Chapter 2271-After Saul heard this, he immediately came over with the petri dish and questioned Osmond.

“You said that I listened to your suggestions and improved my oil after coming back, resulting in better test results this time. But have you ever considered that I wouldn’t do anything after coming back?”

“That is to say, the crude oil sample submitted for inspection was exactly the same last time and this time. Why is the test result different? Are you lying?” Saul raised his voice suddenly and Osmond froze.

Osmond also figured he could not be cowardly.

“Are you questioning me? I’m a professor from the University of Pennsylvania with a double degree! The International Petroleum Organization sent me here! You can doubt me, but you still failed!

“Go hire a lawyer and take all of us to court if you have the guts! Farewell!”

After speaking, Osmond was about to turn around and leave. Unfortunately, just as he turned around, he found that the outside of the laboratory was crowded with people.

These people all stared at him covetously and none of them said a word. The scene looked very eerie.

“Mr. Jefferson, who are these? Order them to get out of the way! I warn you, you must not be impulsive. Otherwise, the consequences will be unimaginable!”

Saul sneered when he saw how flustered Osmond was.

“They are all employees who had to stop working because of your repeated lies that caused me to fail the inspection. These people are very kind, they just want to hear you tell the truth.”

It was the first time Osmond was surrounded by so many people, but he always believed in Bella’s ability.

He looked up at the clock on the wall. Twenty minutes had passed. Now, he had no chance to report to the assistant that he was safe, which meant that Bella might already be on the way!

Osmond suddenly became confident when he thought about this.

“Hmph, Mr. Jefferson, no matter how many people you call, you can’t change the truth. Listen, I’m not afraid of anyone. If you have the guts, beat me to death!”

Saul also had his way of dealing with Osmond when he saw his refusal to cooperate.

“I don’t need to do anything to you. You will only have something against me if I do that. I’m just going to keep you here for a few more days until you help me pass the test! Come on, take Professor Osmond away!”

Soon, security guards came forward and took Osmond away to put him under house arrest.

Just as he expected, Bella was heading towards the oil industrial park with her people at this time.

After Osmond informed Bella in advance, she had been very concerned about the situation here. Unexpectedly, in less than an hour, she received a distress call from Osmond's assistant.

At this moment, Bella was speeding in an off-road vehicle.

As she looked at the yellow sand passing by outside the window, Bella could not help cursing secretly.

"This damned Saul actually dares to beard the lion in his den! When we get there, we must catch him and punish them severely! I want to let the oil merchants in Bashra know the punishment for rebelling against the Oil Chamber of Commerce!"

Bella looked annoyed because Saul's behavior was tantamount to slapping her across the face.

Yves, the deputy leader of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries who was driving next to her, also smiled frankly at this time.

"Don't worry, Miss Bella, I don't think Saul will have the guts. He is just an honest man who has been cornered."

"Look at the weapons and equipment and people here. Those small potatoes are incomparable to us!"

Life at the Top Chapter 2272-Yves was right. This was also where Bella's confidence came from.

"I know, so it's all up to you today!"

After saying that, Bella had no more worries in her heart. It was just a small Petroleum Chamber of Commerce in Bashra, and Bella could easily infiltrate the entire organization.

Murik, the current president of the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, seemed to be a man of integrity. However, because he was too stupidly foolish, he would believe in any false order after Bella used a few tricks.

Moreover, Saul was currently in his oil base. He was going to deal with Osmond and see if he could punish him a little. That way, Osmond might tell the truth once he could not endure it anymore.

In this way, Saul would be able to stop this trickery and prove his innocence.

"So? Has that guy come clean?" Saul looked at his subordinate, who immediately shook his head.

"No, Osmond is very stubborn. We have tried many methods but none of them worked."

"Really? I'll go and see. I don't believe he can be so tight-lipped." Saul usually looked very kind.

However, when forced, his whole person would change.

He got up and went to the second floor, where screams were coming from a room at the end of the corridor. Saul did not need to ask to know that Osmond must be getting tortured inside.

After he opened the door and went in, he found that his subordinates were whipping Osmond non-stop.

