

Be Gentle 1891

Chapter 1891

[Enoch Campbell. I don't have much information about him. All I have is his handphone number. His number is...] Luca came to a pause as she could not recall his number. Hence, she searched through the blacklist numbers to look for Enoch's number and sent it to Amur.

[He is also a government servant, not in a very high position. If you have the chance, I want all information about him. The best is his dark secrets.] Luca emphasized.

Luca had no idea whether Amur would be able to look into Enoch's dark secrets but for now, she could only pray hard that if Enoch really had dark secrets and Amur would coincidentally find them.

[How did he come to offend you?] Amur saw Luca's message waiting for dark secrets and knew that this person must have offended her.

'Those who offend Luca have no peaceful day.'

[He kept harassing me, causing me so much trouble. I want him to legally be out of my life.] Luca knew that Amur might go overboard, hence she empathized with the word legally.

She would admit if Enoch really did not have any dark secrets but if he did have, she would have a way to make him unable to show up before her.

Amur stared at the word legally for quite some time.

Luca was still a softhearted lady. 'She still uses such civilized method to go against someone who keeps harassing her.'

If it was not for that word, Amur would apply some underhanded method to make Enoch disappear as far as possible from Luca after he was done investigating.

[Roger.] Amur sent the message and frowned helplessly. He had no choice but to respect Luca's kindness.

if it was not for Luca's kindness back then, he would not be the person he was right would never forget back in the Island of Despair; she rescued him from a group of men who were much stronger

he might have been beaten up so badly and ended up at the gates of hell a couple of days Amur would do things with a limit. She kept he handphone and looked at the scenery outside the thought of leaving Luke and the kids made her feel sad to do and opened the photo album on her handphone. She keyed in the password and looked at touched the screen and imagined herself touching a kid. 'Nyla, I did all of this for your sake, but I've cheated on your father, as well as your brothers and you got to be alright alone on the Island of Despair. Don't go around learning bad things miss." The driver interrupted Luca. She lifted her head and looked. It was indeed the villa. She gave him money and got out of the returned to the villa at a slow pace.

was because she knew that Luke would return to T Corporation to work overtime. Hence, she was not in a hurry

It was as if taking a step slower would mean delaying a minute of leaving.

However, no matter how slowly she was, she would still meet the end. She looked at the villa before her and sighed. She jammed onto the password and the door was opened. She pushed the door opened and entered.

The kids quickly ran out after they heard the sound.

"You're back, Ms. Luca!" It was always Tommy greeting her most warmly. His huge smile was just as warm as the sun, and it was as if winter would be chased away.

Luca looked at the kids surrounding her and touched all their heads, with her eyes glistening with unwillingness.

"Are you tired from work, Ms. Luca?" Rainie was the most caring kid as she was concerned for Luca.

"No, I'm not tired. I'm fine," said Luca.

"Ms. Luca, father just called back, saying he might not be back home tonight, and asked you to take care of us," said Lanie from a side.

Luca was astonished. 'Luke won't be returning and he wants me to look after the kids?

'If he doesn't return, how can I leave in peace? After all, it's not safe leaving the three kids at home.'

"When did Mr. Crawford say that?" Luca asked.

looked at the clock and answered, "About half an hour ago. Father called back and said. Ms. Luca, we will be heading upstairs to do it, Lanie brought his siblings was prepared to leave but Luke suddenly said he would not come trying to make me her head and looked at the kids running upstairs. She knew she would not be able to leave she was still determined to leave, she could not ditch the kids at home. That would be up her handphone but did not have the courage to call Luke. Hence, she could only placed the office bag on the sofa and then walked into the kitchen. It had been two days that she did not cook dinner for the kids because of the injury to her waist. That day, she was much better. Hence, she took the initiative to help the nanny and prepared dinner for the saw Luca coming in and said with a smile, "Ms. Luca, do you want to prepare dinner for can I trouble you to assist me?" Luca nanny said while nodding with a smile, "No problem. Your cooking skills are so good. The kids love your cooking. I can still learn from you sneakily by being your helper. I'm the one who cooks the dishes for the past two days as you're not too well. I followed your cooking style and recipes and the kids said it tastes good, even if my cooking is still different from yours. Also, the kids in my home also said that my cooking had improved. They love my

Chapter 1892

"Right now, we don't have any way to help father but to wait for him to settle it himself," said Lanie. Forcing Luca to stay back would only make her feel suspicious.

However, Luke could only use the excuse of staying back for work and not returning for only a day or two.

Lanie's small face which was similar to Luke became serious but deep in his heart, he was praying hard, hoping their father would think of a way to comfort Luca soon.

At night, after the kids had dinner, they completed their remaining homework.

Luca checked on their works and imitated Luke's signature to sign their homework. Then, she accompanied the kids to watch cartoons while she worked.

It was still manageable for her to look after the kids while working.

Fortunately, the kids were obedient and just sat still to watch their cartoons. When it was time for advertisement, they would eat fruits and drink their water, not intending to disturb her.

It went on till 10 o'clock at night. Luca looked at the clock and looked at the entrance.

It was dead silence outside. It seemed that Luke was not going to return home.

'He must have predicted I will leave so he used such a method.

'However, this method can only be used for one or two days. It's impossible for him not to return home for the long term. After all, the kids are at home, and he will be worried.

'In the end, I'll still have to leave. What's the point of him trying his best to deny it?'

