

At The Top 2441

Life at the Top Chapter 2441-'Somerland tycoon, Astor, suspected killed in Bardot, and the murderer is suspected to be Kimbra, the head of the Kurt family!'

Looking at the eye-catching headlines in the newspaper in his hand, a smile appeared on the corner of Geena's mouth.

"The Rothschilds are great at what they do..." Geena lamented.

Kimbra would never have guessed that Omas, whom he regarded as the proverbial life-saving straw, was behind the media reports shaming him. And it was Geena who asked Omas to do this. That's why Geena let Omas go in the first place.

It feels amazing making Rothschilds go against Rothschilds...

As an opponent, the Rothschilds would make many despair. On the other hand, as an ally, the Rothschilds would make many lament their luck. As the patriarchal family of the Freemasonry, the power of the Rothschilds was far beyond the imagination of many people.

Meanwhile, Geena was enjoying the convenience of using the Rothschilds' power. And the most remarkable thing about this was that there was no price to pay for this convenience.

"Astor, is Omas really reliable? Will there be any trouble in the future?"

Compared to Geena's current leisurely attitude, Chyntia's face was full of worry. Although he was the one who negotiated with Omas, he had an instinctive distrust of the ambitious eldest daughter of the Rothschilds.

"Astor, Chyntia is right. You can't trust Omas completely. Even if we have dirt on her, she's a Rothschild after all, and they are all wolves." Mozart also echoed in a warm voice.

As an excellent heir of the Maynards in South America, she was much more familiar with the Rothschilds than Chyntia.

If Grandmaster Maynard had not been lucky, the Maynards in South America would have been destroyed ten years ago in the overthrow directed by the Rothschilds. So, Mozart had a personal experience of the horror of this family. She was afraid that Geena would be careless and encounter unexpected failures.

Both Chyntia and Mozart expressed concern at the same time.

Boneng was busy "online dating" the innocent Assange on the forum so he had no time to bother.

Geena said with a smile, "If it's about making trouble, Omas will never disappoint. She definitely will. Do you think I am so naïve as to be to think that the Rothschilds' eldest daughter, Omas, would be impeded by the mere evidence of a mosque attack?"

"The Rothschilds have so much media control that they can completely neutralize the impact of this incident... Besides, with Omas's temperament, I don't believe that she didn't think about how to wrap this up before starting. Even if Edmund didn't die in Omas's hands, I think he would eventually have become the scapegoat for all the crimes committed."

Mozart and Chyntia were completely dumbfounded after hearing this. They looked at each other, their eyes full of surprise and puzzlement.

Geena looked at the two of them and laughed.

"Are you wondering why I still sent Chyntia to offer Omas amnesty, even though I can see through so many things?"

Chyntia did not say anything, but his eyes were full of curiosity. On contrary, Mozart nodded frantically like a chicken pecking rice.

"The reason Omas pretended to cooperate is just to make me relax my vigilance and give me another fatal blow at the last moment... Since that's the case, why can't I pretend to offer her amnesty first, make good use of her resources, and finally make a plan to counterattack her?"

Life at the Top Chapter 2442-Julian and Celine were completely confused when they heard Jasper's words.

"Jasper, what do you mean when you say that Bella's false surrender was actually part of your plan? Are you deliberately doing that to use her?" In the end, Julian could not hold back the curiosity in his heart, so he asked tentatively.

"Of course." Jasper nodded decisively. "The trip to the Kurt family is imminent. We must do this, otherwise, our visit to Qari will lose its meaning... However, this matter is equally not easy. There are only a few of us so we don't have enough power and we cannot single-handedly rescue Baltimore and his son from such a big family."

"The only way we can achieve our goals is to borrow as much force and power as possible from all the forces so that it can be used to achieve this. And now, who is the biggest force hovering over Qari?"

The answer was right there.

"The Rothschilds!" Celine blurted out directly.

She had nearly her entire family previously because of the Rothschilds and knew the horror of the Rothschilds better than anyone else.

Jasper gave Celine an encouraging look.

Encouraged by Jasper, Celine spoke with eloquence, "Although the Rothschilds are still an outside force and Bella is the only member in Qari on the surface, this doesn't mean that the Rothschilds don't have power in Qari. If they don't even have this, it would be so shameful for the Rothschilds to be the patriarch of the Freemasonry."

