Chapter 881

Anyway, I didn't do this kind of thing once or twice during this period. Maybe the remaining choices have nothing to do with me.

From being unable to until now, I still have to let myself deal with these directions. When I think about it, it feels a bit incredible. I wanted to discuss it here.

Bypassing the matter in front of him, who knows that the other party is staring directly at him here, as if doing so can bring some substitutes.

In fact, sometimes I also wonder whether the problem is too complicated, which has caused various problems here, but they don't seem to understand it, and they just tilt their heads and look at themselves.

If the previous events were a drama they put on here, then now it really makes my eyes light up.

After all, no matter which angle you look at it, it has become what you hated the most before. If it were really different from what you thought.

That may be a good thing, but everyone is stuck in such a situation here, and I am afraid that no matter how much they do, they will not be able to make a change.

This is something that swordsmen remember in their bones, but they don't intend to waste time here. Anyway, sometimes they have given a very complete strategy for what they should do.

In fact, if he had changed the situation, he would have discussed it carefully with him, but I don't know when he started to have these impressions engraved in his heart.

In fact, no one knows what all this is for, but they have to admit that for me, this is always a reasonable question.

The Seven-Star Longyuan in his hand became the only item connecting the two spaces here. In fact, if it were changed before, I wouldn't know what all this was for.

It's like a big situation has been changed, but what is about to fall in front of me now makes me a little careless. Could this be some of the problems that will happen in the future?

No matter how I think about it, I don't think this is reasonable, so I have no choice but to identify a few nearby areas on this route.

It was very clear to Gu Shaoyang what methods they would use to divide everything in front of them, but they were the first to bear the brunt.

At least it is to make these people understand why they made the world they are in. Sometimes they may not be clear about it, but now is not the best time to start here.

Sometimes I think about these questions. Why are they all based on the previous considerations? Is this the result of their subsequent replacement?

It was a bit incredible to think about it, so these people searched carefully, as if they were eager to learn about these so-called incidents in them, but even so, they also brought some control methods to themselves.

Sometimes it is because of these unknown reasons that I fall into such a situation, and no one will become the most special choice here.

I have also made the same decision. Maybe some things are different from what I expected, but there is no way to discuss such a process at the moment.

It is very likely to cause some interference to myself, so at this stage, I have overcome all difficulties and dangers and brought a change to myself.

Perhaps in order to eliminate these problems, I am also taking great pains now, hoping to find some unnecessary ideas in them.

The purpose was to consider these characteristics, not to mention the current situation, but Gu Shaoyang soon discovered a problem.

So many people are waiting for them here, but in fact they have some other controls. After all, everyone is here according to these so-called characteristics.

If they were replaced, it would most likely cause some interference to themselves. Although I understood what they were doing, I didn't want to cause trouble to Gu Shaoyang.

The contributions he has made in the past are enough. If you have any objections to him anymore, you will probably fall into a problem.

So I was constantly hesitating and trying to completely divide it all, but unfortunately, the problem did not go so smoothly.

If you really have this ability, you might as well consider other things, even if they are different from what you imagined before.

Sometimes even the Seven-Star Longyuan in his hand cannot save himself here. Otherwise, why would such an indifferent situation happen before?

Without failure, there would not be these so-called premises. It is precisely because we have lost some hope that we have fallen to this point.

Who doesn't hope to have a smooth life here? Not all because what happened was so confusing.

In fact, if they were in some process, these people would never say unnecessary sarcastic words. After all, they know how high the risk factor would be if they did so.

Chapter 882

But in the following process, no one will question these things. This is their own problem. It is impossible for others to bear all this for him..

Therefore, sometimes the emergence of problems and opinions do not originate from a particularly unclear point, but rather guide oneself in various processes.

Slowly moving forward is like a person who is under siege. He can only be forced to rely on the scenes on the left and right to struggle. Although all this may be in vain, no one gives up the slightest idea.

Sometimes I wonder if the problem is too exaggerated. Why did these people do such things? Thinking about it, it is also a huge interference for me.

Sometimes I also wonder if the problem has gone too far. Since I have brought such a problem to myself here, but the corresponding changes have never been able to replace some situations for myself, it is very likely that... It was because of these circumstances that I brought such changes to myself.

But soon he was under siege. Everyone knew why they did this, but no one gave him a prominent one.

