

Be Yours 701

Chapter 701 A Decision

After Jolene and James got engaged, Graham and James no longer needed to keep their interactions secret or discreet. There were often rumors of a collaboration between the two families, but nothing concrete had materialized from it yet, much to the curiosity of the people in Bardoff City. They were sure the two families were working together but didn't know what they were up to.

Jenny didn't bother herself with these matters as she couldn't intervene with them dealing with the Glasses. She continued to work as a junior employee in the sales department every day. Perhaps because Jolene and James were engaged, everyone assumed that Jenny would be the obvious choice to inherit the Walter family business. Hence, people in the company were more polite to her, and hardly anyone dared to oppose her.

Even when she went out to negotiate with clients, her success rate was almost ninety percent, making her the top performer in the entire department in no time. Jenny felt somewhat helpless about this, knowing it would be unfair to the other employees if she continued to stay in the department. The commission they could receive would decrease as she took up all the sales.

After much hesitation, she finally made a decision. She went to Graham's office. He'd just finished talking with James. Seeing her arrive, he smiled and beckoned for her to come over. "Jenny, come and sit here."

Jenny walked over and looked at James. "Are you discussing your plans?"

"We're done," James replied.

about the progress. "How's it been in progress for some time now, and with the contract that the Glasses had signed with her before, it should have already taken effect, but she hadn't heard any projects recently in succession, and I guess they will soon realize it's raised an eyebrow. "Then you should be careful. Who it at all. If the Glasses really took action, they would be doing themselves in and giving Graham more about business matters than her. Since he to have something to say to Graham, so he announced, "I still have some work back

If they can trace it back to me, they nodded, but his eyes were filled with disdain,

Chapter 702 I Trust Your Judgment

"What's wrong?" Jenny asked, puzzled.

Graham retracted his gaze and looked at her. "James is a good person, but he is engaged to Jolene. I don't want you having anything to do with him."

He thought favorably of James, and he still did. But this didn't mean that he could tolerate him being close to both of his daughters, especially Jenny.

Jenny was stunned. She instantly understood what Graham meant and was speechless. "You're overthinking things. He's my senior. He's just like family to me. Can't I have a meal with family?"

"I know you don't mean it that way, Jenny, but does James feel the same way? Can you guarantee that people will keep their mouths shut?" Graham was grim. He was truly trying to act in Jenny's best interests.

was exasperated. She looked at her father, saying, "I don't care what people think of me as long as I have a Graham shook his head." Just don't grow too close with him. Forget the outsiders.

Jolene would come to bother her regardless and blame

how to respond. He was silent for a while before sighing, then saying, "Forget it.

the company

about my resignation," Jenny surprised. "That's alright. There's no point in to the sales department in order to train her, but it seemed pointless now. Jenny was much more capable than he had thought, my assistant so that you will be introduced to frowned, upset. "Didn't we agree on letting trustworthy and capable people take over

Chapter 703 Finding A Good Husband

Jenny was speechless. She had walked in there expecting to talk about her resignation, but here they were, discussing future husbands.

She looked at the documents on the table. Graham even opened the folders for her neatly, so she would see their photographs on the covers. They were indeed young and handsome, but she had no intention of finding a husband.

"You're thinking too much." She smiled dryly, not knowing what to say.

Graham, on the other hand, didn't think so. He explained, "Since you're uninterested in managing the company, these are the people I've specifically chosen to nurture. Wouldn't it be perfect if you married one of them?"

The corners of Jenny's lips twitched. She couldn't smile at all. "Pretty much, n

"I know you're not too happy about it, but this is just a suggestion. If no one here catches your eye, you can bring over one you like, and I'll nurture him step by step. I'll let him take over the company.'

Although Graham trusted these men, they were not part of his family. He would be more at ease if the successor were his own.

It was still early, so she responded to head. She had the company," Graham said. He couldn't bear to let Jenny become part of someone business if Jenny married someone outside their circle? Jenny rubbed find someone who does." Graham was upset. If Jenny left and Graham retired, his days would be thought of it sent chills up his to say anything yet. You're still young; you can take charge young anymore." Graham didn't want to press the topic further. She said, "This seals whatever you say." Graham nodded, waiting downstairs.

