

Be Yours 1051

Chapter 1051 Watch After Him

Of course, Paul didn't.

But right now, the distance between him and Stephanie was already unbearably far. It felt like there was nothing he could do to win her back.

"I still have a chance with Leonard out of the picture. Right now. I'm basically nothing to her!" Paul insisted, having been incredibly jealous and angry ever since Leonard put his hands on Stephanie.

Alec shook his head. "Do you really think so? Don't you know just how determined Stephanie can be?"

He could guess based on how Jenny was like. If Paul actually killed Leonard, not only would he lose all his chances, Stephanie might hate him for life.

Paul seemed to understand that as well. He clutched his head, panicked. "What do I do then? Fucking tell me what to do, Alec? I can't just watch them get closer to each other!"

couldn't handle

honest opinion, loves me. I know she does. She's just angry at me for what happened before. I'll make her forgive wouldn't push shoulder and then went the others when she spotted Alec. She hurriedly went over. 'Well? How'd it go? He's not going to help but imagine the worst when Paul stormed away from his temples. "Not for the time considering it?" Jenny instantly picked up what do you have to be so he comes for Leonard, I will not hesitate to cut him down.* Leonard wasn't his friend, but since he might be Stephanie's next partner, Jenny wasn't going to sighed. "Don't worry. I'll

Chapter 1052 Did You Make a Wish?

As the clock struck midnight, fireworks were launched into the sky, bursting into bright, colorful blossoms. Jenny happily admired the view, quietly making a wish for herself.

Her wish was for Evan to be able to walk again.

"Did you make a wish yet?" Stephanie asked.

Jenny nodded. ' But I can't tell you what it was."

"I understand. It won't come true if you do. I made my wish too." Stephanie grinned, staring up at the beautiful light show.

After it was over, the guests left one after the other. Stephanie got into Leonard's car, waving goodbye to Jenny. "Bye. Happy New Year, Jenny!"

"Happy New Year!"

The villa soon cleared out, leaving only Alec, Jenny, and Evan.

the man and went straight to Jenny. 'Happy New Year,

'Oh, wait for me one place, grabbing the gift she'd gotten for watched her with a gift box. 'Here, you. I got you something too." Alec handed her his gift held it. "Thank you. We should get back now. Get some

"Okay." Alec nodded.

Jenny and Evan went back, she was presented gift, so she didn't have any to "Goodnight then.' Evan nodded.

back to his room, excited to as she shut the door, face the necessary preparations," he murmured,

Evan meant. "Right pink diamond embedded on one end. In the box was a card reading, "I

Chapter 1053 Let Him Be Damned

After the New Year celebration, Jenny spent most of her time caring for Evan in his villa. Occasionally, Alec would invite them over for dinner. Life was overall good.

After the holidays, everyone went back to work. Alec's appointment as the CEO of the Faust Group was explosive news, but at least it put an end to the fight over the position. The stock price soared, proving that everyone had confidence in him.

Meanwhile, Alec wasn't too bothered by the harassment from the other families. To him, those were mere inconveniences that needed some time to be settled. After he took over the Faust Group, the Watkins didn't make any move on him. After all, Blake needed to work hand-in-hand with Alec, and it wouldn't make sense to go against him.

In the afternoon, Alec was busy at work when he received a call from Blake, who requested to meet up.

"If you have anything to say, just tell me over the phone. I'm busy." He was reluctant to be in contact with her. He really was busy and didn't want to cause unnecessary misunderstandings.

had interrogated the man in her hands, but he was tight-lipped and didn't reveal any offer. Then, he agreed,

You know where it is." When Alec lost his memories, he woke and left for Blake's villa from the Faust Group office in a hurry. After the New Year, he planned to have Dr. Gaarder tend to Evan's injuries because he'd never allow Jenny to stay by Evan's he arrived at the villa. He entered the place and saw that Blake had brought the man to the living room- he was covered for a while as the frown on

He refused to say a word." She shrugged, indicating that she had tried her best. Alec wasn't surprised by the outcome, knowing that a man like the too concerned with the failed interrogation because he was sure came with him brought the captive away. "I'll bring me," Blake reminded him- she

Chapter 1054 Something Fishy Behind His Injuries

Alec brought Dr. Gaarder with him when he showed up at Evan's villa. Jenny was off to the hospital, leaving Evan staring at Alec with a scowl on his face. 'What's going on, Mr. Faust?'

"Dr. Gaarder will fly home soon. Before he leaves, I hope you could allow him to check your injuries. You probably wouldn't want to be using a wheelchair for the rest of your life,' Alec explained with a half-smile on his face.