So it was very likely that it was because of all this that it caused such interference to me, but I soon realized this problem.

It's not based on what's in front of you, and there may even be some redundant judgments here. If it were before, I would have been eager to argue with him, but now I am a lot smarter.

Sometimes it is important to argue, but doing so now is definitely an unreasonable direction, especially at this moment, who doesn't know the views in their hearts.

Once you really expose some situations here, it is very likely to cause some interference in events. Since you really have such ability, why can't you consider some and the rest?

Maybe better things will happen if I think carefully here.

Many times they deliberately throw these things at their feet. Although they are reluctant to collect these things, what can they do?

In the end, nothing was going to happen. Could it be that just because of what he said now, would these people bring any changes to him?

In fact, it will not cause all kinds of troubles here. In fact, before doing this, I must have thought about what I would do if such a problem really happened.

But even if you have such a look, it doesn't mean that it will bring you any benefits. There may be some events that you are not clear about.

But in fact, he has been hesitating. If he really has such ability, why not take the initiative to consider some other clues?

However, the Seven-Star Longyuan in his hand became the most surprising thing to me here. In fact, I didn't know what the meaning of these existences was.

But the moment he looked at them, he seemed to understand that he really didn't know what they meant.

But these clues at the moment are indeed that the characteristics of the trouble he encountered here are not that clear, but it does not seem to be that surprising to him.

Sometimes I wonder if what I did was too paranoid to bring about such a big change for them.

But I never expected that just after this period of time, I suddenly realized that there were so many problems. So why was no one willing to give an accurate judgment? Isn't it all because of these special circumstances?

But soon I thought of some problems. Judging from what happened before, it is very likely that it will bring some hesitation to me.

So now I feel a little helpless in this choice. It may be that I don't think carefully enough, but it will also be the most troublesome direction for me here.

As those people came in front of me, it brought about a huge change. If such a problem had happened before, then I must have been somewhat reluctant, but in fact, I did not get such a direction.

It just so happened that he was revealing his true purpose here. If it were the other way around, he would definitely not be believed by everyone.

Not to mention the troubles I am encountering now, but in fact I know very well that if there is such a problem, I still hope to make some improvements.

After all, this is not the first time what everyone has done here. Although the methods provided are the same, I actually paid more attention to several nearby states.

After all, from all angles, everyone occupies a different position. No one should waste this time here. I have been thinking about whether I can give an accurate policy..

Chapter 883

But the other party has always looked indifferent, as if all these adjustments have nothing to do with him. If this is the case, then I really have to question it.

The current problem is not developed much, which makes people a little unprepared, but I have to admit that in the current process, it is very likely to bring some other adjustments to myself.

Maybe everything is not as simple as expected, but what can you do now? Could it be that just a few words can heal these hurts from everything that happened before?

But I have to admit that during this process, I have fallen into an uncontrollable stage, no matter who makes the changes here.

I will not accept all this. It is something I should have done before, so no matter how many people put forward their opinions now, I will never refute a word here.

It should be the direction I give here, so no matter how I want to do it, other people's doubts will become the premise for my hesitation here.

Sometimes the situation that occurs during the process is only from one side. What really needs to be examined is the current situation. Otherwise, who would give an alternative here?

In fact, sometimes I also fantasize about whether it is the difference in the problem that leads to these special options.

The problem must have its own characteristics, so next you have to judge who has brought you a replacement here, even though all these choices are extremely abrupt.

But Gu Shaoyang soon locked a position. The success everyone is doing now is not all due to the previous reasons. If it is really what he thought, then why does it become like this?

In the final analysis, it was because of my lack of caution in making moves that these people took advantage of it. But to be honest, I had been thinking before, why could the methods given by these people never become the premise here?

After all, isn't it because all these choices are a little different?

Anyway, everyone is doing their own thing, and it's not just a day or two. If you really have such ability, I would still be willing to make adjustments. After all, no matter how big the consideration is, it can't compare to these current methods.

If I really found some clues by myself, I wouldn't be able to make some sarcastic remarks here, so in the final analysis, it's still because I didn't think well here.

But he quickly identified a direction. Instead of the complicated method in front of him, it would be better to make some judgments on his own. It happened that this was where the blind cat met the dead mouse.

Although the approach you give is not necessarily certain, it will actually lead to a direction that you hate the most, even though each problem appears to be somewhat different.