Luca?" Tommy waved his hand and looked at her with big eyes, feeling sad within him. 'Why is she daydreaming? Is she thinking of snapped out and looked at the kids. "What's cartoon is over, Ms. Luca. We will be heading up to take a bath,"

If you wash your hair, make sure to dry it," Luca said and saved the data on her laptop, and kept the kids went upstairs, she followed them the kids were done bathing, Luca wished them all good night and continued heading back to her bedroom focusing on her work while continued paying attention to the

the other hand, Percy and Jim kept shaking their head and looked at the had already drunk three bottles of liquor. No matter how good liquor was, it would be a waste if he just chugged it; there would be no the fourth bottle. If you continue drinking like that, you might as well just drink beer. It won't cost as much, and we can't take turns drinking it. It won't be a waste of money and it makes you drunk easily," Jim teased while having one leg over the other, picking up a glass of red wine and counting the number of bottles Luke had not be bothered about the liquors drank as he was not the one who would be paying

He thought to himself. 'This is interesting.'

All this while, Luke was a rationale guy. After so many years, Jim was still able to see Luke get drunk because of a woman and he found it interesting.

Besides, this time, it seemed like he was left with no other options.

Percy lifted his eyebrows, teasing Luke as well, "I also didn't expect you'll be unable to hold back your anger."

Luke ignored them and continued drinking the liquors. He was also not bothered that his friends had to work the next day, and only thought of drinking.

"How should I put it?" Jim knew that Luke was drunk because of a woman but was not too sure about the exact details behind it.

"It took him quite an effort for him to have a better relationship with that Bianca, who had changed her appearance, and even stayed together. In the end, he found out that Bianca was attending a matchmaking session without his knowledge. All his anger was then unleashed in an instant. Not just he's going to take down that guy but even came out clear about his feelings for her, forcing Bianca to make a decision. In the end, guess what happened?" Percy smirked.

Seeing his best friend being in such a terrible state made him thrilled.

"I'm guessing Bianca rejected him." Jim was spot on. "This issue is so complicated. Now is not the right time to be confessing, alright?"

"Love blinds one. The same goes for jealousy. So, you must understand and forgive him," said Percy as he was experienced in that situation as well.

"But he shouldn't be in such a hurry. Isn't this issue yet to be investigated thoroughly? Or was it that Bianca had taken interest in that guy from the matchmaking session?" Jim analyzed.

She doesn't have the slightest interest in him. It seemed like she felt frustrated as well but our young master Luke, couldn't tolerate it." Percy shook his head. Thinking back to when he first been together with Nina, he was able to take it in and was not like Luke, unable to bear they still had the kids to tie them down. One look at it and it was obvious that Bianca was not the type to discard her kids and be with another man. He could not understand as well the reason for Luke to handle this situation

he just quietly get rid of this is the relationship after a marriage, having no self-confidence and worried that she might leave him with someone else." As Jim was analyzing, he continued to lost!" Luke threw an empty bottle toward them both after listening to his best friends'

Jim dodged it while

We're not the one who's making asked you guys here to drink not to make fun of me." Luke flipped a blind eye. If he knew they were going to tease him for so long, he might as well not comment about won't out best you in drinking. Besides, our love lives are quite good and we've nothing to complain about. Furthermore, with us analyzing it, isn't it helping you out to think of a way to make your wife stay back?" Percy smiled and sat beside Luke while talking on the latter's more a terrible state he was in, the happier Percy would all, being good friends, apart from supporting each other in difficult times. They would spend most of their time teasing each

Chapter 1893

Before Luke could speak, Jim could not help but tease once more, "He's ready to give up on life for Bianca."

Percy nodded in agreement.

He would not have ended up suffering so much if he had been obedient back when Luke was on the Island of Despair.

However, to get away from that place and return to Bianca, he was not bothered about his life and escaped immediately. He even blasted the entire island just to get rid any trouble that may reappear.

The man, who was harsh to himself and other people, was treating Bianca with extra care. Currently, he even stayed in the bar all just so Bianca would not leave, and even dragged them along to accompany him in drinking liquor.

The man before them had lost the rationale he used to have. All of his unusual behavior was all because of Luca.

Jim looked at Luke, who was still binge drinking liquor and not saying a word. Then, he looked at Percy, who was still leaving him in suspense and urged, "If you got any options, please say it out fast. My wife and kids are still waiting for me at home."

Percy had one of his legs crossed over the other and looked at him. He wanted to think of a way to solve Luke's problem and hurry back home to be with his wife.

'Who doesn't have a pretty wife waiting for them at home?'

When Percy thought of Nina still waiting for his arrival back at home, he immediately said, "Even though up to this point, Luca is still not willing to reveal her identity. In the meantime, she's keeping her distance from you, and you still have feelings for her. So, why not seize this opportunity and be a little harsh on yourself, make Luca admit that she still cared for you. Wouldn't that solve the crisis between you two?"

Luke lifted his glass of liquor and did not continue drinking it but squinted his eyes. Despite being drunk, he still gave Percy's comment a thought.

what should he do? Torture himself? That's not his way of doing things," said Jim while shaking his head. The way of causing havoc and even committing suicide was not Luke's way of doing not. Torturing oneself is the lowliest method. It won't be effective against a sharp lady like Luca. However, we can create an accident. Say, for example, breaking a leg after being drunk..." Percy gave an had a dark expression." What are you trying my leg fractured after being drunk? If words about it were to spread out, I'll be losing my his throat. "I'm just giving an example. If you got injured because of this and got admitted to a hospital, not only will Luca take care of you and the kids but in the meantime, we can be clear about whether she cares for you. Isn't this killing two birds with a one leg isn't enough. I'd say we should make it more serious and that will make Luca take it seriously," Jim added. "Say for example a road traffic accident. Thinking about the effects of it, for sure it's going to do

Besides, admitting to a hospital will not delay your work progress. Anyway, it's not your first time working while being admitted to the hospital," said Percy while nodding his head, agreeing to Jim's idea. "Traffic accident is a good idea. Just get yourself knocked over and have Johann step in to make things sound more to their lousy idea made Luke pick up his glass of liquor and gulp it all in one go before getting at him. "Where are you going? Don't tell me you taking it for real? We're drunk," Luke said. He left the room without turning around. Initially, his idea of inviting them out was to have them give some useful ideas and not some useless

Indeed, the ideas that they mentioned would make Luca stay back but it was very childish. An adult should not do such a thing.

