked, “Do you have his contact information?”

Nanako shook her head: “No, but Master Jingqing is quite active in the Buddhist community. If you want to find him, it shouldn’t be difficult.”

charlie Wade then asked, “What is this person’s status in the Buddhist community? Does anyone else know that he is a cultivator?”

Nanako said, “Master Jingqing was a young monk who became a nun at a young age. He studied at several Buddhist academies and then began to travel around, staying at various temples, giving lectures and debating the Dharma. He has a very profound understanding of many Buddhist teachings and has been recognized by many Buddhist masters. However, I think the outside world definitely does not know his identity as a cultivator. After all, being a cultivator is such an extraordinary thing. Just like charlie Wadejun, he would definitely not let outsiders know about it in normal times.”

charlie Wade suddenly realized something and murmured, “You’re right... Every cultivator has a sense of guilt for possessing a treasure; they cannot, and dare not, let others know their secrets...”

At this point, charlie Wade countered, “But Master Jingqing has no relation to you, and you’ve never even met him before. Why would he risk exposing himself to enlighten you and help you attain enlightenment?!”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7768

“This...I...I don’t know either...” Nanako was also a little confused.

charlie Wade felt something was wrong the more he thought about it. He frowned and said, “Cultivators in this world are like hunters in the dark forest described in ‘The Three-Body Problem.’ No one dares to light a torch to attract the other. Moreover, when they see other torches, they either stay away immediately or kill them immediately. Someone like Master Jing Qing, who takes the initiative to help you comprehend the Dao, does not conform to the law of the jungle in this world.”

Nanako felt a little flustered and quickly asked him, “Does charlie Wadejun think that Master Jingqing has ill intentions?”

“Not exactly.” charlie Wade shook his head and said, “He risked his life to help you comprehend the Dao without expecting anything in return. He must not be a bad person, and he must not have any malicious intentions. So, it’s not that he has ill intentions, it’s just that his motives are unclear.”

charlie Wade is not Lin Wan’er (Alani) after all.

If he were Lin Wan’er (Alani), when he thought about this, he should have wondered if Claire’s departure was also related to Master Jingqing.

If he could think of this, and then try to trace Claire’s previous actions, he might be able to arrive at the same conclusion as Lin Wan’er (Alani).

Right now, he felt that Master Jingqing’s appearance seemed to have another purpose, and he was eager to know who this person was.

Nanako then said, “Since Lord charlie Wade suspects Master Jing Qing’s motives, then let’s find an opportunity to ask him directly. If he just happened to discover that I have the potential for enlightenment and casually enlightened me, then there is no need to worry too much. But if he intentionally approached me and intended to enlighten me, then this matter becomes complicated. Because if a cultivator could pay attention to someone like me who has not yet attained enlightenment, the only possibility is that he paid attention to you, Lord charlie Wade, first.”

Nanako’s analysis further cleared up the fog.

charlie Wade also felt that the probability of a cultivator with an extremely low chance of existence encountering a person with an equally low chance of talent by chance, and being generous enough to help her comprehend the Dao, was frighteningly slim if you did the math.

If the probability of a cultivator existing in this world is one in ten million, and the probability of having the talent to become a cultivator is one in one million, then the probability of the two of them coincidentally meeting in one place is much smaller than the probability of an asteroid hitting the Earth.

Therefore, the latter is more likely, and much more likely.

If that's the case...

charlie Wade suddenly made a bold deduction: he felt that Master Jing Qing was most likely the same kind of person as Tang Sihai.

Thinking of this, he suddenly wanted to go to Zijin Mountain to see Lin Wan'er (Alani) and tell her his conclusion, because in charlie Wade's subconscious, the person he could be most honest with and had the least secrets from in this world was Lin Wan'er (Alani).

Aside from Lin Wan'er (Alani), he held back with everyone else.

