

Be Yours 691

Chapter 691 So Effective?

"Do you not know Steph?" Jenny asked in disbelief. Even she couldn't believe what she was saying, but Alec's response suggested that he had no idea who Stephanie was.

He quickly regained his composure and sneered, "Who is she? Why would I waste my time to get to know her?"

"Alec, what's wrong with you? Steph is my best friend. You've met her before; you know her. Why are you reacting like this now?" It seemed as if he'd never met Stephanie, and Jenny couldn't understand how the situation came to this.

Jenny's words made Alec realize that despite his investigation and reading up on information related to them, there were still many missing pieces. Stephanie was a good example right now. She had no connection with him, but they knew each other because of Jenny, and they had met before. However, he had no memory of this person.

Not wanting Jenny to know about his amnesia, he tried to cover it up by saying disdainfully, "So what if I know her? Since I'm not interested in her. Why would I waste my time on her?"

He didn't deny that he knew Stephanie, as it wasn't something he could deny. He put up a front to show that he wasn't interested in her and didn't care about her affairs.

something was off, but she couldn't put him, "If you're not interested in her, why are you here? Could it be you're here because you

Alec denied without hesitation, but after denying it, he was phone and learned that Jenny had called a doctor, so he followed along. But why? He didn't like Jenny, so whether she had an accident or not had nothing to do looked at Alec suspiciously, as his reaction was too abnormal. "Are you sure your and said, "Speaking of which, have to say, the psychologist you introduced to Alec was Blake. That day, Blake called him coincidentally, which led to him being rescued in time. Speaking of which, he should actually thank

Jenny couldn't help but I was worried about you. After all, we are business partners now. If the topic and didn't continue discussing

Alec's words, Jenny felt a mix of emotions. She felt a little unhappy about what he said, but at the same time, she kind of expected

Chapter 692 Shameless

"Hmph, who knows," Alec said coldly, clearly skeptical.

His tone made Jenny feel uncomfortable, and her expression hardened. "Alec, you need to understand that we are in a business partnership. I'm not your subordinate, and you have no right to act all high and mighty with me."

Seeing her angry, Alec frowned slightly. "I'm just reminding you not to get too close to the other Fausts. They might have ulterior motives when they approach you."

"That would be none of your business, Mr. Faust. After all, I'm not very familiar with you either." Jenny glanced at him, her expression indifferent.

Alec was slightly annoyed. He sneered, "That's true. Considering that you have quite a few men around you, you're not likely to be interested in that idiot, Julian."

At his words, Jenny's already unhappy expression turned into one of immense displeasure as she looked straight at Alec. "Mr. Faust, are you unhappy with the men around me? Or are you hoping to be one of them?"

"Shameless," Alec scolded under his breath.

of yourself, Mr. Faust. As for me, there's no need for you to worry." Jenny "Worry about you? Miss Walter, you really think highly of won't see you off," Jenny responded angrily, not so despicable? His words were always so upon being chased leaving, are you planning to stay here and sleep with me?" Jenny glared at him, thinking raised an eyebrow as he looked at her. He smirked and said, "Were you always this Jenny pointed

he walked toward the door. "As for the Glasses, I hope you her mouth to speak,

still read one word lightly, finding it somewhat a little flustered but quickly calmed herself down. She reassured herself that when she first met Alec, he had always been unpleasant. She had known it early on. After Jenny watched his

the engagement banquet downstairs

Chapter 693 No Need to Stop Her

Jenny pursed her lips and said, after much deliberation, "It wasn't me who saved you. When I arrived, you were already safe."

"Huh?" Stephanie was puzzled. If it wasn't Jenny, then who else could it be?

"It was Paul. He'd already taken care of that lecherous man when I arrived." Despite not liking Paul, Jenny chose to tell Stephanie the truth.

As for what Stephanie would choose, Jenny would leave it up to her, but she wouldn't allow Paul to keep her constantly bound to him. She wanted Stephanie to have the right to choose instead of being denied the chance by Paul.

Hearing that Paul was the one who saved her, Stephanie felt conflicted deep inside, but she quickly smiled and said, "Tch! Who cares if he saved me? He wouldn't use saving me as leverage against you, would he?"

