

Be Yours 481

Chapter 481 I Won't Kill You

Jenny nodded, but she had no intention of making a move. It left the woman confused and unsure of what she was trying to do.

The woman got into an attacking stance, but in the next second, she was stunned in place, unable to react.

"You..."

The woman looked at Jenny, feeling speechless.

Jenny shrugged nonchalantly and smiled at her.

"I never said I was going to fight you myself."

Right then, the woman found herself surrounded.

Even if she wanted to, she stood little chance of escaping, let alone winning against Jenny.

"Aren't you being shameless? You don't have a shred of honor."

She was irate and finally realized why Jenny was stalling. It turned out she had backup.

To Jenny, however, it had nothing to do with honor.

Since returning from Bardoff City, these people had followed her around, acting as her bodyguards. She didn't want to risk her life.

Fortunately, she had made the right decision.

"It doesn't matter if it's honorable or not as long as one can win," Jenny replied with a smile, not feeling guilty at all.

Gritting her teeth in frustration, the woman could do nothing but prepare to break through.

"Don't think you can beat me just because you have more people. I'm not that easy to deal with."

Jenny didn't say anything but kept her gaze on the woman. She didn't believe that the woman would be able to escape with so many people surrounding her.

"Is that so? Then how about my men join in too?"

Alec's figure emerged from the darkness.

The woman was astounded, as was Jenny.

"Didn't you say you were going to the company?"

Jenny was puzzled and didn't understand why Alec was there.

"My men noticed someone following you these past few days, so I pretended to leave to create an opportunity for your stalker. I didn't expect that you were also prepared."

Indeed, he had no idea that Jenny had prepared herself for such a circumstance. But even if he'd known, he would've still shown up because he was worried.

Alec's gesture warmed Jenny's heart, but she didn't express her feelings to him then.

Instead, she looked at the woman and said, "Surrender now. You can't escape."

"Heh! How would you know before I've even tried?"

The woman sneered and charged toward Jenny.

Alec pulled Jenny behind him and signaled with his eyes.

The people he brought with him rushed toward the woman in an instant.

About a dozen people besieged the woman, and she couldn't get to Jenny at all.

Of course, she wasn't planning on killing Jenny at that moment; she was finding a way to escape. She was indeed very skillful.

Under her ruthless and desperate attacks, the people Jenny brought couldn't hold their own against her.

Fortunately, Alec brought quite a few men.
Under the combined effort of their men, they finally caught the woman.

Chapter 482 Could She Have Failed?

The woman said nothing, but Alec paid no attention to her.

Looking at his men, he instructed, "Take her to the dungeon and interrogate her well. Pry out everything she knows."

He wasn't as kind as Jenny toward someone who wanted to take his life.

Naturally, he had to deal with them accordingly.

The woman was taken away, and Alec stood in place for a long time, his heart a little heavy.

As Jenny got closer to uncovering the truth, the danger around her also increased.

Alec wasn't sure how long he could protect her.

If she returned to the Walters, would he still be of help? To be more exact, would he even qualify to help? It seemed to him now that he was still too weak.

A few days later, after Natalia returned from Bardoff City, she immediately came to look for Jenny.

"Dr. Walter, I have contacted both Parrington Hospital and Bardoff Hospital. The two hospitals are now cooperative, and you can perform the surgery at Bardoff Hospital."

"Good. You're quite efficient."

Jenny couldn't help but acknowledge that though the Cruzes were only a secondclass family in Bardoff City, their influence could not be underestimated.

Walters, one of the Ten didn't have a solid plan as to how to deal life is at stake, so of course I have to get everything arranged as soon as possible," Natalia said frankly. She had indeed asked many people for help didn't say anything to will you go with me to Bardoff City to perform my

"Tomorrow," Jenny replied.

"Huh?"

Natalia was surprised.

