

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 65

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. It Was Sweet and a Little Painful

After checking in the infirmary and changing the medication, Jessie took them to a few scenic spots in the resort to play.

Many of the tourists who passed by were locals, speaking in the local dialect.

The two children who passed by Fia also spoke in the local dialect.

Fia was curious and followed them for a long time. She was very envious. "They are so powerful!"

Jessie smiled and asked, "How are they powerful?"

(This novel will be daily updated at)"They all say things that I don't understand."

Jessie was speechless.

Felix sneered, "Little idiot!"

*Fia could not accept it. "You are not an idiot. Translate their words for me!"

Felix was speechless.

SS

Jessie loved the cute looks of the two little fellows. She bent down and hugged them. She gave them a heavy kiss on their cheeks. She felt very sweet in her heart. "My little babies are too cute! Let's go, I'll take you guys to eat Rainbow Cotton!"

"Rainbow Cotton?" Fia's eyes lit up. "Then let's go quickly! It will definitely be delicious!"

"Foodie!"

"Felix! I realized that I really hate you!"

Jessie bought them a colourful cotton candy that was even bigger than their heads. They, who had been arguing just now, immediately became very good again. They were talking about the taste of various colors of cotton candy. They were chatting very enthusiastically. In the scenic area, Jessie would buy whatever the two little fellows wanted to eat. She would go and play whatever they wanted to play with.

After visiting the shops in the village, she went to the South Coast Hill at the back. The mountains were lush with trees and the temperature was lower than the village. Jessie was afraid that the two children would be frozen, so she went to the children's clothing store at the side to buy two small coats. (This novel will be daily updated at)She squatted on the ground and helped them put them on one by one.

After seeing Aunt Jeje busy the whole day for him and his sister, Felix's heart felt sweet and a little heartache. He hoped that she would always be by his side, but he was also worried that she would be tired.

was coated with a layer of halo on his body. He was noble and extraordinary, as if he was the king of the royal family.

Seemingly sensing her gaze, he turned his head and looked over. His deep and gloomy eyes made Jessie's heart palpitate for no reason. She subconsciously avoided his gaze and continued to carry Fia with one hand and Felix with the other as she followed the group.

After another ten minutes of queuing, it was finally their turn.

Jessie was about to carry Fia in when his strong and powerful arm reached over and took Fia from her hand. He then carried Felix with one hand and strode into the cable car.

Originally, it was a spacious cable car for six people, but because of the 1.9 meters tall man entering, it instantly became much narrower.

"Dad?!" Fia and Felix spoke at the same time.

Jessie looked at the man who put the two children in the cable car seat and was also stunned. Her heart inexplicably jumped a little.

Wasn't he just with the person in charge of the resort? Why did he come here in the blink of an eye?

Alex sat down on a chair beside the two children. He turned his eyes to Jessie, who was still in a daze at the door, with a faint smile on his lips. "You are not coming up?"

"Of course she is coming up! Aunt Jeje also bought tickets!" Fia jumped down to pick up Jessie.

Only then did Jessie recover her senses and look at the tall and sturdy man sitting inside. She pursed her lips and said, "I will take care of Felix and Fia. You can come out now."

Alex took out a ticket from his suit pocket. He held the ticket with his long fingers and handed it to the invigilator beside him. His dark eyes fell on Jessie's face. "I also have a ticket.

His meaning was clear. He wanted to ride this cable car with them.

Jessie stared at him and complained.

Actually, she only wanted to be alone with the children and did not want an 'outsider' like him to join in.

"Madam, the cable car is about to start. Quickly go in and sit down.(This novel will be daily updaed at)" The ticketing staff at the side began to urge her.

"Aunt Jeje, quickly come in! Let's fly to the sky together!" Fia's small face was full of excitement.

Felix also looked at her with anticipation.

Jessie heard the little fellows calling her. She did not care at all. As long as it was something the children wanted to do, she would not hesitate to sacrifice her life.

There were only two rows of chairs inside. Felix and Fia had already sat in one row, while Alex sat in the other.

Jessie walked around the man's long legs and was about to squeeze into a row with the children

Her wrist tightened and she was pulled by the man so hard that she could not stand steadily and almost sat on his lap.

She held onto the glass wall in a sorry state before stabilizing her body and sitting down next to him. When she glared at him angrily, the man had already turned his gaze to the beautiful scenery outside the window. He had a relaxed expression on his face, as if he had never done anything

Jessie could not be bothered to argue with him anymore. She bent down and smiled as she went to chat with the children.