Osmond had indeed taken a lot of beatings now, but it did not seem like he was going to tell the truth.

"I have seen through your little trick. I didn't believe it when someone reminded me. But now it seems that there must be someone behind you! As long as you tell the truth, I'll let you go!"

Upon hearing Saul's words, Osmond slowly raised his head. He looked at Saul in front of him with disdain and spat angrily.

"You want to beat me until I confess? You must be dreaming! To tell you the truth, I had already arranged a rescue team before I came. If I don't go out in half an hour, they will rush over to save me! Your days are numbered!"

Of course, Saul did not expect this, so he panicked a little.

"Well, Osmond, you have a guilty conscience indeed, otherwise, why did you arrange for someone to save you before you come?"

"But don't forget, my place is in the suburbs. Therefore, it will take some time before your people come, right?"

"Just wait and see how I'll torture you. Continue..."

Saul began to supervise, and he instructed the people here how to use severe punishment.

Saul read all those methods in books before, and he never expected that one day they would come in handy. Once they used these methods, the effect was immediate.

Soon, Osmond wailed in pain, and his whole body began to tremble.

Saul was usually the least courageous person, but at this time, the more he watched, the more excited he became.

"Yes! That's it. He can't hold on any longer."

After Saul said that, the people under him naturally did not dare to neglect his orders.

Osmond did not expect his deterrence to fail. The more he hooted, the more vicious Saul tortured him.

When Osmond could not endure it anymore, he spoke immediately. "Stop! Stop it..."

Life at the Top Chapter 2273-When he heard this, Saul immediately raised his hand to stop his subordinates and asked.

"Hmph, what's the matter? You can't hold on any longer, can you? Then tell me who is instigating you behind the scenes to target me like this!"

Osmond gasped at Saul's command.

He could not hold on any longer, so he said, "It's not just you, it's all the oil traders in the whole of Bashra... You're just one of them..."

After hearing this, Saul was obviously more interested in the mysterious person behind Osmond.

"Then tell me now! If you still dare to keep me on tenterhooks, I will kill you directly!"

As soon as he said that, even Saul's subordinates could not believe what they were hearing. It was because this was not something Saul would usually say. However, since this sentence worked with Osmond, it was enough.

When Osmond was about to speak, one of Saul's subordinates rushed to the door.

"Mr. Jefferson, bad news! The enemies are coming!"

Saul was taken aback for a moment when he heard this, but he still gritted his teeth and persisted.

"Don't worry about it now. I need him to give me a name now and I don't care even if God himself descends from heaven!"

"But Mr. Jefferson, we can't stop them. If we keep delaying, those guys will even steal the oil fields!"

As soon as the subordinate said this, Saul could not bear it anymore.

"What? You bunch of trash, can't you even do something so small? Keep an eye on him. Don't let him run away!"

After Saul said that, he left with the subordinates who came to report to him.

Osmond was naturally very happy when he heard the news. Because he knew that Bella was the only one who would come to Saul's oilfield at this juncture. Although she was a bit slow, support had finally arrived!

Saul hurried to the front, and his subordinates began to report the bad news one after another.

"How's the situation ahead?"

"Mr. Jefferson, they have broken past the gate!"

"Mr. Jefferson, the back door has also been breached, and we are now surrounded from the front and back!"

After hearing this, Saul naturally could not believe it.

"What? I spent several million to strengthen the defense. Where did the money go?"

The surviving people stretched out their fingers to point to the front, and Saul found that the weapons and equipment purchased with millions of dollars had been turned into scrap metal.

Their defense was indeed good, but they lacked professionals who could handle these weapons and equipment. It could be said that Saul only realized at this time that he bought a pile of scrap iron that he could not use!

Even though he had come to the scene in person, he could only watch helplessly as the opponent advanced gradually.

"Mr. Jefferson, what should we do now?"

Saul also had no intention of resisting when he saw the enemies rushing in from the front.

"Run! Run as far as you can. Just get out while you can."

"What about you, Mr. Jefferson?"

At this critical moment, a few loyal subordinates were still concerned about Saul's safety.