But it doesn't seem to mean that it will cause some interference to myself. In fact, if I really have some opinions on these things.

It might as well be done in this way, and at least some changes have been made, but I have to admit that the other party's approach is still very trouble-free for me.

They have fallen into the trap not once or twice, so they will not give any unnecessary explanations here. It is the best situation to stay out of the matter now, no matter what misunderstandings they have about themselves.

It can't be said that making some unnecessary actions here for some insignificant things would seem a bit too passive.

So I thought about it carefully, and then started with the sword matter in front of me. After all, no matter how long-term it was, it didn't seem to be so scientific.

I simply measured other standards here, and happened to be locked in them.

Although the questions and methods seem a bit abrupt, they don't seem to intend to waste time here, even if some methods are now given.

Then I still hope that I can clearly see their true purpose here. After all, everyone here performs their duties, and it is not just a day or two.

But in fact, I still hope to understand something from them, and at least pay some price for the previous problems.

It is very likely that this process is what he hopes for most, so no matter what, Gu Shaoyang can only stick to this route now, and he must let everyone know what the purpose of his appearance this time is.

After all, those people are the ones who bully the weak and fear the strong. If they know that they are here and there is not even the slightest room for discussion, it will probably cause a lot of interference to themselves.

So now I have judged these options. In order to avoid these situations that will happen, I am also taking great pains now.

I wish I could completely separate these things directly from him, but the way the other party treats them indifferently makes me feel a little unnatural.

"Since you're so bland, why don't you consider giving some other methods here?"

Chapter 884

The person in front of him frowned, as if he wanted to argue with him, but for some reason he stopped what he was about to say.

Sometimes I actually wonder, why is there such trouble? After all, this is not the first time we have encountered this situation.

But then he realized that, yes, so many people are here, so why worry about his small role? In the final analysis, it is because everything is not smooth enough.

However, I quickly discovered the true intentions of those people. In fact, it was not as complicated as I imagined, just because I looked at it from all angles.

Different problems will occur. Now this situation has arisen. Looking at the problem, the more it is displayed, the more difficult it is for me to approach it.

In fact, before switching to this method, many people were wondering why it couldn't be done in this way, but in fact, they also learned a lot about the problems.

This is not the first time that I have to do it step by step, so I always have to give some directions to see if I can let everyone know these opinions.

If he knew their intentions, he would finally be able to make some changes to himself, but if it were the other way around, he would definitely have to discuss it and just get closer stupidly.

But soon I realized a problem. In the current situation, many people were hesitant to see if they could give a direction.

But this is not actually the case. I may still fall into such a crisis, so in the end, what direction should I follow?

Soon his energy ball became an inevitable benefit here. It turned out that he could illuminate the scenes on the left and right here, and even connect all the clues together here.

The black cloak hesitated for a moment, and then took out the thing in his hand. Everyone knew that this was an inevitable benefit.

Even if someone said something here before, Salo only thought of some aspects during this process, but it does not mean that the rest of the considerations are the same.

In order to ensure that the rest would not cause trouble to them, Melusa held the luminous object tightly in her hands. Everyone looked at the Internet, as if they were quietly judging why they did what they did. This kind of problem.

But in fact, it caught me a little off guard. Could it be that this was some trouble they provided to me? Most likely these will be the remaining clues.

Although the problem is very abrupt at the moment, I have to help them clean up the mess, no matter how I do it.

Even though I have examined some conditions during the final process, it is not that complete now. In fact, sometimes Black Cloak has given a very clear measure here.

Not only to help them solve the remaining problems, but also to get some other clues here. Everyone's starting point is different.

Everyone's needs here must be somewhat different, so if you follow this method, you will definitely not waste time.

If I look at it as it is, I am actually quite relieved about these problems at the moment. It is impossible that these words will lead to other clues.

However, the two people have been sneaking behind them, and it seems that there is a slight deviation. If this continues, it may lead to an embarrassing situation.

But soon I realized a problem, which maybe I had never understood before. In this case, it really gave me a great direction.

But it also gives a special aspect, why when you try to deviate in this order now, you will fall into an embarrassing situation.

But it's still a good thing. Salo and Christi have got in touch, which at least proves that there are basically no problems with the snake people now.

However, the four holy gods are pressing hard. They hope to send a few people back to support, but now there are only three of them in this cave. Is this request too extreme?

