

Billionaire's Ex-Wife And His Hidden Babies

119

Next morning!!

Sophia could see that something was cooking between the twins and their dad, but they all were hiding it from her.

"Brandon, we both have to visit your doctor. I hope you remember that?"

"Yes! I remember. Why don't you get ready first, and then I will get ready after you." Brandon suggested so that he could get a chance with twins to surprise her. Sophia thought about it and agreed quickly.

'Yes, that will be better when Brandon is getting ready. I will corner both our babies and ask them what they are hiding from me!!'

"Okay!!" Once Sophia closed the door.

Both Calvin and Colton ran into the room of Eden and Arya to get the gifts that they had bought for her mother by using his dad's money, of course. They were scared of their mom's temper but after getting motivation from dad that he would save them from their mother. They got some confidence.

Arya and Eden could hear clearly what they were discussing but didn't disclose their surprise at Sophia that her babies were planning while Jake was looking at everything keenly, and Bruce was making filming everything so that he could send the same to Brandon's father.

The moment Sophia opened the door after getting ready and saw two cute and handsome princes sitting on one knee, holding a gift box in their hands each.

"Colton, Calvin..."

"Ssshhh, beautiful," Calvin said, flashing all his teeth. "This is for you." Saying this, he forwarded the gift toward her. Sophia took the gift in her hand and then offered her hand to him so that he could stand up, or his knee would hurt, and then she looked at Colton.

"To my God," Colton said in a plain tone. Saying this, he forwarded the gift toward her. Sophia took the gift in her hand and then offered her hand to him so that he could stand up, or his knee would hurt.

"God?" She asked in confusion.

"Yes! I have read that Mom is a true reflection of God on earth." Colton explained his theory behind his word, and happy tears dwelled in her eyes. She knelt down and hugged both of them, kissing them all over the face and crying at the same time.

Calvin giggled before speaking, "Mom, please kiss us in the same way after seeing the gift." he flashed his toothy grin, on which Sophia narrowed her eyes, looking at her twins, who were giving her a sly smile. Without saying anything, she started unwrapping Calvin's gift when he stopped, "Mom, first open the gift that Colton gave you."

His words surprised Sophia, "Oh, okkaayyyy!!"

Sophia started unwrapping the gift that Colton gave her, but she didn't mind reading 'To mom, from Colton' on the top!!

"What's this?" She asked, shaking a little. It was a cubical box by its packing. "Is it some makeup item? or something?" She asked again, but Colton didn't answer anything. She gasped when she saw the jewelry box. Instead of glaring at her son, she threw daggers in her eyes at Brandon. She opened the box and found a rose gold adjustable single Bangles cum bracelet. If the bracelet would have been just made of rose gold, then she wouldn't have minded, but there were multiple white diamonds attached to it.

It was so beautiful that she fell in love with it at first sight, but it was way too costly.

"I can't have it, sweetheart."

"Why? Didn't you like it, Mom?" Colton asked, getting sad, thinking his choice was not that great.

"No! No! It's so beautiful, but it's just that it's so costly, and it is a wastage of money."

"But dad said that 'when you will find a woman who is going to love you for you, just for you, then treat that woman preciously, and these diamonds are nothing for the diamond with whom you will spend your life," Calvin said.

"He meant to say about your wives, not your mother," Sophia explained, trying her best not to hurt them with her words, but she saw how her twins looked sad seeing this.

"Okay! I'm keeping it. Just don't give me that look." Sophia mumbled and earned a kiss from Colton. She then opened the gift that Calvin had given her. She couldn't help but chuckle at the choice of words that were written on the top. She gasped when she found a simple platinum pendant of red diamond.

"How is it, Mom? I bought this shiny stone of my favorite color." he chirped only if he knew how costly red diamonds were.

"It's... It's beyond beautiful." She muttered and then looked at her twins. "Thank you so much, sweethearts."

"Dad... Daddy!! Please help mom in wearing this." Calvin yelled, looking at his dad.

"Anything for my younger Prince." He said and reached near Sophia, who was still on her knees. He forwarded his hand toward her, grabbing it; Sophia stood on her feet. Calvin quickly ran toward Bruce and smiled, seeing that he was already filming everything, and then he ran toward his Aunts.

"You guys have to take candid pictures of mom and dad." He reminded and then ran into his room to bring his camera that he received on his birthday. Both Calvin and Colton watched their parents in Aww!!

Brandon removed Sophia's hair from her back and made her wear the pendant on her neck. He didn't miss how the hair behind Sophia's neck stood up, just his touch on her neck, and then he even made her wear the bracelet.

"Dad, sit on your knee and kiss mom's hand in which you made her wear the bracelet," Calvin suggested. Sophia couldn't help but recall Brandon's dad at his suggestion. He, too, used to take pictures by suggesting the pose.

'Even he would be missing his son and maybe wanted to see Calvin and Colton too.'

.

#TBC