

Be Yours 1291

Chapter 1291 It's Useless

Everyone knew what Zack was up to. No one called him out or said a thing, saving for a slight snort from Gilbert. Still, Janet felt bad about the incident, especially when she saw how Zack was protecting her in front of everyone. But what else could she do for him? Not only was she helpless, but she might also cause more trouble for him. She hated herself for being incompetent.

"I've arrested the man who stabbed you. He's not the main problem, but he's backed by the Britts." As Gilbert spoke, he turned to Jenny. He believed the man's connection to the Britts complicated the situation more than they had expected. The man was the club owner on papers, but he was financially backed by the Britts, hence the impudence. Although Gilbert was doing well in Bardoff City, he was far from being as influential as the Ten Elites. Therefore, he'd need Jenny's help with this.

the one who stabbed me, we should send him to prison." As long as whoever brothers' minds, Jenny held a different opinion." Zack, just focus on your recovery. You don't have to worry about other stuff. I'll take a laugh. She knew Zack was worried about her family. Now that Brandon Britt had once again gotten on her wrong side, it would be a pity not to do something about it. Moreover, the Walters and the Faustus needed to expand their businesses within the confines of Bardoff City's limited economic pie, and to do so, they would need to acquire the businesses of their and Alec reached a pact. They wanted to more in the face of Jenny's determination. He had full trust in her capabilities. "Sure. I'll leave rest. We'll leave now." Then, she dragged Gilbert out of the room without asking for his opinion, offering the young was annoyed. "Why did you drag me out

"Jenny..."

Chapter 1292 How Could He Say It's Worth It?

Jenny could tell that Gilbert was upset. She quickly added, "Gilbert, I know you're doing this in Zack's best interest. But he's an adult now. We can't make decisions for him."

He merely waved his hand. "That's enough. You should leave." Then, he trudged ahead and disappeared from her sight. Perhaps, it was time to have a life of his own instead of focusing all his attention on Jenny and Zack. As the eldest, he always acted like a father, worrying they'd date partners who were unsuitable for them.

She was woeful at the sight of Gilbert leaving. "Was I too harsh to him just now?"

Alec gave her a back hug and said affirmatively, "No. You were right. It's Gilbert who needs to think about it. He puts himself in the role of a father by disciplining you. But in truth, he's not that much older than both of you, and he never had the experience of being a father. He doesn't have more life experience compared to you. You're not at fault. He's the one who has confused his role."

Despite that, Jenny didn't feel better at all and wallowed in a low mood. Seeing that, Alec hurriedly changed the topic. "Jenny, don't you have any pity for me? I haven't had dinner, and I'm starving." His stomach cooperatively rumbled at the same time.

struck her that they had not had dinner before arriving at the hospital. In fact, with me." She looked sheepish. "Let's go and I'll eat you out of house and home, my wife-to-be!" He chuckled and held her harmonious between Zack and Janet you said a word?" He noticed that she had been silent ever since he woke up. She refused to speak, lifted her head and stared at him. "How could you promise that? You weren't even the cause behind this and didn't have to risk yourself to save me. You collected himself. "That won't happen. I'm going Chapter 1293 Join Me, Then?

"Janet..."

Janet shook her head while crying. "No one bullied me." No one dared to bully her with Zack by her side.

He badly wanted to hug his inconsolable lover, but he was unable to move and was forced to watch on helplessly. "Janet, don't cry. I can't even give you a hug right now."

She cried even louder at his remark. novel.xo "Why are you...so foolish?"

"I'm not foolish. If I were a fool, I wouldn't have come across a lovely girl like you," he answered with a chuckle, feeling like the happiest man on earth at that moment.

She felt his love, but the love had become such a suffocating burden for her. She loved him too, but she believed she wasn't a good match for him.

She patted her eyes dry. "Zack, I'm

If I were the one in trouble, I believe you

she felt bad and her parents. It was said that a parent's love for the child was universal, but he didn't feel that Janet's parents had any love for her. Maybe there were indeed parents who had no affection for their children, novel.xo and Janet's parents were an example. Well, his parents have abandoned him and made him could picture the words that her parents would say to him. They would definitely demand money and might even pester him might cause further

Anyway, we're in this together. No matter what happens, we will not good people, and they will probably pester you after you visit them. That's Chapter 1294 How Do You Plan to Deal With Them?

In the following days, Jenny would drop by Zack's room for a quick visit before work. Most of the time, she didn't need to enter to check on him because Janet was right by his side. Her presence would only be an interruption.

Zack was almost fully recovered. It was then he reached out to Jenny to ask her opinion on the best way to deal with Janet's parents. He received news that the Faustus and Walters had worked together to destroy the Brittts, starting with an investigation into the club. The Brittts were deeply corrupted and were in a precarious position after the targeted attacks by the two families.