It wasn't that Stephanie was prejudiced and thought badly of Paul, but she didn't have a good impression of him currently.

Jenny shook her head. "No, he didn't say anything."

to something like that, Paul hadn't stooped to nodded and stopped thinking about him. "The banquet should be over by

With that, the two of them got up and left the room. They got downstairs and made

Jenny sent Stephanie home, she hurried back to her own home. However, when she walked into the living room, she found it messy, with packed going on?" Jenny asked

Miss Jolene is moving out," the maid speaking, voices came from upstairs, or more accurately, arguing upstairs to Jolene's room, where she saw her packing her clothes. Rowena and Graham were also in her

Jenny said, said, "Help me persuade your sister. She insists on moving in with what would they

you. James asked me to move in with him. This means he intends to take things could already guess that Jenny wouldn't have anything nice to say, so she couldn't be bothered to listen to what she had

Chapter 694 Can't Compare to Her

Jolene became even more suspicious when she heard that. She felt that something was off.

"I'm telling you, I'm James' fiancée now. He won't let you off if you dare to plot against me behind my back."

Jenny smirked. "You're overthinking it. I have no intention to plot against you."

Jenny knew James' personality quite well and knew that Jolene would be in for a miserable time after she moved in with him. As such, Jenny didn't need to plot against her at all.

"Really?" Jolene couldn't believe it.

Jenny nodded and said, "Hurry up and pack. Don't keep your fiance waiting."

sense as she turned

Rowena silently stood on one side, staring at Jenny suspiciously. Under normal circumstances, Jenny should have stopped Jolene.

she was quite certain that felt pensive. In fact, hold back any longer and said, "Jo, why don't you consider this more carefully? I have a hunch that James is we're already engaged. He wouldn't think of harming me, would he?" Jolene asked as she

James' fiancée, it was reasonable for him to ask her to move in with him to show that his attitude during the engagement banquet. He clearly doesn't like you, but in with him, Rowena was very shocked. But her daughter was silent for a moment. She also felt his reasons are, I only have one goal: to make him fall in love with me. Mom, I know you're worried, but if I don't move in with him now and be with him, how can we develop feelings for each other? I don't want to end up like you and Dad. You may be husband and wife, but

She said it without any consideration for her mother's feelings at all.

Chapter 695 We Shall See

Rowena snorted coldly. It was obvious to her that Jenny had some ulterior motives. "Don't be too proud. Even if Jo moves out, you won't be the one calling the shots here. As long as I'm here, I'm the lady of this house!"

"It's okay. That won't be the case soon." According to Graham's plan, he would soon hand over the Walter family to her. At that time, Rowena wouldn't be the lady of the house anymore.

Rowena's expression changed slightly as she struggled to control her anger. "Is that so? We shall wait and see."

"Sure, let's wait and see." Jenny wasn't afraid of her either.

Both of them returned to their respective rooms. Just as Jenny was curious about what Rowena would do, she heard footsteps downstairs. She walked to the balcony and happened to see Rowena leaving Walter Castle. She wondered where she was going at such an hour.

After some thought, Jenny took out her phone and made a call. "Help me keep an eye on Rowena. I want to know who she's meeting."

She was definitely meeting up with someone at this hour, but who could it be?

door with her luggage. The driver helped her unload the luggage took a while for someone to open the door. It where's James?" Jolene

returned feeling unhappy. Today was the day of her engagement with James. Why wasn't he my luggage inside, and then prepare some soup so we can have it when James returns." She gave orders like she owned the place and maid didn't move, and she said to Jolene, "Mr. Windsor has instructed that since

Jolene thought she ignored her and continued, "After I give you the key, I'll leave. From now on, only you

"Hey, hold on-" finishing her words, the maid stuffed the key was about to take out her clothes and put them in the wardrobe, out of the master bedroom. When she saw that the person who had come in was James,

Chapter 696 Get Out!

"These are all my luggage, James. I'll tidy them up quickly," Jolene said.

As she was about to go over and tidy up her luggage, she was pushed to the floor by James. He looked down at her with disdain, not hiding the disgust in his eyes.