Luke paid the bill for that room and left the bar.

Looking at the traffic light made him think of Luca. If he could not come out with an idea, Luca would really leave him.

After waiting for three years, he finally waited for her return. He would not allow her to back off and even leave him.

The thought of it left him frustrated. He wanted to return to his car to rest for a moment, yet there were a few young reckless drivers who came charging down the street toward him.

Those motorcycles that were headed his way were deafeningly noisy. The few young lads steering the vehicles were drunk. Luke glanced at them, but the effect of the liquor made him unable to react in time. He collided with one of the motorcyclists.

At that moment, it was chaotic.

Luke fell to the ground and stared at the traffic light. He felt dizzy and slowly lost consciousness.

The waiters at the entrance quickly went forth when they saw Luke being knocked down. They held down the few of them, who had caused trouble and wanted to leave the scene.

"Mr. Crawford. Hey, Mr. Crawford." One of the waiters got down on his knees to examine his condition.

Luke was still not responding.

dial 120. Also, Mr. Mallory and his friend are still in the room. Go and tell them about it," roared the waiter when he noticed Luke had lost and Jim were sitting in the room and drank their last glass of said when he saw the waiter pushing the door open and coming into the room, "You came just at the timing, bill was anxious. "This is bad, Mr. Mallory. Mr. Crawford got knocked down by a drunken reckless motorcyclist as soon as he left the bar. Now, he's unconscious at the opened his mouth in astonishment and exchanged looks with Jim. 'Whatever I said had turned into suggested that Luke torture himself by getting into an accident to make Luca worried about him, and he actually went through was not for him knowing that Luke was not such a person, he would be suspicious whether or not he did ambulance arrived?" Percy got up and headed called the ambulance. It will soon arrive. The main thing is that until now, Mr. Crawford is still unconscious. I witnessed that his head knocked on the ground..." the waiter was worried. Despite not them knocking him down, it still occurred at the entrance of

Chapter 1894

"Yes, sir." The bar manager heard it and quickly rushed to the scene. He quickly agreed to it after knowing that Percy had no intention of putting the blame on them.

He prayed so hard for Percy to push all the blame onto the youngsters, who did not know their standings in society.

Percy looked at Luke, who was lying on the ground and exchanged looks with Jim.

'This time, he really got into an accident. It's just that this time, he was knocked down by others...'

"Later I'll follow the ambulance to escort him to the hospital. You head back home first," Percy said to Jim. Currently, Jim's wife was pregnant with her third child, and it would not be appropriate for him to go back home late.

Percy would just explain to Nina.

"Alright, just give me a call if there's anything," Jim said.

After some time, the ambulance arrived at the scene. With the help of a few health care workers, Luke was placed on the stretcher and Percy boarded the ambulance, heading toward the hospital.

In the ambulance, the doctors put on a drip for Luke and asked for some history.

After answering, Percy got to know that Luke would be sent to the hospital where Johann was and quickly gave the latter a call.

After the call was connected, he was still looking at the man, who was unconscious. He was unsure whether Luke was unconscious due to him being knocked down or was it because he was drunk. Anyway, he was still unconscious.

"Even if he was out from his drunken state, will he still be passing out cold?" Percy asked.

doctor did a simple checkup. "His pupils are reacting normally. It could be due to both of the factors you his chin. He did not expect there would be a day when his words would turn into the ambulance arrived at the hospital, Johann made some arrangements in the hospital and after running a simple examination on Luke, he immediately arranged for all sorts of sat on the chair in the emergency department. He took out his handphone and called Luca. After all, currently, Luke really wanted Luca to acknowledge their time, Luke was knocked down and it was a the middle of the night, the instant when the handphone rang, Luca immediately opened her of training made her develop self-conscious. Even if she was deeply asleep, she would still be able to wake up immediately whenever there was a noise in the the second sound of the handphone rang, she had already noticed that the sound that woke her up was originating from her up her handphone and looked at the incoming

'Percy...

is already so late. Could it be because of Luke that he is now calling held onto her handphone and silently decided. No matter what Percy said, she would not be softhearted. She couldn't give in to Luke

Despite Abel asking her to get closer to Luke numerous times, she was not willing to hurt her man.

She clicked on the answer button. "Hi, Mr. Mallory."

Percy waited for a moment. He thought she was not going to pick up the call. The moment she answered, he let out a breath of relief. "Dr. Craw, please head over to the hospital right now."

"Hospital?" Luca's heart skipped a beat when she heard of the location. "Did something happen?"

"Luke got into an accident," Percy intentionally spoke with an anxious tone so Luca would be nervous.

"Accident? Is it bad?" Luca clenched onto her blanket and was starting to get worried while unable to remain calm.

"I can't justify whether or not it's serious but he's unconscious before he was here." Percy noticed the change in her tone.

He could sense that Luca was still concerned for Luke. Or else, she would not be concerned about his situation.

"What causes it?" Luca quickly got out of bed, but when she thought of the kids being left alone at home if she left the house for the hospital, she sat on the bed once again.

She could not bring the kids over to the hospital as it would scare them.

"I'm not too sure about the details but can you make a trip here? Also, bring some documents belonging to Luke. Or else, it's going to be a hassle to proceed with the admission," Percy asked. He got to seize the opportunity. Even though Johann said it might not be a serious issue, all he could do was make Luca nervous.

