

Be Yours 541

Chapter 541 I'm Done For

Jenny was sent flying and landing hard on the ground from a kick. She slumped onto the ground and struggled to get up. The man was serious about taking her life from how mercilessly he attacked her. She was filled with despair when she realized that she was too weak for him. At the same time, she was riddled with regret. In the past, she had always thought she was skilled in martial arts. When she finally stepped into the real world, the huge number of martial arts talents opened her eyes to her inadequacy.

The man stood in front of her in no time. She knelt on the ground as she winced from the pain in her stomach-it was so bad that she could not stand up.

"How much did they pay you? I'll double that amount," she offered, holding on to the last sliver of hope even though her words might not work on him.

Just as she had expected, the man was unaffected by her words. He took out a dagger and lurched at her. Fully prepared, she stumbled backward to dodge his attack, but that didn't stop him. Instead, he doubled down. Soon, her back was filled with injuries from the cuts of the dagger.

She knew that she might die if she didn't escape. She had given up on the phone call, as she did not know who she had called or whether she had even made the call. Unfortunately, she was no match for ground, and raised the dagger in his hand. She closed her eyes indignantly as decisively toward her neck, someone showed up her covered in blood. His face was the last thing she saw before she of the Glass family. When he was pouring over the documents, he felt a pang of pain in his heart as if he was stabbed. He frowned in confusion as worries arose. He had a bad hunch but could not predict what the only person who she never picked up. On his second attempt, he found that her phone was office at that moment. "Mr. Faust, the meeting will

Chapter 542 The Worst Injury She's Ever Sustained

Alec stared at Vincent. The company was not his priority at the moment when he badly wanted to look for Jenny. However, he knew that the gap between him and Jenny would only widen if Faust Group collapsed, and he might even lose the opportunity to get to her. After some consideration, he sighed and relented. "Send someone to locate her right away."

"Sure. Don't worry. I'll send someone to look into that." Vincent nodded in relief, feeling thankful that the CEO had not lost his mind.

After Alec went for the meeting, Vincent arranged for someone to look into Jenny's whereabouts. At that time, none of them knew that Jenny had been hospitalized.

The sky was dark when Jenny regained consciousness. She stared at the ceiling for a long time before she recalled the events before she fainted. Smiling wryly, she thought this was the worst injury she had ever sustained and perhaps served as a good lesson. Bardoff City was no Parrington-she had to be extra careful with each step she took. She considered getting two bodyguards for herself, or she might perish the next time she encountered a similar crisis.

and realized it was out of battery.

up!" He looked cast a grateful look at him. "James, I have to thank you today. I might have died if you hadn't such grave injuries. Still, he was relieved after seeing that she was in great

There's no one else except for

"I will not down his offer to help because this was a family issue. Moreover, she had to take into account Graham's best interests, for Rowena was his wife, and Jolene, his daughter. She

"Jenny..."

Chapter 543 I Owe You One

James let out a relieved sigh after she agreed to have bodyguards. The men he hired were extraordinary, and they would protect her well.

"Are you hungry?" he asked. "I can get someone to buy food for you." It was surreal to him how they had agreed to meet at a restaurant, but things took a wild turn after that.

She nodded, feeling hungry. He asked someone to buy some food for her, and she put in an additional request for a phone charger as well. It was inconvenient to have a phone run out of battery, no velxo and she worried about her contacts who couldn't reach her.

Not long after, she got her food and phone charger delivered. She charged her phone before digging in. James stayed around, which was awkward for her. "James, why don't you go home and rest? It's pretty late."

to spend the night by her bed, but he knew that Jenny would want her phone restarted, she reached out to take it. James suddenly blurted out, "Jenny, I haven't told her hand. no velxo Staring

the hospital in my

you for doing that." She was grateful for his help and couldn't care less but the paparazzi took photos of us. Our photos are probably circulating online along with some gossip," he mumbled while avoiding eye contact. He could have suppressed the news as it broke out, the matter quickly. "It's not a big deal. Just ignore them. no.velxo They'll forget about she didn't care much about the online chatter. Given a #### Chapter 544 Am I Prejudiced?

Despite wanting to stay, James left Jenny's room out of consideration of her injuries and recovery. After he left, she finally returned the missed calls on her phone. First on her list was Jade, followed by Graham. She informed them that her phone had died but did not bring up the topic of her injuries. She hid the truth from Jade because Jade would be worried, and she didn't tell Graham because nothing would come out of it.

At this moment, she had no evidence pointing to Rowena and Jolene. If she blindly accused the two in front of Graham, he might think she was up to no good just to bring them down.