Alex sat close to the children. Because he was in the middle, Jessie would always lean

- forward whenever she spoke.

Seeing that it was inconvenient for her, Alex did not propose to change seats. He just sat between her and the children. When he lowered his head, he could see her snow white neck and the gentle smile on her red lips. She was wearing a light brown sweater and light blue jeans today. The youth auras were very thick, and they were even more pleasing to the eye than the scenery outside.

Jessie kept bending her waist. Felix and Fia could not bear to watch anymore.

Felix poked Fia and Fia poked Felix again.

Jessie saw their small interaction and smiled, "What's wrong? Do you have something to say?"

Hearing her question, Alex's sharp eyes swept towards the two of them.

Felix's small heart trembled, and his small hand pushed Fia out.

Seeing Fia almost fall off her seat, Jessie's eyes were quick to jump over and help her back to her seat. "Be careful baby, sit properly!"

Fia could not continue watching and looked at her father discontentedly, (This novel will be daily updated at) "Dad, I want to sit together with Aunt Jeje. You change seats with her."

Only then did Jessie react. Just now, in order to catch Fia, half of her body was still on the man's firm thigh and that was his sensitive part. She was immediately so embarrassed that her face turned completely red. She quickly wanted to sit up, but just as her hand touched the glass wall, she slipped and fell back again.

He was hit everywhere in pain.

She was so embarrassed that she wanted to die.

Alex didn't even push her away, let alone help.

Jessie's face went from red to her neck. She had to use her hands to support his legs to get up.

Her hands had just touched the man's slightly cool pants when his wrist was grabbed by him. Before she could react, the man had already pulled her back to the chair and sat her down.

The man's face darkened.

Jessie and the two little fellows also did not dare to mention the matter of changing seats with him.

The little child was very forgetful and was very soon attracted by the strange-looking stones in the mountains outside. The two of them knelt on the seats and leaned against the glass window as they talked about which stone looked like something.

Jessie had been here many times since she was a child. She remembered every rock and what the mountain looked like. She looked at the cable cars that passed by and saw all kinds of people inside.

After one car passed by, another one quickly came over. In the green cable car, a young man and woman were kissing inside.

The distance was too close, and even their tongues seemed to be seen clearly.

Even though it was just a casual glance, Jessie was still embarrassed in an instant. Her face was so red that it could drip blood.

She was afraid that the children would also see it. She sat up straight, but the corner of her eyes was burned by a fiery gaze.

Her heart skipped a beat. She turned her body slightly, not daring to look to the side at all.

However, in the next second, her hand was held by the man's dry and warm hand.

She wanted to pull it out, but she could not pull it out no matter how hard she tried. Alex's slender fingers gently caressed her soft palm. Occasionally, he would even use his fingertips to gently move it, causing Jessie's heart to tremble. She could not help but raise her eyes. (This novel will be daily updated at)The man's eyes were so deep that they seemed to drip ink. It made her panic even more, but she did not dare to make a sound. Her big eyes were filled with slight annoyance.

Alex gently pulled her small chin, and her small chin hit the shoulder of his tight suit.

Before she could take it back, the man's thin lips pressed against hers.

The familiar faint smell of tobacco quickly spread in her mouth.

Jessie's heart jumped to her throat. She turned her eyes to Fia and Felix in panic, afraid that they would turn around and see this scene...

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 66

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. His Eyes Were Cold as If He Was Looking at a Stranger
Jessie was so scared that she almost fainted. Alex let her go.

Fia just turned her head and said, "Aunt Jeje, what happened to your face? Your face looks like the strawberry marshmallow I just ate. It's so red."

"I'm fine. It's just a little hot." Jessie hurriedly fanned herself with her hands and pretended that it was really hot.

The man beside her was calm and collected, but she was in a sorry state.

"Then let me help you take off your coat?" Fia carefully climbed down from the chair and walked over to help Jessie take off her outer coat.

Before her small hand got close, the collar of the small coat was picked up by her father's big hand. (This novel will be daily updated at) Alex impatiently said, "Go back to your seat!"

Jessie could not be more angry. She carried Fia and squeezed onto the bench of the little fellows.

The big and two little guys looked out of the window at the same time, leaving only the back view of a man behind them.

After they sat on the cable car, they went to eat dinner.

Fia and Felix wanted to eat skewers. Jessie had told them at noon that there was a snack bar in the holiday village that made kebabs that were delicious.

But now their father had been following them and the two little fellows did not dare to mention it.

In R City, this kind of skewers were like KFC and McDonald's, they were things that their father had ordered not to eat.