"I can go over but can you please take care of things over there for the time being? I need to have the nanny come over here before I leave the house. Leaving the kids here is too dangerous," Luca discussed with Percy.

problem. But please be here soon. Because urgent things might just suddenly happen." Percy Luca ended the call, she called the nanny and briefly told her the condition and had her come over to look after the nanny agreed, Luca changed her clothes and walked out of the looked at Luke's bedroom and thought to herself. 'I should go in. This time, he's going to be admitted. For sure he needs to be registered in the hospital. I guess all his important documents are inside the lights and then closed the bedroom door. According to her understanding of Luke, she found his medical card in the bottom drawer of his study it in her pocket, Luca looked at the safety box in two safety boxes in which he kept his import documents. One was in the office in the company and the other one was in the study room had no study room in this villa. Hence, this safety box was used to keep thought of it made her come over to the safety box. She looked at the password column and thought deeply if three years had passed, she still know Luke well and was confident to unlock as she unlocked the password, she would be able to know everything that Abel at the safety box and after some time, she still did not make a

Chapter 1895

Luca nodded and rushed to leave.

She sat in the car and cautiously drove out of the villa.

At that moment, it was already past midnight. The thought of Luke might be facing all sorts of situations in the hospital made her drive faster as there were not many cars on the road as well.

She rushed to the hospital and rushed to park the car and headed to the main building of the hospital.

Because she had previously enquired that Luke was currently at the emergency department, she then rushed her way over there.

Percy saw her rushing there and was unable to conceal the anxious look on her face that made him think about it. 'Maybe Luke got lucky out of this accident.'

The instant Luca saw Percy, she rushed to him. "Mr. Mallory, where's Mr. Crawford?"

"He just underwent all the investigations. Now the doctors are in there discussing the management," Percy said.

"Then did the doctors say anything?" Luca asked cautiously. Her heart was racing, afraid she might be hearing bad news.

Percy shook his head. "The doctor didn't say anything and simply had a serious look on their faces. But rest assured, all doctors are like that. Besides, I got Johann over to tend to him. It will be fine."

Luca was relieved when she got to know that Johann was involved. She felt relieved knowing he was helping with Luke.

isn't Mr. Crawford working overtime? How did he get himself involved in a road traffic accident...?" she blurted. She wondered whether it was her overthinking as the moment she met up with Percy, she smelled a strong stench sniffing it properly, it smelled like will be times when a man will meet with the unfortunate. You got it, do you?"

shook her head. "Can you make it clearer? Are you saying that Luke met with an accident Something is bugging him, and he could not think through it. Hence, he dragged me along with Jim to have alcohol. After drinking, when he was about to leave, he was then knocked down by a few drunk youngsters," Percy had no choice but to say the truth. Anyway, it was not a bad thing to let her know of Luke's down?" Luca widened her eyes, astonished. 'He was drunk and drove, yet being knew what she was suspecting and waved his hand helplessly. "Yes. He's knocked down when he's walking on the sidewalk. Those drunken youngsters thought that driving their motorcycles on the sidewalk would not be an issue. They didn't expect their speed to be so fast and Luke didn't manage to avoid them. The youngsters couldn't brake in it..." Luca kept quiet. 'Will it be that serious after being knocked down by not be serious if the collision wasn't too severe but it's hard to say for sure; things will be a seat first. The doctors will be out soon," said Percy and got up. "I'll go buy a bottle of water. Do you

"No thanks." Luca thought of asking more in detail, so she could get to know about Luke's condition soon. However, it seemed that Percy had said everything that he knew.

It would be better if she just sat on the long bench and wait.

After some time, Johann opened the curtain and came out. "Dr. Craw, why are you alone here? Where's Percy?"

Luca immediately got up and looked at him. "He went to buy a bottle of water. Dr. Park, how's Mr. Crawford?"

Johann nodded and was holding onto the report. "Well, you do know medical as well. Then I'll not beat around the bush. I wouldn't say he's not in a critical state as of now, but I can't say it's not completely serious. He will still need treatment. So, we can't say with certainty that he's entirely alright. Right now, the thing that I'm most worried about is his brain."

"What's wrong with his brain?" Luca asked.

Johann pointed at the back of his head and explained, "When he got knocked down, there wasn't any protection. He fell and immediately lose consciousness. Hence, the CT report did show there is minimal bleeding. However, his bleeding is not too big of an issue. We need to continue monitoring it. If the area of bleeding didn't expand, later, the clot will be reabsorbed on its own. Of course, if he's unlucky, and the bleeding continues to expand, we have no choice but to do an operation to stop the bleeding."

"Alright." Luca's mind went blank when she heard Luke injured his head. She did not know what to do next but just gave Johann a reply, stunned.

Seeing her in such a state made Johann recall whether he had said too much.

However, Percy had previously ordered him to mention it toward the critical side when he saw Luca.

dared not do so. It was a fact that Luke was injured but it was not too serious. After giving it a thought, he could only come out with such his throat and continued, "Don't worry too much. Just think toward the positive side. Everything is going to got it. Are there any other issues?" Luca lifted her head to look at him and the worried look in her eyes was impossible to worried about Luke. Currently, she could only pray for him to be safe and for nothing he might have a cerebral concussion. It should be fine if we take good care of his head for the next two days. Also, for his right leg, there are signs of it being fractured. I've briefly heard about the accident. Maybe he was squashed by the motorbike, causing his bone to be fractured and it's not a simple fracture. As a doctor, I still recommend putting a cast over his right leg," Johann Luca listened to what Johann had to say and frowned deeper. The things that he said could be healed but it would have to trouble Luke. Once the cement was applied, it would take at least one month before it could be the time being, Luke's mobility would be still had tons of stuff to attend to in the company. 'If I'm leaving, who is going to look noticed her frowning and deep in thought. He then added, "We don't need to arrange for him to undergo any operation. You brought his identity card, right? Just give it to me and I'll have someone settle it. Then, I'll help to arrange for the took out Luke's identity card from her

Chapter 1896

Percy heard Luca saying it as if she was reading a report, repeating Johann's speech in detail, and it made him laugh.

