

Be Yours 451

Chapter 451 Am I Going to Raise You?

He secretly blamed Yvonne, too. If it weren't for her influence, he wouldn't have sold his shares, and if it weren't for her insistence on starting a business, the money wouldn't have all been gone. They wouldn't have had to move to a place like this.

Yvonne could hear the blame in his words, and she instantly scowled. "What? Are you blaming me?"

"No" Sam walked to the sofa and sat down. He suddenly realized that Yvonne wasn't as great as he had imagined. But he still loved her, so he didn't say it out loud. He was only venting.

"Look at you. You're useless." Yvonne didn't hold back. She was upset with him for a long time. "Why don't you get a job and earn some money? Am I going to raise you?" Yvonne roared. She regretted marrying him.

Sam was feeling angry, too. "Me, working a job? Never."

"Are you planning to rot away like this for the rest of your life? Waiting for me to work?" Yvonne's tone was heavy.

his shares were sold, his father's were not. He could go back to the Bloom Mansion and how quiet he was. "Are you even going to!" Sam insisted thought there was no use in persisting suggestion. In divorce early on, didn't you?" Yvonne thought Sam would apologize

it. "You're the one who wanted it, not wanted to divorce her early on, but he

to do it instead. Then,

He was trash!

him if she had known that this would

Chapter 452 I Just Don't Like You That Much

"I'm not hungry," Jenny refused. She was feeling tired and wasn't in the mood to eat with Alec.

His face shifted slightly after being rejected. He was a little embarrassed. "You can't upset your stomach. You need to eat something, at least."

In his eyes, Jenny wasn't hungry She just didn't want to eat with him, which made him sad. Thankfully, he had thick skin. Otherwise, he would have turned and left.

"Are you less busy nowadays?" Jenny asked.

Alec nodded. "Almost everything is settled."

Jenny's phone rang; it was Jade. Jenny was a little surprised. She accepted the call, and Jade immediately asked, "Are you free tonight, Jenny?"

ignored Alec's presence. It wasn't as if he was here on serious Jenny's situation. She said at once, "There's a brilliant person applying for a job at the company. I'd like you to look him over. And if you think he's alright, I'd would be more things piling up in the future, and she couldn't handle it alone.

company and involve other industries, it talked about hiring people, but they didn't have high hopes for it. After all, finding a good manager would not be an easy task.

Jenny agreed. She wanted to see for herself the person that had gotten Jade all excited. She hung up and looked at Alec. "Sorry. I'm and felt an ache in his cab, but didn't refuse him this time. She had already rejected him once. If few alumni talking about the celebration. Everyone was curious to see who

Chapter 453 He's Called Faust, Too

His question was giving Jenny a headache. She didn't answer him outright, merely asking, "Would you give up even if I said no?"

Alec shook his head at once. "I'd never give up, even if you don't give me a chance."

Jenny laughed. "So why are you asking this question?" He was going to persist anyway. He needn't ask if there was to be a conclusion.

Alec understood, but he still felt uncertain. He said nothing more and drove on. Soon, the car stopped at La Vie Jen Rose Designs.

Jenny didn't linger for long. "Thank you," she said.

"No problem. Call me if you need anything." he said like always, despite knowing that Jenny wouldn't call if something happened.

Jenny waved at him, then went into the building. Alec watched her leave before driving away unwillingly.

surprised. "Didn't you say I was to meet someone? Where are the company. They'll be back soon. Have a seat." Jade motioned for her to

"What's making you put him in with us. He's too good for this company." Jade wasn't exaggerating. She truly felt that he had eyebrow. She was curious now. "Really?

handsome, too," Jade not just hiring him just because eyes at Jenny. "Would I do thought for a while and nodded. "You could be a cougar at your age. It's hand, but Jenny didn't flinch. She knew that Jade would not actually punch her, and as expected, quit it. I'm not that type of person," Jade said, like this that she and two people walked in. One

Chapter 454 Could He Be an Illegitimate Child?

"Jenny?" Jade called out her name when she realized that Jenny wasn't responding. Could she be infatuated already?

Jenny came back to her senses awkwardly. "Sorry. My mind drifted off."

Alfred smiled, not taking it to heart.

The assistant had gone, leaving the three of them in the office.

Jade got Alfred to sit before briefly telling Jenny of his credentials. Once Jade was done, Jenny had to note how brilliant he was. No wonder he got Jade so excited.

"I'm curious to know, Mr. Faust. Based on your resume, you could have chosen a much better company.
Why did you choose La Vie Jen Rose Designs?" He had to know it was a startup company, miles away from other commercial companies.