The two little fellows held Jessie's hands and occasionally twisted her fingers. Their eyes were staring in the direction of the skewers shop.

Jessie remembered that she had picked them up once. She was going to buy this kind of snack, but when she saw Alex, they were so scared that they did not dare to mention it. It seemed that the little fellows were also afraid of him now, so they did not dare to make a sound.

She could not help but raise her head to look at the man beside her. The sun was gradually sinking in the west, and the gradually lighting up the street lamp. The man's angular face had an expression that was as deep as the desert, and there was a sense of intimidation other than that of rejecting people.

Jessie thought of the chaos in the skewers shop, and then she looked at the handsome Alex in an exquisite suit. She felt that it was very strange.

But since the little guys wanted to eat skewers, she would definitely take them there. She was thinking about how to say it in her heart.

Fia pulled her finger and Jessie looked down at her gently. "En? What?"

The little fellow carefully glanced at Alex before looking at her. "Aunt Jeje, are you hungry? Do you want to eat that family's skewers?"

Seeing that the skewers shop was almost pass, Fia was extremely anxious.

Jessie knew that it was the little fellow who wanted to eat but did not expose her. She smiled and nodded. "Yes, I am hungry. Then we will go to that restaurant to eat skewers. Do the two of you want to eat?"

"Yes!" Fia nodded her head repeatedly and stuck onto Jessie's body and laughed. (This novel will be daily updated at)Aunt Jeje and her were getting more and more in sync with each other.

The man's deep and magnetic voice did not know what to say as it cut in, "It is already late. Miss Jessie, you should go back."

Jessie looked at him blankly.

The man's expression was indifferent and his eyes were cold.

Jessie was dissatisfied in her heart. Just now in the cable car, he still treated her like that and now he chased her away in the blink of an eye. This man was really unpredictable!

Fia and Felix looked at her together eagerly, "Aunt Jeje, are you not going to accompany us anymore?"

Especially Fia, the corner of her small mouth was flat, and she looked like she was about to cry.

In the past, she only liked them. She treated it as fate.

But now, she already knew that they were her children. They looked at her pitifully and simply wanted to take her for life.

She bent down and touched the two little fellows' tender little cheeks. She smiled gently and said, "I'm not going back. Let's go eat the skewers together."

If it was in the past, she would not have stayed by his side even if he did not chase her away.

But now, she did not want any of it. She only wanted to eat with her child.

"Really?" Fia cheered and then carefully looked at her father.

Alex, on the other hand, took the lead and walked into the snack bar.

When Jessie and the others looked up, they only saw his tall and mighty back, but they did not see the charming smile on his thin lips.

It was precisely the peak period of eating, the business in the restaurant was busy.

The moment a man like Alex appeared, he immediately became the center of attention in the restaurant.

In addition to the two cute and exquisite treasures that followed him in, he became the center of attention.

Seeing that there were no tables, many tourists even took the initiative to invite to join them.

Alex and the two children were not good at dealing with this kind of friendly and enthusiastic flirting. (This novel will be daily updated at) Jessie smiled and declined them one by one and went to find an empty table. She led the three of them over and used a tissue to carefully wipe the table and chair before carrying the two little fellows up.

Alex's hands were in the pockets of his suit. He looked down at her as she arranged the children, but she did not wipe the table and chairs for him. He frowned unhappily.

Jessie saw that the little fellows had sat down and got up to get food for them.

This was a buffet. Other than the bottom of the pot being served by the waiter, the ingredients had to be picked up by themselves from the big pot. When she brought the beef skewers, mutton skewers, meatballs, and other ingredients over with a plate, Alex had unknowingly followed her. He reached out to take the plate from her hand and expressionlessly strode towards the table.

Seeing that his expression was not good, Jessie ran after him and said, "If you are not used to it, you can go back first."

Alex did not bother with her and sat down at the table. He took off his suit jacket and put it on the back of the chair. He rolled up the sleeves of his white shirt and took the clip to put the ingredients into the bottom of a pot in order to cook.

Jessie saw that he was doing these things neither too fast nor too slow. Her beautiful red lips curled up and she sat beside the little fellows.

She poured drinks into the cups in front of Felix and Fia. When the food was cooked, she would add more food into their small bowls.

After boiling all the ingredients, Alex elegantly wiped his long and slender fingers with a tissue. He beckoned to the young waitress who had been deliberately walking around and asked in a light voice: "What wine is here?"