"You don't have to worry about me. I'll just be a burden if you take me with you. I have more important things to do!"

"Just give me a gun!" Saul roared, and his men immediately handed him a pistol.

Then, everyone watched Saul disappear with the pistol.

Saul also knew that he had nowhere to go, and he could only ask Osmond for the crucial information before the enemies approached him. At this time he regretted not listening to Jasper earlier.

However, Saul felt that what he was doing now should be able to make up for some of his mistakes.

Life at the Top Chapter 2274-Osmond was alone in the interrogation room, and the man in charge of his interrogation had long since fled. He was patiently waiting for Bella's rescue. Unexpectedly, the person who came in was Saul.

With a bang, the door was pushed open and Saul hurried over with a pistol.

Although Osmond was still tied up at this time, there was no timidity in his eyes. Instead, he looked at Saul with incomparable arrogance.

"Mr. Jefferson, all your people have run away, so why don't you run away too?"

Upon hearing this, Saul could not help but snort softly. "Do you think I'm as afraid of death as those guys? If you dare to destroy my foundation in Qari, I will fight you all with my life."

"Tell me, who is the person behind your back? If you dare to keep me on tenterhooks again, I'll kill you!" Saul growled, but his threat was nothing to Osmond now.

"Old man, who are you trying to scare? Can't you hear the guns outside? In any case, I won't tell you. Someone will come to rescue me soon. If you have the guts, shoot me right now!"

Osmond was still provoking and mocking Saul, thinking that he was still that cowardly chicken.

It was a pity that Osmond did not know that since he was forced into desperation, Saul had gone completely crazy.

He picked up his pistol and fired a shot at the wall next to him.

"You think I won't? Are you going to tell me or not?"

Osmond froze for a moment but chose to stay silent. However, he never expected that the next shot to be aimed directly at his leg!

With a bang, Osmond's leg started bleeding profusely. Severe pain spread throughout Osmond's body. He collapsed directly, relying on those few ropes tied around his body for support.

"Are you going to tell me or not?" Finally, Saul put the gun to Osmond's head.

Now, Osmond panicked completely. He was not thinking about anything now, he just wanted to save his life.

“Yes! Please don’t shoot! Actually, it was Miss Bella who instructed me behind the scenes. Everything was her idea!”

After hearing this name, Saul muttered, “Miss Bella? I haven’t heard of such a person in Bashra.”

Saul wanted to continue asking for more details, but someone rushed in the next second.

“Don’t move! Put your hands up!”

As soon as Saul turned his head, he saw a group of heavily armed soldiers pointing their guns at him.

Originally, Saul wanted to resist a little, but his resistance almost cost him his life. With a bang, the opponent directly pulled the trigger, and Saul dropped his pistol and fell into a pool of blood.

At this time, Bella arrived. As soon as she entered the room, she saw the blood on the ground.

“Who told you to shoot? Are you crazy?”

Bella raised her hand and slapped one of them, and the other felt very aggrieved.

“Miss Bella, he had a gun in his hand when we rushed in. So, we shot just in case...”

When Bella heard this, she immediately became enraged.

“Why are you so afraid of death? Are you wearing bulletproof vests for nothing? What we want is power. I don’t want us to kill anyone! You’re really a bunch of incompetent bunglers!”

Bella was still angry when deputy leader Yves also arrived at this time.

“Miss Bella, what shall we do now?”

“What else can we do? Take this guy to the hospital quickly! If he dies, one of you should be held responsible for his death!”

Life at the Top Chapter 2275-Yves also realized the seriousness of the problem, and immediately slapped his subordinates.

“What are you looking at me for? Send him to the hospital quickly! If he dies, you can also go to hell!”

The subordinates immediately started to act. They carried Saul into the car and sent him to the hospital in a hurry.

An hour later, Bella was still pacing back and forth at the oil base. She clearly cared a lot about the hospitalized Saul’s life.

“Miss Bella, we have checked and found out that the oil reserves here are not bad. From now on, it’s all yours!”