"The Rothschilds are more of a group than a name, and its members are not linked solely by blood. For a hundred years, the Rothschilds have been absorbing the elites of various countries to join them, and the price is to take the Rothschilds' name..."

“They can use this to incorporate the forces of these elites. Viktor, the captain of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries, is a clear example. So, instead of saying that the only member of the Rothschilds in Qari is Bella, it’s better to say that Bella is the direct descendant of the Rothschilds in Qari...”

“I believe that there must be many members of the Rothschilds at the periphery of Qari, like Viktor, and there may even be many of them who hold important positions in the Qari government.”

“Not to mention the Rothschilds’ pervasive media outlets that are spread all over the world, they are very powerful forces.”

“If we have to talk about the Rothschilds’ weakness in Qari, it’s that they’re more of a soft power. They lack the strong hard power of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries, so Bella was able to fan the flames but not send someone to kill us. And that’s exactly where we can take advantage... Because it’s something we can harness without worrying about backlash.”

After Celine said this, she looked at Jasper with a grin.

Although they had encountered many crises these days, they managed to resolve everything under Jasper’s strategy. And, although their journey went smoothly, Celine, as the proud daughter of the Maynards in South America, was proud as well.

Under the protection of Jasper’s wings, Celine even began to wonder if she had become just an ornament. That made her feel very uncomfortable. That was why she seized the opportunity to show herself desperately.

Jasper looked at Celine’s smug expression and could read what she had in her mind. Of course, he did not expose her immediately.

He was about to say something when the phone rang in his pocket. And when Jasper saw the recipient’s name, his expression changed instantly.

Snow: [Laine, I’m in danger now, help me!]

Why did Snow send a message to him?

Did he know that he was still alive?

Life at the Top Chapter 2443-Rose looked at the message on his phone and his face darkened. He did not expect Snow to ask for help at this time.

By common sense, if Snow encountered danger, the first person he should call for help would be his boss in the United States. Moreover, Rose clearly remembered that he had previously asked Warwick and the others to quietly let Snow go in the follow-up anti-monitoring operations.

Although they had not known each other for too long, Rose was very confident of Warwick’s ability to handle everything. He refused to believe that Warwick would make such a simple mistake and put Snow in a dangerous situation where he needed to call for help.

There must be something behind this!

Could it be that Snow doubted the role I was playing, and so he came here to sound me out?

The news about Rose's death had already been spread and, as an intelligence officer, Snow would not be ignorant of this 'big event'. So if Snow probably knew that Rose was 'dead', why did he ask for help?

Another message appeared on his phone.

Snow: [Laine, I saw in the news that you died. But I don't believe this at all. I have something important to tell you. If you see this, please call me back quickly.]

[I don't have much time, so please hurry! This is about the Kurt family. I have something you would be interested in!]

After seeing the news, Rose did not hesitate any longer. He picked up the phone decisively to call back.

Nori was about to dissuade him, but after seeing Rose's resolute eyes, he silently swallowed his words.

"Snow, it's me, Richard. And you guessed it, I'm still alive..."

Rose did not go into too much detail and straightforwardly revealed himself. He understood why Snow insisted that he call back. Because Snow was clearly lying to him!

Snow also doubted that Rose was dead, but for some reason, he could only ask Rose for help. So, he risked sending this message.

The first message was to test whether Rose was still alive. He did that in case the phone had fallen into the hands of a third party and it was to dissuade the other party's vigilance.

If Rose was dead, then the person who saw the message must be the murderer. The other party would definitely be very interested in the secret deal between Rose and Snow, an American, but he could not disguise himself through his voice, so he would reply with a message or pretend to answer as someone close to Richard.

If this was the case, Snow would throw away the SIM card decisively and flee. Therefore, to know what Snow was up to, Rose had no choice but to answer the call himself at the risk of being exposed.

In essence, he was gambling. He was gambling on the fact that Snow still had the same passion as the hero who angrily exposed the true face of the United States PRISM many years later!

As soon as Rose spoke, Snow replied nonstop and, for a while, Rose could not cut in.

"Great! Anderson, I'm so glad you're not dead! Listen, I can only be brief about this!"

"I'm in danger now, but it's not Qari's locals who are chasing me, but other intelligence personnel placed here by the United States."

"I know you will feel incredulous when you hear this, but believe me, I will explain it to you properly when I have time."

"In short, I need your help desperately. If you can save me, I will give you all the information you want to know."

