

At The Top 2461

Life at the Top Chapter 2461-Jasmine was also speechless after hearing what Snow said. This was essentially a misunderstanding. However, it turned out to be such a catastrophe for Snow.

"Don't be scared. Everything is over now. As long as you escape, no one will know that you are the one who saw the confidential documents... However, aren't you afraid that your colleagues will suspect that you are the thief when they notice that someone from their side is missing?" Jasmine asked.

Snow shook his head. "They won't know it's me. At that time, I was also afraid that the matter would be exposed. After all, it was against the rules to sneak into the boss's office to read the documents. So I snuck in with a colleague's ID card..."

"I had too much free time so I cracked the identity encryption algorithm in the agency. As long as I want, I can create an identity card for any colleague at any time. Besides, I was also wearing a mask at the time. Moreover, if nothing goes wrong, that person should have already died in an attack so they won't know it's me."

After Snow finished speaking, he was afraid that Jasmine would misunderstand, so he quickly explained, "The death of that colleague had nothing to do with me. I just happened to get the news before this. Coincidentally, I hadn't had time to report this to my superiors, so I just decided to use it."

After hearing what Snow said, Jasmine lamented that Snow was such a genius.

Others spend most of their free time playing games, but he broke the encryption algorithm of the national intelligence department in his free time.

It would appear that the reason that Smart did not like Snow was not because he was afraid that Snow would take his place, but because he was afraid that this troublemaker would get into some huge trouble and implicate him. However, if Snow was not like this, he would not do such a big thing in the future.

Jasmine lowered his head and thought for a while.

There was still one thing about what Snow said that he could not understand.

"Okay, I still have a question. What exactly is that confidential document? It's not just intelligence and the content of the surveillance plan, right?"

"Information is time-sensitive after all. How can you guarantee that this information will ensure that I can safely sneak into the Kurt family and rescue Baltimore?"

Snow smiled mysteriously when he heard that. "Who said that there is only information in that document? If it is only information, there will not be too much that can be stored in the document. At most, it just shows that there is a problem with some monitoring equipment... And even if the surveillance plan were leaked, our agency can still say that the plan was forged by someone else. No one can prove the existence of the back end..."

"After all, when our technicians designed the back end, they considered various situations and made careful designs. If someone doesn't know the details of the project, they will never find the hook to install the back end of these codes at all!"

“So, if these were leaked, it won’t make the people in the agency feel they’ve encountered great danger.”

Snow’s words piqued the interest of Jasmine and Bjorne.

Bjorne asked impatiently, “So, what exactly is in that document?”

Snow lowered his voice and said softly, “The things in there are the key to opening the back end of the surveillance cameras in some areas and the encryption method...”

“As long as you master these secret keys, you can quickly use them to control those target surveillance cameras and gain all the activity inside. No matter who you are, as long as you have a computer that can connect to the Internet, and... As long as someone has these, it can quickly prove the existence of the surveillance’s back end and that is irrefutable proof!”

“And coincidentally, these areas include the manor of the Kurt family...”

Life at the Top Chapter 2462-Paul gasped on hearing this. No matter how stupid he was, he knew what this meant.

This meant that this area would be completely visible to Snow, and the entire Kurt family would be no different from a naked woman!

“ So... Did you bring that document out?” Paul asked.

As he posed this question, Paul’s voice trembled, and he couldn’t help but swallow hard. He was excited.

Snow did not look up as he replied decisively, “Of course not!”

“Do you think I’m crazy? I just glanced at the document and it triggered the alarm. If I leave with the document, they will dispatch even more guards. Then why tell us that?”

Paul was a little disappointed.

He turned and said to Jamie, “Jamie, I think this guy is unreliable. We should leave first. Anyway, we both came here in disguise. So, even if they know that someone has been in contact with him, they won’t know it’s us. It’s better than implicating ourselves by saving this guy.”

Snow, who was calm just now, immediately panicked when he heard this.

He quickly grabbed Paul’s sleeve. “Dude, no! I didn’t take the information with me, but I remember the secret keys! I’ll give you whatever you want!”

Only then did Paul let out a sigh of relief. “You should have told us earlier. It’s good that you have something with you. I’m just worried were lying to me...”

