

At The Top 51

Life at The Top

Chapter 51

While Jasper had taken all of Zayden's funds, without Jasper watching over the market, Heavenly Dragon Real Estate's stocks crashed.

It was a downward plummet.

Forget about the retail investors, but even organizations were stunned.

No one knew what Heavenly Dragon Real Estate had done to offend such an investor that they crashed its market.

"How much did you earn?" Wendy leaned over. Some unruly flyaways caressed the tip of Jasper's nose, and they brought along the delicate fragrance of a lady.

Wendy did not think that far, for she was only interested in looking at Jasper's backstage.

"Deducting the administrative costs, it's a total of... 4,578,888,542.85 dollars.

"I started with three billion in funds and ended up with around 4,570,000,000 in my account. It's safe to say that I've wrung Zayden dry."

Jasper sent 600 million to Dawson's account before transferring the rest of the money back into his own.

Counting his earnings this round, he had earned almost 900 million after excluding the 600 million that belonged to Dawson.

"Good Lord!"

the first time she watched Jasper make money, Wendy still could not believe that he had managed to earn 900 million a speed may seem alluring, there's not too many chances to do something still blinked and turned to boast to Dawson. "Look, Dad! Jasp got all the or cry. "Yes,

Wendy's cheeks flushed as she refuted, "What are Jasper instead. "You've got a great future ahead of you. With how you're able to make money like this, I'm sure you won't even need to start

Sure, you may be able to turn into a nouveau riche overnight, but many will go bankrupt in return. Risks and benefits do not exist without the other and no one is said to

"You're right."

more and more satisfied with Jasper when he saw how the young man remained humble and diligent despite his success. It was has lost a large amount of money today. There's no way I'll let go of the chance to take advantage of this victory and get my the province, Dawson was never the kind of man who would forget and that the most important issue about the group's funds had been resolved, it was time for him to take the room with a pale face. He had shooed the three stock traders over the happenings over the past two days and confirmed that this was indeed a trap his opponent

Chapter 52

Sylva's roar added to the layer of sweat over Zayden's forehead.

"Someone with this kind of ability definitely has to be some big shot, Dad. I'll find him!" Zayden frantically replied.

Sylva scoffed. "The family has lost a billion dollars because of this. Even without you mentioning it, there's no way the family will forgive this person. Stay low for the time being. Don't linger around the province either. Go take a vacation.

"Dawson is hardly an easy opponent. The family will have to prepare to deal with his revenge. Do you understand what I'm trying to tell you?"

Zayden refused to believe what Sylva was implying. "He can't possibly think of attacking me."

"How do you think Dawson managed to make a name for himself among so many outstanding people and got a good hold on the title of the richest man in the province for so long? Let me tell you, everything you know about Dawson Schuler is only what that man wants you to know."

Not wasting more saliva, Sylva hung up on Zayden.

Zayden's expression had turned sinister and fierce.

Had his plan succeeded, it would only be a matter of when before the entire Schuler Group was his.

Forget Schuler Group, but he had even lost one billion of the family's and breaking everything in the house like a madman. "I don't care who you are, but you're f*cked the moment I find out who you are, you

...

At Schuler Villa.

received a few phone calls and rest. Thank you, Jasper. I don't know what I'd do

"You're too kind, Uncle Schuler.

shoulder. "There'll be a fight between me and the Hanks family to come, but once this incident ends, you and I can sit industry will become highly profitable in the future. It would be unwise for us to let such an opportunity go. The sooner the better too. Just inform me once you've got a Wendy with a smile. "I'll put Wendy in your care for a short my job." Jasper did too casual and courageous by saying such a it's implying that

Chapter 53

That explained why despite them being in the province, the Bentley showroom was nearly empty.

LIVE

An error occurred. Please try again later

Jasper and Wendy's arrival had caught the attention of a few salesmen, but they decided to leave them alone when they realized that the two were mere youths.

After all, a mere Chevrolet was hardly something any ordinary person could afford, let alone a Bentley that cost more than millions of dollars.

Not that Jasper minded, for he saw the Bentley Mulsanne he had been yearning for a long time the moment he walked through the door.

One of the greater things about brands like Bentley and Rolls-Royce was their classical designs.