"So soon?"

she came over, she'd expected that Jenny would agree to go

Jenny was willing to perform the surgery within that time frame, she

it would

So do you prefer

and thinking that her head

didn't expect it to be so soon. I thought you would go in condition isn't optimistic. Since you've decided to have surgery, we should do it as soon as possible. The longer you arrange for

Jenny replied and didn't in her chair and thought about how to get to wasn't in a hurry to return to her family. She just wanted to from the previous night—Alec had just told Jenny found out, nor did

Chapter 483 You Were Too Weak

Graham had startled Rowena, speaking to her out of the blue.

"I- It's nothing," she stammered.

"Is that so?"

Graham obviously didn't believe her.

Over the years, he had come to know the woman quite well. She wouldn't be so nervous if there was nothing going on.

Right then, Rowena regained her composure and snapped back, "What does it have anything to do with you? Have you suddenly started to care about me?"

"Care about her?"

Graham thought with a grimace, disgusted. He averted his gaze and stopped looking at her.

Rowena's heart ached, but she put on a cold front and continued, "Since you don't care about me, don't ask about my affairs."

"Did you think I was keen to ask? I'm just afraid you're doing something behind my back that I wouldn't approve of," Graham retorted.

move against Jenny, but she didn't dare harrumph coldly and ignore him in her parents were about to you two go a day without how these two people, who were who insists on and asked, "What have you been up to lately? Are and didn't want his daughter to associate my friends. How can Jolene was unhappy. didn't like her friends, he he decided to make his disapproval known looked at her from those people. You're a daughter of the Walters. I'm very disappointed to see you willingly degrade yourself first time Graham had ever spoken to her in such a way, and she didn't know you let her do as she pleases as long as she's happy? Why do up, defending to see her daughter being

Chapter 484 I'm the Winner

Rowena was a bit scared of the repercussions after saying those words. However, she wasn't willing to show any weakness in front of Graham.

"You're right. It was indeed my incompetence," Graham responded slowly after a moment. Then, he got up and left the dining room.

As he walked away, Rowena felt no satisfaction from expressing herself. On the contrary, their argument made her feel even more upset.

"Why didn't he get angry? He should have screamed at me. How could he pretend to take it so calmly?" she thought.

Jolene finally came to her senses. She turned to look at her mother. "Mom, what did you mean by what you just said? Did Dad like someone else?"

rest of the Walters consent to their relationship? He was lucky enough Bardoff City. The Walters made a big fuss about Graham's past affairs, and many people knew about it. Everyone was waiting to see the Walters suffer from embarrassment. If Rowena hadn't agreed slightly disconcerted. She could somewhat understand why her mother was always be angry. You're the ultimate winner,*' Jolene comforted nodded. "You're right. I'm the she did, Rowena wasn't afraid of her at all. Once she this moment, he was sitting in his office wouldn't need to suffer so much if not for that. Although he had tried his best to provide her the best of ago. If she was still alive, why didn't with everything since she might have to visit Bardoff City often in the future. Mainly,

Chapter 485 Worry About Yourself

They didn't believe her, but Jenny didn't mind it and said nothing. It wasn't wise to make grand promises right away, for anything could happen, and unexpected circumstances could arise.

"Is everything okay on your end?" Jenny looked at the people who had spoken up just now and then turned to Natalia. The surgery required the approval of all members of the Cruz family; otherwise, there would be trouble later.

Natalia nodded, "Don't worry, I'll take care of them."

She didn't care about those people; she had already convinced her parents, and her grandfather agreed that the surgery was necessary.

"Okay? Jenny nodded and said, "Tomorrow, besides me being the surgeon, we will also need doctors from other departments to cooperate. So, arrangements with the hospital..."

to worry about it. I'll take care of giving brief instructions about what to do, Jenny left the hospital but didn't go back to her hotel. Instead, she drove to where the Walter Inc building was in the city center, and Walter Castle was easy to locate. Jenny only took a look at the entrance and didn't thought it was risky to do anything now since she'd given Natalia her word. If something went wrong and she couldn't perform the surgery for Natalia's grandfather, felt he had no right to go and knew Jenny went there to perform surgery. Paul sat across from him and saw the worry on his face, finding Jenny comes from an impressive background. Aren't you afraid she won't return after she goes to Bardoff City?" It wasn't that he was teasing Alec intentionally, but the possibility a sip of his drink and looked up at him, feeling somewhat helpless. "She has found her family, so I should really happy?" Paul sneered. He couldn't see even any joy right then. He took another sip of his drink and looked at Paul. "You seem to be quite happy

Chapter 486 If You Fail...