"Hmph! You wouldn't be thinking of sharing a room with me, would you?"

"James..." Jolene felt uneasy, especially with James' current demeanor. It made her have the urge to run away.

"Go to the servants' quarters downstairs; that's where your room is."

James didn't even look at her as he walked toward the bathroom. Soon, the sound of water splashing came, and Jolene was still on the floor, feeling lost.

The servants' quarters? But she was the Windsors' future lady of the house. How could she stay in the servants' quarters?

moment ago and couldn't help but feel scared. After hesitating for a while, she finally dragged her luggage downstairs. Moving her luggage upstairs had already exhausted her. Now, she had she finished moving everything, James came out of the bathroom." Where's the coffee?" He stood on the second-floor corridor, looking at Jolene, who was resting on the sofa in the living room. "Did you think I asked you to come here to enjoy yourself? Since you're so eager to be a Windsor, you must take care of all looked at Jolene sternly as she stood up from

we hire a

asked Jolene to move in so that he could torment her. Naturally, he wouldn't let her have a verge of tears. "I'm your fiancée. How can you treat me well how you became my fiancée. If you want to become a Windsor, come to a decision. "So, after I show my see." Accept her? James would never accept her that, James turned and went back into his room, reminding her once again before leaving, "Coffee. Don't knew that James was deliberately making things difficult for her. But since she chose to move here, she had to make him accept her. Otherwise, everything she had done before would be in vain. She couldn't give up, and she couldn't walked toward the kitchen to make some open the door to the master bedroom." James, you know how to knock?" James looked coldly at her, closing the files in his

Chapter 697 Intense Hatred

After carefully cleaning up the spilled coffee on the floor, Jolene left the master bedroom. Right as she stepped out of the door, she couldn't help but burst into tears.

She'd been the princess of the Walter family for so many years. When had she ever done such things?

She returned to the servants' quarters and called Rowena, hoping that her mother could come up with a solution for her. However, the phone rang for a long time with no answer, and her heart grew colder with each ring.

Jolene couldn't have imagined that, at that moment, Rowena was lying in the arms of an old man. He was considered old because he was about a decade older than Graham. The man was Boris Walter, Graham's first cousin once removed.

If Graham had seen this scene, he would probably be so angry that he would want to shred the man into pieces.

Boris held Rowena in his arms as he lit a cigarette, feeling satisfied.

Although Rowena was a bit older in age, she had the charm of a mature woman, and Boris even thought she was more to his taste than those young girls.

do you plan to take action against had always felt repulsed by this way of addressing

Boris smiled and said, "What's

Walter Inc. I need to contact the and was a member of the board of directors. His lifelong goal was to take Graham took the initiative to come to him and said she wanted to suggest a collaboration, he was very surprised.

But more importantly, he was pleased, thinking he finally had a chance to like to meet them?" Rowena spoke up, as her main purpose that day was have that much time and didn't want to wait, so she decided to rope in the Glasses

"Alright, the

he said, of course. However, he had a clear understanding of his own capabilities and knew that woman in his arms. "What did Graham do to offend you? Why do you hate now, I won't shed a single tear." Not

Chapter 698 Marriage in Name Only

When Rowena returned to Walter Castle, it was already 2 in the morning. She had just walked into the living room and was about to quietly go back to her room when the lights in the corridor were suddenly turned on.

She was startled and turned around to find that the person who had turned on the lights was Jenny. Her heart raced uncontrollably faster. "Jenny, why aren't you asleep at this late hour?"

"You're not asleep either, and you just came back so late. What were you doing, Rowena?" Jenny smiled, and under the illumination of the lights, her eyes seemed to be glowing, making Rowena feel like she had nowhere to hide.

Rowena tried to suppress the panic in her heart and said expressionlessly, "I felt sad because Jo moved out, so I went to talk to a friend."

"Oh, really?" Jenny smirked with a hint of sarcasm.

If it weren't for the fact that she had just received information from the person she sent to follow Rowena about her entering a hotel, she might have believed her words.

