

Be Yours 1221

Chapter 1221 Stop Right There

After Alec ended the call, he quickly went to check out what Vincent had said was blowing up on the Internet. When he saw the photo, he couldn't help but laugh.

When Jenny saw him laughing, she was puzzled and asked, "What's so funny?"

"Check it out online yourself.' Alec didn't tell her. He thought it would be more interesting for Jenny to discover it herself.

Jenny didn't hesitate and quickly did as he suggested. Soon, she found out what Alec was laughing about. She saw the photo and thought it was quite beautiful. She immediately tapped on the "Save" button without hesitation; it was like she did it out of instinct.

"That was a nice photo." Jenny put away her phone and expressed her opinion on the matter.

Alec walked over and sat next to her. He asked, "Vincent called just now and asked if I wanted to retract it. What do you think?"

"It's up to you. I don't care." They were already boyfriend and girlfriend. In addition, the news about them wasn't slanderous in any way, so Jenny didn't really mind.

he heard her say that, knowing what she meant.

whole night until the next morning before it was replaced by newer, more pressing news. The attention it received things but noticed that many last patient. After the patient left, she looked up and had some stubble. He father was arrested. Isn't it normal for me to not be doing well?" Pete asked tell if he was a long silence, Pete suddenly asked, "Do you think...he even if Eric were sentenced to life imprisonment, Pete wouldn't feel guilty. He thought his was the death

the hatred he had for that knew what he meant but didn't want to give him any hope. "He's definitely going to lips and didn't say he was your father, his hands were stained with blood, so he deserves death," Jenny

Chapter 1222 Magnanimous Brother-In-Law

Pete smiled and said, "I know, you're fixated on Alec. I really don't see what's so good about him that's worth your affection."

"You wouldn't understand.' Jenny seriously doubted that Pete, who grew up in the Dafoe family, would understand what love was. Her guess was indeed correct-he didn't understand, nor did he intend to figure it out. If love would make him follow in Eric's step, he would rather never have something that destructive for the rest of his life.

"I'm done joking around with you. I'm here to invite you to dinner." Pete returned to normal and stated his intentions clearly.

Jenny looked at the time and found that it was indeed time for dinner. However, she'd already made plans with Alec earlier. "I don't think there's a need for that. We're just partners working together for a common goal. You don't need to thank me."

"I'm not thanking you. I just think you're quite to my taste. As your younger brother, I should treat you to a meal," Pete said with a smile. The word "younger brother" made Jenny's hair stand on end.

She glared at Pete sternly and said dryly, "Stop talking nonsense. I don't have a younger brother as old as you."

"Oh? Why don't you ask Lynette? I think she considers me her son." Pete grinned confidently.

He hadn't exactly treated Lynette well. What made him think that she shoo him away. "Go away. I don't have time let's have a meal together...my dear sister." Pete spine as she looked at him. At that moment, just want to improve our relationship and have more contact with you in the future. After didn't know what to she didn't believe what Pete said. Upon careful consideration, she guessed that he couldn't suppress the Dafoes now and wanted to improve his relationship with her in order to secure help. After all, with the support of the Walters, he would have more say walked in right then. Seeing Pete there, his cheerful expression immediately became gloomy.

brother-in-law. Perfect timing, let's have dinner together," Pete declared her what Pete meant by that. Jenny and brother-in-law, let's go. Come on, don't leave me hanging like this," Pete spoke again, looking side. His originally indifferent face softened a

"Alec..."

Chapter 1223 Jenny Worries Too Much

On the way to the restaurant, Jenny remained silent because of Alec's words. She hadn't thought about it before, but now she suddenly understood the meaning behind his question.

It was possible that Lynette had no feelings for Eric and even harbored resentment toward him. But she should have a different kind of feeling toward Pete. She'd been a parental figure to him since his childhood, after all. Regardless of how Pete treated her now, she'd likely sincerely treated him as her stepson.