Two days later, the surgery for Larry Cruz, the head of the Cruz family, officially commenced. In the past two days, Jenny had prepared the surgical plan and had several exchanges with the doctors at Bardoff Hospital. Only after everyone was familiar with the plan did they decide to begin the surgery.

Early in the morning, Larry was wheeled into the operating room. Jenny changed into her surgical gown and headed toward the operating room as well. When she reached the entrance, Natalia looked at her with reddened eyes and said, "Dr. Walter, my grandpa is in your hands.'

Jenny nodded without saying much.

"If..." Natalia started to say something but hesitated. Then, she took a deep breath and said, "If ...if you fail, I won't blame you for anything. I know you've tried your best."

It took a lot of courage for her to say those words. She wanted Jenny to do her best without any worries, so she made up her mind to get it off her chest so that Jenny could carry out the surgery without worries.

anything. She walked into the operating room. The 'In Surgery' sign lit up, and many Cruz family members waited at the door. They didn't believe in Jenny's ability but didn't want her to fail either—it was an extremely someone next to him respectfully, "Director, aren't those people the Cruzes? Wasn't it said that Mr. Cruz didn't need surgery? Why are they that Miss Natalia Cruz brought a doctor from out of town, and it's that doctor performing the surgery on Mr. Cruz today." The director for surgery. How dare a doctor from out of town perform surgery on the old man instead?

like the doctor, but since the Cruzes insisted, there was nothing he could do. He just hoped that if the surgery failed, they whole of Clusia, which doctor could be better than the doctors at Bardoff Hospital? He didn't leave in a hurry but wanted to see the outcome of the surgery and how the doctor would invoke the wrath of hope,

It wasn't only the Cruzes, but some doctors from the hospital also wanted to know the result because out and looked at the Cruzes. "The patient,

"How is my grandfather?"

Chapter 487 Don't Think Too Much

Natalia stared blankly into space for a while before suddenly bursting into tears. Everyone was confused. "Wasn't the surgery successful? Why is she crying?" they all wondered.

But soon, Natalia started laughing. "I knew Dr. Walter would succeed! I just knew it!"

She was extremely glad for her decision and for insisting on trusting Jenny. Otherwise, things wouldn't have turned out so well.

"Miss, my grandfather..."

"He's been taken to the intensive care unit. We'll have to wait and see how he recovers in the coming days." The postoperative period was the most dangerous time, and no one could be sure that complications wouldn't arise.

Natalia nodded and thanked the nurse. While everyone went to the ICU to see her grandfather, she stayed behind. Soon, Jenny came out of the operating room, and Natalia approached her.

a little surprised seeing her there. "Didn't the nurse been transferred to the ICU. Why aren't you making your way there to looked at Jenny sincerely. "I just wanted to thank how surprised you are, I kind of suspect you embarrassed and couldn't admit that she why did you approach me in the first place?" Jenny asked, just wanted to convince myself that I tried my best. too much." Jenny patted her shoulder and smiled at so much. In terms of appearance, she didn't think she was any worse than Jenny.

Jenny was simply Jenny-unique thanked her again and then hurried off to see Larry without dawdling on their conversation. After she left, Jenny prepared to leave the hospital. She was quite tired from the steps, someone quickly caught up

Chapter 488 Do You Feel Better?

Jenny was oblivious to what was on Derrick's mind; she would probably be speechless if she did.

The two of them walked to the hospital entrance. When Jenny realized Derrick intended to continue following her, she became annoyed and said, "Is there anything else? I'm a bit tired and want to go back and rest. You should go back to your work too."

She thought she'd made herself very clear.

"I don't have anything much going on at the moment. Since we're fellow alumni, I should treat you to a meal while you're in Bardoff City," Derrick said with a smile, not realizing how slimy he appeared.

Jenny felt repulsed by his behavior but restrained herself from losing her temper. "That's not necessary. Thanks for the offer, Derrick."

