

Be Yours 721

Chapter 721 Don't Forget Whose Side You're On

The Glasses were in an uproar. They had called her early in the morning, demanding to know why she hadn't informed them of such important news.

Rowena would have liked to, but she had no idea what was happening. Graham had done this all behind her back. He had not let her in on anything.

Jenny took her phone out and took a look at the news. It was true.

Who had leaked this?

It could not be the Walters or the Windsors. The Glasses were suspicious, but since they could not confirm it, they had no reason to make themselves implode. It would not have benefitted them at all.

She kept her suspicions to herself. She ignored Rowena, which incensed her. "Jenny Walter! I know you don't like me, but you didn't have to convince your father to go against my family! The Glasses are my family. What would the outsiders think of you making Graham do this? Aren't you afraid that the Walters will be counterattacked?"

at her and smirked. "You think too highly of Counterattacked?

worth all can target the Glasses, but what about the next time? The other elites are going to think that you're both their plans quietly. Now that it was exposed and out in the open, the Glasses would definitely ask the other would get tricky

all a misunderstanding and that they don't have to get couldn't believe what she had heard. She looked at Jenny, for are not on such bad terms with each other that this has to happen." The Glasses were her family. If they were destroyed, she would not have a happy had just started their plan. However, the Walters were already several steps ahead, taken out of the battlefield at Rowena's words. 'You and I know nothing about

Chapter 722 Let's Hope You Don't Regret This

Jenny smirked. "You think too highly of me. I could never change my father's decision.' "Are you really going to turn the family against all the other Elites in Bardoff City, Jenny?" Rowena asked harshly.

Jenny hummed nonchalantly. "You should tell Dad if you're worried about the Glasses. He might be able to help."

"You!" Rowena yelled, about to lunge at Jenny. But she held herself back, knowing she was no match for Jenny.

She took a deep breath to calm down.

hope you don't regret your choices today," she said before know where she was going or what she would do next, messed with their plans. She also reminded him about the bar opening. It neurosurgical lab was already packed with as a surgeon as well as a witness to

I'm sure you'll soon find yourself in my shoes," the man praised her, though Jenny only gave a perfunctory smile.

gathered everyone in the conference room and quickly introduced Jenny to

Chapter 723 You Misunderstood Me

"You really are here! I was getting worried you wouldn't be coming.' Derrick had been looking out for news of Jenny these few days as he needed to decide whether he should date McKenna. When his colleague said a new neurologist was coming in, he immediately thought it might be Jenny, and sure enough, here she was.

Displeasure flared in Jenny's eyes for a split second before she responded, "Mhm. Today's my first day.'

"I'm glad to hear it. Wanna celebrate?' Derrick then decided to take action. While McKenna's father was a director, Derrick had bigger appetites beyond mere nurses, and Jenny was right up his alley.

Jenny just didn't want to be involved with this man. She didn't have a good feeling about him. "Not today, I'm afraid. I already have plans.'

"Great! Let's go, then. We're all friends, aren't we?' Derrick beamed as if they were really close friends.

as she wished to get rid of Derrick, they were still colleagues, so she couldn't risk making a day, maybe.

nodded. "I'll hold you to your in the hospital that would be the perfect place for their meal together, she then left the hospital for still staring off into the distance with jumped with fright. "Shit! You McKenna huffed. She had seen how given a whole explanation of his motives just to appease McKenna, but now that he was going to pursue Jenny, he wouldn't waste his time doing so throat. "What do you mean, McKenna?

something?" McKenna demanded,

Chapter 724 Trial by Combat

"I know you like me, McKenna, but please understand, I only do like you as a sister,' Derrick repeated as if he was the one being wronged.

Now that she had seen how big an asshole Derrick was, any lingering feelings she had for him had dissipated entirely. "Just you fucking wait, you dick!"

She'd make sure Derrick would pay for treating her like a lovesick idiot!

As she stormed away, Derrick couldn't help but worry about his job stability. McKenna's father was his superior, after all, so he would be in deep shit if they really planned to punish him. But still, the man was known to keep personal and professional matters apart, so Derrick might not suffer too much at his hands. Plus, it's not like he reached beyond first base with McKenna.