"Time is running out, so you have to hurry. I can't let those intelligence officers see my true face and I must keep my current identity!"

Life at the Top Chapter 2444-“So, my friend, are you willing to help me?”

On the other end of the phone, Snow’s voice was very urgent. He was obviously in a very bad situation right now.

Yolanda was silent for about two seconds. The panting on the other end of the phone was getting heavier, and the sound of approaching footsteps could be heard faintly.

Unsurprisingly, it was the United States intelligence personnel who were hunting Snow.

Finally, just when Snow’s patience was about to reach its limit, Yolanda spoke leisurely.

“So, why me?”

Snow waited for a long time, but this reply from Yolanda made him so mad that he wanted to start cursing.

However, the situation was very urgent so he had no choice but to reply patiently, “Laine, I’m not lying. I am in danger right now, so I can only be brief.”

“Whatever questions you have, leave them until we meet... The reason I chose you is that you have a background in Somerland, and according to all the intelligence I have seen from various countries, I think only Somerland can be trusted.”

“It’s because only Somerland never compromises with the United States. Besides, you have the support of the local forces in Qari, so I believe you can rescue me...”

“The most important thing is that even though you didn’t say anything, I can tell that you must be behind this damn anti-surveillance operation. This has now messed up the work of our intelligence department. Now their principle is to try not to have any conflicts with the anti-surveillance team to prevent more of our arrangements from being involved.”

“That’s why, it’s perfect that you, the initiator of the anti-surveillance operation, rescue me!”

“Damn, I have to say, when did the Qari officials get so strong that they have found so many of us, but it’s a good thing...”

“Okay, I have to hang up now. Laine, I need your answer now, I really can’t wait!”

Almost as soon as Snow finished speaking, Yolanda said without hesitation, “Okay, I will help you...”

“Send me your address and what you need me to do as soon as possible. I believe you have written them down in advance. Okay, my friend, don’t waste time. I will find a way to rescue you right away!”

Yolanda’s decisiveness also confused Snow.

“Damn, I thought you’d hesitate a little longer before saying yes. I’ll send you the stuff right now!”

After Snow finished speaking, he hung up the phone decisively and a busy tone came from the other end of the phone.

The moment Snow hung up, Yolanda’s cell phone beeped non-stop and a series of messages arrived.

Seeing that Yolanda had finished, Amber could not help but step forward and said, "Bokir, if you reveal to this Snow person that you are not dead, will it not affect our follow-up actions?"

Yolanda was looking down at his phone.

Without raising his head, he said, "Amber, I know you may find it a little weird, but I believe in Snow..."

Morten did not want to interfere with Yolanda's decision but, after mulling it, she still said, "Bokir, I think it's reasonable for Amber to be suspicious. This Snow person is an intelligence agent from the United States, and this may be a conspiracy by the United States."

"No, you don't know Snow. I have a hunch that, from now on, Snow will be on our side soon."

Life at the Top Chapter 2445-Seeing that Sandra had made up his mind, Molie and Stefan stopped trying to persuade him.

"Okay, Astor, we are all at your command. Everything is at your command."

Sandra looked into their puzzled eyes. He thought about it, but in the end, did not say anything. He looked at the information on his phone and began to silently think about what to do next.

Molie and Stefan saw that he was thinking about countermeasures, so they did not bother him. They just stood aside and waited silently.

After a while, Sandra sorted out his thoughts and quickly ordered, "Molie, I now need you to contact Warwick and tell them I need a Jeep of unknown origin. Also... I need some guns..."

"As for Brock, ask him to bring some trustworthy people to ambush at the target location in advance. It's best to pick some unfamiliar faces so that people will not guess that they are related to us..."

"Stefan, go and ask someone in our company in Qari to prepare a personnel file. I need to arrange an identity for Snow."

"Also, Bjorne..." Sandra stopped saying.

There was no response from Bjorne's room, only the sound of keyboards.

Bjorne seemed to have completely entered into a state in the past few days. He had thoroughly immersed himself in the role of an innocent girl from the East chatting with Assange online every day. Now, he was even more immersed in it and was ignoring any external sounds.

Sandra felt a little amused seeing this scene, so an idea rushed into his mind irresistibly.

Bjorne was having so much fun roleplaying as a female netizen now.

Could it be that he was a potential drag queen?

Sandra smiled, shook his head, and put this thought behind him.

