Novel My baby's daddy chapter 2476-Shirley felt frustrated as she followed him into the restaurant. When Zacharias entered rst, the staff greeted him. When Shirley walked in, the staff indeed greeted her as well. "Miss Lloyd, good evening." "Good evening." Shirley forced a smile. Once Zacharias reached his private room, Shirley followed in. She was quite familiar with this place and had thoroughly studied the dishes here. "You order," he said after sitting down. Shirley asked cautiously, "Mr. Flintstone, do you have any specic dishes you'd like?"

"No." She randomly selected some dishes and after ordering four dishes and one soup, the waiter left. After closing the door, the entire private room became quiet. The retro decoration style, which was lled with the ambiance of the era, was initially bright and lively, but for some reason, when Zacharias sat there, the room seemed a bit oppressive. Shirley poured him a cup of tea. "Mr. Flintstone, please have some tea."

Zacharias lifted the teacup, his sharp gaze xed on her. "Why did you replace Imogen for the internship at my residence?"

She could no longer hide it. "Imogen had a little issue with her health check. However, this internship is crucial for her, as it relates to her future work assignment."

"Have you thought about the consequences?"

promise I won't her? She was situation without tolerance and negotiable. The Flintstone."

my mother

she really left.

accompanying him," Shirley said condently.

a way out was truly unpleasant.

gaze

he asked again. She shook her head. "No. I know I was careless, but she's my friend and I want to help her." "You know that the current situation is complicated, yet you still broke the rules?" Zacharias' words put Shirley in a nervous state.

make such a mistake again." She pleaded with him. She felt like her entire life was in this man's grasp.

"So, I want you to help me keep this matter a secret. After I nish Imogen's internship for three months, I showed a hint of ruthlessness.

Shirley was rendered speechless. She was indeed asking a favor from a stranger! Why should he cover for

"We have no relationship and we are strangers. Why should I help you?" Zacharias raised an eyebrow as his too naive to think this man would help. her unconditionally.

Shirley had never felt so embarrassed while being caught in a dilemma. The feeling of being in a dicult

"Well... Mr. Flintstone, you can set the conditions. I will do whatever I can," she stuttered. She was unable to beat him in a

She felt her entire body scrutinized from head to toe by those eyes, and it made her, who was usually condent and upright, experience a sensation of being looked down upon, which caused her to slouch.

ght and was unable to surpass his status. So, she could only yield.

opportunities to meet in the future." Zacharias smiled before reaching for the teapot.

Shirley hurriedly came over and poured him a cup of tea. She was grateful as she said, "Thank you for your

"All right. I won't pursue this matter. I'll let your replace Imogen for the internship. After all, we'll have many generosity, Mr. Flintstone. I promise to work diligently and not disappoint you during the internship." Finally, she could breathe a sigh of relief. As long as he didn't hold her accountable, everything else was Zacharias didn't like to talk while eating, so she quietly enjoyed her meal. She kept picking her favorite vegetarian dish dishes arrived and Shirley ordered a dish she liked. Tonight could be considered satisfying.

and he took the initiative to pick a piece of meat for her after noticing it.

"Your parents don't know you're interning here, right?"

"They don't know. I told them I'm taking a break at my grandmother's house, and my father is busy lately, with "You should eat more. I can't nish it all by myself," he said. Shirley looked at him gratefully. "Thank you, Mr.

Upon seeing that she had everything arranged, Zacharias didn't ask more. In any case, his life would be less enjoyable if