"It's nothing, really,' he said, seemingly oblivious to her irritation. He stood in her way, showing no intention of letting her leave.

she chanted to herself inwardly. She had to another day," Jenny replied dismissively. "I'm a taxi on the leave, Derrick felt a bit upset. Let alone Parrington, plenty of women chased after him in Bardoff Hospital, and no one would treat him with such disrespect. But then, since Jenny didn't reject him outrightly, Derrick felt much better. He had always believed that he was excellent, so how could anyone not like she'd known, she would have wanted to crack it open and see what rubbish in bed, feeling much of the tiredness dissipate from her body. She couldn't help but think about what she had to do extremely curious about what had happened in the past and whether her mother was still alive. If she didn't figure those things out, she felt like she would be bothered by them for

phone rang-it the surgery successful?" Alec asked a success, but whether Larry Cruz will his eyes, Jenny was

Chapter 489 Not That Petty

Jenny's words made Alec reflect deeply on his recent condition. Even he felt something was not quite right as he got no relief after psychotherapy. On the contrary, the fear of losing something became even more pronounced. Hearing what Jenny said, Alec realized that maybe the psychiatrist he was seeing was not good enough.

"Didn't you say you know a psychiatrist?' Alec asked. He decided to accept Jenny's arrangement, hoping to achieve an improvement. He thought he was fine the way he was since Jenny was his everything anyway. However, if she wanted him to return to normal, there wasn't anything bad about that either. He believed that no matter his condition, his love for Jenny would not decrease by any margin.

Jenny, of course, didn't refuse Alec's request since he took the initiative to ask her. Compared to the psychiatrist Alec found himself, she trusted the one recommended by her senior more. She immediately sent the contact information to Alec, urging him to contact the psychiatrist as soon as possible.

After sending the contact information, she comforted Alec, worried he might overthink things. "I have no other intentions. Don't think too much. I'm just worried about you."

Over the phone, Alec heard how cautious she was with her words and smiled helplessly. "I know. I'm not that petty.'

longer. Alec reluctantly hung up woken up. Jenny was surprised that he had recovered so quickly. She immediately got changed and headed to the hospital. She had to see Larry in person

After informing the Cruzes about his optimistic condition, they all to lunch. They are very grateful to you,' Natalia declined, "There's no need. This is what had helped them and said, "Don't feel like you owe this to me. You

she came from you don't care about money, Dr. Walter." Although Natalia didn't spend much time with Jenny, she was sure of it. If

Chapter 490 Take the Hint

She thought she had made herself very clear the previous day. Derrick was smart, so there was no way he couldn't take the hint. To Jenny's surprise, he was totally oblivious and approached her again.

"Jenny, we graduated from the same university. There's no need to push me away like this, right?" Derrick desperately tried to establish a closer connection with her.

However, it was obviously not very successful, as Jenny was repulsed by his words. "Although we are fellow alumni, that doesn't mean we're close. I thought my attitude toward you had made things very clear, but now it seems you didn't understand what I meant. Well then, let me make it crystal clear now."

Jenny looked at him with a cold expression.

"I'm not interested in you, Derrick, whether as friends or in any other kind of relationship. So, can you please step aside?"

say such harsh words, but Derrick just didn't get it. If she didn't make it clear, he meal out of kindness. Not only did you not appreciate my good intentions, but you also did it with such a repulsive attitude. I really don't understand how someone people passing

Derrick and felt that he was wearisome. "Is that all?"

she mean to teach him a lesson. Jenny didn't mind the things he said during his outburst; she wasn't so petty. With that, she left the hospital, leaving Derrick standing awkwardly at interested in him, but today he was proven wrong publicly. He could guess what those people thought of him right then. He'd been given lots of recognition and praise since he was young; he couldn't swallow such a humiliating rejection. He snorted coldly and left the hospital, determined to find a way to teach any way. You don't hold a candle to me in Clusia!" Derrick thought furiously. He had a lot of thoughts in his mind and was determined to

She sat in a cafe on the eighteenth floor of the mall with a perfect view of the Walter card? Did you have a