He said loudly, "Bjorne, I need you for a very dangerous and very important task. I won't wait if you're late..."

"If you miss this, you can continue to pretend to be a female netizen and date people online every day from now on!"

After he said this, there was a wailing sound from the other side of the room.

Bjorne, whose hair was in a mess, rushed out like he was running the 100 meters.

"Huh? No! Astor, you have to let me have that task! I will surely do it properly! So... Astor, what task is that?"

"I don't want to pretend to be a girl and date strangers online!"

After he said that, Bjorne stared fixedly at Mandra.

After pretending to be a girl and chatting with Assange over the past few days, he was already on the brink of insanity. Even though he started to have a pleasant feeling, he felt that, if it continued, something bad would happen in the end. So, he was very much looking forward to being freed from the current task as soon as possible.

"Oh, your task is to continue chatting with Assange and try to get him to cause some trouble for the US intelligence base. As for the reason, just tell him you are helping a hero who revealed the inside story of intelligence."

Hearing this, Bjorne was dumbfounded.

He thought he could escape from the sea of suffering in the new task, but the new task was still to dive back into the sea of suffering.

"Huh? Do I still need to chat with Assange? I even need him to help me?"

"Also, how should I make up a so-called hero? He is interested in these things, but he needs a goal for such a huge thing. Otherwise, he will not be fooled."

Sandra smiled and said, "The hero who needs his rescue is real, so you don't need to make up anything."

"Oh, fine!"

Bjorne lowered his head and scowled miserably. He was about to go back to his room and continue on his keyboard.

Before leaving, he said to himself, "The last time I asked Assange for some information, he asked for a photo of my legs in black stockings. Now that I'm asking him to do this, I'm pretty sure he won't be satisfied with just pictures of black stockings. This is going to be troublesome."

Stefan suddenly raised her eyes when she heard Bjorne's muttering.

"Wait, Bjorne, is this why you asked me for a photo of my legs in black stockings? You said it was for business!"

A murderous aura instantly filled the room.

Life at the Top Chapter 2446-Morten grabbed a chair and barged into Richard's room. In an instant, sounds of fighting and wails of pain came from the room.

“Ah! Morten! I didn’t! I’m not! Stop talking nonsense! Morten! Stop hitting me! I was wrong! I just asked for them but I didn’t use them! You didn’t give them to me anyway!”

“Huh? So I gave you my photos and you’ll use them to seduce others? You’re asking for this!”

“Morten! No! It’s not like this! Wait, Morten, you can hit me all you want, but why are you holding a knife?”

Listening to the fight in the room, the corners of Moana’s mouth raised slightly.

In recent days, Morten seemed to have become a lot more violent since Richard’s arrival. However, Richard did deserve this.

The thought that Richard had almost used Morten’s photo to seduce Assange gave Moana a pain in his head and rubbed the space between his brows.

What was that kid thinking?

How dare he try to use the photo of the heir of the Maynard family in South America to seduce male netizens!

Was he not scared that he would be shut out by the Maynards?

If the patriarch of the Jefferson family knew about this, he might break Richard’s leg.

It seemed that there was still a long way to go in training Richard. After all, Moana would not stay in Qari forever and he would need Richard to take care of things here in the future.

Thinking of this, Moana felt that time was running out.

Anne was standing by the side. When he heard the commotion inside, he wanted to laugh, but after he saw Moana’s serious expression, he forced his smile back. Although he did not know what Moana was worrying about, he could feel Moana’s anxiety.

“Steven, I’ll go to contact Brock and Warwick.”

After Anne finished speaking, he was about to leave.

“Wait, Anne, I need you to tell them to prepare some things.”

At this moment, Moana suddenly remembered something and stopped Anne.

After Anne heard that, a strange expression appeared on his face, but in the end, he left silently without saying anything.

When Anne left, Moana walked to the balcony alone and began to think about the gains and losses of the trip. Although he had known for some time that Snow would become an enemy of the United States Intelligence Agency sooner or later, this had happened much earlier than he intended.

By his timeline, Snow’s real awakening should have happened five years later.

He could understand Morten and Anne's suspicion just now. After all, this matter was unbelievable from the perspective of people in this era.

Moana only pretended to be dead to guard against the United States and the Kurt family. However, he has now chosen to reveal his location to Snow, the intelligence officer of the United States, and even agreed to rescue him.

