

Be Yours 661

Chapter 661 The Final Winner

In the private room, all the patrons had left, leaving only James sitting there alone. He wanted to leave but noticed that something was wrong with his body.

He felt very restless and had an inexplicable urge. At first, he thought it was because he had drunk too much, but as the heat became more and more intense and even a little out of control, he realized something was wrong.

He wasn't drunk-he'd been drugged.

Realizing that, his face darkened, and he felt like killing the person who had the audacity to drug him. Just then, Jolene pushed the door open and saw James sitting there looking a bit off. She knew that the drug was taking effect.

"James, what's wrong? Are you okay?"

Jolene stepped forward and reached out a hand to help him. She even intentionally got closer to him. As she was dressed provocatively that day, her chest was almost exposed. She deliberately brushed her body against James' arm.

James would have pushed her away; but at that moment, he found it hard to resist her body. Nevertheless, he still managed at Jolene with bloodshot eyes, understand," Jolene replied. She then boldly hooked her arm around James' neck barely holding on to his rationality, understood that if he had any form of physical intimacy with matter what, he away, she didn't mind it very uncomfortable now. Let me help you," Jolene coaxed while forehead. Even so, he wasn't tempted by Jolene's desperate attempts at seducing him. Jolene was quite impressed with his endurance. If it were someone else, they probably wouldn't be able to resist under normal

Jolene was when Jolene had gone in for some time but didn't seem to make any progress. She was speechless upon seeing her daughter's clumsy and tactless actions. "You should get just do the deed here

James wanted to get away from them, but he'd drunk a lot of alcohol and

Chapter 662 You're My Man

Rowena and Jolene supported James into the room and threw him onto the bed. After that, Rowena got up and prepared to leave.

"Wake him up. I've lit an arousing incense in this room. It'll only work if he's awake," Rowena instructed before leaving.

It would amount to nothing if James slept through the whole event. He wouldn't remember a thing even if the reporter she brought pressed for an answer. Therefore, if they were going through with the scheme, they had to make sure that it happened in a way that wouldn't leave James any way to escape.

"I know. You can go now," Jolene said, blushing and feeling a little embarrassed.

With that, Rowena left. Jolene looked at the man on the bed. Perhaps it was due to the effect of the incense, she was also a little titillated at the moment.

now on, you're my man. Don't you dare look at that state, coupled to finish her sentence, her discovery." Since the Glasses want to scheme against us, we might as well use their scheme against them and see outsmarted by the Glasses. But now that and added, "Let's talk to James and see what he thinks would connected

he's busy." Since James was managing the Windsors, it was inevitable that he would be busy.

thinks it's okay, we'll proceed with the plan," Graham replied. Like Jenny, he didn't think that James not answering his phone was unusual. The two then went on to

Blake and told psychological issues, then why do I still feel so emotional when I see her now?" He felt it

Chapter 663 My Cup of Tea

Blake felt a little sad hearing him say that, but she still insisted and said, 'Are you sure you don't want to reconsider that?' "No, I don't.' Alec's reply was decisive.

"Would you consider it if it was us?" Blake looked at him, her eyes sincere.

Alec was stunned as he was surprised to hear that from her. "Are you serious?"

"Of course I am. Didn't I tell you before that I have feelings for you?' Blake crossed her arms and looked at him, smiling. She felt a mixture of feelings internally and was far from as calm as she appeared.

She never expected that she would fall in love with a man one day and would even confess her feelings to him. On top of that, she was nervous and afraid that he didn't feel the same way. She was Blake

Watkins, a respected psychologist and a daughter of the Watkins family. She had countless admirers and never thought she would be groveling for someone's affection one day.

and spoke up after a while, "I'm grateful that you saved to say. You've misunderstood me. What I meant was that we pretend to be together,' she quickly explained with a smile, although obviously more interested in this proposal, thinking Blake must have her reasons for sighed and elaborated, "You're not given any importance within the Fausts right now, so if you want to get more support, you have to increase your value. You may be capable, but no one will support you without a powerful family backing you. Suppose you and I are into action. There were too many people who wanted to do the same in the family. Compared to Zeke's sons and grandsons, Alec, who was considered seemed to

believing that he was a smart person who would make a choice that was favorable to slowly said, "Why are you helping secure the Fausts, you'll help me take control of the Watkins in turn. So, what I need to do now is to do Fausts; otherwise, everything we've talked about so far is just acceptable. He couldn't help but feel that if Blake was really interested in taking over the Watkins,

Chapter 664 I Admire Him

Alec felt that Blake was speaking the truth. Those two members of the Fausts were somewhat proud and arrogant, and if Blake were to approach them with the idea of collaboration, they would probably think she was joking. Even if she was a Watkins, they would doubt how much say she would have in the Watkins family. After all, she would need to be able to bring something of value to the table for them to consider working with her.