The bond that they had formed over the years wasn't something that would disappear overnight. Jenny couldn't help but feel helpless about this kind of situation. Initially, she didn't want to have any contact with the Dafoes anymore, but now it seemed like she had no choice but to keep in touch with Pete.

"Don't think too much, Jenny. While Lynette may have some motherly love for Pete, it definitely won't surpass her love for you. If she has to choose between you and Pete, I'm sure she'll choose you over him without hesitation," Alec expressed.

Jenny chuckled lightly. Was that so? She didn't feel that way at all.

time with her mother at all. On trouble later on," she explained. She didn't want to be involved with the troublesome Dafoes, nor did she care who Lynette would choose.

here," Alec said with a gentle smile. His warm smile somewhat calmed Jenny's heart. She felt and the Fausts were close to being invincible when they joined hands in Clusia. At least most people wouldn't dare to cause trouble for them. Jenny thought that she's been a smiled at him. "Alright, them halted. Alec's car also came to a stop accordingly. They all no other people in the restaurant, and it was very quiet. Jenny furrowed her brow and walked behind Alec, still wary of casually with Jenny

their villa,

Chapter 1224 Help Him When the Time Comes

The incident put Eric in a horrible light, so his trial soon came. Jenny didn't go to court for his hearing, but she did see some news about it from the media.

Eric thought he still had a chance to escape, so he continued to deny his guilt in court until the prosecution presented the data of the people who died under his hands. With that, he was utterly silenced.

It wasn't because of guilt that he decided to shut up, but because he understood one thing. If the prosecution could obtain the information, it meant there was a traitor in the Dafoes who had leaked his wrongdoings to the prosecution.

When he was still contemplating who the traitor could be, Pete appeared in court as a witness, and everything became clear to him instantly. Pete testified that he saw Eric kill those people with his own eyes, and he also revealed many of Eric's other illegal activities.

Eric didn't refute any of it. From the moment Pete appeared in court, he knew he couldn't turn the tables this time. But at that moment, he didn't care about his crimes being brought to justice in court. He stared at Pete and asked blankly, "Why?"

as a Dafoe himself, Pete would do something that harmed the interests of the Dafoe family. Didn't he know that speaking out about these things could be fatal to the think that the Dafoes should take a different path." Indeed, the former Dafoe family did all sorts of evil deeds and ruled the city, but so what? In the end, nothing good would await them, considering all the

this opportunity to change his family for the better pass him by. Eric understood the meaning behind

Eric came out quickly. His deeds were unforgivable, and he was sentenced to death, the Dafoes can flourish under your leadership, and I hope you won't regret your decision of the Dafoes could not compare to what they'd achieved now, months before Eric's execution, Lynette met him once, but the two didn't say about me compared to Graham? Why did you always want to escape him. He was going to die, yet he was

Chapter 1225 Can You Accept Me as Your Mother?

After she left the prison, Lynette told Jenny the last words Eric had said to her. Then, she added, "You don't have to hold back or worry about anything for my sake. Although Pete was raised by me, he's not really my son after all."

"I understand what you mean. Don't worry, I know what to do," Jenny said to Lynette on the phone.

After they hung up, Jenny didn't think much of the matter. Although she'd entertained Pete's invitation to a meal before out of consideration for Lynette, it didn't mean she would compromise again and again.

If Pete wanted her and Alec to help him, he had to offer enough chips. As long as he could offer sufficiently attractive benefits, even if he were a stranger, she and Alec would help him.

On the day Eric was executed, the news gave enough coverage to the former overlord of Bayside City. Jenny could see that almost all the media published news related to Eric on that day, no matter which website she browsed.