“We’re in this together, so don’t panic, I was just trying to scare you.”

Snow was in between laughter and tears after heard this.

In this together, my ass!

He really thought Paul was going to leave him just now. Without the assistance of these two and the forces behind them, it would be impossible for him to escape. However, Snow did not notice Paul winking mischievously at Fiona when he turned his head.

Fiona understood instantly, a smile curled up at the corner of his mouth.

It seemed that after this thrilling experience, Paul had indeed grown up. He even knew how to cheat Snow at this moment.

Not bad... There was progress...

Since Paul was being the bad cop, Fiona would not let him down and decisively choose to play the good cop.

"Don't worry, since we are willing to take the risk, we will rescue you. But..."

"There is something I have to confirm in advance. Are you going to tell us these secret keys after this is over?"

"Of course!" Snow also knew that now was not the time to pull tricks, so he did not hide anything and nodded resolutely.

"But these keys are only for the Kurt family. However, I still have to remind you. These keys are time-limited. Because if nothing goes wrong, the people from the intelligence agency will find a way to corrupt these cameras within a few days. Then, all the cameras will be replaced in batches. Then, the secret key you obtained will become invalid..."

"Also, when you use the secret key to view the content of the camera, you must install the security suite I prepared for you on the computer in advance. Otherwise, the agency will be able to reverse locate you through these back-end access records."

In fact, Fiona expected Snow to say that.

It would be strange if the intelligence agency did not take any countermeasures against leaked keys.

Now, they were sending people to track it down, but it was just a two-pronged approach to cooperate with the reverse monitoring trap of the back-end itself.

It was a pity that they would expect this thief to be one of their own who was theoretically up to his ears in work on the outside. What was even more unexpected was that this thief figured out how to crack the secret key and surveillance facilities only because he was bored.

Life at the Top Chapter 2463-When George heard that, he patted Snow on the shoulder before saying admiringly. "Well done, my man! You have completely mastered the encryption algorithm of your intelligence agency!"

Snow seemed to be a little afraid of George, so he dodged George's touch.

"It's just a hobby. Just a hobby..."

Anne suddenly asked, "Then what are you going to do with the keys to the remaining surveillance?"

Snow looked embarrassed for the first time. "This is what's been troubling me the most... Now that these keys are in my hands, I don't dare to use them at all. It's okay if I expose a single area. If they are all exposed, they will definitely find me in the end..."

"I don't want to live a precarious life and be hunted all day long. However, I have taken such a big risk that I will feel like I've suffered so much for nothing."

Upon hearing this, Anne thought to himself

No, you will want to live a life like this... Because in the future, that's what you do...

And while exposing all the evidence, you will even expose your identity while you're at it. And all this will happen because you met a man...

But don't worry... According to the past, you should only meet him a few years later but now that I'm here, you should see him sooner...

"Laine, why is your smile so terrifying right now? Are you plotting against me?"

Anne's heart jumped when he heard this.

Snow was a top intelligence expert, so his sensitivity was far higher than average.

He pretended to be nonchalant and smiled. "No, I just happened to think of a way that can help you solve this problem..."

Anne was about to elaborate when he heard the beep of his phone in his pocket.

The moment Anne saw the name of the caller, his expression froze.

He answered and Cindy's anxious voice came on, "Adrian, bad news! They sent another team of soldiers. We can't break through to get you guys!"

"The soldiers that the Elvis family sent are stuck in a traffic jam. There was a car accident on the road they were taking. So they had to detour and will arrive in twenty minutes at the earliest. You'd better find a way to get out quickly. Otherwise, I'm worried something will happen if it's too late!"

Anne hung up the phone with a dark face.

Although he had been mentally prepared, the determination of the people in the intelligence agency far exceeded his expectations.

When they saw that the mercenaries outside could not stop Brock and others, they dispatched another mercenary group over.

In the current situation, where guns were banned as a whole, every mercenary's combat power was an important resource. Once exhausted, replenishing such combat power would become extremely difficult. However, the intelligence agency managed to do so without hesitation.

Not only that, but they were likely the ones that caused the car accident on the highway to delay the Qari soldiers.