Evan shot him a look and noticed the ten bodyguards who came with Alec. He then smirked. "Is that so? Mr. Faust, seeing the men you brought, I thought you were here for a robbery."

"Mr. Clarke, you're overthinking it." Alec smiled gently.

"What if I refuse to let you in?" Evan challenged him. He stopped smiling as Alec's bodyguards marched over.

have no choice but to force now?" Evan's expression hardened. Alec was unbothered as he walked up to Evan. "How could you put it that way? I am doing so because I worry about your injuries. Why are was silent, but his eyes

"Is there something fishy to speed up the process of moving abroad." "I have afraid there's no running away today." He was determined to make Dr. front of Evan as protection, but he was nothing to Alec. Just as Alec was about to pin down a time when Jenny was at was fine. Judging by Evan's reaction alone, he could tell that there was something fishy behind Evan's injuries. In other words, there was something fishy behind Jenny's to perform a her expression softened." Okay. Just do the checkup. Why did you have to play

Chapter 1055 Ignore Him

"Alec, I know you don't like Jenny looking after me, but you don't have to hurt me in this way," Evan spoke with sorrow in his eyes. Jenny instantly felt bad for him because he was injured while saving her.
Nobody would want to be confined to a wheelchair if they had a choice.

"Jenny, how about you leave with Mr. Faust? Howard's around, and he can take care of me." Evan decided to "compromise" with a forced smile on his face.

However, Jenny would never leave him behind. She went up to him and wheeled him into the villa.
"Ignore him. I'll send you to your room for a rest."

Soon, the two vanished from Alec's sight. He gritted his teeth, holding back the urge to pin down Evan and force the checkup on him. But he knew better than to do that.

hour later, Jenny finally exited Evan's exactly are you doing? Even if you want a checkup for Evan out of kindness, you shouldn't go about it in this manner." As a doctor, Jenny understood Evan's repulsion toward medical professionals. Many patients who had sustained grave injuries develop trauma against no way to air his grievance. "Jenny, don't you think it's weird for weird about that from the lens of psychology," she after hearing her reply, and a moment later, he went straight to the turned around and said to Dr. Gaarder, "Dr.

was unaware of the dynamics among the three, he spared no details in his hypothesis. He argued that Evan's case was serious, which logically would leave him paralyzed in bed instead of making she became pensive. "Dr. Gaarder, perhaps he's had a smooth recovery. What why it would be best for me to perform a checkup on him." The truth

Chapter 1056 Impossible

Jenny was taken aback once more. She was no fool—there must be a reason why Alec emphasized the background of the kidnapper.

Staring at him in disbelief, she finally blurted out, "Do you suspect Evan of planning my kidnapping?"

"More accurately, I suspect he orchestrated the whole thing to make you stay by his side after saving your life." There was no good reason for Evan to kidnap Jenny, but what if that was never the goal? Right now, it seemed that Evan had gotten what he wanted.

"Impossible!" she said without thinking. "That doesn't sound like Evan at all. N to tell her that Evan was no saint, but he felt upset upon seeing how firmly she trusted Evan. "Maybe. But for him to Dr. Gaarder around was unnecessary. Alec knew there was no point arguing because Jenny wouldn't allow him to do as he wished. He turned around and gave the doctor an apologetic look. "Sorry for the trouble all this while. I'll get someone to drive you to the

it at all. After bidding departure. She knew what Alec was thinking, but she Evan. I'll make him go for a checkup." With that, she went into the villa. He watched as she walked away from him. He had the urge to say something, but he obtain solid evidence. Any argument at this did not immediately force Evan to go for a checkup. As usual, she took care of him as though nothing had back into the routine of calling her after she retired to her bedroom. They were in

Chapter 1057 Waiting for the Right Timing

Jenny held the spare key to Alec's villa. In fact, it was Alec who insisted on giving her the key, telling her to make herself at home at his place. At that time, she thought he was being too much, but now, she felt he was wise to do so.

She entered the villa and rushed into the study, where she expected to find him buried in work. However, she opened the door to find him sprawling on the floor unconscious. She was momentarily shocked and failed to calm herself.

"Alec!" She hurried over to him. He appeared to have fainted.