Upon hearing what Yves said, Bella could not help but sigh. “Sigh, all I care about now is whether Saul is dead or not. If the elders in the family learn that I am acting so recklessly over here, they will definitely send me back!”

Bella was always worried and scared that the elders in her family would take this opportunity to exaggerate what she did. She knew in her heart that the elders never liked her. This was because of Bella's stubborn nature and how she never followed the rules.

As the eldest daughter of the Rothschilds, Bella had extraordinary talents in many aspects. However, it was a pity that Bella was not born at the right time.

If Bella had been born more than a hundred years earlier, she would have been able to prosper by virtue of her ingenuity in that chaotic era. Now, the Rothschild family had long accumulated their wealth and was slowly becoming a giant.

Compared with Bella's unconstrained style, the elders would rather have a more mature heir.

Yves also noticed Bella's worries. He also did not expect such a thing to happen after he lost track of them for a while. Fortunately, ten minutes later, Yves received a call with good news.

"Miss Bella, I have good news for you... After a very long rescue in the hospital, Saul is finally stable."

When Miss Bella heard this, her anxious heart was finally relieved.

Then, Yves spoke again. "But I also have some bad news to tell you..."

"What news?"

"Murik, the president of the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, happened to come across this incident, and he has ordered his people to find the culprit. It is estimated that within half an hour, Murik will bring people to block all the oil fields."

As the president of the Bashra Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, Murik had this power.

Bella could not ruin her plan because of her impulsiveness.

What she coveted was not only Saul's oil field but all the oil fields of Bashra!

Therefore, although Bella was a little unwilling, she still nodded and ordered.

"I understand. Immediately arrange for them to evacuate quickly, and at the same time, eliminate all traces of our actions. Remember not to let anyone know that we're behind this."

Yves understood and he nodded seriously. "Leave this to me. I know common robbers' tactics, and it's easy to make the scene look like they were the ones who attacked."

"But Saul survived in the end, so how should we deal with that?"

Yves made it clear that Saul had seen all of their faces. If Bella wanted to keep this a secret, they could not keep him alive.

"Don't worry, isn't he just out of danger? He must still be in a coma. Let's leave first, and then take the opportunity to arrange for someone to go to the hospital. We need to do this step by step."

"Roger!"

Yves immediately parted ways with Miss Bella. While cleaning and forging fake evidence, he arranged for Bella to evacuate safely.

Life at the Top Chapter 2276-Within half an hour, the entire oil base was empty, leaving only the bodies of those who died in battle.

Murik, the president of the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, arrived twenty minutes later.

After he arrived at the scene, he could not help but raise his hand and make a cross on his chest as soon as he entered through the gates.

“God, what a sin! Arrange for someone to go in and search immediately to see if there are any survivors!”

Mr. Murik knew that the most important thing now was to search for the survivors. He would feel better even if one life was saved.

After more than half an hour of searching, Murik still did not get any good news.

“Sir, we have searched the entire place, but we didn’t find any survivors.”

Upon hearing this, Murik did not seem too surprised. He had already guessed the result but was just hoping for the best.

“Sigh, forget it, you have tried your best. The next important task is to completely block off this place and find evidence and traces of the perpetrators. Remember, don’t miss any suspicious areas!”

“Roger!”

Murik was still in charge of the overall situation here, and he knew that Saul’s collapse was not good news.

As soon as he collapsed, a lot of hungry wolves would appear around him. Those people had been eyeing Saul’s oil fields, but until now, they had no chance to make a move.

If Murik did not keep watch of this place, Saul might lose everything by the time he woke up.

As Saul’s friend, Murik already felt very guilty for failing to protect him. This was the only thing he could do to atone.

Meanwhile, Jasper on the other side also got the news immediately. He immediately put down everything in his hands and rushed to the hospital.

“Doctor, I want to ask how the patient is doing?”

The doctor was doing a routine examination when he heard Jasper’s question.

“The patient has just come from a dangerous situation and is still in a coma. You can go and visit the patient, but don’t disturb him!”

After he said that, the doctor left the ward, such that only Jasper and the others remained.

Looking at Saul who was lying on the hospital bed with tubes all over his body.

