

Billionaire's Ex-Wife And His Hidden Babies

122

"Like?" Sophia asked, furrowing his eyebrow. There was nothing that she could give that he couldn't purchase or get on his own.

"Like a baby," Shailey suggested, on which Sophia's eyes widened in shock. She was quick to think that she couldn't give him anything.

"Your idea is great but ... NO to that suggestion for now," Sophia muttered, her face turned a shade darker. She had a lot of things on her plate, Brandon's surgery and then telling the truth to Oliver, then a real wedding, then honeymoon, and then maybe... maybe then... she would think of a third baby; along with that, she had tiny little things in the plate too. "And I also don't want any suggestion of love making or something in which he will have to use his stamina." She added.

"Okay then. How about thanking him by going down on your knees? My husband loves it; trust me, your baby's father will too love this way of thanksgiving." Shailey suggested.

"I... I haven't done that before." Sophia muttered, avoiding her eyes from her secretary. "Our relation was not close physically when we were married." She admitted.

"No worries, Ms. Weasley. I'm no one to judge you about your personal life. But yes, even the champion was once a beginner. If you want, then I can share some links; you can learn the steps by watching it." Shailey said, and this was the best thing about Shailey that Sophia liked the most.

"No. I don't think I need something like that." Sophia quickly rejected her idea, not sure whether it was a good idea or not. "You can leave now." Shailey nodded her head and left the cabin just like her boss. But instead of returning back to work, she looked for the video related to it and then sent those links to Sophia even though Sophia had to say NO to her for that suggestion.

After feeling satisfied with his work, she finally got back to her work. All she would do was suggest to her boss and show the path; she couldn't just force her to do the things that Sophia would have determined not to do it.

On the other side, Sophia received back-to-back notifications on her phone. She furrowed her eyebrow and checked her phone, and found messages from her assistant. She couldn't already see that her assistant had sent some links. She started tapping on her phone for a while, with the thought of whether she could see those videos or not!! She was in a moment of denial that Shailey's idea was good.

After thinking about all the things, she finally gave up and opened the first link. She quickly closed and looked for AirPods first; she didn't want anyone to listen to what she was doing inside her cabin.

A minute later, she resumed the video, and at that same time, she was breathing heavily, feeling scared and nervous at the thought of getting caught by anyone. She felt like a teenager who was scared of the thought of getting caught red-handed for watching porn in the office.

After ending one, she opened the second link and then the third and fourth.

All of a sudden, the door of her cabin was opened all of a sudden, revealing Shailey. Sophia got scared, and her phone fell down from her hand.

"Ms. Weasley..."

"Did you forget the knock on the door, Shailey?" She couldn't help but ask strictly.

"Actually, Ms. Weasley, I did knock on the door when you didn't speak a word even after my four knocks. That's why I walked in, feeling worried for you." Shailey replied. "But I can see that you're all right." She added.

Sophia's face heats up with her words. "I came here to say that I'm leaving for the day."

"Yeah! Yeah, sure." Sophia nodded and checked the time. Even she should leave for home. "By the way, Sorry, Shailey."

"It's okay, Ms. Weasley. Good night and All the best." With a smile on her face, Sophia's assistant left there.

*

"Red Diamond Pendant and Diamond bracelet?" Simon Grayson asked again to reconfirm the news that he was hearing.

"Yes, Mr. Grayson."

"That whore is surely sleeping with some powerful and rich person, OR there is no way in hell someone can gift her these expensive gifts. Did you find out about the man who is staying in her flat?" He asked his PI.

"No, sir. The security inside the apartment is too tight. The guards threatened my people to call the cops if they wouldn't stop shying. But yes, I have seen him...." Showing him a picture of Bruce. "... with Ms. Weasley. They don't look like a couple, though, but yes, they looked close."

"And who is this?"

"He is Bruce Henry Collin. He is no one, to be honest, in terms of money or property, but he is the right hand of Brandon Dennis Haysbert and Logan Dennis Haysbert."

"Now, I get it. I get everything. That whore might be sleeping with him to get an investment from Hasybert Corporation. After all, her so-called boyfriend is the right hand of two important people of the Haysbert Empire." Simon Grayson concluded. "I want more detail. I want more."

*

Sophia thought to check up on Eden before leaving the office, but that was when she noticed a message from Eden an hour before stating that Arya had planned a date for her, so she was leaving the office early.

"Have fun." She wrote her back.

Grabbing her bag, Sophia left for her home. As usual, when she walked inside the flat, her babies came running to her, but instead of telling her about the things that they did throughout the day, Calvin revealed the surprise that was for her.

*

#TBC