

I Have a Job for You

---

When Tommy had seen Evie o , he called Cole to his o ice. "What's up, Tommy?" Cole walked in, barely looking up from the plan he was putting together on his tablet to get information on Aaron and Susan.

"You're looking into Aaron and Susan?"

Cole nodded. "Evie asked me to."

"What do you need? I got the hacking side covered."

"I need their houses to be empty for a couple of hours, enough listening devices and cameras for three houses, Aaron's, Susan's, and the place in Maine, and a good, discreet camera with a decent zoom on it.

"Alright, I'll send Aaron on the job with Sean, Beau was supposed to go, but he's asked for a leave of absence, and Susan will go on a job with Nissa. Beau and Evie will get you access to their houses, get the key to the place in Maine from Evie, and take the chopper there. We also will have to act normally around all of them, and the more people who know, the more it will be difficult for people to be normal. I also want to know if anyone else knows."

"Willa might, the whole behavior analyst thing, but since Aaron and Susan are still alive, Thorn and Sean don't know. Shane worships the ground Aaron walks on, but finding that out would destroy him, and he's been acting the same. Billy would have said something to you." He hesitated. "Do you think he told Nissa?"

"If he told Nissa and she never told me, it would end our relationship." Tommy's eyes flashed. "But I don't think she would hide that from Evie or me."

"This is speculation anyway." Cole shrugged. "The easiest way to tell might be to have Evie come around and see who avoids or behaves guiltily around her."

"Well, that's easy enough to do. I need to celebrate that I have a baby sister." Tommy grinned as he called Aaron.

"Hey, Tommy.Aaron's voice was rough and sad, but Tommy ignored it.

"Aaron! I have a job for you."

"Oh. Is there anyone else who can do it?"

"Nope. Beau just asked for time o for personal reasons, and he was scheduled to do a job with Sean."

"All right, when do we leave?Aaron sounded less than impressed.

"Tomorrow a ernoon, meet Sean here to get the job brief around eleven am." Tommy smiled. "And try to have it finished by Friday a ernoon. Evie and I have made up, and we're having a party to celebrate."

"Why do I have to be back for the party?Aaron grumbled. " I'm going to want to relax, not go to a party." a

"I would assume you would want to escort your wife to a party in her honor." Cole put his hand over his mouth to suppress his laughter as Tommy rolled his eyes. "Lord knows she's sucked it up and gone to enough parties in yours."

"You're right, sorry. I've been drained today. Sean and I will do our best to be back in time."

"You'd better. Thanks for stepping up Aaron."

"No problem. Bye, Tommy."

"You'd better let Evie know you did that. She can barely stand to be in the same room as him."