

Be Yours 751

Chapter 751 What If I Don't Want to?

"All we need to do now is send someone over to pull the plug," Wayne suggested. Jenny wouldn't have her guard up now that she was unconscious. The only issue was how to get close enough to her to land the killing blow.

Randy nodded. "I'm on it."

The Glasses were not the only ones having a hard time sleeping for the night. Jolene had been equally disturbed upon hearing the news that Jenny was still alive.

She had heard of Jenny's accident only after she was hospitalized and prayed to everything in existence that she'd just die. Such was the hatred Jolene had for her "sister."

It went without saying then that she wasn't in any good mood now that Jenny was out of the danger zone. Especially when James had rushed to the hospital first thing after hearing Jenny was in there. Even a blind person could tell how much he cared for her.

Though Jolene should've known by now that James had no feelings for her, she still felt hurt that the man cared so much for Jenny.

Just as tears were streaming down her face, the sound of footsteps came from the door. James was back.

of showing the hate she had for nothing, only sitting down on the couch. His face was dark was James so upset?

asked tentatively once over to her side. In a flash, he wrapped a hand can you?" He hissed, eyes bloodshot. Jolene quivered frightfully in out, clawing at her neck as He snarled, "No? The Glasses were the ones behind this their decision to do this. In fact, they barely got in touch with her pained Jolene the most was that he addressed her his mind with those bunch of

she...she was still a her eyes and landed on James' hand. As if regaining his senses, he let go of his gasped for air as she crumpled onto the floor, traumatized from her

Chapter 752 Long Forgotten

While Jolene gave Rowena a call, Jenny woke up in the hospital.

She just had a dream in which she was running on an endless path. At the peak of her despair, a person fell from the sky—Alec.

Seeing him, she was elated, thinking that Alec still liked her. She believed that his memory loss and disinterest were fake. However, amid her joy, she opened her eyes to the sight of Evan, not Alec. She was momentarily stunned but quickly remembered what had happened.

"What did you dream about? I saw you smiling earlier, but now you're not. Are you disappointed to see me?" Evan joked.

Coming to her senses, Jenny let out an awkward laugh. 'Evan, stop teasing me.'

"Alright, fine. Are you hungry?" Evan asked.

Jenny nodded. Since she hadn't eaten for almost a day, she was hungry.

doctor said you can't eat yet and can eat, why did you ask me? Are you trying to mood," Evan said with a grin before helping her

Jenny finally had the opportunity to ask, "Evan, why did you suddenly come that he existed. "If I said you're the reason I returned, would you believe me?" Evan looked see it, but it only made her to ease the tension. "I met Gilbert while I was abroad, and he invited me back

this was the real

"Where's Gilbert?" Jenny asked.

go and rest. Since he worked hard to find you, I guessed you wouldn't want him to stay must have come with him to find me, right?

There was no way he could tell her that he had intentionally remained there just so that he could be the first person Jenny saw

Chapter 753 Can't You Feed Her?

The next day, Jenny woke up, and when Evan saw her awake, he approached her and said, "The doctor said you can drink some chicken soup today."

He then brought the chicken soup over and prepared to feed her with a spoon, saying, "Come, have some. It's not hot anymore."

"I'll do it myself," Jenny responded. Although he had always been kind to her, she felt a little uneasy and uncomfortable. Perhaps it was because they hadn't seen each other in so many years that Jenny wasn't used to it.

"Can you move it?" Evan asked, referring to the wound on Jenny's shoulder, which was still bandaged. She probably shouldn't move it.

Embarrassed, Jenny replied, "I still have my other hand."

Her right shoulder was injured, which rendered her right hand useless, but her left hand was fine, so she had no issue eating. Since she was so insistent, Evan didn't say more. With a nod, he put the chicken soup on the table in front of her, and she used her left hand to eat.

Halfway through her meal, Gilbert knocked on the door and walked in.

he went abroad, they were apart for the longest time at her. He was displeased when he noticed Jenny eating the chicken soup with her left hand. Turning to Evan, he asked, "Can't you and was unhappy with his performance. Before Evan could explain, apologetically at Evan but didn't refuse Gilbert's assistance, leaving biased?" Evan

Jenny felt much better. She asked Gilbert, 'Did you us coming and left quietly," Gilbert replied. He had decided not to chase hear that. "Those

Gilbert said, knowing Jenny's character and how she always relied on herself. She never took those who meant her harm seriously. However, there were always powerful people in the world, and nobody could defend themselves all the help as she had suffered the consequences. She understood why Gilbert money hiring mercenaries from abroad. I'm concerned that they have other motives. You should

"Rest well and

Chapter 754 Don't You Still Like Him?

Jenny laughed when she heard that.

"Let's just leave him blocked. We have no need to contact each other anyway."

With that, she put away her phone, not intending to remove Alec from the list of blocked contacts.

Jenny was resentful because if Alec had answered her call, she might have been rescued earlier, and she wouldn't have been shot twice nor forced to jump off a cliff. Although she knew a river was below the cliff, she hadn't known if she would survive.