"Do you want white wine or beer?" The waitress handed over the list of wine. Her face was as red as blood and her voice was trembling, as if serving him was a glorious thing.

Jessie could not help but glance at Alex.

She did not think that the man would not look at the list anymore. A pair of dark and deep eyes fixed on her face. "What do you want to drink?"

Jessie suddenly remembered the night after he deliberately used the wine to provoke her into getting drunk. Her pretty face began to heat up and she shook her head, "I don't drink!"

Afraid that he would force her again, she quickly took the orange juice that she gave the little guys to drink and poured a cup into her cup for him to see. "I will drink this orange juice!"

Alex stared at her. His handsome face was indifferent and did not say anything. (This novel will be daily updated at)He handed the list back to the waiter. "Another bottle of orange juice."

Finally, they had the delicious food they had been looking forward to for a long time. The two little fellows ate very energetically. They ate until their stomachs were full and bulging before they stopped.

Jessie liked to eat anything. If the two little fellows did not like to eat, she would eat it. By the time it was over, she was already full.

Alex was probably really not used to this kind of snack. He did not eat much from the beginning until the end. She then went to the stir-fried restaurant at the side and ordered a – secret beef meal for him.

Seeing her put the rice in front of him, Alex's eyes became deeper. Jessie's ears were a little hot, so she sat back and continued to eat her own food.

After the little fellows patted their stomachs and shouted that they were full, she looked up again. Alex also silently finished the secret beef meal.

The closer they got to the small building Alex booked at the resort, the slower Jessie's steps became. She also held Fia and Felix's hands tighter.

Alex saw all of her struggles in his eyes. He kept silent and walked towards the small building at a moderate pace.

Fia was tired from walking and yawned.

Jessie held Felix's small hand and let him follow her. She bent over and picked Fia up.

Fia habitually used two small hands to hold her neck. Her small head tilted to the side. On her shoulder, she soon closed her eyes and fell asleep.

Jessie hugged her and looked at Felix who was walking beside her. Her heart felt sour and painful.

No matter how slow she slowed down, the small building still arrived.

Alex extended his long arm and carried Fia away from her arms.

Jessie could not bear to part, but he used a lot of strength. She was worried that she would hurt the child if she persisted, so she could only quickly let go and let him carry her away.

The moment Fia left her embrace, she felt as if her heart was empty.

Alex's expression was cold. "Miss Jessie, take care and don't see me off!"

Felix looked at her eagerly.

Alex had already walked into the building. When he reached the door, he frowned and said in a deep voice, "Felix, come in!"

Felix reached out his hand and grabbed Jessie's hand tightly. He raised his face and his sparkling eyes were full of reluctance. "Aunt Jeje, dad said that he will bring us back to R City tomorrow. He also said that he will not allow us to run around again in the future. Otherwise, he will lock us up."

Jessie's heart tightened.

"Aunt Jeje, will we never see you again?" The little guy had always been sensible. When he stared at her expectantly and asked such a question, Jessie felt that her heart was broken.

Jessie was still struggling, but Felix had already let go of her hand. His small face became sad. "I know, Aunt Jeje. I cannot force you to think for us. Goodbye!"

.He turned around and quickly ran into the house.

"Felix." Jessie wanted to stop him, but the door of the house slammed shut.

That voice seemed to have closed the door to her heart. From then on, even her life had become dull and empty.

She would never see her own child again. Even if she was free and easy... Without any restraints, what was the meaning of that kind of life?

She had already owed them five years. Was she still going to owe them for the rest of her life?

In a few short seconds, she quickly made a decision. She could no longer suppress the excitement and surging emotions in her heart. She ran over and raised her hand to knock on the door of the small building.

The door only opened after a while.

Alex's eyes were cold as if he was looking at a stranger. His tone was impatient. "Miss Jessie, what else do you want?"

Jessie was running so fast that she was out of breath. She used her hand to cover her chest and said urgently, "I want to accompany them! I want to accompany my children!"

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 67

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. A Burden

Her beautiful almond-shaped eyes seemed to be filled with light at the moment, because her running long hair was a little messy on her fair cheeks.

Alex's cold and hard lips eased up a little. He extended his long finger and was about to help her remove the few strands of hair on her face.

But he heard her say, "I'm going to R City. I'm going to open a coffee shop or a cake shop next to Felix and Fia's school. In the future, I'll come and pick them up after school. I'll bring them to play during the holidays. You can do your job. If you have time, Or if the children and grandparents miss them, you can come and pick them up at any time. Do you think that's okay?"