Jasper's face was livid, and Julian understood at a glance that he was forcibly suppressing his anger. It never occurred to him that Saul would become like this after only a few days of absence.

"Mr. Jefferson, you must persevere. If you don't tell me who did this, how can I avenge you?"

Jasper was muttering to himself in front of Saul's bed when suddenly Julian spoke. "Jasper, look! Mr. Jefferson's finger moved!"

Jasper immediately bowed his head when he heard this, and sure enough, he saw Saul curl his finger.

"Mr. Jefferson, are you all right? Do you know who did this to you?" Jasper asked anxiously.

Then, Saul barely opened his eyes and said with difficulty, "I've been holding on... Just so I could wait for you... Her name... Is Bella..."

After saying this, Saul tilted his head and passed out again.

Seeing this, Jasper hurriedly sent someone to call the doctor. Fortunately, Saul survived after their efforts.

"What did you say to the patient just now? You have to pay attention in the future and not trigger him anymore!"

Life at the Top Chapter 2277-After the doctor finished what he was doing, he spoke to Jasper again.

Jasper nodded seriously. He would not bother Saul for now because he already had a new goal. Saul managed to escape death, and he clearly heard the other party mention Bella's name.

"Bella, it really is her! I was wondering why I keep feeling like someone's controlling this behind the scenes. I have obviously gotten rid of Woody, but I didn't expect her to follow!"

Jasper muttered the name, and Jasper also sensed some unusualness.

"Jasper, do you know the mastermind behind the scenes?"

"Yeah, we not only know each other personally, but we are very familiar with each other!" Jasper snorted softly, and he still vividly remembered the scenes of fighting against the Rothschilds during the international trade war.

"I realized before that Bella is different from everyone else in her family. She never plays according to the rules so we must be extremely careful when we go against someone like her."

Jasper's evaluation of Bella was definitely not inflated. In fact, he would never flatter his enemies too much.

His summary was mainly because the impression Bella left on Jasper was too deep.

Since Bella was the eldest daughter of the Rothschild family, she held countless resources that ordinary people could not imagine.

She could decide the life, death, and fate of many people with just one move. Furthermore, she had a perverse personality and was naturally rebellious. Even Jasper dared not say that he had a 100% chance of beating her.

Jasper sighed, but Julian looked very confident.

"It's okay, Jasper. The more you say that, the greater chance I feel you have!"

Jasper smiled. He was great at performing under pressure. The greater the pressure, the greater Jasper's motivation.

"You are right. There are so many people waiting for me to bring back good news these days. I won't back down easily. Get ready, our revenge is about to begin!"

The first thing that Jasper thought of was Saul's collapse and the ownership of his oil field.

Everyone knew that it was a profitable business. If no one was guarding it, there would naturally be many people eying it. Thus, Jasper immediately arranged for people to go to the oil field.

Soon, he got the information and learned that Murik had been guarding it after the incident.

There was a gratified smile on Jasper's face. Because this at least showed that Jasper still had useful allies around him. He was not fighting alone.

"Sir, this is Jasper. When will you be back? I want to talk about the ownership of the oil fields under Mr. Jefferson."

Jasper got straight to the point, and Murik obviously knew what was going on.

"You know about this too, don't you? You're so kind. I am not a suitable candidate since I am the president of the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, and I can't take it as my own. Now that I think about it, I can only rest assured if I hand the oil field to you."

Mr. Murik sighed. If he had not met Jasper before, he would also feel that Jasper was someone trying who took advantage of the opportunity at this time.

Jasper thought for a while and said, "Wait a little longer. We'll wait until today at most. When the reinforcements I deploy arrive, I will come back and then we will talk about this matter!"

"No problem, I'll wait for your return." After Murik finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Life at the Top Chapter 2278-While Jasper was waiting patiently, Bella's face on the other side was extremely gloomy.

"Miss Bella, do you want to go back and take down that place? It's not like we are unable to."

Yves's proposal was quickly rejected by Bella.

"No. I would have done it a long time ago if it were this simple. Why wait until now?"