Anne could not help but sigh at how deeply the United States had infiltrated Qari.

Even though they had been fueling the flame behind the scenes by promoting gun bans and anti-surveillance operations to weaken the infiltration, the United States still had so much force in the end. However, they should not worry about this right now.

The most important thing was to escape.

Seeing Anne's face change after he hung up, George knew something was wrong.

However, he still asked cautiously, "Did something happen on Cindy's side?"

Life at the Top Chapter 2464-Snow's heart tightened when he saw Lydia and Stefan's faces. Then, sweat began to pour from his forehead. Even with his usual fearless character, he was starting to get nervous now.

He discovered Smart as the spy because he wanted to gain the initiative by striking first, but now he accidentally saw something that he should not have.

Was he going to lose his life because of that?

Lydia nodded solemnly, relaying to them what Geena had just said on the phone.

Stefan's face turned pale instantly.

Then, he said trembling, "Milos, is Geena saying that the reinforcements won't be coming and we'll have to escape on our own?"

After all, he had just got to Qari not long ago, so no matter how much he had experienced recently, he was still that sheltered hedonist in essence. Back then, he could hold on until now with a single burst of energy, but now that he knew reinforcements were not coming, he was immediately deflated.

Cold sweat dripped from Snow's forehead like a wet towel that had been wrung out.

He thought for a while and asked tentatively, "How about I surrender myself? I don't have any evil intentions and I haven't done any substantial damage so far..."

"Looking at it, we definitely can't escape. So if I turn myself in, maybe the agency will spare my life because I am one of them."

Snow only embarked on the confrontation with the intelligence agency by accident.

He was still hopeful about the agency, but a few years later, he would be ultimately disappointed in the whole system. However, Lydia interrupted his thoughts with just one sentence.

"Did you forget the silencer they used when you escaped?"

A look of terror immediately appeared in Snow's eyes. He realized what Lydia was saying.

Since the other party came directly with a silencer after he triggered the alarm, this meant that they were going to silence him without alerting anyone.

The reason they did this was that they had considered the possibility that it was their people in the agency who triggered the alarm.

“And, do you think that they will believe you if you say you didn’t trigger the alarm intentionally?” Lydia was afraid that Snow would still be hopeful, so he added.

“But... But, I did all this to find out that Smart is the spy. They just need to investigate Smart and they will be able to prove my innocence!” Snow straightened his neck and argued forcefully.

Lydia smiled and said, “Oh, is Smart a bald and fat middle-aged black man?”

Hearing this, Snow froze.

“You... How do you know?”

Lydia touched his nose and said softly, “If the Smart you’re talking about is the same person I’m talking about, then I think I have already met him. If nothing unexpected happens, he should still be lying in the office and will not wake up for at least a week.”

Snow was overjoyed. “This is great, no? Anyway, he can’t escape now, so there’s just enough time for the people in the agency to investigate him and return my innocence.”

However, Lydia’s next sentence completely extinguished his joy.

“However, I don’t think he was acting like a spy before I knocked him out. When I saw him, he was alone in the office, and he didn’t need to hide his emotions at this time...”

“If he is a spy, it should be more in his interest to have a spy appear at that time. This means that even if he is investigated afterward, he can still blame everything on that spy. He should have been happy at that moment, but he wasn’t...”

Life at the Top Chapter 2465-“In fact, when I saw him, he was still yelling at me for not hurrying to catch the spy. He has to at least make me find a way so he can ensure that the files are destroyed remotely... That’s not how someone with a guilty conscience should behave. If he’s the spy, he wouldn’t be so anxious about the person not being caught.”

Snow’s face turned pale instantly.

“So... What are you trying to say?”

Benita spread his hands. “I think your assumption about the spy may have been a beautiful misunderstanding from the beginning... So, I guess you can’t prove your innocence by testifying against Smart.”

Snow was immediately discouraged.

He scratched his head and said helplessly, “Then, what should we do?”

“The reinforcements can’t come in now and the enemy has also increased their troops. And... We can’t get out by ourselves...” He sighed.

Thinking of this, Snow’s face became even more annoyed.

