

Be Yours 681

Chapter 681 That Day Will Never Come

Brandon wasn't angry upon being rejected by Jenny. He now felt it would be better to marry a woman like her than Jolene. When he first saw the news about Jolene and James, he was indeed quite angry, but that anger was quickly replaced by relief, for he was glad he no longer had to marry that foolish woman.

"Miss Walter, you don't have to refuse me so quickly. What if you fall in love with me one day?" Brandon smiled, thinking that matters of the heart were volatile and unpredictable.

He believed it was easy to win over women—he just needed to romance and treat them well, and they would fall for him.

A corner of Jenny's mouth twitched. She couldn't understand how Brandon was so confident in himself. "Mr. Britt, rest assured. That day will never come."

The moment she said it, Brandon's face fell immediately. Jenny didn't mince her words; she went straight for the kill and humiliated him.

Just as he was about to speak again, Jenny interrupted him bluntly, "Mr. Britt, the banquet is about to begin. I still have things to do, so please excuse me."

wasn't interested in continuing her conversation with Brandon as she could tell his thoughts. That was it meant to really like someone. Everything he did was based on self-interest. While most corner. Upon seeing that Brandon didn't popular now, Jenny." Stephanie stifled a laugh with you laugh at me at you." Stephanie knew very well she couldn't handle

Walter and Windsor families were giving speeches, saying doing, James? Do you really want to marry her for the for now and not an official marriage yet. Jenny could only microphone. Jenny frowned, not knowing what

Chapter 682 What Do You Want?

More importantly, the Britts were also present. By saying she'd always liked James, Jolene basically admitted to making a fool out of the Britts when she previously agreed to the engagement with Brandon.

Many people surreptitiously stole glances at the Britts in the hall to see their expressions. As expected, they clearly weren't thrilled.

Brandon didn't exactly like Jolene, but at that moment, everyone looked at him with a sympathetic expression as if they were sorry that he'd been fooled.

He'd initially decided not to pursue the matter, but if he left it at that, everyone would think he was too afraid of the Walters to retaliate. Wanting to uphold his dignity, he raised his glass and walked toward Jolene.

At that moment, Jolene was busy socializing and receiving well wishes. Tonight was easily the most glorious day in her whole life. Regardless of what others said, she was basically half a Windsor now, and she'd successfully elevated herself to a higher status. Even if those people were secretly envious of her, they could only put on a fake smile and congratulate her.

"You're quite good at scheming, Miss Walter," Brandon said. That was the first time the two met and talked after the incident with James happened.

At the same time, Brandon didn't look for her either. Now, on this occasion, inexplicably felt a little frightened. "Mr. Britt, I'm sorry him she liked him before but didn't want to settle down so quickly. Now, she a smile. Only they knew what had happened between them. Fortunately, she didn't leave any evidence. Therefore, she just needed to deny she'd ever said spoke up. Previously, they'd thought Brandon was not a bad choice. But now that Jolene had James, Brandon was way inferior as

Jo, you should wish at them, then at Jolene, who remained silent. He snorted and said nothing; he just turned around and breathed a sigh of relief. "Thank you for speaking up for who'd been pestering you. Why did you even speak to him so politely?" One of smiled and didn't say night. She stood in front of the mirror in the bathroom and adjusted her dress. It was her big day, and she wanted to make figure appeared behind

Chapter 683 You Whore

"What nonsense are you spouting? Nothing ever happened between us! If you dare say anything slanderous again, I'll make you pay for it!" She pushed him away forcefully, looking at him warily.

"What did he mean by "It's not like I haven't touched you before"? If outsiders hear this, they might think something happened between us," Jolene thought in panic. But in fact, nothing ever happened between them. Jolene didn't want to be wrongly accused of something that never happened.

Brandon laughed, not mad at her response at all. "So, you treated my feelings for you so carelessly because nothing really happened between us. Is that what you mean? Jolene, you strung me along and dumped me just like that. What do you take me for?"

Although he had ulterior motives when he approached Jolene, the fact that she tricked him was undeniable. He might be taken as a pushover if he didn't fight back.