She needed sufficient evidence to show Graham the true face of Rowena and Jolene, for she wanted him to deal with them with his own hands. That was the main reason she refused James' help. Only by showing Graham the true colors of his wife and daughter would he be disappointed in them.

After responding to all the missed calls, no.velxo she finally got to Alec. She was kept waiting for a long time before he picked up.

"Were you looking for me?" she asked, wondering if he had seen the gossip online.

other end, Alec was staring at the news about Jenny and James on his computer. His eyes pierced through the photos with a profound look in his worried if he learned about it, and there was no guarantee that he wouldn't go and changed the topic of the conversation.

"Nothing much," he replied.

"Okay."

them as they tiptoed around their words. Noticing the awkward shift in the air, she blurted out, since they weren't dating anymore, he didn't things up. He's my senior from that James was interested in her, and the two were growing uncomfortably close to each other by the day.

Chapter 545 I'm Sorry Doesn't Always Work

Alec was dumbfounded after hearing what Jenny had to say. He zoomed into the photo and realized that Jenny was indeed unconscious. Upon closer look, he saw traces of blood stains on her body.

"Something happened to her," he thought as he was riddled with guilt for interrogating her about James instead of noticing her injuries. Even after Jenny had chided him, he still felt horrible about his behavior.

"What am I doing? How could I have missed that obvious fact?" he silently scolded himself.

"I'm sorry," he blurted out after a pause, not because he was reluctant to apologize. He hesitated because he knew the apology could not compensate for the hurt he had inflicted on Jenny.

Just as he expected, Jenny was calm and composed when she heard the apology, and she even thought he was hilarious. Laughing, she said to him, "I'm sorry doesn't always work, you know."

you...okay?" He wanted to ask her about the incident she was involved in, but he I'm still alive." She was a little exhausted and refused to did he fail to notice that she was in danger, but he also couldn't even think of he realized that he was in a bad mental condition. no.velxo He found the contact number of the stop running from his she was ruminating in anger and disappointment at Alec. He no.velxo He must be in a terrible mental state. Judging from his out-of-line actions, he might even have gone ahead to contact the psychologist she recommended to

she told herself not to get angry at Alec as care, she wanted to avoid any misunderstanding

Chapter 546 You Must Be Worried That I Wasn't Dead

During her few days' stay at the hospital, Graham called her a few times, mostly asking her why she didn't come home. She made up some excuse, and he didn't press further.

"I plan to go to Parrington tomorrow. Do you have time to come with me?" she asked. She had wrapped up work at Bardoff City, and it was time to get to the matters awaiting her attention in Parrington.

Graham paused while he checked his schedule with his assistant. Soon, he answered, "Sure, but I can't stay for long. There's a lot of work in the company."

"Okay. It won't be a long trip-probably three to four days,* she assured him. Once they agreed on the trip, he went ahead and arranged for a private jet. Traveling in a private jet was a necessity for a man in his position, who had to be careful in each step he took. It was all for safety.

into Rowena and Jolene, who wore guilty expressions on their faces. Despite their good disguise who plotted to murder Jenny. After James showed up of going after the martial arts expert, not to mention that he had to take care of Jenny, who had fainted. Without getting hold of the man, Jenny had no evidence pointing to Rowena and Jolene, even if she knew backed by the Glass family, Jenny decided to tackle their backers for now. She wasn't capable of taking down the influential family, but it was easy to cause them some trouble. At the very least, she could keep the Glass family occupied to distract them from making a move of him again?' she thought. Ever since he apologized to her, he by without contact, but she didn't reach out to him, thinking he'd initiate contact if he wanted. It'd be meaningless to reach out when he refused to get focused on Rowena and stayed

after all. Even if I plan to make a move,

Chapter 547 I'll Kill You

Jenny did not retort. Instead, she smiled at Rowena. "You're right. Rowena, you should be more careful. Don't get caught red-handed."

Rowena smiled at her without saying a word. Not only would she proceed with more caution, but she'd also send more men after Jenny the next time so that she couldn't escape. However, she was unsure about the timing of her next opportunity.

Jenny refused to waste time on them. "Dad and I will head back to Parrington tomorrow. Rowena, do help with the packing." The intention behind the reminder was less of packing the luggage and more of provoking her. The fact that Graham had agreed to visit Parrington proved that Jenny was important to him, which was Rowena's greatest fear.