When he heard her voice, he stirred a little and had a baffled look on his face upon seeing her in person. "Jenny? You..."

you sick? Where?" she questioned as she observed the frown on his face and how he pressed against and tried to put on a relaxed look. "I-I'm

She looked furious. "Do you

He had long suffered from digestive issues. Before he met Jenny, he habitually lived a life with an irregular schedule. In the past, he would have felt better after taking

"Can you walk? I'll send going to the hospital and refused to move. Too bad Jenny didn't consider his opinion. She supported him as they walked out of the study. Then, she helped him into the car before getting on and curtain in his villa. After Jenny and Alec left, he finally emerged from behind the curtain, went onto the balcony, and stared this. Miss Walter can't cut her ties with Alec Faust," Howard remarked. He spoke the Evan was well aware of the fact. He stood silently with an ashen face. Seeing that, Howard added, "I've made the arrangements to leave for abroad. We can make the move at any time.

Chapter 1058 It Was an Accident

Alec woke up feeling thirsty in the middle of the night. He struggled to sit and get water, but he woke Jenny up instead.

"Stop moving around," she said. "Just tell me what you want."

"Water," he muttered in a hoarse voice.

She poured him a glass of lukewarm water but held the glass in her hand. "You can't drink the entire glass of water at once. I'll dab your lips with wet cotton swabs. Alright?" She coaxed him like she was pacifying a kid.

He couldn't stop smiling as he nodded. "Sure."

With Jenny around, his thirst suddenly didn't feel that bad.

wetting his lips with the cotton swab, she returned to his bedside.

Do you plan to look after me like this?" He was glad that she chose to keep an eye on him, but he felt sorry for I'm fine. Dawn is coming soon." She didn't mind staying up. Alec did the same for her before, so she had nothing to complain about when she was make is cramped enough. If I lie down, I'll only disturb your rest," she turned him couch wasn't spacious, but it was just enough for one. Still, it beat having to Instead, he started chatting with her, "Why decided to come clean. "You didn't call long after I turned on that mean I saved

nodded, agreeing with himself, he believed that Jenny's concern was the reason she

Chapter 1059 You Shouldn't Overthink

Alec didn't argue with her because he had arrived at an answer. Perhaps, growing up in different environments led to a divergent mindset between them. With her carefree attitude, she could live a good life without him.

But things were different for him. Had he not met Jenny, he'd still be muddling through life. Therefore, he'd do the best for her and was willing to live for her sake.

"Go to sleep. It's late." She checked the time and realized that morning was near.

He nodded. Even though he wasn't sleepy, he'd be a jerk to mess up Jenny's sleep schedule, given how she had been looking after her.

Silence enshrouded the room as they said nothing more. Only steady breathing sounds were heard in the air.

that. When morning arrived, Jenny called to inform him that she would not return for a while. She didn't give a reason, but she was she felt sorry after hanging up. She knew that Evan needed someone to look after him, and she moved in for that exact reason. Now, she had to set Evan aside because she said, "What trust Evan. He isn't the type to pull off such a joke," she cut him but shut up after when Jenny was still taking care of Alec in the hospital, Evan was looking dispirited at home. Howard felt bad for him and suggested, "Boss, do you want me to bring a few men and get rid of that Faust dude?" The idea had always been brewing in Howard's mind, but Evan had is no longer an ordinary citizen. First, there's the question of our capability to take a little angry on behalf of Evan. He had thought that Jenny would leave Alec after she moved in to take care of Evan. He was aghast to see the thick-skinned Alec following her all and tell her I don't feel well. Say it's Chapter 1060 Can't Stand Another Day in the Hospital

After Jenny left, Alec stared at the shut door with a bitter smile on his face. "Don't think too much? How is that possible?" he wondered.

Without Jenny around, he could not stand even a minute in the ward. Almost immediately, he called Vincent to help him with the hospital discharge procedure. Jenny was, of course, in the dark about his action. If she learned about it, she would definitely give him an earful. He was indeed a troublesome guy.

When she showed up at Evan's villa, she found Howard waiting anxiously at the door. He hurried up to her, which made her nervous. "What's wrong? He looked fine yesterday."

"I have no idea. He woke up to a migraine this morning, but he kept it from you so you wouldn't worry. His condition has worsened, but he doesn't want to go to the hospital. I had no choice but to call you home." Howard's acting skill was excellent, for Jenny didn't detect anything amiss. Without further questions, she went up to Evan's room on the second floor. Howard stayed on the first floor, hoping fervently that Evan's trick would work.

*Evan, " she called before walking up to surprised look. "Why are you have a migraine?"

started complaining, "Howard called you, didn't he? I told him I don't blame him. He's just worried about you," she said. "I'll get you to the

to the hospital even though he knew the visit would go smoothly because of his contacts refused to listen. "Your health

"I bet I caught a cold

he refused to go to the hospital, she could not do much. "I'll make some