Derrick relaxed upon reassuring himself. Now he should focus on how to score with Jenny.

call to update himself on Jenny's life there. Because of this call, he came to hear Jenny's true identity as the daughter of the Walter family.

a glimpse of the Ten Elites, he had dissipated as well. Not only would snickered at the thought, as any more for you, miss." The butler handed her an writes letters

letter to read its contents, then letter from beside her. His

Chapter 725 Self-Destruct

Graham was conflicted. On the one hand, he was grateful he had arranged fighting lessons for Jenny, but on the other, he didn't want to put her at risk just because she could fight.

"So you're saying you'll accept the challenge?" he asked, tone clouded with worry.

Jenny nodded. "Of course. Mr. Munster would be humiliated if I didn't."

"But what if-'

"You really don't have to worry, Dad. I know how to protect myself. Plus, these challenges usually aren't to the death." Of course, that didn't mean she wouldn't get injured. It was just a matter of how serious the injury would be.

Knowing that she had made her decision, Graham knew he couldn't stop her anymore. "I can't change your mind, I guess. Please keep yourself safe."

Jenny said with the topic to rest. After several moments want me to go down this road of annihilation and that if I nearly laughed upon remembering what she said. It'd be the Glass family's grave they still need to be careful of any allies was taxing enough for just the two families to take the Glasses a house of cards if any other Elite families stepped in to the Glasses'

"We knew this wouldn't be an easy task, so we've prepared ourselves with relief. James and her father's and daughter continued their dinner, and not even till its end did Rowena return, which city, the atmosphere in the Glass

Chapter 726 Set on Destroying Her

Randy, who had been silent all this while, suddenly spoke up, "Dad, I don't think the other families will just sit back and let them destroy us. Their system would fall into turmoil too."

Rowena nodded. "Randy is right. We need to find allies in the other families too. I'm sure we'll find a way out of this."

"I hear you." Wayne nodded contemplatively, though he still felt uncertain. Why would the Walters go through all that trouble if things were that easy?

Still, there was no better option now. All they could do was take things one step at a time. If worse came to worst, he could ask the other Elite families' help to defeat the Walters. He could even air out all the spoils for their taking. There must be one family who'd step in to help with that condition in mind.

While the Glasses were in the midst of discussing their battle plans, the Walters and Windsors were no longer hiding their motives. Their plans were quickly put into place, even slowing down the Glasses' progress.

After work, Jenny went to the location of the challenge sent to her. She still couldn't guess who it was that sent it to her. The location was a grassy field out in the Bardoff countryside, away from the hubbub of the city.

waiting for a while

a woman
asked before Jenny could Jenny nodded. "And you?"
disciple of Madam Olanna Roy," the woman stated, giving Jenny a bow had mentioned her before. In fact, the two seemed to be Mr. Tywin Munster. I believe widened upon hearing that name. "Oh, challenge me? Because as far as I can recall, we've never met. There's When she walked out again, she wasn't alone anymore. Jenny recognized

Chapter 727 Kill Her!

"Yes, yes, I damned well do!" Alicia hissed. If she had the skills necessary to defeat Jenny, she wouldn't have asked for Melissa's help.

"Why? Because of your brother's death?" Jenny asked though she had guessed it would be because of it.

Alicia didn't hide the truth any longer. "He was my last living family until you killed him, you bitch. I'll avenge him if it's the last thing I do!"

"Heh. Yvonne Dickman is your brother's real killer. Why aren't you seeking revenge on her?" Jonathan wouldn't have died if Yvonne hadn't given him that task.

But Alicia was in no mood to listen. "She's responsible, yes, but you're the main culprit!"

Jenny sighed. No point wasting her breath with stubbornness. She looked at Melissa. "Alright. Let's start."

for herself if Melissa had what it at Jenny. 'I trust you know the nodded with a corner to watch the two. Melissa had told her that she wouldn't kill Jenny even if given the chance, so Alicia was waiting for the right moment to end Jenny's life for whatever consequences came next, she didn't bother considering it.

two women swiftly exchanged hits and punches to the point where not even Alicia could keep nearby mountains, Yvonne was gazing at the fight her! Kill the bitch!" she growled out then, someone hugged her from peeled her eye away

coquettish demeanor successfully seducing him. "Why'd you think to come here all so quiet, don't you think? Wonderful place for two people to spend time together on their date.' Yvonne winked at Brandon, slowly rubbing her Chapter 728 Don't You Dare Leave!