Bella took a deep breath. She knew that there could be no mistakes in her following decisions. Moreover, she also knew that Jasper and Saul had a great relationship.

In case Saul and Jasper had previously signed an undisclosed agreement, the oil field might have been successfully transferred to Jasper's name now that Saul had collapsed. No one could say for sure.

If the final result of the matter was indeed like this, then Bella would have failed.

“Whether it’s Saul or Jasper, they’re all from Somerland! I will ask the Rothschilds to take action. I’ll ask them to notify the International Petroleum Organization and issue an order immediately! As long as the connection between them is completely removed, we will still have a chance!”

Bella immediately dialed the phone as she thought of this.

Half an hour later, someone from the Rothschild family gave Bella some feasible proposals.

They told Bella that things were less innocent than she thought.

The International Petroleum Organization was a world-renowned international organization, and they could not issue an order targeting a single country or region. Otherwise, it will immediately cause an international uproar, and even Bella would not be able to bear the serious consequences at that time.

However, the final result did not disappoint Bella. They suggested that since Bella had been playing tricks on Bashra, she better keep it up.

As soon as Bella heard this, she immediately understood. Then, she quickly drew up a false document and sent it to Mr. Murik.

At this time, Murik was still on his way back. As soon as he got out of the car, he saw his subordinates standing flustered at the door.

“What happened?”

“Sir, there is a Global Express document addressed to you!”

Hearing this, Murik quickly took the document to the office and opened it.

Murik understood the general meaning of the contents at first glance. The International Petroleum Organization maintained the interests of local oil merchants in Bashra.

Therefore, it was stipulated that each Somerland businessman could only own one oil field from now on. The International Petroleum Organization will immediately cancel all authorizations for anyone who dared to disobey this.

After reading it, Murik slumped down on the chair.

“How could this be? Isn’t this order a little too coincidental?”

Murik did not know how to tell Jasper about this. It just so happened that Jasper arrived at the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce 20 minutes later.

“Mr. Murik, I heard that you have already come back, so why didn’t you call me immediately?”

Murik only came back to his senses when Jasper saw him.

“Jasper, you came just in time, I have bad news for you.”

“What bad news? Could it be that Mr. Jefferson...”

“Mr. Jefferson is fine, but he may lose his oil fields. Look at this...”

Murik immediately handed over the document he just received over to Jasper.

After Jasper finished reading, his eyes turned cold. "What kind of bullshit order is this? It's clearly targeting the Somerland businessmen in Bashra!"

Life at the Top Chapter 2279-Murik could only sigh helplessly when he saw Jasper's reaction.

"Sigh, it seems that this matter is only troubling to those forced to suffer from it. I feel the same way as you. But I have to obey the order!"

Jasper did not find it strange at all when he heard Mr. Murik's response. After all, although Murik was a good person, his foolish loyalty had been deeply rooted in his bones.

Whether it was Jasper or others, the falsity of this so-called document could be seen at a glance.

Jasper did not want to continue arguing with Murik on this issue either. In any case, he knew that in Murik's heart, all orders issued by the higher-ups must be true. Thus, Jasper was thinking about problems that could actually be solved.

After thinking about it, Jasper finally thought of the most critical point.

"Since the order has been issued from above saying that every Somerland businessman can only own one oil field here, I'll just arrange for more people to come over."

Upon hearing what Jasper said, Murik also felt that this was an excellent solution.

"That makes sense. Anyway, Mr. Jefferson is my good friend, and I don't want to give up the oil field under his name."

"He won't be able to manage it for the time being. So it would be nice if someone else could take over. Do you have any suitable candidates?"

When Murik asked that, Jasper answered right away.

"Of course there is. This person's name is Rowan Jefferson. He is Saul's nephew and a direct relative. From all angles, he is the most suitable candidate to take over! I don't think you want to see Mr. Jefferson's oil field being occupied by others too, right, Mr. Murik?"

Those words went straight to Murik's heart, and he nodded quickly.

"You're right. I won't be able to stand it. Contact this man named Rowan immediately, and give me a copy of his detailed information at the same time... I need to send his information to the headquarters as soon as possible as well, and I'll ask them to approve it as soon as possible."

