

At The Top 1341

Life at The Top

Chapter 1341

Henry was about to ask Jasper what he had in mind when the request for a video conference rang out from the computer.

Henry had no other choice but to swallow the words he wanted to say and wait until after Jasper was done with the call.

It was a video call from Jake.

Jasper did not mind that Henry was present and answered the call immediately.

“Mr. Laine, as per your request, we’ve already begun to increase the number of our positions and funds invested. We have a total position worth 1.89 billion US Dollars, with a 5 million US Dollar increase every hour.”

“And our losses?” Jasper asked calmly.

Jake paused before replying difficultly, “We’ve lost a total of 230 million US Dollars right now. Every 1 million we invest amounts to a loss of 380 thousand US Dollars, and this loss percentage shows signs of a steady increase.”

“The entities targeting us since the beginning have increased their attacks, so most of our losses are going to them.

“Besides this, we’ve also realized that many financial organizations are starting to operate against us as well. Due to our continuous investment of funds, they seem to plan to benefit from us.

that most of these organizations are from Wall Street. A minority are from Europe, and unsurprised to know the involvement of Wall Street and European organizations, but he was shocked to find that an organization from Sunrise land was at all, Jasper could guess

no other organization would be willing to involve themselves

need a position of 2.5 billion US Dollars before the market

Jake was still it immediately, Mr. Laine. But I must remind you that according to our current rate, our amass a huge enough amount, our operation against market trend will essentially become a flame to the moths in the market. It might not have been tempting enough before this, and the organizations might not have organizations against us groups together, all our funds will get they want. Before the day of reckoning arrives, it doesn’t matter even if the accounts show a complete sighed and replied, "Alright, Mr. Laine. I'll get

"Good..."

Henry, who had his eyes

so we're losing hundreds of thousands of Somer Dollars replied, "That's

Chapter 1342

"What happens if we lose everything and have to liquidate?" Henry asked.

"Then you go back and leech off of your dad, while I live here with my little bit of money in Nauritus City," Jasper replied calmly.

"So the person targeting us is Fabian?" Henry hit jackpot with his question.

"Most likely." Jasper sighed.

Jake's investigation all this while had not come up empty handed. No matter how good Fabian was at hiding himself, Jake could still find a few leads. While there was no concrete evidence, the funds were proven to originate from Harbor City.

With this point confirmed, Jasper could also be certain that the mastermind behind this was Fabian and no one else.

"Who are the other organizations, then?" Henry asked.

Jasper replied, "I can confirm that that the organization from Sunrise Land is Softwin. But as for those from Wall Street, there are too many of them for me to lock onto. And I have absolutely no idea about those from Europe."

said, " So we're literally sending pretty slightly and murmured to in Jasper's calm behavior and in front of him had always been able to fight in Harbor City alone was something most people had involved throughout the entire process

to fish someone

Jasper laughing

gone crazy, you're the only one who shrugged and replied, "Maybe I'm crazy too." Then, sustain ourselves and isn't that good enough? What's the point of so much money anyway? We win, then we'll go to clubs and look for pretty girls, lose money, I'm sure with your title as Young Master Law, you'd still have pretty girls to sleep with at

Chapter 1343

Capone was the office manager of Colossal Investments Headquarters' advanced investment department.

He was mainly in charge of a sum of funds from the headquarters, and his job was to help this sum of funds grow on the securities market.

The more profit he made, the more his bonus was. There were many advanced investment office managers like himself in Colossal Investments, and they would all undergo a performance evaluation every month. The only metric to this evaluation was the amount each investment manager earned the investment bank, with the most profitable person gaining the largest benefits.

Therefore, Capone was under a lot of pressure to perform.

He was in a great mood today.

"Mr. Morrison, thank you for your information. I'll make sure to remember your kindness."

Capone held the phone with his legs crossed. His shiny leather shoe twirled around slightly as he spoke flatteringly.