Jolene felt a little guilty and tried to justify herself. "I didn't trick you on purpose. I kind of liked you before, but then I met James and realized what love is. You can't blame me for that."

stared at her,

"I didn't mean that-" it weren't for the Windsors being superior to my family? Don't pretend to be driven by love when you're just after the money and status." Brandon wasn't a been called out, Jolene found no point in denying it anymore." You're right. If I wasn't a Walter, would you want to marry me? In the end, we're the same. Don't act as if you're more honorable than hugged her tightly and got closer to her. "I've done so much for you, doing?"

sneered, reaching out to yank at frightened by his behavior. She quickly apologized," Brandon, I was wrong. I'm sorry. Can you...can something happened between her and Brandon, and the Windsors found out, she'd be done grew boisterous. "Do you feel scared now? Why weren't you scared when you took me

If he didn't have his way with Jolene now, he would never be able to make

Chapter 684 As Long as You Behave

Just as he felt extremely proud of himself, someone suddenly patted him on the shoulder, startling him greatly. When he turned around and saw that it was Jenny, he was even more shocked.

"Since when have you been here?" he asked.

"A while ago," Jenny replied.

"This has nothing to do with you, so go away," Brandon said, holding onto Jolene with no intention of letting her go, even in Jenny's presence.

Jenny glanced at the two of them, and Jolene hung her head, feeling ashamed.

"Brandon, Jolene is my sister. Do you think I'll leave?" She didn't consider Jolene her sister, but she couldn't let Brandon have his way. If Jolene was under his control, the Windsors would be in danger.

Brandon frowned. "When did you ever consider her your sister?"

your business. Let her go, and I'll pretend nothing happened. Otherwise, don't blame me for not holding back." Jenny was confident about dealing with confused about Jenny's intentions, so he was speechless at her interference. "You hate her so was happening, she could have ignored it; but since she happened to come across Brandon's attempt at such a vile act, she couldn't let him do whatever he wanted. Although she hated Jolene, she couldn't bear to see her being today, are you going to keep giving me trouble?" If he nodded fearlessly. "With me here, go of Jolene and rushed toward Jenny instead. "You Walters are a bunch of her interference, he could easily have his way him flying back. Jenny walked over and looked down at him from above. "Why did you have to provoke me? Did you feel the pain for at

to his core, but because of the pain

his hatred, Jenny shrugged indifferently and walked up to Jolene. "What are you still standing there out of it and followed Jenny out of the Chapter 685 You Dislike Jolene?

The dinner was still ongoing, and the marriage alliance between the Walters and the Windsors meant different things to different people. After all, if these two families joined forces, it was unlikely that anyone would dare to mess with them.

Some people didn't think the two families would be on good terms, however, as everyone knew what was going on. At this point, it would be good enough that the Windsors did not hate the Walters.

Of course, some others thought things would be different after the marriage-the two families would likely come together for their own interests.

Jenny didn't know what everyone had to say about the matter, nor did she care. She didn't know what would happen in the future, but for now, the two families were still working together, although most people didn't know about it.

Jenny intended to go find Stephanie, but she saw someone chatting with her from a distance. Seeing that it was a handsome guy, she didn't go over. If Stephanie could get into a new relationship, she would naturally be happy for her friend. She did notice, though, that Stephanie didn't appear particularly eager to chat with that guy, so she probably wasn't interested in him.

Looking around the hall and taking in everyone's smiling faces, Jenny sighed. Perhaps the only one who wasn't happy at the moment was James.

James, but she saw him smiling, apparently in quite a good mood. He was probably discussing business opportunities with someone, and it seemed the day, he didn't care much about his own happiness relationship official and announcing it to everyone. Jenny didn't know what others thought, but she was of the opinion that they were a good match. Because of Blake, Alec was as she wondered whether other Fausts attended the banquet, someone walked up to

"Miss Walter."

and saw the person who had asked for a ride at the door of the Faust family residence the

"Mr. Faust."

can call me Julian. There's no need to be smiled. Even though he was in his early twenties, he found a place to call you

"Upto you."

Chapter 686 Is It Strange?