"Just hold on a little longer. There are only three of us in this cave. What will they do if we go back?"

After hearing these words, Christie could only grit her teeth and fall silent. After all, it is indeed as they said, this place itself is a place for people to stay.

Not to mention the rest, but I have to admit, Many people on this route have suffered some interference. If I can really ensure that these events happen, it will be relatively smooth. I am afraid that Medusa will get in now and Gu Shaoyang will chase after her. Then only I'll watch here alone.

Chapter 885

That was really the last resort. After all, no one wanted to make these so-called changes. If any problems were caused by then, wouldn't everyone fall into a pit?

But the people in front of me seemed to be taking it indifferently, and they were actually a little happy. A few people didn't know what to do with the rest of the incident.

However, the man's back looks a bit strange, as if he has been hiding some clues. If this is the case, it is very likely that he will fall into a dangerous situation, but the current situation also makes him a little bit confused. I don't quite understand.

Who is causing such trouble to him now? If there were these processes before, then it doesn't matter. I'm afraid that the remaining direction is completely inappropriate.

But he soon discovered some problems. If the remaining choices were limited, it would most likely bring some problems to him. Although Salo could guarantee Gu Shaoyang's safety, there was actually a huge problem. Variety.

Although Gu Shaoyang can now budget the remaining options, some problems have actually occurred. At least now it seems that he is completely unprepared, but for Christi, he definitely did not think too much.

After all, at this time, the Four Holy Gods have not specifically targeted them yet, but the next route may not be as smooth as they expected.

If you really want to escape and ascend to heaven, you must make a choice among the few things in front of you, but Salo's idea does make him feel a bit extreme.

The meaning of everyone's existence here is different, and he happens to need to test their methods here, although for Gu Shaoyang now, the 7-star Longyuan in his hand is the most needed life-saving tool.

Seeing Medusa round the corner in front of him, Gu Shaoyang immediately jumped out from behind the rock and chased after her, not forgetting to tell Salo to wait for her where she was.

Never make other moves. The person in front of him nodded, and then looked at the corner next to him. He had also seen a figure here just now, so now he felt even more worried.

In fact, everyone is here ready to go, but the problem lies in this one thing. If you are really capable, you can resolve all this.

In fact, it didn't turn out to be what it is now, but soon some other problems also arose, and everyone's reaction at this time was enough to promote everything to a complete stage.

But I didn't expect to come back to this matter in circles. If so, it would feel a bit sudden, but in fact the problem is not as simple as I thought.

In fact, if I had done this before, I would definitely have avoided such a disaster, but I don't know when everyone started to perform their duties, and it seemed that they understood the meaning of their presence here.

But other people are not planning to take any actions at the moment. After all, this is always a rare event for them.

No one wants to cause trouble here, including myself of course. We can't just rush in and fight with others for some petty profits. This seems a bit unscientific.

So Medusa had been keeping a distance, as if to avoid all this, but she seemed to say something to him here.

In fact, if it were done before, no one would understand what happened here, but in fact, the problems caused are not the few in front of us or even a large-scale process.

So now no one can escape here. Even though I understand the so-called processes, I definitely still need to discuss it carefully here.

Otherwise, someone will change here anytime and anywhere, and I will be trying to avoid such an incident.

He took great pains and wished he could carve a mark directly on his body to prove that this person was within his protection range.

But Medusa is holding the energy ball in her hand tightly here, as if doing so can change everything back to its original state, although his idea is very naive.

But I have to admit that no one here has the slightest intention to target her. Everyone has always kept a close distance from him.

I guess I should have known about the problems that happened before, but it did surprise me a little. If it were different before, I would definitely have to argue with him.

Anyway, in order to avoid other incidents, I can try to work hard here. I originally thought that I could get through this difficulty by making jokes.

I didn't expect that such a big problem would happen now. If it were before, I would definitely be eager to argue with him here, but Medusa's secret guards are important, and I can't let it go anymore.

So he avoided his sight directly.

Chapter 886

In fact, sometimes Salo also wonders whether the first-level medicine he gave Gu Shaoyang was too harsh, causing him to not remember anything now.

But I have to admit that doing it this way is indeed a good way for me. After all, I also refer to one aspect of what I should do now.

Since they don't have much misunderstanding about this, they are embarrassed to continue talking nonsense here, which is simply too unscientific.