Seeing charlie Wade's solemn expression and his silence, Nanako realized the seriousness of the situation and quickly said, "I suddenly feel that this Master Jingqing is quite unfathomable. How exactly did he get to know charlie Wade-jun, and how did he get to know me through charlie Wade-jun?"

Inspired by her, charlie Wade quickly asked her, "Do you remember the details of your meeting with him?"

"I remember." Nanako nodded and said, "I heard from others that Master Jingqing was very effective in blessing amulets, so I had the idea to ask for one for charlie Wadejun, which is why I met him at Qixia Temple..."

As she spoke, she whispered somewhat shyly, "charlie Wadejun knows that I... I've always had some feudal and superstitious beliefs..."

charlie Wade seized on something and immediately asked her, "So, where did you hear about him from?"

Nanako replied truthfully, "It was in the elevator, in the elevator of Tomson Riviera."

charlie Wade found it even more strange and frowned, saying, "In the elevator of Tomson Riviera? What a coincidence!"

"Yes," Nanako said. "I was taking the elevator down to the basement when a neighbor came up. She was on the phone talking to someone about Master Jingqing's visit to Qixia Temple and that he would be blessing amulets for believers. So I went up to him and asked him about it..."

charlie Wade narrowed his eyes, a sharp glint flashing within them, and then he said decisively, “This woman is suspicious!”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7769

From that moment on, charlie Wade became extremely wary of coincidences.

When he looks at these coincidences now, a thought immediately pops into his mind: Where do so many coincidences come from in this world?

Even the Nine Mysterious Heavenly Scripture that was revealed when my father-in-law broke the bottle was not something I obtained by chance, but rather the result of my parents’ planning many years ago.

My successful enlightenment was also thanks to my father’s bestowal of his Dragon Rank upon me, which made me a Ascended Dragon.

So when Nanako overheard in the elevator that Master Jingqing was coming to Qixia Temple, and then went there, and was enlightened by Master Jingqing, these seemingly coincidental events were more like a sophisticated trap that lured people deeper and deeper.

If this series of events is a series of interconnected schemes, then the woman Nanako encountered in the elevator was the first bait!

So he immediately asked Nanako, “Do you know that woman? She lives downstairs from you?”

Nanako nodded and said, “I’ve seen her a few more times since then, and we’ve exchanged a few pleasantries in the elevator. We’re fairly familiar with each other. She lives on the ninth floor. Her husband is away on business all year round, so she lives alone.”

charlie Wade immediately said, “Wait a moment, I’m going to make a phone call.”

After saying that, charlie Wade immediately took out his phone and called Don Albert.

When the call connected, Don Albert respectfully asked, “Master Wade, what are your instructions?”

charlie Wade instructed him: “Don Albert, check the owner information of Tomson Riviera and send me the owner information of the ninth floor of Miss Ito’s building.”

The high-rise building that Nanako bought is the best one in Tomson Riviera, with only one unit on each floor.

Don Albert had deep-rooted connections in Jinling. Upon receiving the call, he immediately began to inquire and soon sent the information to charlie Wade.

The apartment on the ninth floor is registered under the name Zhang Xixi. However, Zhang Xixi is not a Chinese citizen but an American citizen of Chinese descent. She owns an import and export company in Nanjing, and she is qualified to purchase the property because of her investments in China.

charlie Wade found it strange. The woman’s identity was very different from Nanako’s description. Nanako said that the woman’s husband worked in another city all year round, while she was a housewife, but this did not seem to be the case.

Next, it is necessary to confirm whether this woman’s company is a shell company and whether her American citizenship can be verified.

So he planned to have Don Albert continue investigating the woman and the company, and then send the woman’s identity to Fei Kexin, who was in the United States, so that Fei Kexin could help check whether her American citizenship was real.