"You were our closest classmate during university. How could I possibly forget you when there's such a great opportunity before us?"

on the other end of the line. "I'm sure you know this Capone, but I hope you do as you

long as I receive any news from the senior executives my opponents during this month's performance evaluation. I'll have much greater chances of being the deputy manager of

'take as you need'. I believe that our partnership will be a merry one, but I do suggest of Colossal Investment's Terra regional branch, Celine Maynard, had defended Jasper during the senior manager conference. This caused your

as well, and I'm sure you know that when it comes to the senior executives, profit is always the most a joyful smile on his face. The monitor before him showed the overall market trendline of Jasper's orders

Knock knock knock.

knocked on enter and in our comprehensive investigation, we've found no leads at crazy, or that Jasper believes that the United States stock the only ones. Many people have been investigating him, but

Life at The Top

Chapter 1344

Since great opportunities like these were rare, everyone originally wondered if Jasper had an ulterior motive in the beginning. After all, the situation was too good to be true.

However, as time passed, everyone also began to draw their own conclusions.

Jasper had gone crazy.

They no longer cared what the man's original intentions were, and they took the money he provided on a silver platter.

With that, more organizations began to enter the market to snap up Jasper's orders.

Every order Jasper listed would be purchased within a few seconds.

As time passed, everyone started to feel impatient.

This situation had, after all, attracted the attention of many.

Jasper's phone was similarly bombarded with calls. Even Winston Bennett called Jasper himself to ask why Jasper did such a thing.

him the same

of the United States stock market. That was

tsk. Just how many people have their

at the total investment already amounts to 2.5

the screen

could not help but feel frantic at

he reincarnated and the two planes did not sounded carefree when he talked to Henry about it before, but he knew that it

Lord Alvarado and the little prince had each invest 5 billion into

to come after him if he screwed

Jasper was betting

was impossible for him not my friends in Harbor City that know of our relationship even called me in the beginning when they learned that you were making a move. They told me to pull me to quickly distance myself from

Chapter 1345

Due to the time difference, Somerland was 13 hours ahead of the United States.

It was 1 PM in Somerland, which was around midnight on September the 11th in the United States. The night was quiet, as if needing a shocking change to wake its people.

Jasper and Henry had just gotten out of the office and were about to go eat lunch when Julian suddenly came over with a report.

“Jasper, there’s already a result regarding Calvin’s situation. His sentence will be around 8-10 years and the officials wish to get the victim’s opinion and ask if they agree with the standard sentencing.”

Jasper replied calmly, “Just follow the legal provisions available. We might be the victims, but that doesn’t mean we’re above the law.”

“10 years is long enough. By the time Calvin is released after 10 years, the world would’ve changed as well.” Julian nodded understandingly at Jasper’s reply.

The man’s intention was clear. Any criminal sentence had an upper and lower limit. The final decision on the length of jail time would be affected by the details of the crime and whether the defendant repented.

If Jasper decided on 10 years, then it would be the maximum of 10 years.

There was nothing anyone could harp on.

“I’ll pass your intentions along. Oh, and, Jasper, there’s one more thing...”

Jasper exclaimed in shock, “Jul, you’re even speaking long windedly now. Just get to the point.”

Henry then snickered and made a joke, “Did you set your eyes on a girl and now want Jasper to be your wingman?”

Julian replied awkwardly, “Stop making jokes about me, I’m talking serious business here.”

“After what happened to Calvin, a huge crisis appeared at Penelope’s company suddenly. Her supply channel from Harbor City seemed to have collapsed, but Penelope already signed contracts with many of her underwriters. Now that she can’t provide the goods, the underwriters are stirring up trouble for her.”

“Coupled with the fact that Calvin was caught and sent to prison, Penelope’s under a lot of stress and she tried to kill herself last night.”

furrowed his brows at what

Penelope doing now?” Jasper she's already been treated in the hospital. She's in MidHeart Hospital right now but her suicide attempt was also what if Penelope dies, they won't be able to ask anyone to repay her debts... basically, the situation isn't looking good

Jasper sighed lightly.

not want to involve himself

her a job before this was so that he could completely let go of her job well or if she started her own company had nothing to do with Jasper anymore. However, she ended up being put Calvin in jail, not that Jasper thought he handled the

MidHeart Hospital, then," Jasper

turned the car

playfully, "Lingering

was very sensitive

see other women appear

"Nonsense!"

company threatening to close down. Not to mention, I'm the one who sent her brother to prison as well.