After he said those words, Jenny's expression changed slightly as she looked at him and asked, "Did she offend you somehow?" "Not really. I just don't like that kind of woman." Jolene's success in her scheme indirectly encouraged other women who intended to make a move behind the scenes to take a leaf out of her book. Julian would have to watch every drink he had from then onward. Countless women would try to carry out their plans at any cost, not caring about the consequences.

"If you want to teach her a lesson, that's your business. Don't drag me into it." Jenny didn't want to be implicated later on if Julian did something and blamed it on her for teaching him. She wouldn't be able to explain herself to either the Fausts or Graham.

Hearing her response, Julian felt aggrieved. "Jen, I just wanted to help you express your anger."

me, Mr. Faust. Just tell me what's your purpose in approaching me." She was tired of playing along with him, so she decided to call a changed abruptly, but he quickly recovered and said, "What purpose would I have?

really no need for you to be friends with me." Jenny laughed humorlessly. Brandon had just said he also wanted to be friends with her earlier. Even a fool would find it hard to believe. Seeing how Julian deny it. Any pretense was futile and unnecessary in front someone to Parrington to find out everything about him and me.

He looked at Alec and Blake, who were not far away and sneered, "Of course I've sent someone to investigate, but it's precisely because I looked into it that I find him very strange. He was clearly so fond of you before, but well and asked, "Is it strange? I think it's normal. He liked me because he knew I was a Walter. But when he found out that he was related to the Faust of Bardoff City and had the opportunity to return to the family, a Walter like me was not that attractive to him anymore. As you can see, he's power alone, the Walters weren't had some doubts."

Chapter 687 Becoming the Heir

The question seemed to weigh heavily on Julian. Jenny stared at him in silence for a while before he slowly spoke up, "That's not exactly the case."

Then, he continued, ' Although Grandpa has summoned many members of the Faust family back from everywhere, the biggest threat among them is Alec. After all, someone could easily obtain information about his abilities the moment they looked into it. Grandpa has praised him immensely. He has just returned to the Faust family but has secured himself a position in Faust Group. No one else was given this much recognition."

Julian himself had only recently joined the company. On the other hand, Alec had only been back for a short time, but he'd become a part of Faust Group. It was obvious that Zeke valued Alec a lot, naturally making the rest of them nervous.

As an outsider, Jenny could see through Zeke's intentions at a glance. He purposely directed the attention of his sons and grandsons toward Alec, as he believed that Alec would be a good challenge to make them grow and improve. Zeke was ruthless; he didn't consider whether Alec could handle the onslaught.

"Even so, Alec shouldn't pose such a big threat to you guys." After all, Julian and the others were the ones who held actual power within the Faustus, which was completely different from Alec's situation.

Alec had any real power in the family. It was possible that he might not even about it. It's started to become concerned too. After all, Luke's much had the best chance of he has already struck up a connection with the Watkins. That's enough to show how capable his head. "You're young, but you try to me." Julian

him. Julian was just an immature child who hadn't fully grown up, despite his efforts

I'm going to tell my sister on you," Julian said, getting up as if to report the incident to his faint smile,

feel a little embarrassed. "Forget it. I

Chapter 688 You Want Me to Support Him?

Listening to what Julian said, Jenny thought about the oppressive atmosphere in the Faust family. It was no wonder Julian would have such thoughts.

She pondered for a moment, then smiled and said, "Since you're not interested in inheriting the Faust family and your only goal is to prevent Xavier from inheriting everything, why not consider supporting Alec? If he inherits the Faust family business and assets, it won't affect you, right?"

Julian looked at her in shock. He blinked a few times, unable to believe what he'd just heard. "You want me to support him?"

Jenny nodded.

"Have you really divorced Alec? It sure doesn't seem like it." Julian looked at Jenny suspiciously. If they were divorced, Jenny shouldn't be helping Alec.

Jenny was speechless and rolled her eyes at him. "What's wrong with my suggestion? You're not interested in inheriting the Faust family anyway."