He opened the bottle of water to hide away the urge to laugh and took two mouthfuls of water. Then, he comforted Luca, "This time, Luke has met with an accident. Dr. Craw, it seems that I'll have to trouble you."

Luca looked at him and was feeling much suspicious.

She did not express her intention to stay back to look after Luke, but he had assumed that she would for sure stay back.

Seeing that she was not talking made Percy ask intentionally, "What's wrong? Any problem?"

"No..." Luca said slowly.

"After all Jason is busy with issues in the T Corporation. If you can't stay back to look after him, I guess that leaves me no choice but to notify the people in the Crawford Manor." Percy took another sip of water. "But to make it clear, only old master Crawford is the only one in the entire Crawford Manor who cares about Luke. But he's already so old. I heard that he had lots of diseases and it was all due to the cold weather. That's why I thought of you and called to notify you."

Luca nodded. Naturally, she would not bother old master Crawford regarding Luke's issue, and she could not scare the kids.

She thought about it and thought she was the most appropriate person.

Even though her appearance and status had changed, she was still once Luke's wife.

Percy no longer said anything when he realized he had persuaded Luca to stay back. He put on an act and sat on the long bench, waiting for Luke to come out.

Before Johann spoke to Luca, he had discussed it with Percy beforehand.

was a fact regarding the fracture of the right leg. They would need the application of a cement cast for the recovery but the theory of having a blood clot in his head was most, Luke would just pass out cold for two days due to the concussion and would not need to undergo did so all just so Luca would stay by Luke's current state made him know that the plan was then on, Luke would be able to obtain the heart of Luca and he got to be thankful to an hour, the cement case was just applied to Luke's right leg, and he was lying on the hospital bed, pushed out by the doctor and stood up and walked upfront. Luke was still unconscious, put on ventilation, and had no feeling that his leg was being put on a cement looked at Luke, who was still unconscious, and frowned while asking Johann, "Why hasn't he woken better off that way than to wake up. If he wakes up, I guess he will be nauseated and feel dizzy. So, it's better if he's still passed out cold " Johann was sure that Luke was fine even if he was not awake yet.

"Right now, he needs rest. If I'm wrong about it, he had not been resting well for a few days. Adding to that alcohol has the effect of protecting our bodies. Hence, being passed out cold, for the time being, is not a major issue. In his current state, it will make the person looking after him feel looked at Luca. "Don't worry too much, being pointed out and her gaze shifted away from Luke on the head of the bed and ordered, "Alright, now push our patient to the VIP ward in the

The nurses and the doctor on duty pushed Luke toward the elevator.

Johann did not say a word and Luca took the initiative to follow behind the doctor and nurses.

The doctor and nurses were fast. In five minutes, they had pushed Luke to the VIP ward. In the meantime, they had shifted Luke to another bed and put him on a drip.

The nurses brought the basic necessities. Knowing that Luca was going to look after Luke, the nurse taught her the methods of using those necessities and left the ward.

Percy said after seeing that everything was already well arranged, *I'll leave him in your hands, Dr. Craw. I still got to head back. Lately, Nina isn't in good shape, and I'm not relieved to leave her at home all alone."

"Alright, sorry to trouble you, Mr. Mallory." Luca nodded and after seeing Percy off, she closed the ward door.

At that moment, only she and Luke were the only ones in the ward.

Luca glanced at the drip that was adjusted to drip slowly by the nurse, and then looked at Luke, who was lying on the bed quietly.

The thought of Johann's words made her unable to remain calm. She walked up front and softly called out, "Mr. Crawford?"

Luke still did not react.

Looking at his hand, which was left outside of the blanket because of the drip inserted made her pull the blanket slightly upward. Her fingers placed on Luke's pulse.

silently took Luke's pulse and felt that the latter was having an abnormal pulse. However, recalling he had drunk so much liquor made her assume that was retrieved her hand and after helping him cover with the blanket, she thought for a moment and gently opened she was not a neurologist, she still knew the basics. She saw Luke having normal pupils, then only she let out a breath of relief and sat on the chair beside nurse had reminded her that tonight, Luke still had and would need to finish both bottles. Or else, his blood flow would take a reversal flow and that would lead to serious

Luke's current state, Luca was unable to at the drip that was dripping slowly. Since she had no document that needed to be settled, she took out her handphone to hours, only Luke's drip looked at it and it was already four in the morning, and Luke still had no signs of waking came to check on Luke and commented that perhaps Luke was deep asleep after passing out cold. It was only natural he did not wake up, so Johann reassured her not to worry too much about

he did a simple examination and Luke's body condition was on the sofa and yawned. 'Perhaps Luke's issue would invite huge chaos in T Corporation. After all, he's he still has to take charge of T

Chapter 1897

Given the weather, it was hard to make out that it was currently already in the morning, but Luke had indeed passed out the entire night.

Her faint hoarse voice traveled into his ears, and it made Luke go pale.

Throughout the entire night, he lost his senses, and the mastermind behind all of these was because of a motorcycle.

Luke wanted to sit up. Luca saw it and quickly reminded, "Mr. Crawford, it's best if you don't sit up right now."

Luke slowly lifted his head and the feeling of dizziness made him lie back on his pillow. "What's wrong?"

"Dr. Park said that you have a slight concussion. It's best if you lie down and get some rest." Luca saw him frowning and without him saying anything, she knew he was dizzy.

She had experienced having a concussion and that feeling was unpleasant.

"Was it because of the accident as well?" Luke has an awful expression. Because of an accident, he ended up in such a state and it made him feel embarrassing.

'Besides, those road bikers...'

He slowly regained his awareness and the scene from last night was still vivid in his memory. He remembered the scene where those daring youngsters came driving toward him.

"Yes. At that moment, you had the back of your head knocked on the ground," Luca said while noticing his dark expression, guessing that he was feeling embarrassed for being admitted to the hospital for such a thing.