Henry grinned in relief.

had always been upstanding in this room in MidHeart Hospital. Seven to eight chubby men were glaring and blocking the entrance to the door. Each of them looked fierce and with a man in a

Bang!

a water jug being kicked and

Nauritus City or even Southeast Province, in front of Penelope's hospital bed and roared. He ignored the sickeningly pale complexion she had and the fact that tubes frantic beeping of the monitoring device blood pressure was skyrocketing and her

Chapter 1346

The yell with a wild rage that spooked Martin.

He did not get a chance to turn around and look at the person when he felt someone behind him grab the back of his collar. The next second, his body was being lifted into the air as the world around him started spinning. Then, there was a loud bang as pain started to flood his body.

In the blink of an eye, the muscular Martin who weighed more than a hundred pounds was like a little chick being grabbed and thrown out of the ward by Julian.

As for the several big fellows outside the room, they all encountered the same situation as him.

Almost ten of them were lying down, scattered around on the hospital's corridor outside the ward. It was a spectacular scene.

"You got something coming, little dumb*ss."

Martin lifted his head and saw a young face brimming with an aura of stubbornness.

He was familiar with this kind of aura. Second generation with extraordinary backgrounds often possessed this overwhelming aura, himself included. However, the young man who was in front of him was emanating a certain stubbornness that was overwhelming.

the sharp senses the second generation possessed, Martin had trying to make her pay, but are you even able to get

though he were an idiot

the f*ck

his teeth and asked while he endured the am 1?" Henry smiled broadly, "You'll moment, Jasper had already abnormality. He went out and called the nurse immediately without saying anything else. The doctor and nurses had previously been chased out by Martin, and none of them were willing to risk getting beaten up to rescue the side of the bed, Penelope had already lost

"Penelope?"

name gently, but she was this moment, the doctor and nurses hurried in. Jasper immediately took blame them for not saving her in time. It was obvious that have to rescue the patient, and we might need to undress her... Are

Life at The Top

Chapter 1347

"I don't give a sh*t about you, but I'm interfering if you're making her kill herself." Jasper said coldly.

Martin sneered and replied, "You're interfering? Well, you can get your money out and pay the debts for her then. I'll leave right away with the money. Do you think I like being here?"

Martin poked Jasper as he saw his sullen eyes, and scolded, "You don't have it? If you can't f*cking pay then why the f*ck are you bluffing here?"

Smack.

It was a loud and sharp slap.

Martin squealed as he took a few steps back, covering his face.

Henry flung his arms and made a spitting sound, "F*ck, what an oily face you got there, it's disgusting."

As he said that, Henry gave Martin a grin and said, "You better watch your words, be careful cause you might get yourself in trouble, dumb*ss."

while covering his face, "Who the f*ck are you the men that Martin brought along with him surrounded him, each of them eyeing

out, and Henry, who looked dangerous

die for offending me in the Southeast excited when he

It sounded familiar.

How amazing is that? I'm father does, what your grandfather does. Maybe after I know that, I'll know what your background is like, you should never offend anyone from the Monty family.

family that impressive?" Jasper a creepy way as he stared at Jasper. "But crushing a piece of sh*t like you this entire time. Didn't the three of you ever hear about us? It's alright, hurry up and go home to your elderly to ask about it. Then you'll know

it would be about how to

Chapter 1348

What Henry said caused Martin's face to turn a dark reddish purple.

He was embarrassed, angry, and ashamed. Those intertwining emotions caused his eyes to become bloodshot as he so badly wanted to swallow Henry whole.

“Good! Very good!”

Martin turned shame into anger. He pointed at Jasper and Henry as he yelled and stomped his feet, “No one dares to talk to me that way in Southeast Province! You’re looking down on the Montys, huh? Alright! Just you wait!”

