

Billionaire's Ex-Wife And His Hidden Babies

167

"By the way, I have another news for you as well. Abby left for New York on the same night when you proposed to Sophia." The moment Bruce said this, Brandon looked at Logan, narrowing his eyes. "And she landed here yesterday evening. And after that, she is staying at Hotel Edison Square."

"You know anything about it, dad?"

"Umm... Brandon!! She told me that someone had been following her for the last few days, and coincidentally, the night when you proposed to Sophia, someone attacked her. But thankfully, she managed to escape from the apartment, and then the first thing she did was that she flew here."

"Since you didn't want her here, I was the one who suggested her stay in the hotel." Logan explained the thing that Abby had told him. "She was scared and wanted a place where she would feel safe. So, I was about to ask about the same with you right now if she could stay with us for a while?"

"Who attacked her?" Brandon asked, ignoring the other things.

"I don't know. Abby told me that she is some girl."

"Some girl?" Brandon repeated the same word and remembered the warning he had received. 'Who is this girl? And why is she after my family?' he wondered. "Did Abby say anything about that girl? How does she look alike? Did she tell anything more about her?"

"Seriously, Brandon?" Logan looked at him in disbelief. "She is scared out there, crying continuously, and you think I will ask all these questions? Why don't we bring her here and ask about it?"

Brandon sneered at the thought, but at the same time, he also his father's concern for Abby; after all, she was like a daughter to him.

"Do whatever you want to, dad. You don't need my permission for that." He muttered and left from there to talk with Sophia.

*

A few hours later, Sophia finished the book and barely blinked her eyes when she felt the change of air again. She walked out of the library to see the reason behind it. Brandon had told her about Abby's arrival and his doubt that their enemy was some witch behind everything, but she had a gut feeling that it was not what it looked like.

Because it was true that she wanted to talk to Cade during the wedding, but never did she raise the topic of the library or not like that. And to be honest, at that moment, she wanted to know more about him, but the book she found contained different types of spirits. The book that she had more than ten years back. It was just that she repeated the same thing for fresh memories.

'Is this just a mere coincidence?' She thought.

At the same time, she saw Logan walking inside with an unfamiliar lady, helping her in walking; at the same time, she didn't miss the change in atmosphere.

'Why do I feel that her arrival is not good news?' Sophia thought and watched them walking inside the Mansion step by step.

"So, finally, you're out of the library," Logan said, looking at Sophia, who was still looking like a mess and had worn the nightdress.

"I know. I took a lot of time there." Sophia replied with a smile and shifted her eyes to Abby, who was looking at her.

'She looks like a different woman in the video completely. Of course, makeup affects a lot on people's faces.' Abby thought, and immediately, an idea popped into her mind. "But the library is not that big because of which any maid would take so that time to clean it."

Sophia didn't react to her words because she knew that soon Abby would realize who was the actual boss here. While Logan was shocked to hear these words from Abby's mouth.

"Abby, she is not..." Logan tried to explain when Brandon cut him in between by coming downstairs.

"Sophia, I need chilled water." He said, more like ordered in authority. Logan looked at him in surprise, thinking if he had lost his mind or what. When there were maids in the house, then why the hell was Brandon giving orders to Sophia, and why didn't he give any answer to Abby that Sophia wasn't a maid but his fiance and the mother of his kids?

"Okay." Sophia said, nodding her head. It was not a big deal for her because she was from that family where she had learned to do everything for herself and her parents and her brothers as well.

"And a coffee for me." Abby, too added.

"Hmm."

Abby was overjoyed to see Sophia taking orders like a maid. At the same time, Logan bit his tongue at seeing everything because, at that time, he was waiting for the real show after this drama. He knew his son; something was definitely going on his mind. Sophia asked the maid to prepare the coffee while she took water for Brandon on her own.

"Here."

Sophia waited to take the glass from there, but after taking one sip, Brandon's expression changed.

"Is this chilled water?" He asked, arching his eyebrow.

"Yes." Sophia answered, not understanding why Brandon was behaving like this. The water was chilled, just like he liked it.

"Really? Then why don't you drink it?" Brandon said, forwarding the glass to her. Sophia narrowed her eyes but drank a few sips.

"Yes, really," Sophia replied confidently. 'Why are you behaving like Brandon? Are you possess?' Sophia questioned in her mind and watched Brandon standing on his feet.

"Chilled water? Really?"

"How many times..." Her words died in her mouth when Brandon crashed his lips on hers, wrapping his arms around her waist.

While Abby's jaw dropped at this scene, now she realized that Brandon was never trying to insult that ugly woman, but this slap was on her face.

.

#TBC