So after careful consideration for a while, I quickly locked onto several nearby areas. In order to avoid these current problems, everyone was actually looking at the same result.

Trying to find the glimmer of meaning in their eyes that could be underestimated, but soon something happened. It turned out that the events that could really be understood did not start with them.

It's that someone has taken some actions secretly. In fact, if it were someone else, I would definitely be eager to make some fuss about him.

But the moment this person suddenly turned to him, Gu Shaoyang suddenly realized that this person was completely different from the one he remembered.

If this continues, it may cause some trouble. I must have known about it before, but I am afraid that the remaining problems will also happen.

I don't know what happened to this energy ball. The ancient goods made a loud noise here, as if it was about to overflow from it in the next second.

Seeing this scene, I didn't dare to delay. I stretched out my hand to stop the people, preventing those people from moving forward. I never expected that such a thing would happen now.

If he had some other opinions, perhaps he wouldn't be like this, but to be honest, in some processes, he also became a character under suspicion here.

After all, everyone is doing their own thing here, and it's not just a day or two, but they stopped here, which feels a bit weird no matter how you think about it.

But soon, an unknown character came from the other end of the tunnel. I thought he would solve all this smoothly, but now it seems that he is the most unscientific person in the world.

Originally, if we walked forward from this road, we would soon be able to find the hiding place of those people, but I don't know from which moment, these people actually felt a little targeted towards me.

However, a white light flashed across Natasha's body. He was responsible for resisting the four holy gods outside. Several colleagues could still recognize each other's aura, but the person in front of them did not do anything.

It was as if they knew why they came, but to be honest, if the scene was like before, I'm afraid everyone would hesitate, but now there are always people who want to stand up here.

Replace all the quotas and let them know who knows the most here. In fact, I have a very correct understanding of these events.

The man really didn't dare to take action here. The only thing he could control was the scene on both sides, if it could happen smoothly now.

That is of course the best, but I am afraid that the more I think about it, the more irrelevant things will be triggered, which will only increase my worries in the end.

But Medusa, there is no way to pursue these scenes at this time. Several people here will always do their own things.

After all, they know very well in their hearts that the current suspicion is the trouble of making here, so in order to avoid all these choices, they are constantly hesitating and hoping to get some clues from them.

But considering the facts, it was not as simple as he expected, and many people even stopped here.

If it continues like this, it is very likely to create some boring emotions for myself, so now I re-screened the people nearby and locked my eyes on them.

Sometimes I also wonder, if I can give some accurate methods here before, will it prove that I have better development?

But now that I think about it, I feel that something is wrong. If it continues like this, it may cause some suspicion, and with so many people here looking at me, it is impossible to convince all of this with just one sentence.

And he also knows what that man is capable of. With the choices he makes now, I am afraid that to a large extent they are all for facing the current incident.

In this case, it is possible that you do not need to do these irrelevant things. Instead, you may be able to learn about several other directions here. Even if it is not good, it is better than doing this now.

But they didn't seem to understand much about this, and kept watching themselves from the side, as if doing so would cause some interference to themselves.

But I have to admit that the look in his eyes here depicts his own appearance, and it can be understood that he definitely has no bad intentions, but it is not necessarily the case for the few people next to him. In order to prevent them from causing trouble for him here.

Chapter 887

I also wanted to get some opinions on this matter. To be honest, during the transition period, I quickly discovered a problem.

If it were done as rigidly as before, it would definitely not cause any problems, but it can be clearly seen now.

The longer he hesitates, the more threats he will bring to himself. Although they did not make their words too clear, he could see the meaning on their faces at this moment.

"How about this? If I were to leave out of thin air, some of you would definitely be unconvinced. We might as well make a deal.

Let's see who can get the more advantageous fragrance here. If you think this is appropriate, then we will proceed step by step."

This was the last message Gu Shaoyang left for Salo when he left. Naturally, he understood what he meant, otherwise he wouldn't have been staring at her closely here.

But it is precisely because of some things he has considered now The scene has kept me immersed in it. In order to prevent him from being threatened, I can take great pains here, and I can't wait to help him directly deal with these things.

If he follows the steps he calculated before, in fact, the main thing now is In order to examine the problem at hand, you must at least prove that your current choice is completely correct.