Nanako also realized the seriousness of the problem and knew that charlie Wade must be very frustrated, so she comforted him, “charlie Wade-kun, don’t worry too much. We’ll investigate everything slowly and the truth will come out. In the future, we should pay more attention to unusual opportunities and coincidences around us. Maybe we can seize the opportunity.”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7770

After saying that, she suddenly thought of a detail and quickly said, “But Charlie Wadejun, thinking back, I haven’t seen this woman for a while. Maybe she has already completed her mission and left. If you investigate her in a big way now, you might alert them. In that case, they will know that you have noticed their presence. If they had other plans, they will probably be more cautious. Wouldn’t that make it much harder to find clues?”

Charlie Wade murmured, “You mean to pretend you don’t know and then wait patiently?”

“That’s right.” Nanako said confidently, “In Sun Tzu’s Art of War, there is a saying that goes, ‘Use a plan to turn the tables on the enemy.’ Now is a good opportunity to do just that. Pretend you don’t know anything, let the enemy lower their guard and use the same trick again, and then you can turn the tables.”

Charlie Wade felt that what Nanako said made a lot of sense.

If we investigate, the other party may not be afraid.

In fact, whether or not to investigate this woman thoroughly might be a warning sign left behind by the other party.

Thinking of this, Charlie Wade gave up the idea of having Fei Kexin thoroughly investigate the other party’s identity. Instead, he asked Don Albert to arrange for someone to check the water and electricity bills of the ninth floor of Tomson Riviera to see the recent water and electricity consumption of this unit. This would help him determine whether the house was occupied. If the recent water consumption was zero and the electricity consumption was extremely low, it would prove that the house was vacant and no one lived there anymore.

Don Albert was very efficient. He quickly sent a message back to Charlie Wade, saying that the water bill for the apartment on the ninth floor had been zero for nearly a month, and the electricity bill was only 68.03 yuan.

If a house is vacant and there are no leaks or water leaks, there will indeed be no water consumption.

However, electricity is different. The refrigerator, router, and smart home appliances that can connect to the internet will all consume electricity continuously. The monthly electricity bill of more than 60 yuan is only a little over 100 kilowatt-hours, which is four or five kilowatt-hours per day.

The power consumption is at least one-third for a side-by-side refrigerator, and the floor area of a single unit in Tomson Riviera is two to three hundred square meters. The developer installed embedded AP panels in each room, and the network takes up another third. The rest is for gas alarms, smoke alarms, and emergency call buttons.

There's a possibility the other party has installed networked surveillance cameras in the house, so they could be notified in real time if anyone breaks in.

Therefore, judging from the water and electricity consumption, no one has lived in this house for the past month.

It seems this woman has completed her mission and left Jinling. Even if her identity is discovered, it's unlikely she'll be found.

charlie Wade felt somewhat irritated because he realized that there was an invisible net surrounding him, controlling most of his movements, and even starting to arrange and influence his life, much like in The Truman Show.

He even began to suspect that his wife, Claire, might also be one of them. If that were the case, her departure might simply be because the role they had assigned her had been played out.

Although he knew the other party might not actually have any malicious intent, the feeling of being secretly manipulated still made him very uncomfortable.

Nanako quickly changed the subject, saying, "charlie Wadejun, we've learned our lesson from this. Let's not let her influence us too much now. Our father is waiting for us at home for dinner. Let's go upstairs quickly!"

charlie Wade sighed softly and nodded slightly.

He knew that there was something wrong with his mindset, which was largely due to Claire's departure. At this moment, he suddenly wanted to find Lin Wan'er, sit with her under the Pu'er tea tree, brew tea together, and tell her about his troubles, to see how she would comfort him or inspire him.

So he adjusted his mindset and said to Nanako, "We can't keep Mr. Ito waiting any longer, so let's go upstairs quickly. But I can't stay too long tonight, I have things to do later."

Nanako knew that charlie Wade had just come out of seclusion and must still have a lot to take care of, so she nodded and said, “After you finish eating, charlie Wade-kun, please go ahead and do what you need to do. Old Man will not have any objections.”