Luke took in a deep breath and asked, "Then how about my leg?"

wanted to get up, he noticed it took him great effort to lift his right leg, as if it was being suppressed by cement cast was applied over your right leg because the motorcycle went over your leg, causing it to be fractured," Luca blurted

Luke did not expect a motorcycle would make him unable to move

Crawford, don't get so worked up. Everything is going to be fine," Luca quickly had a dark expression. Even though Luca was now by his side, taking care of him, he was still having a foul a motorcycle, it made him so inconvenient in many Craw said was right. Everything is going to be fine. If you're being so agitated, it's not going to do you any good with the bleeding going on in your head." Johann pushed the door opened and overheard the conversation between Luca and Luke and bleeding going on in my head too?" Luke was shocked. Never once had he thought of his body being this

'I got defeated by a motorcycle...'

not in time to tell you that," said Luca for an entire night, how do you feel now? Anywhere not well?" The nurse whom Johann brought along went forth and examined

Luke saw his gesture of holding onto a little torch and shining into his eyes, which made him tilt his head away disdainfully. "No."

"No? How is that possible? Aren't you feeling dizzy?" Johann asked again and kept his torch. He picked up the medical book at the end of his bed.

"Well, he did have a little dizziness earlier but it's not too serious," said Luca.

Johann nodded and after writing in the medical book, he ordered the nurse beside him, "Send Mr. Crawford to the treatment room and arrange a CT brain scan."

"Alright, Dr. Park." The nurse walked out and arranged for Luke.

"I still need to be examined?" Luke was against those investigations. Initially, he was able to protect Luca but now, it seemed that he could only lie on the bed and have Luca take care of him. In the meantime, it allowed Luca to witness his fragile side.

"Of course, this is all for the sake of your safety and health," Johann explained.

After he was done checking, he stood in the ward, having no intention of leaving.

"Why are you still standing here?" Luke looked at Johann, irritated.

"Of course, waiting to send you to the treatment room. As your attending doctor and friend, it's only logical for me to be responsible for your health."

Luke knew whatever he said would be argued after listening to his grand explanation. Johann just wanted to watch what was going on.

Seeing that Luke did not say anything, Johann then added, "Dr. Craw, later on, you need not accompany us. Right now, he's looking not too bad. If possible, you can go prepare breakfast. After drinking liquor, for sure his tummy is upset."

was worried about Luke but with Johann around, there would be no reason to be nurses pushed Luke's bed and leaving the ward, he kept looking at Luca and was deep in thought. 'If it's not for me meeting with an accident, for sure she would not stay here as though it's embarrassing to get knocked down by a motorcycle, I still feel happy because I'm able to receive Luca's meticulous

CT room had long ago informed them and was waiting for reached the entrance, he was then pushed in but was never shifted to another kept lying on the bed because of his dizziness. He squinted his eyes to look at Johann. "Aren't you supposed to run the investigation Johann shook his head. "Right now, your condition doesn't warrant a did you bring me here for?" Luke looked at the healthcare workers around him and they did not intend to move him to another on an act." Johann looked at his colleagues and said, "You guys can leave first. After five minutes, come in and send Mr. Crawford healthcare workers nodded

Chapter 1898

The treatment that Johann talked about was the care given to him by Luca.

After five minutes, the healthcare workers followed his order and entered the CT room.

Johann tapped on the head of the bed as if he was tapping on Luke's shoulder. "Even though you will have to spend the remaining one month on the wheeling chair, I hope you will enjoy it. After all, fracturing your bone is not a small matter. Come, let's return to the ward."

The healthcare workers heard it and sent Luke back to the ward.

Luca was not in the ward.

Johann turned around and looked at Luke, who was placed in position. Pfft. "Has Dr. Craw left?"

"She wouldn't," said Luke with confidence. 'Luca is not such a person.'

Even if she was avoiding Jim, she would not simply leave him. After all, he was still in the hospital and would not just leave without saying a word.

Besides, even if Luca did not say anything, she did not put on an expression showing she was heartbroken.

However, he could still vaguely feel it. Even if she did not say anything, he could still clearly feel it and was not just cheating himself. 'Luca is indeed worried about me.'

"Are you so sure about it?" Johann took out his handphone and called Luca.

"Where are you, Dr. Craw?"

the restaurant nearby the hospital buying breakfast, Dr. Park. Is Mr. Crawford's report out already?" Luca asked. She knew that the report would be out soon if it was anything related went to buy breakfast. I was wondering where you could have been." Johann purposely looked at Luke, who was having a calm look, confident that Luca would not leave him. 'Indeed, they are husband and wife. Even though they had not been in contact for three years, they both still knew each other is out. I've gone through it, and there isn't any more bleeding going on. You don't have to worry about it, but someone will still need to look after the patient. When will you be back?" Johann tried to persuade Luca to come back with his words; only half of them being needs someone to look after but he's not having I'll still need some time because I'm outside now. I'll get back as soon as possible." Luca was relieved. Her anxious feelings had finally become lifted the sides of his mouth. Even if he was eating just a simple bowl of porridge, he would be picky about it too. The porridge provided in the hospital was not up to his taste. There would not be any guarantee that he would eat the porridge even if it was bought was the reason she went out of the hospital to that's the reason. Then I shall have the nurse look after him for now. We'll talk once you're back," said Johann and hung up the call. He looked at the man on the hospital bed. "It looks like you've guessed it correctly. Dr. Craw is indeed concerned for you. She didn't run away and even knew you are picky on your food. She didn't buy the porridge in the hospital but went outside to buy it. Pfft. She really puts in a lot of Johann's teasing tone made Luke put on an expressionless face and interrupted him, "If you're envious, then go get yourself a girlfriend too but no one can say for sure whether or not you will meet a good to a pause. 'I think I've heard this comment back when this couple was madly in love with each

He was impressed.