Otherwise, you will never be able to see them here. Everyone will turn around and look back at themselves here. It will not do any good to push back and forth like this, especially People outside have also received some threats, and I have no way of knowing what they are going to do.

However, these eight holy gods must be connected in their hearts, otherwise why would they do such an incident? But it is precisely because of their current Only then did he fall into doubts.

Since the other four holy gods are enough to figure out some problems here, the remaining events are irrelevant to him. He can't let such a big thing fall to him. On your own head.

Let yourself search. It feels a bit unnatural to think about it, but the people next to you have been staring at you closely, as if doing so can get some so-called reasonable explanations. Anyway, at the moment At this moment, I was simply panicking.

The gem in my hand had become the most reasonable sight before. In fact, to some extent, it really made me feel a little uneasy.

But it was a bit uneasy. Risti also received a hint from the great elder. It turns out that everything is not as simple as he expected, and it is even a completely complicated situation now. Sometimes he wonders if he has to think about all the problems. It was too simple, which led to everyone being a little reluctant.

After all, apart from this choice, I didn't think there was any problem that could cause me to be so shaken at the moment.

But soon below Among the problems, I have found these methods. In fact, if I had done this before, I am afraid that everyone would have taken some precautions against themselves.

But I don't know when I started to fall into such doubts. What if Being able to solve these things logically.

It doesn't seem so complicated, but even if I am aware of these problems, in the end I still need one person to solve everything fairly here.

So I am also hesitant whether to do it. At this time, we need to help Christie get into such a situation, after all, for Natasha.

Now he is the hope in everyone's eyes. As long as he can handle all this, other people will not become a threat here..

But in fact, everyone is waiting for Natasha's explanation. After all, there are many ways in the current route that they have thought of. As for Venus's current physical condition, it is another sign.

He Ever since he was recuperating in the cave, he had been keeping an eye on him. He originally thought that the other party could deal with the nearby directions, but based on his previous measurement standards.

He thinks too much about this matter, because these so-called problems will not occur at all, so naturally these so-called opinions do not exist.

But the thing held in Medusa's hand is real, which means that as long as someone here solves these solutions.

Then we must look at the current problem and say that we have worked hard here, which is indeed true, otherwise who would be willing to do such a thing.

But the crystal ball in his hand can also be said to be an energy ball, and it soon became a display here.

Those people have been staring at themselves closely, as if they are afraid that what they do here will not be viewed according to their ideas.

If it were before, I would definitely have to argue with him, but at this moment, it doesn't seem to be that outstanding.

After all, no amount of people can solve all this.

Chapter 888

If it had been before, Medusa would definitely have fought them to the death here. Anyway, everyone did their own thing, not once or twice.

But at this moment, I really couldn't make up my mind. After all, so many people were waiting for my help. What if I just said such nonsense out of thin air.

I guess everyone would be very sad, so after thinking about it, Medusa still held the special tool in her hand tightly and conducted some other tests.

Anyway, everyone here is originally doing the same thing, and the explanation I gave here doesn't seem to be that strange.

On the contrary, the necklace that symbolizes the snake clan in his hand has become a target of public criticism. So many snake people are waiting behind him.

In fact, everyone can understand these so-called problems, but how they are actually implemented is another matter.

However, everyone did not deliberately make things difficult for themselves here. Instead, they kept letting themselves examine the current situation, as if they knew what kind of trouble they would experience here.

But even if it is no longer so insignificant, it will not allow them to give some explanations here, so the people in front of them can be regarded as giving some understanding based on everyone's judgment.

After all, such an option happened in itself. No matter which point I recognized now, it didn't seem so unexpected, but I soon realized a problem.

Your own thoughts always only belong to your own heart, but in fact there are still many people who have some negative thoughts about themselves, so the current lesson is also to make them give up such views.

However, so many people were chasing and blocking my presence here so as not to stand out too much, so after thinking about it, I chose to give up this so-called opinion.

Although it does seem quite abrupt at times, I have to admit that the control everyone has made here is a bit surprising.

Even though Salo has given them some hints now, in fact when things actually happen, very few people can accept the current answers and results.

After all, for them, they naturally have a set of events in their minds that they think are reasonable, so there is no need to mention other voices.

Although I predicted what the people in my family would think of them, I still didn't talk nonsense. After all, the questions they gave were very specific.

I just hope that this can have a better development. This is human nature. I can't say that I even want to refute such a statement.