But did it even matter at this point in time? Eric might be rotting in hell or waiting for his turn to be judged by God by then.

a deep breath, she felt an unprecedented level to dinner at Walter Castle. Jenny didn't refuse, as everyone was feeling joyous that Graham personally called Alec. Upon receiving a call from Graham, Alec put his work aside and went to Walter Castle to help Graham prepare dinner. He wanted to Jenny." Lynette was wearing a completely new outfit that was absolutely different from the style she'd worn previously. She looked more similar to

Graham and Alec both peeked out your hands, and dinner will be served,"

"Okay." Jenny nodded.

went to the bathroom to wash her hands, and Lynette followed behind.

me?" She had talked to Lynette on the phone in the morning and reddened involuntarily. "Jenny, can smiled and replied, "You're already my

Chapter 1226 Are You Sure?

Lynette understood the meaning behind Jenny's words. She smiled and said, 'It's just that we're both old now, unlike before.'

"Age has never been an excuse to limit your love for your destined one.' Jenny turned around and looked at Lynette.

Lynette was stunned for a moment, then nodded. "You're right."

"So, do you still want to be with my father?" Jenny asked, actually worried that Lynette might change her mind now.

However, her worries were unnecessary.

Lynette thought for a moment and nodded. "Of course, I've been waiting for this day for so many years." relieved, "I

Jenny, what about your

she could be happy or not. Instead, she cared more about "Your father told me that you were divorced from him before. Why did you choose to be father don't need to worry about it. Just live your own life." Jenny didn't want to explain too much.

Moreover, to Jenny, Lynette's opinion wouldn't affect wisely chose not to comment further. "Let's go back to their short chat, the two came out easily tell which dishes were made by Alec. After all,

"Okay."

dish and smiled

poured a glass

felt that it was a

Chapter 1227 Sleepless Night

"Jenny, I don't care about these things. In fact, I suggested it," Lynette said. Although she still loved Graham, she didn't want to suffer the hardships of marriage all over again. She felt that being together with Graham like this was good enough, and there was no need to be hung up on any form of legal status to be Graham's wife.

Since Lynette said so, Jenny didn't push for them to get married and let it go. "Alright, you guys should decide for yourselves."

After all, it was their own business, and the days ahead were theirs to live. As a daughter, she had no right to intervene too much.

The topic ended there. Graham had originally wanted to ask Jenny and Alec when they planned to get married, as he planned to go traveling around the world after they got married. But thinking of what Alec had said in the kitchen earlier, he felt that asking now might be a bit too hasty.

No matter when they got married, Graham and Lynette could always hurry back by that time.

Soon, they were done with the meal. A harmonious and warm atmosphere lingered around after that. It gave Jenny a sense of being at home, but it was a very weak feeling that disappeared after leaving Walter Castle.

think your father and mother are still very affectionate toward each other. You don't have to worry too much," Alec said, looking at Jenny know, I'm not any trace of thought about what the future will be like?" Jenny suddenly asked as she snuggled deeper into Alec's know what the future will be like, but there is one up, and the uneasiness in her heart dissipated a lot.

drunk as she kept clinging to him, unwilling to let go. Feeling helpless, Alec had no choice but to accompany her be able to hold myself back anymore." Alec felt he had already been very gentlemanly and patient, but Jenny kept pushing him. He could just against lightly and then pressed her down on the bed, "You said it

Chapter 1228 Car Accident!

Alec's lesson to the Wardleys caused Anthony to suffer a great loss very soon, but he didn't give up. On the contrary, he felt dissatisfied and thought he wasn't inferior to Alec in any aspect except for his background. Now that he had caught up in terms of background and status, he was naturally adamant about proving his abilities.

Unfortunately, he overestimated himself in the end.

For a while, everyone in Bardoff City knew that Anthony and Alec were warring against each other, and it was evident to everyone that Anthony was no match for Alec. Looking at how the stock market prices had been tanking continuously for the Wardleys, they would be finished if the situation persisted.

However, since they were a big and prominent family, their fall wouldn't happen that quickly. It was just that everyone could foresee that if things continued like that, the Wardleys would be doomed sooner or later.