Chapter 704 Rip Her Face Apart

Walking out of Graham's office, Jenny didn't go down immediately to get James. Instead, she went to the sales department to find Adrian Caiman. She suggested dividing her performance bonus for the month with everyone in the department.

"You're joking, aren't you, Jenny?" Adrian could not believe what Jenny said.

Jenny's performance that month had broken their records. With such a huge bonus, even if it were divided, everyone would get a significant amount.

Jenny smiled, shaking her head. "Of course I'm not. I won't be coming to the office anymore starting tomorrow. Thank you for looking after me all these days."

Adrian was stunned but came back to his senses quickly. "You're too generous. I didn't do much. You're very capable."

He knew very well that Jenny was destined to be the heir of Walter Inc. This was the future president he was talking to. He couldn't anger her.

However, he could not suck up to her. After all, he had worked with her for a while and understood her personality more or less.

wouldn't mind if someone didn't suck up to her. But if someone deliberately attempted to win say anything." Jenny would be there for a long time if she did. James was downstairs, and matter what happens in the future, the entire department was expressing his loyalty to her. She didn't reject it. It didn't matter whether she managed the company in the future; it would be

she left the building and went wait," Jenny said awkwardly. "There were James shook his head.

what she wanted for lunch, and she replied, "I'm down for anything. I can't think of a place right anything else,

the other side of the city, in James' villa, Jolene put a lot of effort into had never cooked in her life. These few days, she had been tormented by James. Not only did she have to prepare meals daily, but she also had to be scolded if she messed

They probably didn't taste very good, but it was hoped that James would be in a

Chapter 705 No One Cared About Her

James and Jenny sat in a private booth in the restaurant.

Jenny wanted to ask him how he was doing, but she didn't know how to phrase it. She was afraid that she'd make him upset.

"I've been so busy lately that I haven't had the time to catch up with you. How have you been?" James asked. He had a smile on his face as if things were just like before.

Jenny felt even more worried seeing him like this. 'I'm doing pretty well. What about you?"

"Me?*" James raised his eyebrows and slowly poured her a cup of coffee." I'm fine."

In fact, with someone to yell at every day he got home, he felt even better than before.

Jenny wanted to ask him about his situation with Jolene, but she knew it would upset him if she did. She had to keep it to herself.

waiter served them their hectic lately at Walter Inc?" James asked, handing her a plate of head. "Not at all. On the contrary,

James handed her yet another plate of food as if he was worried that she didn't refuse the food. Back when they were under Mr. Birkett's mentorship, James would give her of Mr. Birkett, Jenny asked, 'Have lately? He's been in Skaland for weeks at a time. But now, he seemed to be there either. He did try to contact me before, but I wasn't around.' James didn't think it was unusual. He smiled, saying, "Old people ate,

about him, I'll get someone to find him," a while. In the end, her anxiety took over. "Yes. He's already didn't contact her other seniors often,

when

Chapter 706 I Hate You

It took a long while for Jolene to prop herself up. She looked at James and Jenny standing together as if they were the couple and she was the mistress.

A thunderstorm of emotions surged through her chest.

"I'm your fiancée, James! How could you do this to me?" Jolene looked at James with tears in her eyes, holding back her pain. She thought he would appreciate her effort these past few days and would at least stand up for her at that moment.

Alas, he did not.

Jenny looked at her coldly, but James' gaze was even colder.

He walked toward her and lifted her chin. "Who let you in here? Who do you think you are?"

stay in my house, you'll have to suck it up. Don't you dare say that something is going on between Jenny and me. Even if there was, you have no right to point it out."

angry that she burst into sobs, but crying was no use. James would only hate her even off!" He waved her off, not wishing to see her for another had only herself to blame. This was all her

She couldn't stay. Things would only be worse if she did. However, Jenny had now witnessed another apologized to Jenny. He was even a little embarrassed to

She didn't mind. "Why did you let her stay with you if you didn't matter. As long as they didn't marry, there

Jolene, they would have a reason to cancel the wedding. If that happened, even the Windsors would have nothing to be with me so much, I'll fulfill her wishes." He just wasn't sure if she regretted was dark and moody. Jenny rarely ever saw this reply to her question.

Chapter 707 Quit Pretending

Jenny had no idea what Rowena and Jolene were conspiring, but she had her own line of defense.

Jenny knew something was up the night Rowena snuck off with someone for a secret meeting. Once Jenny learned of the person's identity, she knew at once that Rowena was planning something.