“I’m sorry for dragging you into this. I thought your connections here would be enough to save me. But I never expected that the agency would take this so seriously.”

Benita smiled. "I accept your apology. You did not think this through. You should at least disclose some information to me first. But it's useless to be frustrated now."

Snow raised his head abruptly and said incredulously, "Are you saying..."

One could not blame Snow for now trusting Mozart.

Under the current situation, neither Benita's armed forces nor the reinforcements from the Elvis family could get here in time. He could not imagine how Josua, a man from the future, could break out of this situation.

Benita smiled mysteriously. "Violet and the others can't come in now, but who said we don't have reinforcements?"

Stefan immediately realized what Benita meant and said in surprise, "Josua, you mean those reinforcements?"

Benita nodded and made a call.

The call was connected almost instantly.

An annoyed voice came from the phone. "I'm having a beauty sleep right now. You have thirty seconds to tell me who you are and how you got this number. If you can't give me a satisfactory answer within thirty seconds, just get ready to go to hell."

As a response, it took Benita less than a second to make Diana jump out of bed while screaming.

"Diana, this is Benita..."

Then, Benita heard a scream and the rustling of clothes.

After a few bursts of heavy breathing from the phone, Diana's familiar hoarse, but charming, voice was heard. "Josua, why are you looking for me at this hour?!"

"However, I am a little surprised. I thought it would take a while for you to contact me, and it will most likely be through others."

Benita did not have time to exchange pleasantries with her, so he said bluntly, "Diana, I want to know if our previous deal is still valid?"

Diana giggled and said, "Of course, it's valid. It's my fault that you have dirt on me. I have to say yes even if you ask me to accompany you now!"

Benita was stunned. Ever since he turned this enemy into a friend, Diana seemed to speak more freely to him.

After a while, Benita returned to normal in an instant and said directly, "I'm here at the Karl Building in the Green Zone of Bardot. My people have been blocked so I need you to send someone to help me stop the guards here so that my people can come in to meet us."

Life at the Top Chapter 2466-After Sonya said that, Hezti screamed into the phone.

“What? Mandra, are you asking me to send mercenaries to help you? I promised to cooperate with you, but I didn’t say that I was willing to use our most precious fighters to help you!”

“What’s more, since you started the damn gun ban, our mercenaries in Qari have lost their weapons and can’t fight at all. So how do you expect me to help you?”

Sonya smiled and said, “If I’m not mistaken, the guards at the gate will come in about fifteen minutes... You’ve only got fifteen minutes to think about whether to help me. Alright, I’m only here to tell you this. I’m hanging up now...”

“Wait!” Hezti’s roar came from the phone, accompanied by intense panting.

Finally, Hezti’s breathing returned to normal.

It was as if she had made some important decision before she said coldly, “Okay, Mandra, fine. This is all of our armed forces in Bardot. I hope you can prove that you are worthy of it with your actions.”

After speaking, Hezti hung up decisively without waiting for Sonya to reply. She was afraid that if she hung up one second later, she would not be able to resist cursing.

He was such a bully!

Hezti hung up and looked at the empty room. Then, a series of the most vulgar and vicious words came from her mouth. These words were in stark contrast to the luxurious clothes she was wearing at the moment.

It took a while for Hezti to calm down.

She gritted her teeth and muttered word by word, “Mandra, I will let you have your way for a few more days. After you rush into the Kurt family’s house in a few days, I will directly drag you down to the abyss when you are proudest.”

After Hezti said these cruel words, she rubbed her face and then skillfully dialed a number.

That was the number of Viktor, the captain of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries.

While ordering her to do everything possible to win the game, Sir also gave her unprecedented support. And Sky Wolves Mercenaries was one of them.

Sky Wolves Mercenaries, who had experienced the ban on guns, always had the habit of storing weapons, so even when mercenary regiments generally lost their combat effectiveness today, they still had a powerful force that was not inferior to the regular army.

This time, Viktor’s attitude towards Hezti was not as arrogant as before and his words were full of flattery.

Just after Hezti fled back to the Rothschild Castle in a hurry, Sir also sent someone to look into her experience in Qari and especially sent someone to provoke Viktor. Therefore, Viktor now did not dare to neglect Hezti, the eldest daughter of the Rothschilds.