When did she become so pitiful? I don't know what she thought of. Medusa laughed at herself at this time.

In fact, Gu Shaoyang has been following him and did not give up on him directly due to some previous reasons. Medusa must be able to sense this in her heart.

So she informed him of the information she had just collected, bypassing her directly. If there was such a situation from the beginning, he could understand it.

Then I might not be trapped in the current two-way attack situation, but I have to admit that the person in front of me has done a bit of a job.

If you look at it according to your previous template, you can't wait to let them find a few goals for you here. This will at least give you some judgment.

But soon I realized a problem. No matter how much I talked, it was useless. I might as well seize the time and do it, even though the choices were obviously two situations.

In fact, sometimes I wonder if there are too many events happening, which leads to an endless situation.

Anyway, everyone else is arranging their troops here to prepare, but the snake people have not done anything. After all, at this stage, everyone is hesitant.

Is it because what they did here is too paranoid? If this is what they want, those few people should still not mind completing it smoothly, even though they can see what they are doing.

In fact, sometimes I also wonder whether there are some issues that I have not considered carefully enough, and it has turned into what I am now.

But I have to admit that in the past, there were always some events that I had not expected.

So naturally someone needs to be here to take over all this in the target state, and it happens to be to complete the world conversion in these processes for them.

However, Gu Shaoyang's signal came through at the right time. It turned out that she had known about these problems before, but she had never spoken.

After all, some things are easy to say, but some issues are best kept silent, otherwise there will be some changes at any time, and then you will not be able to explain them clearly in a few words.

Although these people are not usually making things difficult for me, they certainly don't have any good ideas, so I don't intend to learn these so-called clues from them.

Taking a deep breath, Medusa looked at the surrounding scene.

Chapter 889

It seems that doing this can exchange for the previous trip to Yong. Anyway, no one will know these endless thoughts. After all, everyone does not need to do this now, but they have to admit that his approach is absolutely unique here.

It was precisely because Medusa diverted time here that several people had a chance to breathe.

In fact, no one will become a necessary factor here. To say the most real thing, you have to look at the person in front of you. After all, the beginning of those people before was in his hands.

It would be most embarrassing if he ruined all of this. Anyway, he had already said the reminder he should have given before.

Then the remaining problems can only be left to those people to deal with. In fact, if it were changed before, I would definitely be able to make a decisive judgment, at least I would never let him disappear in front of me.

But it's different now. It's been too long, and I can't recognize these scenes. In fact, if it were before, I would definitely have to give some opinions, including looking at the exact situation here.

But the problem appeared right in front of him. No one knew what he was going to do this time. Of course, it was because he suspected these problems that he fell into an embarrassing situation.

Sometimes I wonder why these issues have become so irrelevant now.

If you can conduct yourself in this way and even fall into the current problems, it is not all because of those aimless situations.

However, I soon recognized some clues. Now, no matter how strong the warning is, I have to do it step by step.

Otherwise, are we going to accuse them here of not helping?

Then wouldn't it mean that he would disappear from the world here, but he would soon give up on these problems once some situations were caused.

That was also the premise that led to his embarrassment, but Salo soon recognized some problems and gave some methods here.

In fact, if we had done this before, everyone must have taken some actions individually, but it was precisely because of some of the methods they made that they had some doubts.

Otherwise, why would there be such unusual exceptions on those small islands? There is absolutely no need for such people to exist on the snake people's territory.

So you guys, look at me, I think no one of you dares to say nonsense to draw a conclusion, after all, the rest of the incidents have been resolved smoothly.

But it's a pity that this problem is right in front of you. No matter how much you think about it, it is useless. After all, you are not going to experience the same thing in the end.

Although the problems all arise from these aspects at the moment, we have to consider some other ones. After all, everyone performs their duties, not once or twice.

But I soon realized a problem. No matter how much I did here, it would make no difference.

There are just a few people here, so it doesn't seem that special. But in fact, if we really follow this template, everyone will most likely fall into the same environment.

Therefore, in order to ensure safety here, I also gave a very precise vocabulary. In short, I must not let everyone suffer here.

In order to avoid the problems that were happening right now, I thought that I had tried very hard, hoping to find a starting point with them, but I soon discovered that all this was too virtual. If there were really problems, then why did these people start with them? If you don't tell me when, it's more like pushing yourself into this trap.