Alex was furious in his heart. His handsome face became as cold as ice again, and he laughed sarcastically. "What identity do you want to accompany them?"

"It doesn't matter what identity I use. I don't care. As long as I can be with them. .. I can be their nanny!" Jessie urgently expressed her determination. She knew that her identity was not proper, so she did not dare to dream of being the children's mother.

"Felix and Fia do not lack nannies."

Jessie was speechless for a moment. That's right, how could Laurent family lack nannies?

"Forget it. You don't have to force yourself. You still need to fall in love and get married in the future. If you stay with them, they will become more and more attached to you. At that time, they will still become your burden."

"I won't fall in love or get married!"

Seeing that she could even sacrifice her life for the sake of her child, Alex really wanted to beat her up. He wanted to ask why she was so unenlightened. She didn't choose an easy future, but chose a difficult life.

"It's your business if you don't get married. But if I get married and you are close to my children, how will my future wife view this matter?"

"I will not interfere with your life, I promise." Jessie almost begged.

"What can you promise? A person who doesn't even dare to recognize his own child, what right do I have to believe you?" The more Alex spoke, the more ruthless he became. Every word he spoke was like a knife, making Jessie feel embarrassed and wronged.

She lowered her head and her two thin white fingers kept twisting.

Seeing her pitiful appearance, Alex did his best to resist the urge to push the slender her into his embrace and wanted to close the door again.

She quickly pressed her hand against the door and said, "Let me do what I did before. I will occasionally pick them up after school. Is that okay?"

"You think I'm arguing with you about how many times you meet them?"

Jessie looked at his cold face. She hated him very much.

He forced her to be so ruthless, how could she not know what he was thinking.

Mike was evil, but at the beginning, he still had a promise.

What about Alex? He didn't say anything. He just kept coming to force her. He was much more detestable.

But no matter how detestable he was, he had Felix and Fia. These two children were the most important people to her.

She also became very angry. She took back her hand that was pressing against the door. (This novel will be daily updated at) "I won't talk to you anymore. I will return to R City by myself. In the future, wherever they study, I will follow them."

After saying that, she turned around and left.

Alex became even angrier. He suddenly grabbed her thin waist and pulled her into his arms, venting his anger. "You chased me here because you wanted to say that you wanted to be with me. Don't use the child as an excuse!"

Jessie knew that he thought this way. She was so angry that she struggled fiercely, "Who wants to be with you? Get lost!"

"Don't forget, you took the initiative to come and find me!" Alex held her tightly in his arms and refused to let go.

He used a lot of strength. Jessie could not break free from his grip.

She was extremely angry and turned her head to bite his shoulder.

Alex was only wearing a thin white shirt. She bit so hard that her teeth almost sank into his flesh.

The pain was unbearable.

He was originally boiling with anger, but when she bit him, he felt the pain, but his anger dissipated instead.

He waited until her bite had no strength left.

He slightly loosened his arms that were holding her, and said in a low voice, "Did you vent your anger?"

Jessie loosened her mouth and faced his smiling dark eyes. She gritted her teeth and raised her fists to continuously punch him, "You only know how to bully people!"

She was still shouting and beating, but her chin was grabbed by the man's hand. Immediately after, his chattering red lips were forcefully pinched by him.

It was a little different from when she was in the cable car. This time, it was like a storm.

Jessie was unable to breathe from his kiss, so she forcefully patted his broad shoulder.

The door creaked, and Jessie buried her head into Alex's arms in panic.

Alex took advantage of the opportunity to hug her and turned his head to look at the little Fia who was standing behind the door. His tone was dignified, "Why are you up again?"

Fia's voice carried a sobbing tone, "I thought Aunt Jeje left."

Jessie was just about to go and comfort her when she was hugged even tighter by the man," She can't leave. Go to sleep."

Only then did Fia's worries turn into joy and laugh, "Dad, after you kiss Aunt Jeje, let her come in and sleep with me."

Alex's handsome face stiffened, "Get in and she won't sleep with you!"

Just as he finished shouting, his waist hurt.

Fia laughed even more happily. She even intimately closed the door and shut the two of them outside the door.

Only then did Alex hold the small hand at his waist and laughed in a low voice, "A man's waist is very important. At that time, it will be you who will regret it!"

Jessie was angry and embarrassed. She pulled her hand back from his palm and turned around to leave.

The phone in her pocket rang. It was her mother who called and asked her where she was and if she would go back to eat.

"About that..." Jessie did not know how to answer and her heart was in chaos.