Hezti, in a bad mood because of Sonya’s phone call earlier, was now in a better mood.

She sat at the table and found the latest Qari newspaper to check the news.

Since she got defeated in Bardot, she had checked various information from Qari every day to look for opportunities to take revenge on Frank.

About half an hour later, she received another call.

Hezti pressed the answer button angrily and heard Paulson's utterly discomfited voice.

"Miss Hezti, the intelligence agency called me just now to ask why the Rothschilds' troops are attacking their forces in Qari... I checked the mobilization records and found that you're the one who mobilize the Sky Wolves Mercenaries half an hour ago to attack the intelligence agency... I need you to give me an explanation now!"

Hezti's ears were buzzing with Paulson's roar. And she felt as if she was going mad now.

Damn, Mandra, you asked me for military support just to attack our people from the United States intelligence agency?

You're such an insufferable bully!

Life at the Top Chapter 2467-Bella was cursing Jasper.

Outside the Karl Building, the pressure on Julian and Brock had been greatly reduced due to the arrival of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries.

Julian and Brock were a little confused, looking at this group of fresh troops that were clearly not an official army. These soldiers did not have any insignias on them and they had no way of identifying the team. They only knew that Jasper must have found this team from somewhere.

Judging from the combat tactics of this group, there was a high probability that they were mercenaries.

However, why did this group of mercenaries come to help them?

In the end, Brock could not stop himself from nudging Julian, he asked, "Lager, when did the boss get a mercenary team here? The combat power of this group of mercenaries is a bit scary. They're not inferior to those of the regular army. I think only the top three mercenary groups have this kind of strength."

Julian was also at a loss now.

He could only spread his hands in answer to Brock's question. "I don't know how Jasper did it. But Jasper has always possessed remarkable abilities. No matter what incredible things he does, I think it's normal."

At this moment, one of the members of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries who had just joined the battle could not help but make a gesture of celebration after killing an enemy with his own hands. It might be because they were too excited.

Julian and Brock, who recognized the gesture, froze on the spot for an instant. They fell into a daze and were unable to recover for a long time.

Brock turned his head to Julian firmly and said in disbelief, "Lager, my eyes are not playing tricks on me, right? The celebratory gesture they did just now was from the Sky Wolves Mercenaries..."

Julian said rudely, "Don't ask me. I'm not blind. I know who they are."

The two looked at each other. They felt that this was the most absurd thing in the world.

Some time ago, they were themselves fighting and killing the Sky Wolves Mercenaries, practically the Rothschilds' private soldiers. Now, only a few days later, they were brothers in arms with the Sky Wolves Mercenaries. At the same time, the opponent was even suspected to be the people the United States intelligence agency controlled.

"Lager, if I'm not wrong, the Rothschilds represent the United States' interest. Why are they helping us to attack their own people?"

"Are the Rothschilds giving up their wrong way of life and changing for the better to become traitors?"

***

The Sky Wolves Mercenaries were recognized as the number one mercenary group in Qari so they would never disappoint in combat. They had just joined, but they quickly gained an advantage over the retreating side.

The defenders who had stood firm retreated step by step under their powerful firepower. Some soldiers even chose to throw down their guns and run.

It did not take long before a few members of the Sky Wolves Mercenaries stormed the building. One of the tasks Viktor set for them before was to rescue Jasper and the others from inside.

Soon, they found Jasper and the others.

Seeing the arrival of these people, Snow instantly burst into tears. Just now, they knew that this group of people should be on their side after looking through the window.

Before Snow could express his gratitude, those soldiers saluted Jasper. "Mr. Jasper, Miss Bella asked us to send you regards from the Rothschilds."

Snow was completely dumbfounded. He pointed at Jasper with trembling fingers.

He was too shocked and could not speak clearly, "You... You... You're one of the Rothschilds?"

Life at the Top Chapter 2468-Snow's face was a mixture of eccentricity and horror.

The reason he asked Jasper for help, apart from his ability, was largely due to Jasper's background in Somerland.