No matter how one looked at this, it still seemed like a trap. Therefore, it was perfectly normal for Morten and Anne to doubt him. Yet, Moana could not tell them that he was from the future and therefore knew that Snow would, in the future, expose PRISM of the United States.

It seems that I didn't only cause the technical blockade of the United States to happen in advance, but also promoted the emergence of other events in advance...

To be frank, Moana knew in his heart that the reason Snow realized the problem of the United States so quickly had a lot to do with this anti-surveillance operation.

If it were not for this, Snow would never have contacted the United States surveillance intelligence department so quickly, let alone question the justice of this matter.

However, judging from the phone call just now, Snow did not want to go against the intelligence agency, so even if the progress was greatly advanced, the real outbreak of PRISM should take a few more years. Yet, the trajectory of this world had changed because of the appearance of Steven, the butterfly.

Life at the Top Chapter 2447-After a while, Rebecca and Ludwig appeared in front of Boneng.

"Moses, everything is settled. The car will be here in about ten minutes. The guns are in the car too. The driver will leave when he reaches his destination so that no one will know we are behind this," Rebecca reported his task completion to Boneng.

Ludwig also reported the completion of her mission, "I just contacted the people from the company here, and they have helped Snow arrange an identity in the securities company. They've also completed the documents and procedures..."

"It just so happens that there is someone in the company about the same age as Snow and his file has not been terminated for various reasons after leaving the company. So, coincidentally, Snow can use that. This identity is almost flawless. Unless they find the person involved, or else no one will be able to find any flaws."

Violet had to admit that both of them completed their tasks very well, especially Ludwig. She even considered the hidden dangers in advance and took precautions.

"Alright, very good. Now we just have to wait for Bolot," Violet nodded slightly.

As soon as he said that, Bolot rushed out of the room directly. "Moses, I'm done too, but... Something unexpected happened..."

In the end, his voice began to weaken a little as if he was embarrassed.

Hearing this, Violet frowned and asked, "What is it?"

Any mistake at this crucial moment could be fatal. After all, the current mission of this group was still to rescue Baltimore and his son from the Kurt family. So, they could not expose anything before that. To put it bluntly, rescuing Snow was unexpected and not in the plan at all.

“When Assange heard that we were going to rescue such a person, he showed extraordinary interest. He offered to meet this person, but of course, by video.”

“I see...” Violet was slightly relieved on hearing this.

“Tell Assange not to worry. We will meet his request.”

It seemed that not only had Snow’s awakening happened in advance, but his meeting with Assange was also much earlier than the original timeline.

Bolot was stunned this time. He did not expect Violet to agree so readily to this difficult request.

“So... Moses, is the incident about the hero true? Does someone really dare to challenge the United States Intelligence Agency so directly?”

“I heard that the United States Intelligence Agency’s status in the United States is second only to the Taxation Bureau.”

Violet said unhappily, “Of course this person is real. Do you think I’m trying to scare you?”

“Wow, that guy truly has balls of steel! Can I get to know him? He’s like the real version of 007. I’m most interested in someone like this!”

Violet looked at Bolot’s excited face with a mysterious expression on his face.

“Don’t worry, of course, you will have the opportunity to meet this person. You have a very important role in our rescue plan.”

“Huh? So besides tricking Assange into helping me, I need to do something else?”

Bolot froze. He was looking at Violet with an expression that said, ‘I’m an honest man, Moses, don’t lie to me’.

“Of course, you are our secret weapon. If you are only asked to chat with Assange, it would be like using a Sledgehammer to crack a nut.”

“I knew it! Moses, I knew you won’t just ask me to come all the way here just to chat with others. I’m here to do big things!”

After getting Violet’s confirmation, Bolot jumped up excitedly. However, he did not notice that Rebecca was looking at him strangely. There was even a hint of sympathy in his eyes.

Life at the Top Chapter 2448-“So, Albert, is this the mission you’re giving me?”

In the jeep, Leonardo looked at the pile of women’s clothes and wigs in front of him. His face turned pale instantly and his voice began to shake a little.

Stefan next to him could also see what was going on. She was holding back her laughter so much that she almost hurt herself.

As for Rose, he had turned his back a while ago and had stuffed his fist into his mouth silently. He was afraid that he would laugh out loud.

“Yes, this is your task. If there is an emergency at that time, we may need a girl to attract the attention of the pursuers. When that happens, you should go out, pretending to be a girl and cause them some trouble...”