"Although I'm not interested, that doesn't mean my dad or sister isn't. If they find out that I intend to support Alec, they'll kill me," Julian said, knowing full well not everyone in his family thought the same as him.

came with it? Even if Julian was naive, he knew it would be best for him if his she couldn't persuade Julian to help Alec, Jenny felt it was a little regrettable. She thought Julian fell silent and didn't utter not going to talk to me anymore just because I won't help Alec?" Julian asked upon noticing her dismissive look that any way. The proposal just now was out of consideration for thought very skeptically. They weren't exactly on he was about to say something to Jenny, Isabelle Faust walked toward them. "What are you talking about with Miss Walter, Julian greeted as he stood up. He showed his sister much respect. "We didn't noded and looked at Jenny while extending her hand. "Hello, Miss Walter. I'm Jenny stood up and Jenny didn't want to have too much contact with the Faust family, Isabelle was nothing but a little apologetically," Please excuse Julian; he's basically still a child. Please don't take it to heart if he said

Chapter 689 Get Lost

Stephanie was drinking champagne. Because of Paul's reappearance, she felt a little unenthusiastic about everything that day. However, she didn't refuse when someone approached her for a conversation. After all, she couldn't afford to offend anyone who attended the banquet, so she drank the wine the other party offered. But soon, she realized that something was wrong with it. She had only taken a few sips and already felt a bit unstable on her feet.

"Miss, are you drunk? Let me take you upstairs to rest." A young man from one of the rich families approached and held Stephanie by her arm, leading her out of the banquet hall.

Stephanie was feeling groggy at that moment, and she didn't even know who the person next to her was.

"No...I don't want to go..." she murmured softly, but the young man didn't care. He came to the banquet today to find prey and had been eyeing Stephanie for a long time. She was beautiful and didn't come from one of the prominent families, which made her the perfect target.

After talking to Isabelle and Julian, Jenny intended to leave the banquet with Stephanie, as this event had nothing to do with her. However, she didn't see Stephanie anywhere after looking all over the banquet hall.

rang for a long time, but nobody answered

something have happened

first, Jenny didn't think much of it, but now she was seriously concerned. If anything happened led her into a room. Then, he threw her onto the big bed.

his clothes quickly, as he couldn't kicked the room door open before he could hell are you? How dare you interrupt me from having a good time! " and then Stephanie, lying on the bed.

The young man started to take out his phone to call for the call, Paul gave him a hard kick, didn't hold back at all. With one kick, the young man passed out

Chapter 690 Why Are You Here?

"I am her best friend, so I should have the right to thank you on her behalf. After all, you and Steph are not that close," Jenny said as she walked forward and lifted Stephanie from the bed.

For someone who had practiced martial arts, lifting Stephanie was not a big problem for Jenny. It even seemed quite easy for her.

Her words were like a slap to Paul's face, and his face fell drastically. "If you really are her best friend, you should protect her instead of letting her end up in this situation," he countered.

Jenny fell silent. She realized that she had been careless today. On top of that, she didn't expect someone to use such despicable means at a banquet held by the Walters.

Her gaze swept over the unconscious young man as she said coldly, "I'll seek justice for Steph in this matter for sure, so you don't need to worry, Mr. Wagner."

After saying that, Jenny carried Stephanie away, not caring how Paul felt about her words.

Long after Jenny and Stephanie had left, Paul stood in the room and didn't leave. He had a dark expression on his face, and it seemed like his anger had not yet subsided.

gaze toward the unconscious young man in the corner. Without hesitation, he walked over and kicked the guy a few times far. She booked a room in the hotel

call Graham and briefly explain the situation. Her tone was icy as she said, "If this matter gets out, you should know very well you mean. Don't worry, I will handle it," Graham replied, his tone quite frigid. He was definitely only mean they didn't take the Walters seriously. Upon investigation, the young man was from Graham how he planned to handle it, but she was sure that the young man probably wouldn't have a

out her phone and called the hotel staff, asking them the doctor arrived, but he was not alone, as Alec was with

"What

be heard in suspicious. Alec's behavior was contrary to what he had told her previously. Jenny wondered if he perhaps suffered from a Stephanie. After confirming that she Faust, as you can see, I'm fine. It was my friend who needed medical attention," Jenny stated, staring