Jenny was obviously unaware of Yvonne and Brandon's tussle in bed. All her focus was directed on countering Melissa's attacks. Luckily for her, Melissa was no better than Jonathan, so she wasn't at much risk of losing her life that day.

It took at least ten rounds of single-handed combat before Melissa finally tapped out. "I think we can stop now.*

Jenny nodded, seeing Melissa's smarts at play. She knew she'd lose if the fight continued, so she might as well stop now to save her pride.

But Alicia disapproved of that decision. "Why are you surrendering, Ms. Collins? You're still standing, aren't you?"

To her, winning meant beating up your opponent to the extent that they could no longer get up or at least land several killing blows. So the fight meant nothing to her at all.

Melissa's face immediately fell. Did Alicia expect her to suffer from mortal injury before calling it quits? "Miss Walter and I are only challenging one another's skill and strength, not fighting to the death. I surrendered because I was unable to best her. There's no issue with that when it comes to trial by combat."

you defeat her...*

why was this happening? First, her brother dies at Jenny's hand, then Melissa fails to overpower her. Was

it. *A loss is a loss. I pray you don't seek to harm Jenny solid as that advice might be, Melissa didn't Jenny was finding Melissa quite a virtuous character. At least better than Alicia. That was why she didn't include telling Alicia, "I'm truly sorry about your brother's death, Alicia, but he was without anything to change your mind

she didn't feel she'd about her brother. "You're sorry? You were the Jenny remained

Chapter 729 I Don't Have Enough

Jenny stopped and sighed in exasperation. "Yes? Is it your turn to fight me now?"

Alicia stepped back as Jenny began cracking her fists. "I-I'm no match for you."

"Smart. Now leave me alone, or you won't get a warning next time," Jenny snapped. This time, Alicia stayed behind while Jenny went to her car because she knew just how dangerous that threat was.

Jenny was about to drive home when someone approached her car door.

"Melissa? You're still here," she exclaimed in surprise.

Melissa smiled awkwardly. "I uh..It's not as easy getting a taxi out here in the country as it was in the city."

Translation: Would you mind giving me a ride back?

these parts." Jenny opened the passenger went in, tossing Alicia into the back reached the

there came no response. When Jenny turned to look, an amused laugh. Was this woman brave or just trusting enough? They'd just been fighting one another in that field back there, yet Melissa wasn't at her head and drove back her nap to you." The car was parked outside Walter Castle while Jenny waited for Melissa to cocked her head in confusion. "I don't have much on me, so simple will suffice," all of Madam Olanna's

"It's not...consistent, so kind of

in a voice so soft Jenny

you use your skills

Chapter 730 Yeah, I Guess

Jenny really didn't have the words. "You came to the city on Alicia's behalf?

Empty-handed?" "I didn't plan to either, but when she called me and started crying about her brother, I figured, 'Hey, this might be a good chance to try out the city life,' plus, I couldn't just refuse to help her. Jonathan and I trained together," Melissa explained.

"You're not from the city?" Jenny asked in surprise.

"Yeah. I couldn't stand the small-town life anymore, so I decided, might as well come here." She had thought her chances of getting hired as a bodyguard would be higher in the city. That was one of the reasons she took on Alicia's request as well.

Jenny nodded in understanding.

"I'll buy you dinner then."

like saucer plates. "Really? You're not messing a nearby restaurant. She had plans for Melissa that she couldn't risk Rowena knowing, so she couldn't bring a table inside the restaurant, where Jenny flipped through the menu.

worried Jenny might leave after their meal without paying and throw Melissa under have to worry, Melissa. What can I benefit from you when you have nothing to your name?'

it had been days since she had a proper meal. In fact, she only had cup noodles for her? It hadn't always been of the matter was the only skill she had that could land her a career was martial arts and combat. It's not like them dinner. Melissa instantly picked up her fork and knife, smacking her in truth, Melissa ate most of it. Her appetite was