So what exactly will happen here? I don't know exactly what kind of world it is. On the contrary, some processes may occur.

Even though I recognized these, the real possibility still came from them. After all, the process that everyone learned later was still very specific.

If the other aspects can really be understood, then why would such a process happen? It's not because the problems here are completely reasonable.

If this is the case, I still hope to be able to deal with the adjacent stages, but I have to admit that there are clues to everything that really happened. If I have the ability to break it all down, it would be a good idea. direction.

So next, someone needs to appear here, as an essential member, to take charge of all things here.

If it were before, I would definitely have wanted them to avoid this problem, but there was no way. Sometimes these real problems would become a large-scale impression.

Hiding it in my heart, if it continues like this, it will most likely cause some interference to myself, so I have taken great pains here and struggled repeatedly to find this so-called candidate.

Chapter 890

What these people here highlight is a reasonable direction, so I know better in my heart who is the special point here.

In fact, sometimes I also wonder whether the problem is too prominent, which is why I am constantly hesitating here, but soon a trouble arises.

This was something I had never expected before. If the real direction and route to consider all appeared before my eyes, this was actually what I doubted the most.

In fact, sometimes Christie also wonders, if Natasha had not done this, could everything be done again?

But I don't know why, but I also thought of some unnecessary things in my heart to ensure the current way.

It can be said that I have worked hard, fearing that it would interfere with some problems in the middle, but it is a pity that I finally faced the current scene.

Anyway, if I were to do it step by step, I still lacked a very appropriate control method, so I was taking great pains at the moment.

I wish I could deflect all dangers here, but the problem is that I don't. Not only that, but it also brings a variety of changes to myself.

If you continue like this, it is very likely to cause some interference to yourself, so in order to avoid making current choices, you must carefully decide on some unnecessary opinions.

In fact, sometimes it is not for some choices, but to avoid their attacks here. In this case, a few people can escape.

But here's the problem. If I really have the ability to consider these issues, then why do other people still ignore me?

In fact, if you follow these directions, you still need a lot of courage to eliminate all dangers, but in order to avoid such problems from happening.

Now Gu Shaoyang is also taking great pains, trying to use some of Salo's methods before, trying to divide everything here completely, but there are many things that follow.

At the moment, I am only here for this one thing. If I really cause any trouble by then, that will be the hardest thing to guess, so in order to avoid these obstacles at the moment, I can be considered as trying my best.

But to be honest, the several questions in front of them quickly focused on them. I don't know if the things they thought of before were too specific or something, but these choices appeared one after another.

In fact, before switching, I had already felt a lot of choices, but only with them, I didn't know how to deal with the next problem.

After all, I still had some problems in mind when I needed to do something. In order to ensure these factors, I took great pains, wishing I could directly lock them in and eliminate them.

At this moment, I weighed the problems that occurred here, and then focused on the person in front of me. Sometimes I just wondered if there was any problem here, whether it would be able to prove myself. Are you working hard now?

But there are always some things that seem particularly unscientific, so you need to understand the remaining aspects in the process.

Just treat it as a chance to give some tips, but you also have to judge that this position is likely to cause problems for you.

Sometimes I wonder if I have made too many decisions here, but I didn't expect that this situation would happen in the middle. Anyway, I would have wanted to talk to him before.

After all, everyone here performs their duties, and it's not just a day or two, so there will definitely be some adjustments, and we even hope that some related events will happen.

But how can it be so smooth now? Otherwise, why would everyone choose these irrelevant results here?

It's not because there is no use in talking about it, so it can't bring about any changes, but soon I thought of something.

At this stage, he had predicted these results, which brought some helpless changes to them, but then he discovered some situations.

Instead of getting stuck in the current dispute, why don't you think about why these people are unwilling to bring too many changes to themselves.

Not all because of these results, it seemed a little different from the beginning, but soon I realized a choice.

Among all the circumstances, this one thing seems to be slightly different, so I am also making predictions to see if I can learn these unwarranted clues from them.

In fact, it can be considered a good thing. After all, everyone here is hoping for the stars and the moon just to get these so-called measures. However, it does make it a bit difficult to guess. Why does all this seem particularly different?

At the moment, there is definitely nothing I can explain with just a few words, so I simply made a rough judgment on the matter, which at least left an impression on myself.
