Novel My baby's daddy chapter 2473-"You- Shirley's sts clenched again. "Imogen, you're denitely getting red! You don't deserve to stay here anymore."

"It was clearly you who provoked me rst. How dare you accuse me?" Shirley angrily rebuked. "Don't make such false claims. I was the one getting beaten. I just went to the inrmary to: get an injury diagnosis report," Corinne countered.

"You" Shirley seethed, her chest heaving. Back at the military base, she was the young miss of the Lloyd

Family, and no one would bear ill will toward her. This was the rst time she had encountered someone so shameless.

At that moment, Roy came inside, and Corinne immediately said to Shirley, "Imogen, I will not accept your apology. You'd better leave this place!"

By now, Shirley had seen through Corinne's character and knew the latter would resort to anything just to

Then, Roy comforted Corinne, "Alright, stop. arguing. Mr. Flintstone is on his way here."

Corinne was instantly lled with surprise. Does this mean Zacharias will be personally ring Imogen?

Meanwhile, Shirley was shocked and asked, "He's on his way here?"

Roy sternly explained, "Although you're interns, this is a place of discipline, not somewhere you can do whatever you want. Now, both of you, go stand in the courtyard outside." Feeling somewhat aggrieved, Corinne asked, "Captain Barlowe, do I have to go too?"

Roy nodded. "You both caused this commotion, so both of you are to be punished."

Shirley lowered her head and stood upright in the courtyard. Meanwhile, though Corinne was also being punished, she forgive her this once and wouldn't dismiss her.

make her leave.

Zacharias would

was waiting

Flintstone into followed

crossed

but she

my way."

had lived a can make

Anything? This

together. His starry eyes bore into her.

was already anticipating Zacharias' arrival.

A while later, Zacharias' convoy arrived, and Roy quickly approached and opened the back door of the second vehicle.

on Shirley.

Meanwhile, Shirley's gaze shifted slightly to the side and met his gaze. She became anxious, hoping

Zacharias stepped out, his gaze sweeping over the two girls standing in the courtyard before nally landing

On the other hand, Corinne might have been standing upright, but grievance had begun lling her eyes. She for Zacharias to come over and comfort her. However, Zacharias didn't approach her but instructed Roy, "Get Imogen to come into the lounge."

Seeing that Zacharias wanted to personally talk to Shirley, Roy turned to glance at her. "Imogen, follow Mr.

the lounge."

Zacharias' elegant gure into the lounge. Once both of them entered the room, the man quickly spoke up.

"Close the Shirley nodded and heard Corinne's whisper. "You're dead." Shirley ignored Corrine, bowed her head, and door."

Shirley closed the door, having no idea what the man wanted to say to her.

"Explain. Why did such an incident happen?" Zacharias sat on the couch with his slim, long legs elegantly

When Shirley saw that he was giving her a chance to explain, she spoke truthfully. "I came to retrieve the keys I left punched me without saying anything. I wanted her to apologize, but she refused, so I decided to make her apologize in behind, but Corinne suddenly stopped me, claiming she had something to say. I followed her to the corner, sheltered life under her parents' protection at the military base. So, while she was skilled in combat, she also had a straightforward personality and was never on guard against deceitful people.

Zacharias believed her because Corinne was obviously a person with ulterior motives. Besides that, Shirley "Alright. I believe you." Zacharias gazed at her with his clear eyes, arming her. Upon seeing that he let her explain everything and believed her, Shirley couldn't help but anxiously say, "Mr. Flintstone, please don't dismiss me. I up for this incident."

Zacharias raised a brow. "What are you willing to do in order to make up for this incident?"

young lady is indeed inexperienced. Will she be willing to do anything I ask her to?

"Anything." Shirley's clear eyes were lled with determination. Zacharias smiled slightly as he thought,