After Murik finished speaking, Jasper also started to act.

He provided a copy of Rowan's information to Murik on the spot and contacted Rowan while he was at it.

"Hey, Jasper, it's been so long since you called me. Are you calling to tell me good news?"

Jasper could not endure hearing how excited Rowan sounded on the phone.

In the end, Jasper told him anyway.

"I have not let you down, and I have established a firm foothold in Bashra, Qari... But I called you today to tell you bad news."

"What bad news? Something bad happened to your uncle!" As soon as Jasper said that, Rowan was taken aback.

"What? Did something happen to my uncle? Jasper, are you kidding me?"

"Have I ever joked about something so serious?"

Hearing this, Rowan also came to his senses. However, he still could not believe it because Rowan knew that his uncle Saul had worked hard in Bashra for many years, so it stood to reason that he would not randomly get into any accidents.

"Jasper, tell me the truth, what happened?"

Jasper could also feel Rowan calming down a bit. Only then did Jasper recount the details of the incident.

After listening to Jasper, Rowan also realized the gravity of the situation.

"Don't worry, Mr. Jefferson is not in any danger now. He can't manage the oil field now, and I'm being targeted, so that's why I contacted you."

"I hope you can be prepared. There is a high probability that you will have to inherit your uncle's oil field."

Life at the Top Chapter 2280-Jasper conveyed the news to Rowan and Rowan felt extremely surprised.

"I-It's not that I don't want to. I'm also very anxious when something happens to my uncle. But Jasper, you know exactly what I'm capable of. If you ask me to go there suddenly and entrusted me with such a heavy responsibility, I'm afraid I can't do it!"

Rowan was an honest person, so he directly confessed to Jasper.

Upon hearing this, Jasper comforted him. "I understand what you mean, but the most urgent task now is to seize your uncle's oil field quota. I'll take care of the rest after this is done!"

Rowan could not continue to refuse after Jasper said that.

"Okay, I agree. Just let me know after you're ready so I can leave at any time!"

Rowan did not dare to waste any time and immediately prepared his passport and other key documents.

Jasper was waiting for an update from Murik as well. Although the two of them had more preparations, they were obviously still missing something. It was because Bella would review all the news related to Murik.

Bella responded immediately after discovering the report submitted by Murik.

"Hmph, the nephew is taking over now that the uncle can't do it anymore, huh? What a pity, Jasper, I won't let you get what you want so easily!"

Soon the news came, but Murik felt as if he was struck by lightning.

His application was dismissed from headquarters and never passed. The worse thing was that the headquarters issued another order specifically this time.

The deadline for dealing with this matter was in three days. When the time came, Saul's oil fields would become unowned and would be brought up for auction by the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce.

Murik was a little overwhelmed and he immediately told Jasper the news.

After Jasper heard the news, he rushed to the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce immediately.

"Bella really stops at nothing..."

"Bella? Who is she? Does this have anything to do with her?" Murik was a little puzzled when he heard Bella's name.

When he saw Murik's puzzled face, Jasper told him everything.

"Do you understand now? The so-called bullshit orders you have always trusted are all fake! Bella has been playing tricks behind the scenes all this time!"

These facts gave a great blow to Murik's heart.

He did not know what to do. If these were true, then he would also be responsible for what happened to Saul.

"Then what should we do now? Where can we find qualified people in three days?"

Jasper understood what Murik said. This oil field was not something ordinary people could take over. The other party must at least have qualifications, and Jasper could not find the people around him. Otherwise, if Bella found out, he would still be targeted.

"Don't panic, I'll take the news back right away. Let me figure out a way!"

Jasper turned around and left the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce. He contacted several friends in Somerland. He knew that it would be difficult to solve this matter by himself.

Time passed quickly and the third day arrived in a blink of an eye. Jasper also finally received a call, but he was surprised by the identity of the caller.

A pleasant female voice said on the other side of the phone, "Jasper, I heard that there is an oil field overthere that no one has taken over. I'm wondering if I have the qualifications?"
