

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika Chapter 9

1. Maintain a Solemn Expression

“Is it really Auntie?” Felix asked in surprise. Soon, he felt that he was not solemn enough and cleared his throat. He said in all seriousness, “Hello, Auntie. Where are you now? Can we meet? I’ll return the things my sister picked up to you.”

Jessie had already looked at her bag just now and smiled, “I did not drop anything important. You do not need to return it to me, but I still thank you!”

Alex changed his clothes and went downstairs. He saw Felix talking to someone else on the phone. Fia was next to Felix and was listening closely to him.

Fia nodded.

“Give me your phone!” Alex frowned when he saw Felix’s twisted expression. He reached out and took the phone over. “I’m the child’s father.”

Jessie was talking to the child when she suddenly heard a deep and mellow male voice. She was stunned for a moment and then explained, “Hello, it’s like this. The children said that they picked up my things, so they called me.”

“Yes, it’s a small accessory. Leave an address. I’ll send someone to send it over.” Alex’s words were concise.

Jessie subconsciously looked at her clothes. Sure enough, the bow was gone. She smiled and said, “No need to trouble yourself. That is not important.”

“In that case, sorry to bother you.”

Alex hung up the phone.

Felix and Fia looked at the phone in Alex’s hand.

“I’m going to your grandparents’ house. Felix, take your sister to read. She will go to bed at nine o’clock on time!” Alex put on a thin trench coat, picked up the car keys, and instructed the housekeeper, Aunt Wang, to take care of them before striding out.

Fia shrank back into the sofa and pouted as she sighed, “I thought I would be able to see Auntie again. Auntie’s hug is so warm.”

Felix sneered, “Useless!”

After a while, Felix took the initiative to approach Fia and asked, “Hey, is it really warm?”

Fia picked up a small pillow and nodded with great interest. “It’s warmer and more comfortable than this. It’s even especially fragrant. It’s like a mother’s embrace, hehe.”

“... Mother’s embrace?” Felix was stunned. His little black pupils were filled with longing.

Alex stayed in old residence for a few hours, and after receiving a solid scolding, he finally got out of there and drove back to Mountain and River Residence overnight.

Alex’s car arrived at Olive Hotel and stopped at a red light.

The entrance of the hotel was filled with noise.

A group of fans stopped a car and screamed.

One of the women was especially crazy. She kept hitting the door of the car and shouting Mike’s name.

Two security guard helped the woman to pull the door open, not letting her get close to the door of the nanny car.

Olive Hotel was a business owned by Alex's good friend, Smith's family. Seeing this hotel, Alex remembered what happened last night. He used his phone to call Sammy.

"I am here now. Where are you? There is a female fan. She's too crazy. She actually stopped a nanny car and almost got into an accident. We have already controlled the scene. Do you want to come to the restaurant for a drink?" Sammy invited.

Alex agreed. Coincidentally, He also wanted to settle the score with Sammy!

Security guard saw Alex's car and quickly came over to help him open the path.

When Alex drove towards the parking lot, the woman who had just been pulled out suddenly broke free from security guard's control and ran towards the caretaker's car.

In the street light, Alex saw the woman's face clearly and his thick eyebrows immediately tightened.

It was the woman from last night!

After Alex understood that the woman his grandfather and the others had arranged for him was Miranda, he understood in his heart that the woman who came in last night should be the woman with the special service card that Sammy had told him about.

Alex gave that woman a cheque of five million yuan. It was enough for her!

That woman kept hitting the glass of the nanny car.

That woman seemed to have gone crazy, as if she would not stop until she saw Mike.

Security guard and the woman tore at each other. Security guard accidentally pulled away the collar of her sweater a few times, revealing the snow white skin on her neck.

Alex's deep eyes dimmed slightly. The feeling from last night surged up again in an instant, making him instinctively feel thirsty in his throat.

Such a lowly woman actually aroused Alex's interest for no reason. He could not help but feel annoyed.

Alex's face darkened. He retracted his gaze and turned the steering wheel. Alex parked his car in the parking lot and strode into the hotel.

Jessie had been waiting in the hotel for a few hours.

Jessie waited until just now, when she finally saw Mike's nanny car coming back. She shouted at Mike loudly, but he actually let the driver go around and refused to stop to see her.

Jessie was extremely angry at that moment and directly ran over to stop the nanny car.

Jessie was picked up and thrown away by security guard in the hotel.

Jessie struggled for a long time before finally breaking free and chasing after him. Mike had already entered the hotel.

"Mike, do you really have to do this?" Jessie's face was flushed red. Her long hair was messy. She did not care that Mike's fans were still there. She shouted at the hotel door, "In that case, don't regret it!"

Mike's eyes behind the sunglasses suddenly narrowed. He turned around and whispered to the bodyguard beside him, "Go and bring her here." "Yes!" The bodyguard threw Jessie into the elevator.