Currently, with them in such a state, it was nowhere better than being a bachelor like himself, but Luke still got the rights to show off.

Johann pursed his lips. "You're too over, Luke."

"I'm just stating the truth." Luke continued closing his eyes and was very calm.

The nurse beside him smiled sneakily. Johann saw it and cleared his throat. " Stop laughing, it's not that I don't have a crush. It's just that I only like one person. What's wrong about it?"

The nurse quickly nodded. Because the nurse had been working together with Johann for a very long time, she teased him with a tone almost similar to Luke's, "Everyone in the hospital knew that you enjoy living by yourself, Dr. Park. You don't have to emphasize it."

"Enough. Stop teasing me. Take good care of the patient. If he's dizzy or vomited, don't need to notify me. Just do the necessary," after Johann was done saying, he left the scene.

He had obviously helped Luke so many times but every time, it would be him who ended up being hurt.

Not just Luke, it was also with Percy and Jim. They would always act all lovey-dovey before him, making him feel hurt.

After Luca was done buying breakfast, she rushed to the hospital.

She walked to a nearby shop and thought of Luke having no towel and some necessities. Besides, there was only one nanny at home. It would not be rational to have her deliver it to the hospital. Hence, she entered the shop and bought some daily necessities.

She had no idea how long Luke would be admitted. Hence, those would need to be prepared. Luca knew Luke was picky. Nothing in the hospital was good. All she could do was reduce the chances of Luke having a bad mood.

held onto the breakfast and daily necessities and entered the ward. The nurse saw her and said, "I'm leaving the patient in can he sit up?" Luca asked. If he was able to sit upright, it would make it easy for him to eat breakfast and brush depends on him. If he's able to sit up without feeling dizzy, then it's alright. If he does feel dizzy, then don't force him to do so," said the noddled and placed the package in her hand down and looked at the Luke was also looking at her.

deep-seated eyes were as if had hidden lots of things that he wished Crawford, do you want to brush your teeth?" Luca evaded his gaze and pretended to arrange the items in the plastic knew Luke was very hygienic. Regardless of what happened, he would prefer to brush his teeth before having Luke could feel that Luca was evading. Previously, he did not hide this temper and forced it too much on her. Hence, it was only normal for her to evade did not leave immediately and that was already the onto the basin and arrived at the sink. She was meticulous and tested for the temperature of the water. Then, she carried it to the side of the hospital

Chapter 1899

Luke closed his eyes and lay on the bed. His face looked awful because he was feeling dizzy. "You help me with it."

Luca knew he was already at his limit and did not hesitate and helped him get his face washed. Then, she lowered the bed.

The head of the bed was slowly lowered and after Luke felt much better, he said, "That's the way."

Luca's action came to a halt. She got up and said, "I'll go and pour the water away, Mr. Crawford. Then, only I'll serve you the breakfast."

"Alright." Luke closed his eyes. He had yet to recover from the dizziness he had from earlier and just laid there quietly.

Luca carried the basin to the toilet and poured the water away. Then, she squeezed the towel dry and hung it on the hanger to dry it.

She walked out of the bathroom and looked at Luke.

Earlier he was still having a pale look and currently, he looked much better. She knew he was feeling much better. Hence, she opened up the lunch box and softly asked, "Do you want some porridge, Mr. Crawford?"

Luke had no appetite, but Luca went through the cold weather outside just to buy the porridge for him and he could not afford to let her effort go to waste. "Alright."

Initially, Luca wanted to sit at the side of the bed and feed him, but such a distance would be too intimating. Hence, she moved the chair and sat at the side of the bed. She held onto a spoon and started feeding Luke the porridge.

She was being patient and after letting the porridge cool down, served it to Luke.

He went with the flow and opened his mouth to eat it.

With each spoon fed, and after Luke had finished half the bowl of porridge, only he said, "I had enough."

Luca nodded and took the porridge then, she walked into the bathroom and started brushing her teeth. Then, she ate lay on the hospital bed and raised his it and immediately got up to ask, "What are you doing, Mr.

my handphone?" Luke said softly. When facing Luca, he was unable to speak sternly. The anger he was having yesterday had pretty much cooled her breakfast down and took out the handphone from the drawer at the head of the bed. "Yesterday, Mr. Mallory helped put your handphone inside it and unlocked the password and read through the unread into it and there were Jason and Tina's messages. There were also Percy's messages and the messages from clicked into the kids' messages first. It was sent in the morning, and they told him that Luca had his eyes and looked at Luca before him. Perhaps she did not want the kids to be worried and had made the arrangements yesterday. Hence, they were clueless about it. At that moment, she was right did not reply to them and continued reading were all nonsense, asking him to grab hold of this

He purposely deleted all of his messages so that Luca would not be suspicious in the future.

Lastly, only he clicked into Jason's message.

Perhaps it was Percy who had notified him, Jason knew that Luke was admitted to the hospital. Hence, he came to greet him intentionally.

Luke squinted his eyes. Despite being dizzy at that moment, he still got to work. After all, he could not afford to delay the project.

Hence, he gave Jason a ton of job lists to be done.

Luca was eating her breakfast while looking at Luke holding onto his handphone. She knew he was currently doing his work and felt sorry for him.

Outsiders all viewed him as a grand person but only Luca knew that Luke had sacrificed so much of his rest just to develop T Corporation throughout the past few years.

Even if he fell sick, or how great the Crawford family was, he would not forget to work. All just to make sure the company would have a better future. After all, only the strongest ones would not be picked on, and able to stand firm at the top in the society, and not be looked down on by others.

He was that sort of person.

His target was to make the T Corporation stronger and with this target in mind, not only did it reward him fame and status, but also fortune. In the meantime, it guaranteed the life of many people who were working hard in A City.