Since Zack didn't need to worry about the Brittts, his full attention was on Janet's parents, who might pose endless trouble for him if they were not handled well. He never ran from trouble, but he knew the last thing Janet wanted was to see her parents being a source of trouble. At the end of the day, none of them would be happy if her parents weren't taken care of.

After hearing Zack out, Jenny sank into a short silence. Then, she said, "Zack, don't worry about this. I'll bring my men to iron this out."

"How do you plan to deal with them?" he asked.

sell their daughter off, let's pretend that Janet has been sold off to stop them from contacting her." If she brought her men to send Janet's parents a warning, she believed that they wouldn't cause that work? We can't be too hard-handed because they're Janet's

She waved at him dismissively, thinking the task at hand was to marry Janet as feelings. "I'm okay with that. But we'll course she will." He sounded extremely an inkling that Janet, who was currently troubled and stressed out, might not say yes to him right away. Anyway, a call to Melissa Collins. "Bring a few men with you and follow me

we going?" Melissa

Chapter 1295 I Had Sand in My Eyes

While Jenny, Melissa, and their bodyguards were on their way to Janet's parents, Janet had just ended a conversation with them. Her eyes were red and glistening as she panted, clearly just emerging from a fight. How could she not fight with them? They had the audacity to say that they wanted to come to Bardoff City for Zack and that they wanted him to be their meal ticket forever.

At that instance, her only thought was to die and bring her parents along. She wondered why God had to make her suffer. Why was it so tough to stay with a man she loved?

"Janet?" Zack came searching for her when she didn't return to his room for a long time. He was worried after finding her alone in the corridor.

Hearing his voice, she hurriedly wiped away her tears. "Why did you leave the room? I'll be there right away."

He didn't see her crying, but he sensed that something was wrong from her reddened eyes. "Are you okay?"

in my eyes." She smiled as not was

and pulled her into

to tell him that no one could solve the issue and no one bed. He poured her a glass

by embarrassment. "Look at me, making the patient recovered." Zack felt completely fine. If the doctor hadn't forced him to stay for a few more days, he had no idea what was in her mind. His hand was sweating as he held a diamond ring tightly, the one he had requested

you ever thought about your life in the

I'll be like the average woman, living my ordinary but remarkable life with a husband who loves me and to as well. 'Janet, if... if I'd like to build that life with you, will you...' he stammered nervously and found himself at a loss for words. However, he had one knee on the ground

Chapter 1296 She Was Not to Be Trifled With

"I'm sorry, Zack, that was too sudden. I haven't..." Words stumbled out of her mouth, and thoughts jumbled up in her head. She was telling him that she wasn't ready, that it was too sudden, and that she needed to think about it. But her words were stuck in her throat in the next second because he had pulled her into a hug.

She was quiet. Feeling the warmth from his body, she badly wanted to say yes without any care in the world, but...she didn't have the courage to do so. Perhaps, just like Gilbert had said, life for Zack would be easier without her. Zack wouldn't have had to face the hazards of getting involved with her parents.

"It's alright, Janet. I can wait." Zack accepted her explanation of the proposal being too sudden. After all, he had indeed acted impulsively. He had been thinking about marriage, but the early proposal was outside his original plan. He understood her panic and her refusal to say yes. Instead of feeling angry, he was upset at himself for rushing the proposal. It wasn't the right time.

Janet gave him a nod in a daze. He didn't press further, much to her relief. Anyway, she didn't have to worry about giving him an answer at the moment.

town was unaffiliated with Bardoff City, people there were rich because they were close to the city. Therefore, it shocked Jenny that Janet's parents would even think way to Janet's family home, where laughter could be heard from within. None of Janet's gave her a thumbs up. "Roger that. Don't worry. I won't disappoint you. I'm a professional when it comes to herself away. No one knew if Janet's parents had looked into Zack's background. If they did, they'd recognize her as well. That would foil her plan, which was on the door of Janet's parents' home. The family was faring quite well for owning door. Melissa recognized her as Janet's mom from frowned at the sight of a female stranger. Melissa, donning a pair of sunglasses with a few huge guys with her,

Chapter 1297 We Have Not Done You Any Wrong

"What are you doing? Let go of my son!" Janet's mom was jumping in panic when she saw her son assaulted.

But Melissa had no intention of stopping. She had heard from Jenny about the wrongdoings of this family. They had pawned their daughter to get money for dowry to be used in their son's marriage. "How wicked does one have to be to do that?" she wondered. She decided to give them a lesson and scare the hell out of them to prevent them from giving Janet more trouble.

"The life of your son is in my hands. I'd advise you to behave." With a smirk, Melissa waved at the bodyguard, who stepped harder on the arm of Janet's brother. The sound of bones snapping echoed in the house. Now, even Janet's dad was panicking, but he didn't do anything rash, knowing they could not afford to get on the wrong side of these thugs.