That was why the Bentley now did not look too different from the Bentley of 20 years later.

From the timelessly classical cylindrical headlights to the powerful air intake grille, to the double-winged Bentley logo that represented honor and wealth, it was an iconic brand design that was unforgettable to any man.

this Mulsanne, sir? I can tell you more about it."

in a sales uniform.

salesmen chatting in a circle not too far away, Jasper immediately understood that came to take a look," Jasper

“You can’t expect to look for good business opportunities with eyes as blind as yours, Xena. Than man looks just customer. Regardless saleswoman scoffed and chided disrespectfully, “A country girl will always be a country girl. She’ll never compare to woman’s words brought out laughter from Feeling inferior, she stared at the ground and did spoke calmly, “You don’t have to pay up at Jasper and gave how it nodded vigorously. “Yes, a seat inside, the saleswoman who had been staring at “Hey, hold up!”

Chapter 54

Next to them, Wendy frowned at the saleswoman’s attitude and choice of words.

“Isn’t your service a bit too unwelcoming? How can you even work in sales with such an attitude?”

“Oh?” The saleswoman side-eyed Wendy and scoffed. “Do you not know where you are? This is the Bentley showroom! Every car in here costs a few million dollars!

“I’ve got to admit that you have quite the taste, making a beeline for the Mulsanne the moment you walked in. You can’t even afford this no matter how you look at it, so why do we have to be polite to you?”

“How do you know that we can’t pay for it?” Wendy was irked.

The saleswoman guffawed as if she had been told a great joke. “I’ll swallow this towel if you can afford this, how’s that?”

Then, the saleswoman waved her hand to shoo them away irritably. “Enough is enough. You’ve already seen it, so stop standing here like an eyesore. Seriously, how do you even have the dignity to come in here with how poor you look?”

Once she was done speaking, Jasper then handed Xena his bank card.

“Write the contract and swipe the card. I’ll pay in full.” Jasper pointed at the Bentley Mulsanne. “I’ll take this Mulsanne.”

that, Jasper then looked at the gaping saleswoman and hardly heavy and his voice was not too reality and scoffed coldly, unfazed. "You think you can joke around with a simple bank card? This car costs 6.8 million dollars! We quit." Jasper did the contract, please." Jasper turned to blankly at Jasper. "Wait, you're really really buying it." Jasper flashed ran off with the bank card printed contract and the proper documents for the Jasper keyed in the password and paid 6.8 million dollars with his bank

a breath

in the year 2000, they were powerful big shots who people to buy the car in person, for they usually had someone else do it for this was the first car the showroom had could be earned from selling cars, and with this transaction, Xena had

Life at The Top

Chapter 55

Since Jasper was not customizing his car with additional accessories, he was soon done with the procedure and could directly drive the car home.

The automobile industry in the year 2000 was not as disgusting as it would be in the future, for bundled insurance had yet to be a thing. Once Jasper got the keys, he was allowed to drive to the DMV for his license plate right away.

Jasper took the car keys from Xena and got into the car as the saleswoman trembled to stuff the towel into her mouth.

Flicking on the headlights, he drove the car off its spot and left the showroom.

The entire time, Jasper did not seem to check if that saleswoman had really swallowed the towel or not.

Dashing across the roads in his six, almost seven-million-dollar car, Jasper was utterly exhilarated.

While a car this luxurious was not well-known among ordinary people in this time and age, its aura was non-dismissible. Any discerning person could tell at a glance that it was an expensive car.

Jasper did not care about the gazes from the surrounding people, but he was overjoyed by the delight he felt from sitting in his dream car.

"Wow. This car really is different. It's so much better than my BMW," Wendy exclaimed in surprise while sitting in the passenger seat.

like it? I can buy you one if

but a speck of dust

that the purpose of making money was to spend Wendy shook her head. "No, thanks. I think a car like this is more suited to be driven by you men. I quite like my small BMW, it's convenient and easy to drive. Plus, I want to make your job and come with me if you want to earn money," Jasper

"Sure," Wendy immediately replied.

you sure you want to give it up just like that?" It was Jasper's

I see now, I learn more by your side than at work. But you'll fair." Jasper chuckled. "You'll work as my secretary for now, but I'll give you a more adequate position once I get my start a company?"

this for a while, so we're going to go look for was speechless. Jasper alone had managed to earn four billion in a short time. If he thought of this amount as 'not much', then he had said, Jasper did not return to the city. Instead, he took a detour and drove into the heart of where already signs of it being hours, Jasper and Wendy arrived at a modern-looking building in the heart of the city of

Chapter 56

Hearing Jasper's words, Wendy asked curiously, "What does he want?"