After he said that, Martin took out his phone.

When Jasper saw Martin calling for backup, Jasper said insipidly, “Are you calling your elders?”

Martin chuckled coldly and said, “Are you scared? If you kneel, beg for mercy, kowtow three times, and then crawl out of here, I might consider forgiving you.”

“I mean it’s useless even if you call those irrelevant people. Why don’t I help you call them instead?” As Jasper said that, he dialed a number.

When Martin saw Jasper making the call, he was immediately bewildered.

He did not know who Jasper was calling.

person on the phone before tossing the phone over

phone to his ear

he heard a familiar yet with it because he would have the chance to meet the owner of this voice whenever he went to the family gathering at the end of the year. Every time,

Martin only had one or two chances to hear his voice a year, and it was always in a public setting. Unfortunately, he right? I first thing Conrad said on the phone shook Martin’s did not expect Jasper to get through to Conrad with just could say anything,

now on, you’re caused Martin to feel as if his soul had

Montys, Conrad had the right to remove his name from the genealogical record completely unless the seniors that nobody in his family would offend Conrad because of a

of his family

“S-sir, I... I... Why?”

shock, Martin subconsciously

Chapter 1349

Conrad's icy voice pulled Martin back to reality.

"Sir, I had no idea," Martin said, his voice breaking.

"Do you think it matters whether or not you were aware of this?" Martin said coldly.

Martin shivered and he was speechless.

"Give the phone back to Jasper."

After Conrad's order, Martin did not dare to hesitate. He handed the phone back to Jasper with both hands shaking.

Earlier, he was very arrogant, but now, he was as timid as a mouse as he did not even dare to look Jasper in the eyes.

At this moment, he was feeling extremely remorseful. He just wanted to get out of this scary place as fast as possible.

However, he knew no matter where he ran to, it would all be the same. His life was over!

After he took back his phone, Jasper said with a grin, "How are you going to take care of this, Mr. Monty?"

said calmly, "I don't need to do anything. Martin is not a Monty anymore so

Jasper said half

just one of the ways eyes. After Conrad's secret collaboration with Jasper, the latter felt that the current Conrad had become much more powerful was not the same person he was in Nauritus City now. Will you do me the honor of having a chat with me, Mr. Laine?" Conrad asked all

don't think I was not the main event soon, and Jasper still needed to go back and being resorted. Therefore, Jasper naturally did not have the time nor mood wait. It's fine. I'll be waiting in Brew

Jasper thought

right now

They were not friends.

not resolve the grievances between them, and now that Conrad was on Fabian's side, so they were not

Chapter 1350

"S-sir, I know my mistake. Please forgive me!"

How would Martin dare to argue with Henry again? At this moment, he only wanted to run away.

Henry scoffed and did not even bother to look at Martin. He was not interested in lowly children of wealthy families anyway.

"Monty..."

Jasper said calmly and walked in front of Martin.

"Do you know why most families aren't able to stick around for a long time?"

How would Martin dare to answer such a sensitive question? He lowered his head timidly and did not dare to say anything.

"Because there are too many people like you."

Jasper sounded cold.

"Every founder of a family has great skill and strategy, if not, they would not be able to create a foundation that would be worthy of being called a family. However, there are always good and bad people sprouting up within the descendants. Aside from a surname, what do people like you have that you're so proud of?"

painfully. However, he did not dare

Laine. Trash like me is everywhere. One rotten apple spoils the barrel. I deserve to die, and I am trash. I am

he shook his

with your contract

his head and said, "What contract? I don't know.

contract just ended, so I was just about to extend the contract with her. However, Miss Hunt's sick so we can only

when he heard

was smiling

of contract is a breach of contract. How much money does Penelope owe you? Tell me and I'll pay for her. Not just you, said that, Martin shook his lucky to be alive, so how could he misunderstood what

I'm serious. There is no breach of contract. As for the others, I know who they are, so I'll talk to them.

crisis, so we'll just wait patiently. It'll be best if she looked at Martin ruminating. This kid was Jasper looked at him. He figured he said the right thing to