“Also, since Assange asked for a video with the target person this time, it is inevitable that he will have to meet his online girlfriend. If you don’t dress up, do you want him to know that the female netizen he had been flirting with is actually a man? It would be too cruel for him.”

Anita said that as a matter of fact and with conviction.

Leonardo, who had always been easy to fool, became unexpectedly astute this time.

He defended himself strongly, “But, Anita, we have a girl here! Don’t we already have Stefan? Why should I dress up as one?”

“Besides, if you think it’s cruel for Assange to find his online girlfriend is a man, don’t you think it’s also cruel for me to pretend to be a girl?”

Leonardo was hysterical when he said the last sentence. This matter was tied to his dignity as a man, so he would never give in easily.

Anita’s expression did not change and said calmly, “Rose, go and buy Leonardo a return ticket...”

Leonardo immediately panicked when he heard this. “Don’t, Anita! I’ll pretend to be a girl! Don’t send me back to Somerland!”

“If I return to Somerland without any achievements, I would become the laughingstock of people when I go back. My old man will not believe that I can accomplish anything in the future anymore!”

“Albert, trust me, I’m amazing at pretending to be a girl...”

After he said that, Leonardo quickly put on the dress and wig as if worried that Anita would change his mind.

In his opinion, going back to Somerland would be even worse than dying. He was already pretending to be a girl online, so it was fine to pretend to be one in real life too.

Leonardo had completely given up on himself now.

Anita and the others were stunned when Leonardo put on the women’s clothes.

Leonardo was fair and he looked a little frail. However, when he put on women’s clothes, it was just right. One could even say that it complemented him well.

“Leonardo, to be honest, I was a little worried that Assange would dislike you after seeing you, but now that I see you in women’s clothing, I feel relieved.” Anita patted Leonardo on the shoulder, his voice earnest.

Stefan burst into laughter. "Leonardo, you look almost as pretty as me in women's clothes. We should just be sisters in the future!"

After speaking, Stefan even took out her makeup to put some on Leonardo.

Leonardo wanted to dodge, but seeing the serious look in Anita's eyes, he let Stefan do whatever she wanted with a rueful face.

Seeing that Leonardo was so obedient, Anita decided to stop bullying him and patiently explained, "Leonardo, don't think I'm embarrassing you. Assange is mainly active in America, so he might interact with Stefan in the future. At that time, if he finds out that Stefan is from the Maynard family of South America, it will inevitably affect Stefan's reputation. That's why I can only entrust this mission to you."

After listening to Anita's explanation, Leonardo felt a little better.

When he was about to say something, Anita continued, "Also, Leonardo, you did such a good job pretending to be a girl online. So, I think you may need to understand your true self through women's clothing. You must liberate your true nature!"

Leonardo broke down instantly.

Life at the Top Chapter 2449-Finally, Jordan was mentally prepared, and the team departed officially.

Soon, they came to a dilapidated building. According to their information, Snow was hiding in the basement.

Several Qari guards were patrolling in front of the building.

From the large bag of cameras on the motorcycle behind them, one could assume that they should be carrying out the anti-surveillance operation here. However, the way they were blocking the door at this moment looked more like they were cooperating with a certain party to block the door of the building to catch someone.

Seeing the situation, Maurina's heart sank.

Needless to say, these guards must be here to capture Snow, in cooperation with the United States Intelligence Agency.

Originally, what they should do was search for more eavesdropping evidence of intelligence personnel from other countries.

"It seems that the infiltration of Qari officials by the United States is more serious than I expected..." Maurina looked at the situation and muttered to himself.

In the past few days, he had exchanged information with Warwick almost every day, so he knew the progress of Qari's current anti-surveillance operation like the back of his hand.

He had heard that the Qari officials were searching for the monitoring equipment and found a lot of them in the past few days. Therefore, he thought that the United States might restrain itself more in the future. However, now it seemed that many of those so-called harvests were an act put by them, and they were deliberately releasing smoke bombs.

Although arbitrary to say that the cases investigated thus far were staged by themselves, it was safe to say that a large part of them were suspicious. Perhaps this was one of the reasons why Snow chose to cooperate with him.

After joining the surveillance intelligence team, Snow would know more about the deployment of the United States here and would realize how insane their surveillance was. Especially in a country like Qari, the seriousness of the situation was bound to make one's hair stand up in anger. These facts undoubtedly changed Snow's view about the entire thing.