Rowena didn't intend to continue talking to her. She couldn't shake off the feeling that Jenny knew everything. Even though she knew it was impossible, it still made her panic. "Go to bed early. You have work tomorrow."

saying that, she went into her room, not caring

Rowena's room, then shifted her gaze to the room where Graham was staying. Since she returned to Walter Castle, she'd never seen them stay in the same room. It seemed didn't really affect her much, but she was concerned on behalf of her father. She couldn't just who Rowena had gone to meet that up, Rowena was already in the kitchen.

Come and have breakfast." Seeing Jenny, Rowena already having breakfast. Jenny walked over and looked at Rowena with suspicion. "It's the first time I've tasted food prepared by you too desperate. She'd just done something behind Graham's back, and now she was sat together as they ate breakfast, and that was when Jolene returned. From a distance, that, she couldn't hold back anymore and burst into turned to look at her and noticed her arrival."

After all, Jolene was her own flesh and blood.

little family of three?" Jolene had suffered a lot at James'

Chapter 699 Care for Them on Your Behalf

Graham would have said yes to her request without hesitation if she had said that yesterday. He would even feel glad that this daughter of his had become sensible.

Everything was too late now.

Graham threw the newspaper he was reading to Jolene. He said nothing and continued eating breakfast.

Jolene was puzzled but still lowered her head to look at the newspaper. Her eyes widened in disbelief in the next second, and an incredulous expression overtook her features. "This...these reporters are simply spouting nonsense."

The newspaper reported extensively on her moving to James' villa last night. Some speculated that they were about to marry, while others said she was shameless. There were all sorts of comments, and most of them weren't positive.

"Dad, I was too impulsive yesterday. I shouldn't have moved in with him so soon." Jolene apologized with her head down. She'd rarely admitted her mistakes all these years.

Unfortunately, Graham was unmoved.

for help. Of course, Rowena knew very well what Graham was her daughter. So, she could only bite the bullet and speak up, "It's online? Everyone in Bardoff City knows about it. How can you say

Jolene had moved out, she wouldn't give her a change your mind overnight? Could it be that you suddenly don't as she bit her lip. "I thought I should stay home to care leave." Jenny didn't hold back.

don't like me, but you can't deprive me of my right to care for I'll take good care of them on our

"Jenny..."

the two icily, and Jolene dared not speak know that in Graham's heart, she was no longer his

a dismissive wave, obviously not wanting to hear anything

Chapter 700 I Must Endure It

Jenny put down her cutlery and looked at Jolene with a sympathetic look. "Have you ever considered the possibility that he abhors you?"

"No! That's impossible! It must be you!" Jolene refused to admit it.

Jenny shook her head, thinking that Jolene was hopeless, and got up to leave. Before she left, she reminded Jolene, "Remember to go back early. If you go back late and upset James, you won't be able to return to Walter Castle, and you won't be able to stay with the Windsors as well."

With that, Jenny left, ignoring Jolene's angry shouts behind her.

Jolene was furious and helpless. She cursed Jenny vehemently in the dining room, but what good would that do? Anyone who saw her behaving like that wouldn't think much of her. Even Rowena, who was sitting beside her, looked indifferent.

Rowena dismissed the servants and let Jolene curse until she was out of breath before asking, "Do you feel better now?"

Jolene finally stopped. She clenched her jaw and remained silent.

well all these years, which has made you incapable of controlling yourself now. You can't even she pampered her since childhood, thinking it would be good for her daughter. But now she realized that maybe letting Jolene suffer a little when she was young would have been better for time. What she could do now was let Jolene grow up and make her still upset, but fortunately, she didn't cry anymore. "Mom, I understand what you mean, but...James is you went over? And how did you respond at that time?" Rowena's expression became cold. She lips and of the day, Jolene was still her daughter, so Rowena couldn't bear to see her suffer too much. She reached out and

She had the feeling that there were even worse things waiting for the Windsors

this,

Now that her relationship with James was made known to everyone, she most probably wouldn't be able to marry someone better if their engagement was canceled. Even Brandon wouldn't get married to head immediately. "No, I don't want to

she married him, she could still be the wife of the head of the Windsor family and