

Twins in Her Womb: Sir President, Please be Gentle Chapter 29 Bianca Shook Her Head, Trying To Clear Her Mind

Marie looked stunned. “But... She’s my little sister...”

Jennifer had been out and about in society for several decades, and she had long since witnessed all of the nasty things women did to each other. The moment Charlotte looked up, she immediately knew what the girl was planning.

Charlotte muttered to Marie coldly, “Stop defending that little b*tch! She’s a tumor that should be removed ASAP. Both you and your mother have already tried helping her. You funded her studies overseas and spent so much money on her. You’ve already done more than enough for her. It’s her own fault for knowing nothing other than seducing other people’s men!

“I’m telling you, she is nothing to me, and I have to do this to her to protect my love!” With that, Charlotte went back to her seat.

Marie pretended to be conflicted about it for such a long time until Charlotte frowned, on the verge of losing her temper. Only then did Marie make the necessary arrangements.

...

After Marie left the room, she first glanced toward the washroom.

Once she was sure that the coast was clear, she walked to a hidden corner and made a call.

The tone rang for a long time before someone picked up. Marie said impatiently, “What took you so long? Did you drop dead on some hussy’s tits?”

The man on the other end was no saint either, his tone rough as he said, “What do you want? Get on with it.”

Marie could not care less about anything else, either. She finally had a chance, so she had to get this done. “I’ll cut the crap, Theo. Get me some of those drugs, and make ‘em as strong as they come. I want something fast-acting and good enough to have even the holiest of nuns instantly begging for d*ck!”

“When do you want it?”

“Now. Bring ‘em over within half an hour.” Marie was afraid of missing this golden opportunity, so she sounded somewhat hasty. “Money isn’t an issue. As long as you get this done, I’ll pay you twenty K.”

While Theo hesitated, Marie told him the address of the five-star hotel.

The moment he heard that fancy location, Theo stopped doubting Marie’s sincerity. Anyone who could “do things” in such a grand hotel must surely be filthy rich. They would not bail on the bill. “Alright, I’ll get them to you within twenty minutes.”

“Hurry it up! See, when there’s money to be got, you’re the first one I go to!” Marie was worried that the walls had ears, so she was extremely nervous. After that, she remembered something else and said, “You come over too! You haven’t had a broad in forever, right? You can have this one. You can break her body or her mind, up to you.”

“Sure thang!” Theo agreed without hesitation.

...

When Marie returned to the room, Bianca was not back yet.

“It’s done, but since it’s such short notice, my friend wants a hundred thousand,” Marie said in a message to Charlotte.

“Money is not an issue to me,” replied Charlotte.

Bianca only returned from the washroom after a long time. When she next entered the room, she looked pale and extremely unwell.

“You’re back! Come on, take a seat.” Charlotte grew all enthusiastic, saying, “I didn’t know you’re Marie’s younger sister! If I did, I wouldn’t have dared to ask you to come with me.”

“It’s fine,” Bianca said. “Sorry, Miss Shaw, but I’m not feeling well, so I have to leave now.”

Both Marie and Jennifer grew nervous. They were so close to getting her!

“You can’t leave.” Charlotte grabbed Bianca’s arm and appraised her, saying, “We got to know each other, so we’re kind of friends now. I’ll have to ask you to help me out with Luke from now on.”

However, Bianca said, “I’m only a salaried worker, so I don’t think I’ll interact with the president all that much.” She was trying to distance herself from Luke Crawford. Charlotte was not some random nobody, and she did not want to make an enemy of her.

Bianca did not want Charlotte to misunderstand her relationship with Luke.

“You’re still his employee, after all. I’m sure you know more than I do.” Charlotte pressed Bianca back in her seat and smiled. “Tell me what you know about him.”

Marie heaved a sigh of relief when she saw Bianca sit down.

This time, she had to get rid of Bianca once and for all!

Theo Gibson was a monster. He was only thirty-two, but he already mixed with all the wrong crowds. Unfortunately, he even accidentally contracted AIDS last year.

Marie was quite glad that Theo had that disease. She was going to give it to Bianca too tonight!

Once she did, Bianca would never be able to recover from it!

The four women chatted in the room for a few minutes, but Bianca did not want to stay for long.

Seeing that, Jennifer immediately mentioned, “Bianca, have you been in contact with your father?”

Bianca had been adamant about leaving, but now she looked at Jennifer and asked, “My dad, how’s he...?”

“He’s not feeling very well again. His chances are slim.” Jennifer had used Bianca’s five years overseas to cut her father off from her completely. Now that she was bringing up Kevin Rayne’s health again, Bianca would definitely let down all her defenses and focus fully on asking about her father’s condition.

Fifteen minutes later, a waiter brought in the food.

Marie received a message on her phone and stood up to leave the room.

When she next returned, Marie saw that no one had touched the drinks on the table, so she picked it up and gave it to Charlotte. “This is yours.” After that, she handed Bianca another glass.

She was worried that Bianca would grow suspicious, so she did not act very enthusiastic about it, but when she handed Bianca her fruit juice, she subtly poured the transparent liquid hiding in her palm into the glass.

“Your father will get better” Charlotte raised her glass and said, “I’ll toast with this juice instead of wine. Cheers! Bianca, you gotta keep those nasty women away from Luke for me, okay?”

Bianca’s thoughts were completely occupied by her father’s health. She held up her glass and clinked it against Charlotte’s without thinking, taking a small sip from the juice.

“When will my father come back? Please tell me his phone number.” Bianca was polite for once. She was only treated Jennifer and Marie politely against her wishes when her father was involved.

Jennifer said, “Your dad changed his number, and I’m waiting for him to call me too.”

Bianca’s expression distorted. How could Jennifer possibly not know if he changed his number?! The two of them were not going to stop until they squeezed her dad of every last penny!

Perhaps her anger made her thirsty. Bianca picked up her juice and took another sip.

After that, Bianca put down her glass and said, “I’ll be...”

Before she could say “leaving now”, she suddenly felt a flame surge into her brain. It slowly burned down to her chest, as though there was a fire burning there.

Marie held her breath, watching as Bianca quickly lost her rational mind. She yanked at her collar with one hand and pulled her long black hair away from her collar with the other.

Charlotte, on the other hand, was jealous. She thought that Bianca was unassuming before this, but now that she looked closely, she saw that Bianca had fair skin and rosy lips, her slender neck white as snow. Her every move radiated desire beneath that purity. It was such a provocative sight.

Even Charlotte, a woman, felt tempted. How could a man possibly withstand her?!

Bianca shook her head, trying to clear her mind. She panted heavily, looking at Marie and Charlotte. When she saw how nervous and excited the two of them looked, she suddenly understood...

She grabbed her bag and quickly ran out of the room.

She could not let these b*tches have their way!

Marie could not stand the suspense. She gave Theo a call and chased after Bianca. When she reached an empty spot, she commanded him, “The girl’s gone downstairs. Hurry, go to the hotel entrance and catch her! If you break her tonight, I’ll pay you ten thousand. If you successfully give her AIDS, I’ll give you another ten thousand! Hop on it!”