As predicted, Rowena's expression fell when she heard the news. "Why is he going to Parrington? Don't you know that he's busy? Jenny, you need to grow up and stop giving him trouble."

he insisted on going with me." Jenny beamed smugly and enraged Rowena. " Oh, is that so? Looks like your dad

He probably felt sorry about my mom." Jenny smiled and said harsh words in now.' Rowena

With a gentle smile, she said coolly, "It doesn't matter if you're alive or dead. Most importantly, you need to be remembered. As long as you're remembered fondly, you will not be gone, unlike someone who thinks who had managed to hold back her emotions, finally lost her cool. She stomped over to Jenny and glared at her. "Did I lose? That bitch was slap across the face. "Watch your

and thought,

have forgotten about Jenny's superior combat skills and was instantly subdued by her. Once again, she experienced the horrifying feeling of suffocation, except that Jenny

Chapter 548 We're Sisters

Finally, Jenny let go of Jolene, but it wasn't because she trusted her words. She had heard the noise of a car from the door and guessed that Graham was home.

When he stepped foot in the living room, he instantly noticed something was wrong. He scanned the three faces, his gaze settling on Jenny's. 'What happened?'

She shook her head at him with a smile. "Nothing."

The fight just now was nothing to Jenny, no. velxo but Jolene felt differently about it. She stood up and ran over to Graham as she planned to reveal everything that Jenny had done to her. She needed to show Graham Jenny's merciless nature.

However, Rowena held her daughter back and shook her head. "Nothing happened. We were chatting with Jenny, and she mentioned that you'd go to Parrington with her tomorrow."

Jenny assured him everything was fine and Rowena was tight-lipped about it, he didn't press further. Jolene didn't look like she Jenny's hometown, after all. It's time

"Sounds right. I'll have the maids pack day and went up to the study

a surveillance camera in the living room, once she daughter. "Your dad clearly favors her now. There's no use telling him the truth. He might even get to the bottom of the planned attack life had been difficult ever since Jenny joined the family. A lot of her possessions were taken away, from her father to the title

We're sisters. You shouldn't sow discord in front of Dad." Jenny flashed an annoying smile at her. Jolene wanted to beat Jenny up but knew she was no match for her. Hence, she could only grit her teeth

Chapter 549 You Need to Learn to Control Your Emotions

"When can I fully recover?" That was Alec's main concern because he wanted to meet with Jenny.

Blake probably read his mind and sat across from him with a smile. "The first thing you need to do is to learn self-control. You mentioned that you couldn't stop yourself from wanting to keep Jenny by your side and that you couldn't stand the sight of men around her. These are symptoms of a mental health disorder. Your mental health issue did not surface over a few days. They are the culmination of poor mental health over the years. A fast recovery is rather impossible."

Alec frowned upon hearing her professional opinion. no. velxo He knew his condition was severe, but he wanted the answer to another pressing question."

Based on what you said just now, I can't meet Jenny before I fully recover. Is that right?" He would rather give up on the treatment if that were the case. The reason he attended therapy in the first place was so that he up on meeting her because of it, it'd be against his go ahead. My advice is not to meet with her too frequently. That won't help with your treatment. Right now, you need green light from Blake to meet with Jenny, he beamed and ignored the rest of her advice. Standing up, he was ready to leave.

I told you to control yourself? Why not the other issues." Alec believed that the root of all his mental health issues was that his mother had passed away before his eyes, no. velxo contributing to his long-time fear of the dark. He didn't think that deny his claim. As a psychologist, she was well aware of the reason behind his

as he walked to the door. "Your treatment

Chapter 550 Don't You Think It's Too Late?

Alec had wanted to say more, but the passion in his heart quickly dissipated upon hearing how cold Jenny was to him. Still, he didn't hang up immediately. 'How have you been?' he asked.

"Don't you think it's too late to ask me that, Alec?" no. velxo Jenny huffed. Alec's behavior confused her. It had been days without hearing from him.

Alec knew he was at fault. He had planned to meet with Jenny that day after their call. He never expected Dr. Watkins to tell him not to see her, for him to learn to control himself. Which was why he never went to her. But that didn't mean he didn't care about her. He had still gone to the hospital to check on her, only leaving after seeing that she was okay.

On the other end of the call, Jenny was getting even more upset now that he had gone silent. "What? Cat got your tongue? When did you learn how to keep your mouth shut?"

"I'm sorry," Alec said solemnly. "I've been preoccupied with some business. That's why I didn't come to see you."

cut it. He should've at least called her to check up on Walter Castle. Do you...want to come out worried about him these past few to lose hope, Jenny said, "Alright. I'll be incredulously at it. "What did Jenny say? She'd be right down? I didn't hear her wrong, right?" he by the front gate. She did hear her right. "Thank you for coming try to change my mind. I'm not forgiving you that easily." Jenny was know. It's my fault." Alec hung his head disparagingly.