However, for Alec, securing a collaboration with Blake was good enough, and that was the difference.

"I will consider your proposal." Alec still didn't give a definite answer. He needed to carefully consider whether it was necessary.

Upon hearing that, Blake didn't continue to push her luck. "It's up to you. I'm just giving you a suggestion. After all, your current situation is not optimistic."

After that, the two did not continue that discussion, and Blake began to treat Alec.

It was already the next morning when James woke up in the hotel room. He felt sore all over his body as if he'd been crushed by a boulder. As he opened his eyes and took in his unfamiliar surroundings, he came to a realization that made him sick to his stomach. He instantly understood that his strange condition was probably due to the drugs from last night.

voice sounded beside him, and he finally saw the woman going to kill you!" The moment he saw it was looked terrified. She struggled to comprehend how he could be so rough with her after undo what had happened between them. Little James, the door of the room was pushed open. The sound of cameras clicking echoed in the room.

James immediately stuffed Jolene under the covers the next second, not she used all her strength to free herself from James'
Miss Jolene Walter!" a reporter exclaimed. They received a tip-off and didn't take it seriously at first.
They thought there James had a very displeased expression, but would have been strangled to death by Windsor, what is your relationship with Miss

Chapter 667 Shut Up

Graham took in what Jenny had said helplessly. She was blunt and unforgiving in her words, even when the person she was speaking to was her father.

"I know you're angry, but Jolene is still my daughter at the end of the day. Even if she's in the wrong, I can't just let her be." Graham smiled bitterly, thinking that he should at least do what would be expected of a father in this situation.

Jenny looked solemn, as she was disappointed with Graham's decision. " This is Jolene's own doing. If someone has to pay the price, why can't it be her? We're in a partnership with the Windsors, but Jolene went ahead and did this. Do you want the partnership to fall apart by helping her blindly?"

She was infuriated, thinking that Graham couldn't distinguish right from wrong. So what if Jolene was his daughter? Should he tolerate her antics without a bottom line simply because she was his daughter?

"Jenny, if this happened to you, I would do the same-"

Jenny interrupted. Even if she liked someone, she beneath Jenny, unfortunately, the same couldn't be said regarding Jolene. "Jenny, no matter what, I can't just leave Jolene to her own devices. It meant that the Walters and reasonable person. Even though he was absent for her whole life and didn't raise her, she could still forgive him and

Jenny didn't feel like saying anything else, so she turned to leave. She wouldn't stand on Jolene's side as Graham did. She would find James and devise a way to get him out of this mess. She couldn't let Jolene succeed; otherwise, James' lifetime happiness would be completely walked out, but ultimately, he Rowena were in the living room. As soon as they but instead turned to Rowena and didn't say anything, so he took it she couldn't do anything as Jolene insisted. In addition, Graham was biased toward Jenny, so she

Chapter 668 Hell Awaits You

Graham felt that Jolene would be the death of him sooner or later. "It's easy for you to say you don't care. Have you ever considered the reputation of your own family? Have you ever thought about what the Britts would think of us?"

"If it hadn't been for you forcing me to marry Brandon, I wouldn't have ended up like this," Jolene complained, her words tinged with resentment. She felt that Graham's coercion had caused all of this. She wouldn't have decided on such a drastic move if it hadn't been for him.

No, to be more precise-it was all Jenny's fault. If it weren't for her sudden appearance, Jolene would still be the Walters' only daughter, instead of stooping down to such a shameful act.

Graham was infuriated to see that his imbecile of a daughter showed no remorse and had the audacity to justify herself.

"Fine, since you're so capable, let's see how well you handle this yourself."