The phone was taken away by Alex's big hand. The man's voice was low and steady. "Hello Auntie, it is me, Alex. Jessie and we are at the south bank resort. We will not be going back tonight."

How could he be so direct?

Jessie's face turned red from embarrassment. She widened her eyes and reached out to grab the phone.

Alex turned to the side. She tried to grab the phone but failed.

She heard her mother laugh very clearly over there. "Are you all together? Alright. Our Nanchuan's scenery here is not bad, let Jessie bring you guys to have some fun."

"Alright, you should rest early. We will go back together tomorrow."

"Okay!"

Jessie finally got the phone and Jouvita had already hung up.

Clenching the phone tightly, she angrily questioned, "Who told you that I am not going back tonight?"

Alex took one hand into his pocket and cast a sidelong glance at her. Without saying anything, he pushed open the door and entered the house.

Jessie turned around and looked at the streetlights in the resort that were gradually lighting up. (This novel will be daily updated at)She stomped her feet in frustration.

The door opened and Fia's little head popped out, "Aunt Jeje, I feel uncomfortable..."

Jessie hurriedly ran forward and bent down to hug her, "How is it uncomfortable? Is it a wound?"

Fia's small face wrinkled up and her two small hands covered her stomach, "My stomach hurts..."

"How can your stomach hurt?" Jessie was so scared that her face turned pale. She raised her hand and caressed her small stomach, "What kind of pain is it?"

Alex's cold voice came from the room. "She ate too much."

"Then what should we do?" Jessie had never had the experience of taking care of children. She was nervous and suddenly lost her mind, "How should we do it? Oh right, go and find a doctor! Let's go to the infirmary!"

Alex was already wearing a trench coat and jacket. He came out with his wallet and phone. "Carry her inside. Walk slowly. I'll go buy medicine."

Jessie grabbed his hand. "Then you have to come back quickly!"

Alex looked at her deeply and nodded. Not long after, his tall figure disappeared into the night outside the door.

Jessie looked at the little girl's painful face and her heart was in pain. She remembered Alex's instructions and quickly carried her and slowly paced around in the living room.

Felix walked out of the bedroom. "Aunt Jeje, you can let her walk by herself."

"Is that so? Will it be better if you go by yourself?" Jessie was completely stunned and looked at Fia who was in her arms, "Do you want to walk by yourself?"

Fia hugged her neck and did not let go as she softly snorted.

Jessie hurriedly hugged her even tighter and slowly walked around the room.

Fortunately, it did not take long. Alex bought the child's digestive medicine.

After taking the medicine, Jessie carried her and paced in the room for more than half an hour. The little girl needed to go to the bathroom.

Jessie carried her into the bathroom and just as she pulled down her pants, there was a sound in the bathroom.

Fia's small face turned into a ripe apple as she cried, "So embarrassing..."

Jessie smiled and rubbed her head, "It's normal. You continue. I will wait for you outside."

When Fia no longer had a stomachache, it was almost midnight.

Jessie completely forgot about the argument with Alex previously. After she and the child took a shower, she was on the bed in the bedroom. She hugged the children and they all fell asleep.

was

Alex was on the sofa in the living room, using a laptop to do his work. When he heard that there was no more sound in the bedroom, he closed the laptop, got up, walked to the bedroom door, and opened the door.

On the bed in the bedroom, the three of them were sleeping soundly.

As they slept, Jessie felt an itch in front of her. She thought it was the thread on the blanket, so she closed her eyes and used her hands to remove the thread.

But she touched an unfamiliar hand, scaring her awake.

There was really a pair of hands in front of her. She pushed it but did not push it away. (This novel will be daily updated at)She turned her head to face Alex's dark, ink-black eyes.

She remembered that she clearly slept between Felix and Fia, but now she slept with him alone on the other side of the bed.

The bed was very big, and Felix and Fia were sleeping on the other side. She did not get close to them.

"You're awake?" Alex bit his lips lightly. Her soft and tender ears were beating, and the warm Auras brushed into her ears, causing her to tremble uncontrollably.

His hand also hugged her even tighter, and a long leg lightly wrapped around her.

This was the first time in such a sober state to be entangled with him so intimately. (This novel will be daily updated at) Jessie's body was hot and her heart was beating even more like it was about to explode. She instinctively pushed him and her soft voice revealed a little coquettish, "Don't be like this..."

Alex's movements were slightly sluggish.

Jessie thought that he would be like the previous few times and would not care about anything and forcefully come over.

She was wondering whether she should obey his actions or reject him directly. At this moment, all the weight on her body had disappeared.

