

Billionaire's Ex-Wife And His Hidden Babies

"Or maybe because he ate a lot of chocolate ice cream." Colton reasoned out on which Calvin pouted, seeing an angry look from Sophia.

"I will ask the bodyguard to keep an eye on kids related to food as well." Brandon said.

"Yes, you better," Sophia muttered. "And you... you won't get any ice cream for a month." She added, pointing her finger at her younger son, who was showing her, his puppy eyes. Calvin could get fine with the help of any healer, but Sophia wanted him to have a normal life, suffering from cold and fever, so that his body would get strong enough to deal with these minor diseases.

"Brandon, one of us should stay downward. I will stay with the kids. It's their nap time as well."

"Okay. But keep updating me about Calvin's health; if his condition doesn't improve, then I will take him to the doctor."

"Sure."

Oscar and Owen asked about Sophia when they saw Brandon alone, on which he explained about Calvin's fever, while Oliver didn't realize about it, maybe because he was too busy enjoying his day. At the same time, neither Sophia nor Brandon was to stress him about it.

"Where is Sophie?" Finally, Oliver asked when he was leaving for the honeymoon.

Brandon thought to lie, but then he also knew Oliver knew his sister very well, "Calvin is not feeling well, so she is with him."

Oliver kept his hand on Brandon before speaking, "I think I can leave and enjoy my honeymoon, knowing that you're with her."

"Yes, absolutely," Brandon said. "You can focus on your honeymoon," he added. Once he left, all the family members of Rebecca's family from the spirit world too vanished into the tin air after bidding goodbye.

"You are leaving as well." Rebecca's mother said, looking at her mate.

"Do you think I can leave you? I'm everywhere, love," he said and put the strand of her hair behind her ear. "See you soon," he added, then looked at Brandon, who had been staring at him for a long.

Brandon bowed his head, knowing very well who he was.

"Stay prepared; she is coming." With this, Rebecca's father disappeared.

"What? Who is coming?" Brandon asked and looked at Rebecca's mother, who raised her hand.

"I don't know. He stopped sharing things with me a long ago.", She responded, to which Brandon didn't nag her with his questions.

Both Brandon and Sophia reached Brandon's Mansion of New York, where Sophia had never been before at night.

"Dad, is the doctor here?" He asked, carrying Calvin in his arm.

"Yes!! He is."

"Jake, Nelina. Take Caro and Colton to their room, change their clothes and make sure that they have their dinner." Brandon ordered the caretakers of the kids. Since the kids knew that their parents were worried for Calvin, they didn't throw tantrums and cooperated with their caretakers.

"It's nothing serious. Just a viral fever and cold, because of change in place, and exhaustion." The doctor said after checking on Calvin. "I'm writing some medicine. He will get better soon."

"Please give me some tasty medicines, doctor Uncle," Calvin said in a weak tone on which the doctor laughed at his cuteness.

"Sure, sweetheart!"

A few hours later,

Sophia checked Calvin's fever again. Thankfully, it was gone.

"You can sleep now, Amour! It's one at night." Brandon suggested, looking at Sophia, who was looking tired and feeling sleepy, but she couldn't fall asleep.

"I don't know, Brandon. But... but I'm feeling restless."

Brandon sighed and left his side and placed a pillow at his side, and then laid beside Sophia, hugging her from behind. "Sleep.", he muttered, kissing her head.

After a while, he heard faint snoring Sophia. Finally, she slept, but sleep was far away from his eyes.

'She is coming.' That three words had been running in his mind since that time. He could have shared about it with Sophia, but he didn't get the time because she was already worried for Calvin and then this. She couldn't sleep a wink because of this.

'Who is coming?' He asked this question himself.

On the other side, Abby was watching the proposal video of Brandon and Sophia. It was the nth number of times; she was repeating the same video again and again and fuming in anger.

'So, she is the reason because of why Brandon doesn't want Abby. No problem, I will have her body now. This way or that way, he will have to be mine. I'm here, Brandy, for you, for us.' She thought and smirked, looking at Brandon's Mansion.

But little did she know that someone was looking at her as well from inside the Mansion.

Throughout the night, Abby stayed on the tree and watched the level of protection around the house before doing anything stupid, while Caroline looked at her innocently, not able to understand why that aunty was sitting on the highest branch of the tree.

Caroline tried to sleep, but she couldn't because she was feeling scared at this new place even though Colton was in the same room. She wanted to go near her mom and dad, but she had no idea where their room was. So, she stood near the window in search of the Moon, but she couldn't find it anywhere, nor did she could see the stars because of the cloud, and that was when her eyes landed on Abby.

The glass of the window was made in this way that people could see everything from inside, but it was the opposite for the people standing outside.

She saw Abby leaving when it was morning, and at the same time, she couldn't wait to tell her about it her mom.