"Dad..."

your dad. From now on, I only have one daughter, and that's Jenny!" Graham as your daughter, I won't acknowledge you as my father either. You're already biased enough! It won't make any to stop her from saying anything else that would be damaging to herself. "Don't talk nonsense. He's still your father. It doesn't matter if connection to her father that would help her get into the Windsor family. After all, she wouldn't be she didn't say anything, knowing that she needed to listen to Rowena

Jenny better. But this time, you must help she gets married, no one will compete with Jenny over the Walter family. Isn't that what you want?" Even though she didn't want to interact want me to help her? Should I beg the Windsors to take her in or do you want her face became ashen as she thought about on marrying Graham reminded of her past mistake, she couldn't help but look at Jolene, wondering if her matter what, Jo is the one most affected by this, so James must take responsibility. He can't shirk from it." Rowena didn't want to discuss the past with Graham, she

Chapter 669 Nonsense

Inside the living room of the Windsor family's residence was complete silence. Everyone held their breaths in anticipation of the tense discussion that would take place soon. James hung his head in defeat-this was the first time he had failed so miserably in his life.

"Now that everyone is here, let's discuss how we should deal with this," Caleb Windsor spoke. Though he hadn't been very involved in the family's affairs, he was James' father. He knew he had to step up in a situation like this.

The Windsors were a relatively large clan. In addition to Caleb's family, there were also his siblings' families. Hence, there were quite a few people in the living room. However, no one spoke up. They were all just branch families attached to the main Windsor family, so they had no right to oppose any decision that Caleb made.

Only the Windsors' older generation had the right to say something. Cillian, James' eldest uncle, spoke up first. His face was stern as he glared at James. "How could you do such a despicable thing? Look at how people are talking about our family online!"

He had always valued the reputation of the Windsors beyond anything, so he was the angriest among them.

"Cillian, it wasn't James' fault. He was obviously set up by that woman." Cyrus, another one of James' uncles, defended him. He didn't think James had done anything wrong.

knew he had made a mistake, so no matter what they said, or even if they stripped him of his right to Cillian, Uncle Cyrus, this is my fault. I was careless and fell into that woman's scheme. No matter what punishment you give me, I'll accept it, but..." He paused for of what James had said. Only Cyrus supported him, but his support was weak, and he had little power in has caused such a big stir. How do you plan to eliminate the negative impact it has caused if you don't marry her?" Caleb questioned. Like going to marry her. Worse comes to the Windsor family, Jolene won't insist on marrying me,

He had spared no effort to get James to his

the head of the Windsors, everyone pulled out tense, and it seemed then, the butler walked in with a phone and went straight

Chapter 670 Leave Me Alone

James frowned hard upon hearing what Caleb said. He looked at his father and asked, "So, you're saying you want me to marry her?" "Although I don't like that woman either, she's still a Walter. Her mother is also from the Glass family. She's still a good match, so it's not that difficult of a choice to accept her." Caleb analyzed the situation logically.

As a member of the Windsors, he believed that James should be prepared to sacrifice for the family, especially since James' negligence caused this situation. It was only natural that he should take responsibility. If he married Jolene, the Windsors would gain the support of the Walters and Glasses. All things considered, it wasn't that bad of a deal.

James looked at his father. He snapped out of his thoughts after a long while. "Well, you're certainly very rational, and what you said makes a lot of sense. But have you ever considered my feelings?" he asked.

He didn't like Jolene. It could even be said that he despised her. If he married her, he felt that the rest of his life would be done for. The thought of spending his life with her made him feel like life had lost its meaning.

do? They couldn't burn their bridges into their ranks was better than James father with a serious expression and asked, "Can't we refuse? Is my happiness not worth considering, even if it means going against the Walters? As a father, haven't you considered the situation him, it wasn't worth breaking ties with the Walter family over something like words as if he had heard an unbelievable joke. "Not worth it? In your eyes, your son's happiness can be measured say anything. He knew James was incensed. But he also knew that James wouldn't break ties with his family because of this. In the end, he would consider the family's honor. That was also why he'd chosen James to take over the Windsors in the first place. James was a person with a strong sense of family honor. He wouldn't do anything have to take responsibility for it," Cillian said. He didn't think holding James accountable for what happened

Otherwise, we'll be taken advantage of. You're not new to this after taking over the Windsors; you should understand this. You're upset that you were taken advantage of this