His pride was all a result of his hard work, and his effort made others live a better life.

However, all these, only she knew about it and no one knew a thing about it.

within her. After some time, her handphone it out to have a look at it and it was a message was asking whether she needed guessing perhaps it was Luke who told Jason something. Hence, Jason knew about her staying by his side, taking care of thought for a moment and replied, [Can I trouble you to make a trip over to the villa to help me get my office bag? Also, can you bring the documents that needed to be settled for today as replied very fast. [No problem. I'll go get it for you minutes, Jason showed up in Luke's ward, with Tina following behind, and both of them were holding a bunch of Mr. Crawford, Dr. Craw." They both called out got up and took the initiative to take the bag over from Tina.

a serious look. Given it was any usual day, for sure she would be smiling but currently, Luke was still lying on the hospital bed, if she were to smile, perhaps it might not be too appropriate. "Dr. Craw, this is my responsibility. The packet you're holding is a change of clean clothes that I brought over for you. Also, this bag is your office bag and the documents that you need to settle for out the office bag and there were still documents from yesterday that were yet to settle. However, it was not much, and she should be able to

she was supposed to take care

Chapter 1900

Luca looked at Tina thankfully and said, "Thank you."

"Don't mention it. Take a look at these. Is there anything you need?" Tina shook her head. She had yet to know Luca's true identity, and she just thought it was tough for Luca to take care of Luke.

After all, Tina knew how unpredictable Luke could be and how hard it was to serve him.

"Alright. Let me see." Luca was still planning to ask the maid to come over after the kids came back from school. Then, she could go back and pack some stuff. After all, she had to watch over Luke. She might have to stay here for a few days.

There was no way she could stay here without bringing any clothes with her.

Tina followed behind her and explained, "Mr. Doyle and I went to the mansion to take these. I didn't know what you needed, so I grabbed some warm clothes, the skincare products on your dressing table, and some toiletries. As for Mr. Crawford's things, I didn't dare to go into his bedroom. I didn't manage to get anything for him."

Luca checked the things, and there was nothing she lacked. Tina had prepared everything well.

"These will be enough. Thank you," said Luca. She thanked Tina from the bottom of her heart.

Tina knew Luca was staying together with Luke. She was not curious about it, and neither did she gossip about it. Instead, she helped Luca keep it a secret.

Hence, even though Tina had found out about it, Luca was assured that the news would not spread in the office.

"No problem. Let me report my work first," replied Tina.

nodded as she watched Tina walk toward Jason and stand beside him. She joined him to report on their work. Luca took the initiative to walk out of the ward to avert any suspicion. She headed to the arranged for Luke's ward to be at the end of the corridor. With this arrangement, his privacy was well protected.

could understand Johann's good intentions.

a door at the end of the corridor. The door led to a garden. However, the door to the garden was closed to prevent patients from doing things that could harm could see the scenery of the garden through the an outdoor garden. The leaves had already fallen off the plants, leaving the bare branches on let out a sigh. Frost had begun to cover the

It would be snowing soon.

that three years ago when her family was still living a peaceful life, Luke would bring the kids to the yard to have a snowball fight on the first snowfall of the

and the kids would wear warm clothes, so they were not afraid of the cold. They would throw snowballs at each other

Rainie had little strength, so she could never win against her elder brother. Tommy was still little back then and was always defeated by his elder brother and sister. Luke would help Rainie to make snowballs and carry Tommy on his shoulders so that he could throw the snowballs from a higher position.

Meanwhile, she would prepare warm tea and refreshments for them in the kitchen. Sometimes, she would look at them playing in the yard through the windows. She would always be amused by their laughter.

She had such a warm family at that time.

Even though it was snowing outside, their hearts were warm and they could withstand the cold winter.

Luca wrapped her arms around herself and stood at the end of the corridor while looking outside the windows. The scenery outside was not beautiful, but it reminded her of the past.

It would be snowing soon, and the kids would be having their winter break...

“Luca?” A voice interrupted Luca’s thoughts. She turned around and realized that it was Nina calling out her name.

“Nina, why are you here?” Luca remembered that Nina was probably here because of Jean’s matter.

Nina smiled at her bitterly and explained, “I’m cleaning up Jean’s mess.”

Nina had been exhausted in the past few days. Tyrone’s condition was very unstable, and he had stayed in the ICU for another two days. The doctor only approved Tyrone to be transferred to the general ward today.

felt guilty about it. She requested Johann to get Tyrone a VIP ward so that he could get better resources for recuperation. That was why she followed Tyrone here.

did not expect to run into to Nina’s explanation and understood how helpless Nina felt. Nina even refused to address Jean as her elder brother now. It seemed like the matter was quite difficult and troublesome this time.

man who got beaten up by Jean?” Luca had asked Percy about the matter while she was waiting for Luke to get his leg cast. That was why she knew about life is no longer in danger. And he has regained consciousness. That’s why I asked Dr. Park to get him a VIP ward for him to continue receiving medical treatment,” answered Nina. It was Jean’s fault, after all. Hence, spending a little more money was necessary to calm the Hugh family’s anger.

nodded. “Tell me if you need anything. I’ll help with whatever I something you can help me with." Nina took a deep breath and decided to tell the truth. The chances of Jean being thrown into prison would be lowered if Luca could Luca noticed the anxiety in Nina's eyes. She promised to help her without a second thought.

told me that the surgery might have caused some damage to Tyrone's nerves, but he doesn't know the extent of the damage for now. Tyrone might need to receive physiotherapy, including acupuncture treatment. I've heard Dr. Park mention that you studied a lot about acupuncture treatment in the past, and your skills are better than those of other doctors. That's why I'd like to ask you for a favor. Can you help me if Tyrone really does need..." Nina knew it was abrupt of her to ask for Luca's help all of a sudden, but she had no other way.

Luca agreed to help her