Before this, Anthony had approached some families, wanting to join forces with them to deal with Alec. They were very interested at first, but now all of them didn't dare to act.

To start off, the Faust family had long been one of the Ten Elites, and with Alec's strong personal abilities, the Faustus were thriving under his leadership instead of regressing. At a time like this, no one dared to provoke Alec.

The board of directors of the Wardleys had just criticized Anthony. They demanded he cease his confrontation with Alec and personally apologize in order to minimize the Wardleys' losses.

wouldn't listen to

Are we just going to give up like back, so he had a few underlings under his command. After he expression clouded over. "Quintus, I've encountered a problem now. If I don't resolve do to help you? Just tell me." Quintus was still very young, barely eighteen. In a hidden the weekend approached. Alec picked Jenny up from the hospital, and they were now Alec and Jenny chatted casually while waiting for the traffic light to nodded. "There's never a time when the hospital felt a little worried that Jenny was working replied, "I've gotten used to it. I actually think it's better to be busy.

But if you feel tired,

Chapter 1229 The Driver Is Dead

When Jenny opened her eyes again, it was already the third day after the car accident. Although Alec had shielded her from the impact at that time, she still suffered significant injuries.

Looking at the white ceiling above her, Jenny felt momentarily confused and was unable to react.

Stephanie pushed the door open and entered, intending to check on Jenny's condition. When she saw Jenny's opened eyes, she burst into tears of joy. "Jenny, you're awake!"

"Yeah," Jenny responded weakly, her voice hoarse and barely able to croak the word.

Seeing that, Stephanie quickly brought her some water so that she could take a small sip. Jenny felt much more comfortable after hydrating her throat.

She asked Stephanie to help her sit up against the headboard and slowly came to her senses. "Where is Alec?"

Stephanie's expression became a little apprehensive at her question, but she didn't hide anything from her best friend. "He's still in the ICU."

response. She was already lacking in color,

As long as he can make it through these next two days, he'll be fine," Stephanie comforted bitter smile. She didn't know what the ICU now. Initially, the

"What about that driver..."

dead," Stephanie face was gloomy. She didn't think it was seemed to be drunk at the time." Stephanie replied. She didn't know

The most important thing for her was to wait for Alec to wake up. As me get to the ICU. I want to see him," Jenny requested agree with her. She stopped Jenny swiftly. "You just recovered! You can't get out of my body. There's nothing get into the ICU." Stephanie was equally insistent. She felt that Jenny should rest well for

Chapter 1230 Soup for Me

No one was willing to take Jenny to see Alec. As she was still physically very weak, she could only give up.

"Gilbert, can you help me look up that dead driver? I don't think it was just an accident." She didn't believe that things could happen so coincidentally. Even if it really was an accident, she had to look into it herself and dispel any suspicious points.

Gilbert didn't refuse. "Okay, I'll look into it for you. But promise me you'll take care of yourself and not do anything reckless."

"Don't worry, I know." Jenny nodded. With her current condition, she could barely even get out of bed, let alone leave the ward.

Gilbert and Zack stayed in the ward with Jenny for half an hour before leaving the hospital, leaving only Stephanie to take care of her.

In the evening, Graham and Lynette came to visit.

As a result, Graham had to spend more time dealing with company matters. He had taken good care of his family business. Even though he had an accident, the Faustus didn't immediately fall into discomfort anywhere?" Lynette looked at her pale her head. "I'm weak voice, it was hard to believe her words. Lynette turned her head, apparently unable to sit next to her, feeling guilty. 'It's my fault for not protecting you in the situation back then, very upset, so he decided to stay and look after Jenny. He couldn't let you go back and rest. I'll stay here and take care of Jenny. I'm sure nothing will happen with me here," "Steph, you're a good kid. I know you'll take care of my Jenny, but we're her parents.

There was no conclusion as to who should stay. Seeing how each party kept insisting that you go back first. Let