In his opinion, if he chose someone else, there was a high probability that they would choose to betray him because of the United States. Because those people were not individuals but represented the countries behind them. After all, the matter he was involved in now was too big. It involved saving face for the United States or what it represented.

If someone chose to protect Snow, it was tantamount to declaring themselves an enemy of the United States.

Most countries would not dare take this risk. However, Somerland was different.

But... What did these soldiers say just now?

They said they were sent by the Rothschilds!

The Rothschilds were the elder family of the Freemasonry, and the Freemasonry was the real master behind the American company masquerading as a country.

If Jasper could get the Rothschilds' people to help, it meant that his identity was very interesting.

Snow was in between laughter and tears. He contacted Jasper just so he could hide from America.

Judging from how this was going, Jasper had an ambiguous relationship with the Rothschilds, and, by extension, that meant also a link to the United States.

This was like a dispute between close people who failed to recognize each other. However, they were his reinforcements and opponents.

Seeing Snow's pale face, Jasper instantly understood what he had in his mind.

However, Jasper was a little unhappy with Snow's attempt to tie them together, so he did not expose himself but said vaguely, "I just had a little deal with Miss Bella from the Rothschild family..."

Snow's face turned paler in an instant.

He was doomed now. Jasper was not only connected to the Rothschilds but he was also connected to the eldest daughter.

Snow was an intelligence agent, but the intel he knew best was that of his own country. And according to his sources, Bella was the most powerful candidate as the next head of the Rothschild family.

Since Jasper had a relationship with Bella now, it must mean that they were very close.

What kind of relationship could a single man and a single woman have?

He could get people from the Rothschilds to help him deal with people from the United States intelligence agency. That was such a strong relationship!

Everyone understood the reason why a woman would go this far for a man.

When Rowan saw Snow's face turn pale, he found it interesting so he added fuel to the flame, "Dude, you have no idea. Miss Bella and Jasper are old acquaintances. She will say yes if Jasper asks her to do this little favor."

"Now you understand why we dared to come here alone to save you, right? How would we rely only on the Elvis family and our few people? We are actually relying on the Rothschilds!"

Now, Snow was so frightened that his legs trembled. His mind was even starting to picture what would happen after this.

Bella of the Rothschild family was willing to fight against the United States intelligence agency for Jasper.

Surely it was not just for the sake of their relationship, there must be other interests behind it.

Was their intention to leverage this situation to gather information on the intelligence agency, thereby gaining a means to fully manipulate and elevate the Rothschilds' influence within the United States?

Thinking this, Snow panicked even more. Because they would surely not let outsiders know about this. As a witness to the whole thing, he knew what would happen to him.

His life would be over!

Life at the Top Chapter 2469-The mercenary who came to the rescue looked at Snow with disdain.

He only heard the Rothschilds' name, why is he so frightened?

There's a gunfight going on outside and we're not even scared of death, but you are afraid of a name?

Besides, the boss has already said that Mr. Sandra is our distinguished guest, so we must take good care of him.

We are here to help, not to eat you, so there is nothing to be afraid of.

How timid... What a coward...

Although the mercenary looked down on Snow, he still respected Adrian. After all, he had fought Sandra several times before but failed every single time. And the mercenaries respected strong people the most.

Although he still could not figure out why the relationship between everyone had changed. They were fighting each other to the death before, but now they have changed from opponents to allies.

However, as a mercenary, he did not need to have a mind of his own. He just needed to obey orders.

Thinking this, the mercenary immediately said to Sandra respectfully, "Mr. Laine, we've already settled this. The opponent is no longer a threat under our immense firepower. Shall we go out now?"

Sandra shook his head and smiled, saying, "No, we have one more thing to do before that. One more thing? Are there any enemies hiding here?"

The mercenary had a confused face, but he quickly put his doubts away. After all, the boss specifically told him to serve Sandra well, and as long as Sandra did not have any over-the-top orders, the mercenary would have to obey.

Sandra said, "It's not about us, but it's about this friend of ours. He has an opponent here whom he has to meet before leaving."

Ten thousand question marks popped up in Snow's mind instantly.

Do I still have business here?

Why do I have no idea about that?

If I have one thing to do now, it is to get away from you as soon as possible. All of you are devils!