"This lady, who...who exactly are you? We have not done you any wrong. Why would you hurt my son?" He tried to calm down and sounded as polite as possible.

his amicable attitude, Melissa finally declared, "We're here today because your daughter doesn't know better. She has been sold to my boss, but she keeps thinking of running away. This must be the fault of her parents for not raising her well. Don't you think the trouble had something to do with Janet, the old couple hurriedly waved with Janet Hale now. We've given her up to you, so she belongs to you now. If she tries to run away again, just give her a good beating. Over time, she won't think of escaping anymore," Janet's mom with her, waiting for her to escape so that you can sell her to someone else! Is that how you make money?" Melissa chuckled icily. She didn't trust their words mom shook her head. "No, she's now the woman of my your boss. Be it dead or alive, she has nothing to do with our family. We won't true?"

mom swore, "Don't worry. I will never look for her." Prior to this, she had thought of looking for Janet, but knowing how threatening

Chapter 1298 She Was Wrong About Him

Too bad Melissa wasn't going easy on him. She instructed the bodyguard, "Break the other arm to teach him a lesson. That'll remind him of today whenever he wants to look for Janet Hale."

"No! Ah-" The painful scream reverberated in the air. Janet's brother passed out from the pain, and his parents were as pale as ghosts. Melissa looked on in satisfaction-she had achieved what she wanted.

"Don't you ever accuse us of being ruthless. Here's some cash for his medical bills. Send him to the hospital. I won't be responsible if he dies!" Then, she threw a wad of hundred-dollar bills on the floor. She was uninterested in taking care of the fallout.

After that, she entered her car in a good mood. Jenny glanced at her and asked, "Have you taken care of them?"

"Nothing to worry about. No problem at all." Melissa gestured an OK to her. "I guarantee they'd never give Janet Hale trouble anymore."

you for going through the trouble," Jenny said to Melissa, you're my boss. It's my job to work the smile without another word. She asked Melissa to start the car.

home from work at the same time. He was in the dark alright." She looked a immediately saw through her and voiced his

When she was done, he gave her a small task on my own." She believed it Alec was confident in her capabilities, but he was concerned about her safety. "Bring a few more men along the

Chapter 1299 He Won't Get Involved in My Life

Alec's gaze was scorching. Jenny found herself unable to look away after they locked eyes. There was a change in the air-it was filled with chemistry and passion. Before she could make sense of it, she felt him kissing her on the lips. It was a light peck, but he lingered for a little longer.

Her phone rang at the wrong time. Alec almost wanted to tear the caller into pieces. Pulled back to reality, she pushed him away embarrassedly. 'Til take the call."

He was moody and silent. She could tell he was pissed, but she had to take the call. After she gathered herself, she checked her phone and saw that it was Zack, so she picked up without hesitation.

"Jenny! Janet is missing!" He sounded anxious over the phone. She was caught by surprise. She had just resolved Janet's family trouble. Why did Janet go missing right after?

up her coat, and prepared to leave. Alec followed along irritably. He couldn't stay out of it because Zack was Jenny's family. "I'll go alone. You should rest."

her, he was already in the driver's seat. "Stop nagging. Let's go and take a look." She said no more, and the hospital room, Zack was staring blankly at a letter in his hand. He never expected to wake up to Janet's absence and the letter she left by his pillow. She

Zack. Why would she think so? She was found Zack spacing out by the edge of his bed. Perhaps, he was too shocked to come up with a response. He didn't even look for Janet and opted to call happened?" she asked. He handed her the letter, which she skimmed through speechlessly. "Did you not tell her I will settle her had taken his words seriously, but she

Chapter 1300 Come here, don't be silly

They found her soon, albeit in a bad place.

When Jenny received the call, she immediately rushed over with Zack, praying that nothing would happen to Janet. She dared not imagine how Zack would be if something had happened to her.

Ten minutes later, the car pulled up in front of a tall building. Many had gathered downstairs, and the firefighters were laying out an air cushion. It was obvious what was happening.

When Jenny told Zack that Janet had been located, he was relieved. At the moment, however, he was desperately climbing the stairs.

"Janet!" he yelled.

Seeing him running toward the stairs like a madman, she dragged him into the elevator in time. God knew how long it would take for him to climb the stairs.

'Zack, calm down. How can you persuade Janet to calm down if you're not calm?" She was afraid that Zack might end up pushing Janet off the edge if he wasn't calm.

elevator doors opened, revealing the sky roof where firefighters were trying to filled with nothing but despair. In her opinion, she never should have been born. Death would return her herself, her to her. "Don't be silly. There's nothing experiencing. Refusing to hear her apologize, Zack was about no choice but to stop, trying to figure out a way to convince Janet not to forward and said, "I've already taken care Janet looked at Jenny, doubting her tell you the did Jenny know that Janet could wait to jump, no one would be able of hope in Janet. However, she knew what her parents were like, and she was unconvinced that you convince them to I do that? I prefer to be more violent. It's futile to try to convince people like them. You have to scare them to let them know you're not easy