"What a manager whose highest ambition is to realize his ideals needs is a stage where he can display his true talents." Jasper smiled. "Coincidentally, that's exactly what I'm offering."

Wendy did not understand completely, but it seemed like something great.

Instead of bringing Wendy to Jack's office, Jasper went to a coffee shop with her in tow instead.

Having read Jack's autobiography thoroughly, Jasper knew that this coffee shop was the place Jack loved the most while he worked in Andros. It was a place he was sure to drop by after work every day.

"A cappuccino and a Jamaican Blue Mountain, please."

After ordering, both Jasper and Wendy went to sit by the window.

Wendy wanted to ask why Jasper did not go to the man's office, but since Jasper was not saying anything, she suppressed the urge to ask.

plan

the coffee shop were pushed open and an unattractive man in

“The usual, Mr. Tanner?”

familiar with him and sat at. However, he was shocked when he realized that a young couple was already sitting they had stolen his seat and gave Jasper a polite turned to look for a seat, is the table you’ve habitually sat at for the past few years, Mr. Chandler.

how the other knew about him. After all, he appeared in domestic finance magazines all this young man had come for

I know

but you do now.

reached out his hand smiled and shook Jasper’s hand, taking the

Chapter 57

Jasper spoke casually as he played with the coffee cup in his hands.

LIVE

An error occurred. Please try again later

Jack’s leaving frame was frozen in place as he turned to glare furiously at Jasper, spitting out the words, “I don’t think I understand what you mean.”

Jasper looked up at Jack and smiled. “Your Ph.D. in Computer Science at the Fornia State University of Technology is fake.”

Jasper’s tone was not that of a question, rather a statement that carried absolute certainty.

In his past life, it would only be a few years before Jack’s falsified qualifications would come to light. It caused him great trouble, which then became one of the reasons why he left Weresoft.

Jack’s expression shifted at the statement, and the man was mortified. “What do you want?”

“I’m not trying to threaten you, Mr. Tanner, but I’m very sure that you spend every moment worrying about your falsified certificate of education. A lie will always be a lie, and it’ll only be a matter of time before people find out.”

calmly. "Instead of being constantly worried over something like that, wouldn't it be better to accept is four pay you eight million." Jasper stood up to meet Jack's gaze.
stared at Jasper man in front of him was too young. He could not find it are you from?"
the approval needed for my company as quickly as I can. You'll be my first Jasper, only to scoff irritably after a short pause. "I can't believe I actually wasted so leave. "My time is worth more than rejected is more than a mere invitation to work for me. It's a brighter and better future for you came men found themselves at small sip of his
the side. Over the course of their short conversation, she had managed to find details about Jack Tanner. It of talent that Weresoftware valued highly. His managerial skills had arrived at

Chapter 58

"Over four billion..."

It was a figure that would raise blood pressures and burst arteries. Jack felt his scalp go numb at the sight.

While his current boss was Charles Granger, the richest man in the world, and four billion dollars was only a fraction of his wealth, it was only because Charles was his boss.

As a professional manager, Jack's annual salary was already considered to be one of the country's top-paid occupations. Still, Jack's mouth dried at the sight of such a terrifying figure.

"If you still have any doubts, Mr. Tanner, you can come with me to Commercial Bank to verify it," Jasper spoke plainly.

Jack smiled in embarrassment and could hear the jab in Jasper's words. "That's alright. I'm sure you have no reason to joke about something like this, Mr. Laine."

"Indeed. Both our time is too precious for that." Jasper gestured back at the seat Jack had sat on before. Understanding what he meant, Jack sat back down.

Jack recollected his emotions and spoke, "If I may ask, Mr. Laine, is all your capital yours or your family's, or is it a joint venture?"

Jasper smiled. "Are you updated with the futures market, Mr. Tanner?"