Even though Snow was yelling maniacally in his heart, he knew his life was in Sandra's hands.

Even if he questioned what Sandra was trying to do, he still needed to listen to him.

So, Snow could only chuckle dryly.

He said, "Yeah, I do. Laine, I would have forgotten if you didn't tell me."

When Bolot looked at how Snow was trying to flatter Astor, compared to his confident expression just now, he was very amused.

However, he was also very curious about where Sandra wanted to take Snow. So, he did not say anything and only watched from the side.

Soon, the men came to a room on the third floor under Sandra's guidance.

When they got into the room, Bolot's expression became strange immediately.

They were in this room before and knocked out someone here too.

When Snow walked through the door, he saw the unconscious Smart. He was also stunned.

Before this, he would excitedly kick Smart a few times if he saw him like this. After all, the reason he had to hide in the past few days was all because of this 'spy'. Moreover, he already had grievances with Smart and he had been framed countless times by this man.

However, after he found out that it was just a misunderstanding, he could only look at Smart with pity.

After all, they were all on the same boat, they both fell into the hands of the same man. At the same time, he wonder why Sandra was bringing him to see Smart now.

Life at the Top Chapter 2470-"I remember you said that there is a hidden danger in the information you gave me?"

After Jasper reminded him, Snow immediately understood what Jasper meant.

Jasper wanted to delay the destruction time of the keys.

He had told Jasper that the intelligence agency would find a way to replace the installed cameras after a while, and when that happened, these keys would become invalid. However, he did not tell Jasper the whole truth. In fact, the keys would expire much earlier than what he told Jasper. Because there was a simpler way to invalidate the key besides replacing the camera.

That was to key in some orders to destroy the back-end automatically, but that operation had a lot of uncontrollability and might even affect the obtained images. So, they would not do this until it was absolutely critical.

In the entire intelligence agency, only two people had mastered this destruction method, one was Smart, and the other was Snow.

This was one of the reasons Smart made things hard for Snow earlier. After all, no one wanted their unique status to be challenged.

Snow did not tell Jasper the whole truth for the simple reason that he was not prepared to let Jasper check the surveillance of the Kurt family through the secret key.

Snow's discovery of the secret key was simply an accident, and at this time, he did not intend to be an enemy of the intelligence agency.

Under the premise of this idea, the exposure of the secret key was a risk for him. Also, if the intelligence agency discovered that this matter was related to him in the future, it would increase the possibility of the outside world finding out about the intelligence agency's conspiracy and it would make the United States more likely to encounter international diplomatic risk.

As someone who was genuinely American, Snow could not allow this to happen. Therefore, the reason he told Jasper about those secret keys was not just to further bind Jasper, but to also use this as bait to prevent the possibility that Jasper would get angry and leave him when he found out.

However, Jasper seemed to have guessed the truth.

Jasper even guessed that he had the power to prevent the remote destruction of the secret key.

When Snow cracked the algorithm set by Smart, even Smart had no idea that Snow not only obtained the program flow to control the remote destruction but even taught himself to deduce the solution to prevent its destruction. And now Jasper asked him to come here because he wanted to destroy the destruction program. Because the key to everything lay in the control disk in Smart's hand!

As long as Jasper had the disk and the deciphering algorithm deduced by Snow, the secret key in Jasper's hands could be safely used until the day the camera was replaced.

This was Jasper's purpose.

"Why? Can't you do it?" Jasper's voice interrupted Snow's reverie.

Just as he was about to say something, he saw Jasper's half-smile. Then, the refusal that was on the tip of his tongue was stuffed back into his stomach abruptly.

He had no choice now.

He had only two options, either Jasper handed him over to the Intelligence Agency to try for being a 'spy', or he would obey Jasper.

The former would be a dead end. He was still young and did not want to die.

"No problem..." Snow lowered his head, and then added, "I can help you with this, but only with those things in your hands."

When Snow said the last sentence, he was very firm.

Jasper also instantly understood the meaning behind it. This was Snow's bottom line. It was either he agreed or died.

Jasper smiled almost without pause. "Okay, I promise."

You will disclose these secrets and secret keys to the public in the future anyway, so why should I be in a hurry?