Rowena probably didn't know that she had long been targeted by Jenny. The moment she did anything to harm the Walters, Jenny would instantly be able to use something against her.

But before Jenny could find out Rowena's secret, Randy found her.

"Jenny." Randy looked at the beautiful woman before him, his eyebrows furrowing.

Jenny was a little surprised to see him. "What's up, Randy?"

Since leaving Walter Inc, Jenny had been looking for a job at a hospital. What she truly wanted was to be a doctor.

you," Randy said. "The Glasses have been losing quite a few projects lately, and hard at Jenny as if he could see through her. However, reality knew that Graham and James wanted to take down the Glasses, but she didn't know the concrete plan.

Thus, when Randy expressed his suspicion, she looked bewildered. "Is that so? It could be a

Randy had approached her with was still in motion. She didn't know when the said. However, his father insisted it had something to do with the

We work together, and we're relatives.

something off with Jenny." But the be one of the other elites? It must hurt for some people that Jolene is being married instantly thought of the Britts. Jolene did that have to do with the Glasses? Shouldn't the Britts be messing with the Walters said, "The Britts won't have the balls but not so much of the Glasses. After all, the Glasses did not compare to it was

Chapter 708 What Does That Have to Do with You?

Blake raised an eyebrow. She walked toward Randy.

"Mr. Glass," she said. Although she disliked Randy, he was still the successor of the Glasses. She could use him to her advantage.

Randy immediately cleared up the expression on his face when he heard her. When he saw that it was Blake, he smiled. "Miss Watkins. What a coincidence that you're here."

"Yes. Alec and I are here on some business," she said, looking at Alec.

Randy only now realized that Alec was there, too. He deflated a little. "Oh, it's Mr. Faust."

Alec was the director of Faust Group. Everyone called him Mr. Faust to not embarrass him since he was part of the Ten Elites. However, he was only a pawn to the Fausts. He would basically never reach the inner workings of the company.

"Why don't we have a meal together since we've bumped into each other?" Randy looked at Blake with a smile. He directed his question to her and couldn't care less about Alec.

who was walking over.

were simple enough. He didn't care if Blake was going to eat with Randy. He wasn't going to join them that Alec never really thought much of her. He didn't care

It would be great if Alec didn't tag along, face darkened. He said nothing,

with you today, Randy.

displeased. He knew Blake wouldn't go because of Alec, so he vented his anger on him. "You used to like Jenny so much, Mr. Faust. And now you're abandoning Blake once

"What does that have to had Alec gotten the balls to go against him? Was he honestly thinking of himself as and Jenny really do share the same temper," Randy said sarcastically. He didn't know where his displeasure was shown clearly on his face. Blake didn't want them to fight, so she

She pulled Alec away.

Chapter 709 The Interview

Everyone was spreading rumors about them being together. Since both Alec and Blake had not cleared anything up, it was considered a confirmation.

They were in agreement. Blake would help him inherit the Fausts if Alec agreed to be with her.

"How can I tell them about something like this?" Blake shook her head. Her parents would rage at her if she did.

Moreover, Alec might think that what they had was fake, but Blake didn't share the same sentiment.

She noticed he was unhappy and said, 'It's fine if you don't want to go.

We're just going to have a simple meal. I told my father you wished to be the Fausts' next heir. He thinks favorably of you. He's probably inviting you over to talk about this."

Alec did not want to join the Watkins because he did not think he and Blake were a couple. At most, they were collaborators.

was a psychologist. She saw through Alec's heart clearly. She knew that what he wanted right now was to inherit the Fausts. Hence, when she brought the matter up, Alec didn't seem

Alec

She knew that Alec would agree as long was because of her parents' support that she wanted to help Alec win the position as the Fausts' next heir. It was because she didn't want any other woman to be with him. She wanted to hold him tightly in her grasp so that no one else would the director's plenty of hands-on experience and had published many journals. On top of that, she was a famous teacher.

would arrive in a few days' time. When that happened,

"Jenny?"

voice floated over. Jenny looked

Medical University's anniversary celebration. When Derrick had learned that she worked in Parrington Hospital, he had mocked her. But then, when he knew where she had received her tutelage, he ceased mocking had heard that Jenny had resigned from Parrington Hospital, but he didn't know she was