"Barne, the target should be inside the building, but there are so many people outside, how do we get in?"

Jordan looked at everything in front of him with a serious expression. Clearly, he also saw that something was off with these guards.

"Jordan, go over there and fake a fall. Then, pretend you need help and lure these guards over. After that, Diana and I will take the opportunity to sneak into the building."

Jordan suddenly regretted opening his mouth. He was just causing trouble for himself.

"But, Barne, I am still speaking with a man's voice, won't they suspect me?"

Maurina said without hesitation, "Run over the lines with Astor later and record her voice into your phone. After that, just play the recording to lure them over."

"Okay..." Jordan obediently took out his phone with a mournful face.

He originally wanted to raise the question on purpose to get Maurina to back out of this awkward situation. Now that his plan was in vain, he could only cooperate obediently.

Astor watched the whole thing and began to record her lines with Jordan's mobile phone while grinning.

After everything was done, Diana hesitated and said in a serious tone, "Barne, just let me save him."

"This is too dangerous. I'm afraid that something will happen to you."

However, Maurina smiled and said, "No way! Snow will be frightened easily now. If he doesn't see me, he will not let down his guard and show his face. And don't worry too much about safety. After all, Jordan is not the only backup we have prepared. Look, isn't Brock already here?"

Diana followed Maurina's fingers to see Brock poking his head out a store window across the building, winking at him.

Life at the Top Chapter 2450-Julian was relieved to see Brock. He knew better than anyone how much responsibility Jasper shouldered.

If something happened to Jasper, all would bear the consequences. At the same time, he was curious inside.

What secret is Snow hiding that can make Jasper risk his life to save him?

"Okay, Rowan, showtime..." Seeing that everything was ready, Jasper called out to Rowan.

Rowan was looking mournful. He was taking his sweet time and reluctantly stood up.

At this time, he looked very feminine. He had fluttering long hair and a pleated skirt that moved with the wind.

Rowan had an amazing foundation. He had a masculine body but a feminine face, so with Celine's amazing makeup skills, he looked so alluring. Even if Rowan's old man was standing in front of him now, he might not be able to recognize him.

Celine was afraid that Rowan would be nervous, so she encouraged him, "Rowan, you can do it, trust yourself. If I didn't know that you're actually a man, I would be tempted, even as a woman, just looking at you."

After Richard finished speaking, she also made a cheering movement by bending her arms. As a result, Morten's face fell even more when he saw her like this.

"Richard, don't think I didn't see you holding back your laugh! Don't forget, you promised me that you will never tell anyone about it."

Richard made an 'okay' gesture. "Of course, of course, don't worry, I won't tell anyone."

Only then did Morten feel relieved and lifted his skirt to slowly get off the jeep.

He was shaking his hips and he looked so gorgeous. However, he did not expect Richard to use the phone she had hidden in her sleeve to quickly take a picture of him. She immediately sent the picture to her group chat with her girlfriends.

[Hahaha! Look at this drag queen! This is a guessing game with no prize. Who is this? You all know him!]

After that, she sent a laughing emoji.

When Diana saw the content of her phone, he felt troubled. Perhaps she had experienced too much excitement recently, Richard, the aloof young mistress, was gradually letting herself go.

"Didn't you promise Morten not to tell others?" In the end, Diana could not hold himself back from asking Richard.

Yet, Richard argued with the courage of her convictions, "I promised him that I won't tell others he's pretending to be a woman. However, I didn't promise him that I won't share pictures of him doing so..."

"I just sent his picture to the group but didn't tell them who he was. I didn't violate my promise. Plus, if I don't share such an interesting piece of news, wouldn't that be selfish?"

"Also, don't you think that Morten looks gorgeous as a woman?" Richard raised her voice in excitement at the last sentence.

Diana felt a headache coming. He thought she was a lady but, as it turned out, she was a witch.

"Stop messing about. Let's see what's going on with Morten."

After Diana said that, Richard who was still giggling became serious again.

The three looked at Morten through the window. Then, they saw Morten pretend to be disheveled and fall on the ground according to their plan.

Richard's pre-recorded voice calling for help also started playing.

Initially, the guards who were guarding the door were attracted by the calls for help just like how they imagined.

Suddenly, Lydia noticed something and his eyes turned solemn.

"Leonardo, something doesn't seem right..."