Alex let go of her without saying a word. He turned around and left her with a back view.

Jessie could not describe the feeling in her heart for a moment.

She stared blankly at his broad back. Her heartbeat was still very fast and her blood was still very hot.

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 68

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. Looking at Her Obedient Appearance

After a while, Jessie also turned to his side. After hesitating for a while, she stretched out her hand and gently wrapped it around his thin waist.

Alex still did not move.

Jessie wanted to withdraw her finger, but his arm moved a little and then it became quiet again.

She closed her eyes and supported his arm to lean on his back. She copied the way he kissed her before, and her lips trembled as she kissed his earlobe.

Alex turned around and looked at her deeply.

Jessie's face was so red that blood dripped down. Her slender fingers slowly moved downwards and finally stopped at one part of his robe.

Her fingers trembled intensely. She had never experienced such an experience before and she did not know what to do.

Just as she did not know what to do next, there was a heavy weight on her shoulders. (This novel will be daily updated at)Immediately after, the man's heavy body covered her and stared at her from above for a second. His kiss fell like raindrops.

He grabbed her little hand, which had escaped in panic, and slid her down his robe again.

Jessie struggled a little.

Alex kissed her lips, so gentle.

She could not help but open her mouth and obediently welcome him. Her small hands did not struggle anymore...

The little fellows at the end of the bed moved slightly. Jessie was frightened and her face turned white.

Just as she was about to struggle out of his embrace, Alex flipped over and got off the bed. He used his pajamas to tightly wrap her in her messy pajamas and carried her out of the bedroom in large strides. Just as he closed the bedroom door, the man kissed her again.

They kissed as they fell onto the wide sofa. Jessie's pajamas were thrown onto the carpet in front of the sofa.

After Jessie woke up, she had already slept with the children on the bed in the bedroom again. The pajamas on her were also properly worn.

The door opened and Alex walked in.

He should have woken up a long time ago. He wore a black shirt and a black suit. He wore a tight blue windbreaker, which made his handsome and fair face look even more handsome.

He seemed to be particularly fond of dark clothing. His clothes were custom-made for him by the top fashion designers, saving him the trouble of choosing the style and color.

Jessie could not help but feel a little jealous when she saw this.

He walked to the bedside and leaned over to kiss Jessie lightly on her face. "The person in charge here wants to discuss something with me. I will bring breakfast when I come back. If they wake up, help them put on their clothes and wait for me here."

Jessie nodded and obediently accepted his kiss.

Seeing her obedient appearance, Alex's heart was as soft as cotton and he could not help but kiss even more tightly. His large hand also reached under the blanket and kneaded her familiarly

Jessie could not help but gasp for breath and her two slender white hands lightly climbed onto his strong and powerful wrist.

"You want it again?" Alex felt her reaction and stared at her. His voice was low and hoarse.

Jessie's face was red. "I did not..."

Before she finished speaking, the man pulled her out of the blanket and hugged her.

Jessie widened her eyes in surprise. Didn't he want to go out? What was he going to do now?

She couldn't help but think that Alex had already carried her into the bathroom.

He kissed her as he walked to the bathtub and put her down.

Jessie's entire body was leaning on him.

After it ended, he quickly returned to normal, but she was so sore that she could not stand straight.

Before he could carry her back to the bed, she had already fallen into a deep sleep once again.

When she woke up again, Jessie opened her eyes and faced four round eyes.

Her heart also became soft like a body that had gone through a crazy night of clearing up.

Fia saw that she had woken up and her round eyes curved into crescent moons(This novel will be daily updated at). "You are awake? Do you want to have breakfast? Let's go buy breakfast together, okay?"

Jessie hugged her and Felix. She wanted to kiss their tender little faces, but then she remembered that she had not brushed her teeth. She could only hold back her impulse and hug them as she got off the bed. "Okay, let's get up and eat breakfast."

Before she got off the bed, they kissed on both sides of her face.

Jessie's heart was filled with sweetness. She rubbed their little heads and brought them to the bathroom to wash up.

Looking at the four washing glasses and four toothbrush side by side, she could not help but feel a little dazed.

Although Alex did not say it clearly in the end, after the love incident last night, even though the two of them did not say it clearly, they understood that some things had already silently agreed to it.

When she took a new towel to wash the little guys' faces one by one, footsteps came from outside.

Not long after, the sound of footsteps came from outside. Alex appeared at the bathroom door. "All of you are up?"

That gentle and soft voice stunned Felix and Fia.

They thought they had misheard him. They turned around and glared at their father.