Alfred wasn't surprised at the question. He smiled, saying, "I understand your concerns, Miss Jenny. But I think that talented people will be overshadowed in big companies. On the contrary, companies like yours, which have not matured yet, are able to showcase my talents."

Jenny nodded, believing him for now. "I don't have any questions for you. You're brilliant. Your application is a his smile on as if nothing would excite him. "Well, in that case...I'm looking forward to got up, and they shook was happy. "Let's have dinner together. We'll It'll be my treat."

booked a spot in the restaurant. She looked Jenny nodded and looked at to draw closer to them, and We can drop the formalities after work," she if he was waiting for this.

Jade's car while help asking, "Well? He's handsome, isn't mean? I was just tired Jenny was exasperated Alfred was indeed handsome, but it wasn't as if Chapter 455 Do You Think I'm Annoying?

The more Jenny thought about it, the more creeped out she felt. If Alfred was Mortimer's illegitimate son, could it just be a coincidence that he wanted to work at La Vie Jen Rose Designs?

She couldn't be blamed for overthinking. There were too many coincidences. It was weird, no matter how one looked at it.

"If I'd known earlier, I wouldn't have hurried the agreement." Jade was flustered. She had probably thought of his motives, too. If he was truly Mortimer's illegitimate son, working at La Vie Jen Rose Designs was a suspicious act.

Jenny sighed. The agreement was already signed, so they couldn't go back on their word now. They couldn't just lose out on money like that.

"It's alright. We'll just observe if he has any ulterior motives. Keep an eye on him," Jenny instructed. They would handle anything thrown at them. She believed that they would catch him. one day. Then, she added, "But don't make it too obvious. What if we're wrong? We'd just upset him."

"I know." Jade nodded. However, her attitude toward Alfred was no longer as warm.

Alfred was on the phone in his car. "Don't worry. Since when have I failed at anything?" he said to the person on the other end. "My identity? So what if they find out? I'm not some criminal. They can't fire me just because I am your son." He didn't think that Jenny was someone like that.

with Mortimer for a bit, then hung up. He'd come to

after, the cars stopped, and they walked treated Alfred nicely, albeit on their the conversation amicably with Jade and Jenny about the company. Jenny had to admit that Alfred was experienced in that department. All that he said was what Jenny was thinking about. She grew to

had no ulterior herself. What if this was the decision in her heart. Alfred's smiles accompanied them throughout the Jade sent Jenny home. After giving Jade a few simple instructions, Jenny said nothing more, and she got the door to her apartment, she saw that was debating seeing Alec, he walked out." Have you eaten?" he stunned and had to come back to her senses. "Yes.

Alec was disappointed.

Chapter 456 As Long as You Like It

He had said it very sincerely. Jenny had to admit that she was moved. She remembered all the good things he had done for her. She wouldn't forget them just because of a few lies.

"You should eat. It's late." Jenny didn't want to continue the topic.

Alec didn't move. He looked at Jenny pitifully and said, "I thought you would be home early, so I made food for two."

"What?" Now Jenny was really surprised.

"Yeah." Alec nodded. He was serious.

Jenny didn't know whether to laugh or cry. She didn't know what to say. It was unlike him.

made it, I'll have some of it." She wasn't hungry but didn't want to waste his good intentions. Besides, she couldn't watch him starve. She'd him into the house and realized the entire home had been refurbished. It was no longer pitch black like before; it was now saw her looking around and said meekly, "You agreed to help me with the makeover before.

have to finish his sentence. They broke up, and the matter was left hanging in the air. Alec had no choice than what I could have done. " His home at her words. ' As long as you my home. Why would I have to like it?" she thought, but if she were to say that the dining table, and they were all Jenny's favorites. At once, warmth spread through her heart. She had no idea what to do with him. She had already made up her mind to cut off all ties with him, but now, the ache

oblivious to her

at the food on the table. "What if I

you come back?

matter of time," Alec

Chapter 457 I Don't Care

Jenny didn't quite have an appetite for Alec's food. She wanted to speak, but she wasn't sure how. Then, she thought of Alfred. She asked cautiously, "Your father had been gone for so many years. Do you think that there's a possibility of him having another child?"

Alfred was not that much younger than Alec. Jenny suspected that if he really was Mortimer's child, that would mean that Mortimer and Max's mother was already entangled with each other before eloping. Maybe they eloped because they found out about the child. But, of course, it was all just speculation.

Alec's hands paused. He wasn't expecting that kind of question. "Why are you asking?"

"Nothing much. I was just wondering." She smiled, trying not to look suspicious.

