

Billionaire's Ex-Wife And His Hidden Babies

"What happened?" Brandon asked Sophia when they were on the way to the hospital.

"Nothing."

"Tell me, Baby. I can sense that you are upset."

"I was thinking... if... if dad wants to meet Calvin and Colton then... then he can come here. I don't have any problem with that."

"Really?"

"When I'm not mad at you now, then I'm not mad at him as well. I think I'm ready to give him a second chance, too but at a condition that this time he will love his daughter more than his son."

Brandon laughed at her condition, "I guess he can do that."

"Great improvement!!" The doctor exclaimed when he looked at Brandon, who could walk on his own for a longer period. He still looked thin, but now he didn't look like a malnutrition beggar. "And I believe the credit goes to you, Ms. Weasley or your Ex-husband would have surely said HELLO to good," he added with a wink. Sophia couldn't help but glare at him. It was not that she used to get any kind of negative vibes from the doctor, but he really pushed her button in a way that made her feelings for Brandon clearer to her.

"Try to wink your eyes again, and I will make sure that you will lose that eyes of yours," Brandon said in a cold tone. The tone that he hadn't used in ages.

"Please don't do that to your brother-in-law. I was just teasing her like my sister." Hearing his words, Brandon finally relaxed. "Anyway, jokes apart, let's start your check-up!!" he added, finally coming back to his professional tone.

It took them a couple of hours in the hospital, so Sophia had already informed about it to Shailey. At first, she dropped Brandon at home, where Jake and Arya were alone in the house because Bruce was enjoying his little time with his mate, who thankfully let him explain, and the misunderstanding between them got cleared, and the babies went to nursery.

"What did the doctor say? And what's the update of that donor? When did he suggest the surgery?" Arya asked when they walked inside the flat.

"About the donor, everything is fine, but Brandon said NO for the surgery at this moment," Sophia mumbled. Though she was very much not convinced by his decision but she didn't force him.

"But why?"

"He has to complete his software before the end of this week and also test the same before launching it. So, the surgery is postponed to next week." Sophia answered, on which Arya nodded her head.

"Don't be mad at me, Mon Amour." Brandon tried to calm her down her again.

"I don't think I can stay mad at you," Sophia mumbled and kissed his cheek. "Jake, take care of Brandon's food and the exercise that he missed in the morning."

"Okay, Ma'am."

"See you in the evening and take care of yourself. And I don't want to hear a complaint about your tantrum," Sophia said, giving a quick kiss to Brandon before leaving. Sophia dialed Bruce's number when she settled in the car, and finally, he received the call.

"Hey!!" He said, panting slowly. "What did the doctor say?"

"Why do you sound like you have just completed the marathon?" Sophia asked, ignoring his question.

"That's because I have indeed completed the marathon."

"Huh?"

"The future Alpha of my pack is already here, but there is no sign of his Beta. So, I'm trying my best to get a beta for my future Alpha." My cheeks turned tomato red when I understood his meaning while I heard someone smacking him, of course, his mate.

That made her wonder how fast werewolves were in consuming their relationship.