Jack nodded. "I haven't dabbled in it myself, but I do know that two mysterious retail investors have recently appeared in the futures market.

"One of them earned tens of millions worth of revenue with just a few hundred thousand as capital in the domestic bean futures market not too long ago.

"While the other took a step further with international crude oil futures, earning a whopping few billions... Wait. Were both retail investor accounts yours?"

his own deduction

I got myself

Jasper's tone. In fact, the man sounded two mysterious retail investors this entire time. I never Jasper smiled and asked, "Well then, Mr. Tanner, your abilities, Mr. Laine.

wages and benefits, for ideals. He would not entertain the idea at all if their ideals

the boss and their professional to Jack's question, Jasper replied with in 20 years, Jasper knew very well that the internet would be an industry and Terizone Inc. in the future were companies that dealt with the internet.

looked at Jasper intently. "Let's not talk about the domestic market. Not even investment groups overseas are optimistic when it comes to the internet. They see the current trend of the internet as something fragile that would easily shatter. Are you

The only reason why internet companies around the world right now can't make money is that this market you see now is due to capital speculation. I wouldn't fault anyone for calling it fragile at all since it will shatter. But I also firmly believe that the internet nightlife outside the coffee shop and spoke and then I'll stand right at the top of this world. Are you willing to miss out on mind and reached a hand out to out to shake Jack's hand. "You won't "When do you plan to start the company, Mr. Laine? I have to submit to look for me in my city

Life at The Top

Chapter 59

"I know you believe me, and I promise I'll make it come true. I want you to be there with me when it happens."

LIVE

An error occurred. Please try again later

Jasper chuckled, leaving one hand on the steering wheel while he reached out to take Wendy's hand with the other.

Holding her hand, he placed it lightly over the gear.

He had a beauty in the passenger seat of his luxurious car as he drove off.

This was a scene almost every man had fantasized about.

At that moment, Jasper was already on his way to success.

The most important thing was that Wendy was the said beauty.

broad palm from embarrassment, and expected Jasper to make such a sudden move. Thank goodness it was dim inside the car. Her flushed cheeks could only be seen when the streetlamps flashed from

she felt her mind told her that she could not let Jasper touch her as he wished and she should pull her voice in her heart rejected it... 'We're just holding hands. It's Wendy sided with the voice and shyness from the Jasper's lips curled upward, needed to know how to flirt, but he like these, remaining silent was better than anything he woman in the car

a slight fragrance

arrived at the province, and Jasper and fetch you tomorrow, then we can go and register the company at look at Jasper. Making a rushed sound of acknowledgment, she ran into her the Bentley hooked around his finger, Jasper left the

Chapter 60

How many enterprises were there in the country worth more than one billion dollars?

Ignoring those that were national, there were less than a hundred private enterprises within the country that were worth more than one billion dollars. This meant that the moment Jasper's company was registered, it would already be part of the top hundred enterprises in the country.

"Quite the man you are, Jasper." Mr. Ziegler sighed in admiration.

"Thank you for helping me out, Mr. Ziegler, or the whole registration process would've taken much longer." Jasper thanked politely.

Mr. Ziegler waved his hand dismissively. Now that every local government began to openly ask for investment, wealthy businessmen like Jasper were considered VIPs no matter where they went. There was no reason for him to act high and mighty.

"You're too kind. I'm just doing my job. What do you want to name your company, though?"

Jasper glanced at Wendy who had her lips pressed into a smile and gave the name he had come up with long ago. "JW Capital."

Wendy was stunned, then her face flushed red.

The last thing she expected was for Jasper to name the company with a combination of their names.

waved his hand to have his employees put the all of the Bureau of Industry and Commerce's papers in his hands, Jasper bid Mr. Ziegler from Royce Villa are meeting up for dinner at Sheraton, Jasper, and they want me to invite you. Won't you into a laugh. "Alright then.

I'll be

Jasper waved goodbye.

the Bentley and drove off. Mr. Ziegler turned to John and sighed in admiration.

He isn't from some big family at all. All of that is his own hard work." John chuckled. He could not help in the beginning, but I think I understand now. Some people are just born smarter than others. It's not something we

Mr. Ziegler

for dinner

honor to have

...

may seem like just a few official papers and seals when in truth, they name that was a combination of hers and