- When they saw this, they were even more shocked. They actually saw their father smiling!
How strange!

When Jessie saw him, she remembered the scene on the sofa last night, as well as the scene of him in the bathtub before he went out. Her ears were completely red and she did not even realize how gentle her voice was. "Yes, we are almost done washing up."

Alex smiled faintly. "I bought breakfast. Come out and eat after you're done washing up."

Jessie nodded and continued to wipe Fia's face. She did not dare to look at him again.

Coming out, the dining table by the window was already filled with all kinds of breakfast.

Jessie discovered that the breakfast variety in this vacation village was basically all bought by Alex.

When Felix and Fia ate, they would occasionally use their eyes to look at their father.

After Alex was stared at by them for a long time, he frowned, but his tone was still very gentle. "What's wrong?"

Felix swallowed the water fried bun in his mouth and carefully looked at him. (This novel will be daily updated at) "Dad, do you have any bad news to tell us?"

Jessie did not understand. She smiled and pinched his soft little face. "What bad news? Felix, why do you think so?"

Fia pouted her small mouth and muttered, "Because dad is not like his usual today. He is usually very fierce."

Alex's smile deepened, "Is that so? It seems that you have eaten your fill. Since you are full, then get out!”

Felix rolled his eyes at Fia speechlessly. Could you not say it so directly?

Fia quickly buried her head and continued to eat her noodles.

She had said that he would not become gentle!

After eating, Felix and Fia saw that there were many children holding pinwheels outside playing. They felt that it was a novelty and also ran out to play.

Jessie tidied up the table.

A warm body came up behind her. The man’s hands came over from behind and his kiss landed on her neck.

She softly lowered her head: “I haven’t tidied up yet...”

“The waiter will come and collect it later.” The man’s big hand reached over and snatched the bowls and chopsticks from her hands and threw them back onto the table. He suddenly lifted her horizontally and walked towards the bedroom.

When he was dubbing her clothes, she was so flustered that she jumped around. “Felix and Fia will come in later...”

“Two minutes!”

It was really fast, maybe just a little more than two minutes...

Jessie felt like she had experienced a storm and the rain stopped before she was ready.

Although Alex had already passed once, he was not satisfied and kept kissing her. “I will get another suite. Shall we go over there?”

Jessie was embarrassed and angry. She pushed him with both hands. “I don’t want to. Go away!”

Alex grabbed her slender jade-like fingers. They were so gentle that they were very different from usual. “Listen to me. I will make it up to you when they sleep at night!”

Jessie clenched her delicate fingers and punched him. “Who wants your compensation?”

Alex laughed softly. His mood was unprecedentedly joyful.

Alex’s matters had already been settled. He had to return to R City.

Jessie thought of the Mid-Autumn Festival in two days, and wanted to stay and spend the festival with her family before leaving.

Although she did not say it explicitly, she and Alex were sure to be together. (This novel will be daily updated at)He definitely did not want to be separated from her.

After helping to pack up his and the children's luggage, Jessie saw that Alex had also put away his laptop, and only spoke after pursing her lips. "I want to spend the Mid-Autumn Festival at home before going to R City."

"Mid-Autumn Festival?" Alex looked like he had just heard about it.

"You don't know? There are two more days until the Mid-Autumn Festival." Jessie looked at his big eyes and complained.

He actually did not even know about such an important festival. No wonder Felix and Fia did not like to get along with him. It was too boring.

Alex took her hand and pulled her to sit on his lap. His hard jaw was pressed against her slender neck. He held her soft waist with two bracelets. He thought for a few seconds and said, "I'll arrange it. I'll stay and spend the festival with you."

"Why don't you leave first?" She had heard people urging him to go back more than once. She took the initiative to hold his big hand. She turned around to face him and spoke in a slightly coquettish tone. "It seems that you don't usually spend this time. Go ahead and do your work. Ask Felix and Fia to stay with me. After the festival, we will go to R City to find you. You can't ignore your work just because you have me. I don't want to be scolded."

Alex pulled her chin and kissed her on the lips. "I'll listen to you. I'll go back first. I'll come back to pick you up after I finish dealing with some urgent matters."

"No need. I'm already an adult. Could it be that I can't take care of the two children? Don't worry, don't run around because of us. The R City was too far away."

Jessie herself did not expect that in just a few short months, she had already subconsciously started to feel sorry for the man in front of her.

Alex lightly bit her delicate and beautiful collarbone and his voice was cold and magnetic, "You are so stupid, how can I be at ease?"