

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 522

Nadine disliked Wynn, and she equally disliked Trevor. 2

After mocking Wynn, she turned to Trevor with a smile and said, "I've always heard people say that you and Ms. Locket are deeply in love, that no matter where you go, you always bring Ms.

Locket along. 4

"Seeing it today, I realize the rumors really weren't exaggerated

Although Nadine was clearly being sarcastic, the way she said it with a smile would make anyone unaware think she was genuinely praising Trevor and Wynn's relationship. 2

Just then, someone happened to come over to chat with them

Hearing this, that person smiled and chimed in, "Yes, Mr.

Fleming really is wonderful to Ms. Locket." 1

Nadine cast Trevor a cold glance. She didn't respond, but she didn't continue either. 2

After all, today was a big celebratory day for YodaVision. If the banquet turned chaotic because of the two of them, it wouldn't be worth it. 2

Matthias and Celeste thought the same.

Matthias forced a smile and said, "Mr. Fleming, my mentor and I have something to take care of, so we'll excuse ourselves." 1

Wynn naturally understood the meaning behind Nadine's earlier quip of "I've long heard of you." Her expression didn't look too good hearing that. 4

Although Nadine had mocked Wynn, she hadn't spared Trevor either. Yet on Trevor's face, there was no trace of anger.

After Matthias spoke, he maintained his smile and politeness, saying, "It's fine, you go ahead." With that, he gave a polite nod, then left together with Wynn. 1

After they had left for a while, Nadine lowered her voice and asked Celeste, "How long until your mandatory waiting period is over?" Celeste answered truthfully, "Less than half a month." 2

Nadine pursed her lips and said, "This time, make sure nothing goes wrong.

"Yes," Celeste replied.

From what Zachary had implied, if there were no unexpected incidents, she probably wouldn't need to go to the base again for the next month.

"That's good." Nadine felt relieved.

She then pinched Celeste's cheek lightly and said, "Once your divorce is finalized, I'll celebrate with you." 7

Celeste smiled, "Okay." 2

The banquet went on.

After that, Celeste and Matthias were mostly busy greeting guests, their figures constantly moving through the hall.

Trevor and Wynn didn't come over to bother them again.

Because there were always people coming to talk to him, Trevor was actually quite busy too.

His mood that night didn't seem the least bit dampened by the cold reception from Zachary and Nadine. He chatted happily with people, occasionally glancing to the side.

And Wynn stayed by his side the whole time.

Jorge didn't deliberately try to chat with Wynn; however, he had kept himself near her. +

After talking with someone for a while, he gave Wynn a couple of glances, then turned back, ready to continue his conversation.

He noticed that at some point, Celeste and Matthias had also come over to the same area.

He looked over and was just about to withdraw his gaze when Original content can be found at Find~Novel.net he caught sight of Trevor's gaze.

At first, he didn't pay much attention, but then he noticed something, paused, and turned his head again to look at Trevor.

And in that moment, he realized—Trevor was looking at Celeste.

Noticing this, his expression darkened.

But then, Trevor withdrew his gaze.

Seeing that, Jorge wondered if he was just overthinking it. After all, Trevor truly did treat Wynn very well.

Still, he kept his guard up, sneaking glances at Trevor from time to time. It didn't take long before he realized he hadn't been overthinking at all—because while talking with others, Trevor's gaze once again fell on Celeste. 19
