Sophia's POV

"What happened to you today? Why were you saying questions like a journalist?"

"I wouldn't have done that if everyone wouldn't have kept me in the dark.", I answered back.

"I'm sorry on behalf of everyone, Sophia. No one knew that our past would come in front of you like this one day.", Oliver apologized. "And in case that Blood Moon Pack's member comes clean from our mother's case, and if I would ever meet them, then I will apologize to them on behalf of dad and my other's brother as well. Because I now understand that dad could have handled the situation in another way, but what's done is done. No one can change the past."

"Hmm.", I hummed absent-mindedly. "I'm feeling sleeping. Good night."

"Good night. Take care of yourself and my niece."

"I will."

Even after disconnecting the call, I couldn't sleep even for an hour. Just kept staring at everything in the room. The memories of the evening were not letting me close my eyes, and the tension of the future was doing no good, and the worst thing was, I wasn't not feeling well. I could sense that my body temperature was higher than regular, and there was a pain in my abdomen.

Brandon's POV

"You better stay away from Sophia now.", I warned Bruce, who was grinning ear to ear. Lucky bastard, Sophia was talking to him and wasn't angry with him, but ...

I knew this day would come, I knew I would hurt her feelings the most by breaking her trust, but hell, it looked like she was not the only one who was in pain.

I was mad at myself, but I didn't have any other choice than to use her to hurt Ethan. Now, it looked like I was failing in my plan.

"Jealous?" Bruce asked, sitting on the chair in my study room.

"Why would I? I don't give a damn."

"Oh, is that so?" Bruce asked, rubbing his chin. "Okay, then, let's come back to the plan then; when our warriors are going to rape Sophia?"

My blood boiled at his words.

"What? This was the plan, right? At first, you didn't let this happen because she was pregnant. Then after pregnancy, you wanted Caroline to grow at least six months old. I don't think that you have any reason to hold our previous plan. We are still sticking to the previous plan, right? That each and every warrior will get a chance to fuck her and then sell her to the brothel." he reminded me of my previous plan. "By the way, after pregnancy, her figure...."

"Why are you testing my patience, Bruce? Do you have a death wish? Because I swear to you that if you speak a word ill about my wife, I will bury your head under the ground.", I snapped, gritting my teeth.

"Fine! By the way, though you haven't announced it officially, I know you have changed your plan to kill her, so I told Sophia that you will let her go at the end and won't kill her."

'Let her go.'

Though I didn't want her to let her go, I knew that we couldn't stay together because of our past. Her family killed my family, and I would kill hers, and with so much bitterness and sour memory, we don't stand a chance to stay together because she surely wouldn't want to spend a life with someone who killed everyone she loved and who was close to her.

"What did she say on it?"

"Nothing. She already had a lot of information and things on her plate. So, I'm not sure whether she even acknowledges this information or not.", Bruce muttered, shrugging his shoulder. "Whatever has happened has shaken her trust but don't worry, mate. One day she will eventually find out the truth about her father and will start trusting you back."

"Whether she trusts me or not. It doesn't matter to me."

"Really?" Bruce grinned, on which I narrowed my eyes. "You don't have to cover up your finding for her in front of her, you know.", he added. "You always knew that this day would come when she would stop trusting you or hate you. Now that that day is here. It's hurting you more than you had assumed."

Arrhh!! This person. Sometimes I really hate that he knew me in such a great way.

He was going to speak something again, but I cut him in between.

"It's ten PM already. I believe Oliver would have called Sophia by now.", I said. "I have to listen to their conversation. Your nonsense can wait for a while. "

"Nonsense? Puff, you love it, mate." I rolled my eyes and heard the conversation between both brother and sister without their knowledge that someone else was listening to their conversation as well.

After a while,

"She is tensed. I hope she doesn't end up getting ill.", Bruce remarked. I knew that genius. When he found me glaring, he shut his mouth on her own. "By the way, she was asking if she can get access to the kitchen."

"I don't think that's a good idea.", I mumbled. "Everyone hates her, and I can't stay here all the time to look after her, and what worries is Iris.", I added.

"Same here! Everyone is scared of you but not her."

"Well, she is my elder sister, so obviously, she won't get scared of me.", I stated as a matter of fact. And seeing her wolf, everyone thought that Alpha's son was alive, but in reality, Alpha's elder daughter was alive and was out of the pack because of her studies.