With Alec's state of mind right now, she didn't dare to let Alec know of Alfred's existence. Otherwise, he'd be agitated.

while. "It doesn't matter if he does. I don't care.

was just terribly afraid of losing her. He wished she could in his heart would dissipate surprised. She

care about anything

Jenny paused, saying nothing.

an acquaintance currently abroad. He specialized in psychology. She met him when she was studying abroad, and once she learned him about Alec's condition. She couldn't help feeling worried. "This is abnormal, isn't it?" She was asking losing his mother, which is why he is so afraid of

Chapter 458 Alfred's Identity

Jenny went to the venue bright and early on the day she had her free clinic appointment. There were mountains of people swarming in. She had to admire how clever the chairman was. Due to the plane incident, there were tons of people coming. They just had to know how many people were actually there for treatments.

Jenny didn't care about it since there was a triage before her. The people who got to her would definitely be people in need. She spent the entire day working.

Alec wasn't far off. His gaze rested on Jenny always, not leaving for even a moment.

Vincent sat in the driver's seat. He, too, felt that his president was paying a little too much attention to Jenny. "Mr. Faust, Miss Walter is safe," he said. "You don't have to guard her every moment."

"How would you know? What if she gets in danger?" Alec said, his gaze still on Jenny.

daylight. How could only pressure her, Mr. Faust." Vincent couldn't help saying gaze

it for her own good, but no one would face shifted. Could no one really stand it? He thought of what Jenny had said yesterday. He had to admit that asked weakly. Alec had suddenly ordered him to find a therapist before, and Vincent was happy when it happened. He thought that Alec was finally thinking things through. But now it seemed that Dr. Hugh wasn't doing anything. Alec's mental problems had not lessened. In fact, they seemed to nodded. "I go every day, comforted Alec, saying, "Maybe it's just a phase. Illnesses get worse before they can that. Illness? How could he say that Alec had an irritated. "Hopefully so." He was hoping that it was a sign of getting better, too. He didn't want Chapter 459 Do You Understand Your Mission?

"Mr. Faust, I also discovered that Alfred has joined Miss Walter's company, " Vincent reported truthfully. He thought that it was odd and deserved Alec's attention.

At once, Alec's face darkened. It was no wonder that Jenny would ask him that question. She must have seen Alfred and noticed their similarities.

"Should we tell her? I worry that Alfred has bad intentions," Vincent said.

Alec nodded. 'Til tell her about it. Let's go to work."

Vincent said nothing else, driving the car toward Faust Group.

Meanwhile, in Bardoff City, Rowena Glass looked at the woman before her coldly. "Do you understand your mission?"

she would realize that this was the same woman who beat her up Rowena said. She wouldn't let Jenny return to the nothing and left the study room. She thought that Jenny was interesting, but her sickly grandfather on the bed with teary eyes. "You'll

I'm not

I know of a very talented neurosurgeon. We could give her a try." Her grandfather didn't care about doctors. He only cared about his

I'll get her to come to Bardoff City to perform

of the house, taking the

Even though her grandfather was duties, returned home. Just like yesterday, Alec's door was ajar. She guessed that he had food suddenly seems like a stay-at-home husband," she thought and nearly

Chapter 460 It's Best to Fire Him

They ate at the dining table.

Jenny had to admit that Alec's cooking skills were improving. This meal tasted like one in a five-star restaurant.

"Is Alfred working in your company?" Alec suddenly asked.

Jenny was stunned. She looked at him in disbelief. "Do you know him?"

Alec nodded and told her about the investigation. "You mentioned him last night, so I told Vincent to do some digging. I didn't think that an illegitimate child would actually exist."

Jenny smiled awkwardly, not knowing what to say. She was only suspicious before, but now it was confirmed. "Why is he working at my company if he's your father's son?" she asked. It couldn't just be a coincidence.

Alec looked at her, evidently deep in thought. "I think he has ulterior motives. It's best to fire him." He would never be at ease with someone like Alfred by Jenny's side.

signed a contract with him. If I fire him now, I'll have to compensate him." Jenny smiled bitterly. She blamed herself for thought it was hilarious. "I'll pride." Alfred was the one with the ulterior motive.

are you going to do? Are you going to let him work at your company?" Alec was upset, but he on his resume, he's a genius. As long as he doesn't sabotage the company, I could care if...what if his goal has nothing to do with the company thought about it and said nonchalantly, "That's even less of an issue.

What if Alfred didn't mean to beat her but had didn't say much, however. "You can make the decisions. You can call me him for no reason. Who knew what Alfred would an eye on him. He would not be given a chance to hurt

Jenny suddenly called