She wondered if Alec would feel guilty if she had died there. She had no way of knowing the answer and didn't care to know.

"Could you buy me a bottle of water?" Jenny asked Evan. "I'm a little thirsty. N and got up, understanding that

Jenny turned to Gilbert and asked, "Why did you bring him beside her bed and asked, "What's wrong? Are much emotion, Jenny replied, "I have no reason to be than good. He asked, "I remember you used to like him when you was a long time ago.

had grown up with Evan. Since he was the only person who wasn't her sibling, who else could she have liked? It certainly didn't help that Evan was handsome and kind. However, she little frustrated as he thought Jenny still to manage my company. He's be the case," Jenny replied. "If it's for any other reason, you better put a stop gave him a side-eye. Having grown up with him, she back from calling him out. He quickly answered, "Don't worry. I know what I'm

Chapter 755 I'm Trying to Avoid That

After Gilbert left, Jenny leaned against the bed and took out her phone, scrolling through the latest news. She checked her call log and saw that she had made an emergency call to Alec, but he hadn't answered and had only called her back about an hour later.

She continued thinking about what would have happened had Alec answered her call. At that time, she had just entered the mountains, so if someone had come to her rescue, she might not have had to suffer the two gunshots later on. But then again, he had no obligation to come to her aid. She blamed herself for setting him as her emergency contact, which almost cost her life.

She decided to change her emergency contact to Gilbert. She felt confident that he would come to her rescue no matter what. As for Alec, she decided to keep him on the list of blocked contacts and have no further contact with him. Although he had no obligation to save her, Jenny's heart still hurt and felt uncomfortable.

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door of the ward. Jenny thought it was Evan returning and said, "Come in."

It was Derrick who entered instead. Jenny was hospitalized in Bardoff Hospital, and all the well-informed people in the hospital knew she was there. Derrick was one of them.

"Jenny, are you okay? I heard about your accident this morning and rushed over immediately." Derrick approached her and asked how she was doing.

a smile and said,

her body and

"I fell," Jenny said.

to himself, "Even if you take me for a fool, at least come up with a better reason." However, he didn't say that out loud and instead said, "Oh, okay."

The atmosphere became awkward, and Derrick could tell that Jenny didn't and came in. Seeing someone else in the room, he asked, "Who's

"A colleague," Jenny said.

"A friend," Derrick said.

both answered, but with entirely different answers. Evan smiled and didn't pay it any mind, saying, "Why don't you acted as if

who is he?"

"My brother," Jenny answered.

Chapter 756 I Have No Right to Blame You

The atmosphere in the room turned awkward again. Jenny forced a laugh and pretended not to hear him.

"Didn't I ask you to buy me water? Where is it?"

"Uh, don't you have some water by your bed?" Evan pointed to a flask of water on the bedside table. He was all but telling her that he knew she deliberately tried to get rid of him.

It made Jenny more embarrassed. Gritting her teeth, Jenny forced herself to say, "I wanted some bottled water."

"Oh, is that so? I'm sorry I didn't buy you any." Evan apologized to her without exposing her lie.

Jenny decided to move on from that topic. "I'm fine here. If you have something else to do, please go ahead and do it."

"I just returned to my home country. What is there to do?" He didn't have anything else planned, and he was also worried about Jenny.

you back to help him with work? Why don't you help him out?" Jenny knew there was no way Evan could weasel himself out helpless smile, Evan replied, "Sure, I'll take a look returned to the country, and he and Jenny were a little distant. Hence, he decided left, Jenny relaxed a bit. Perhaps it had been too long since they last met. She wasn't as relaxed in front her phone to kill the boredom of recuperation. Suddenly, her eyes spotted an article that had garnered widespread held Alec's arm. When a reporter asked what their status was, Blake said they were in a relationship. Alec stood aside and did not refute, tacitly there had been rumors about the two being together before, the article confirmed them. Jenny looked Jenny's hospital room. When he walked in, Jenny hadn't some reason, he felt a can help you with, Mr. Faust?" Jenny turned off her phone and looked walked over and sat beside Jenny's bed, times instead, would you still think it's no big deal?" Jenny knew she had to be rational. She knew it was Alec's choice of

Chapter 757 No Thanks

Alec didn't know what exactly was going through Jenny's head. However, her words didn't make him feel good.

"Blake and I—"

"Mr. Faust, I am not interested in your relationship with Miss Watkins." She didn't want to know, afraid that she would feel worse. "Do you have anything else to say? If not, kindly leave. I'm tired."

Alec originally wanted to explain that he and Blake were only in a business relationship. However, Jenny's response forced him to retract his words.

"I came here for a reason," Alec said.

Jenny looked up at him, waves of emotions hitting her. Was he only visiting her because he needed something from her?

lose my memory." Alec looked at Jenny before he continued, "No doctor in Bardoff City is willing that Jenny was also in Bardoff City, neurosurgeon Alec had contacted was her mentor, she wasn't

you're here to ask me

"Yes." Alec nodded.

something," she thought to herself. She had thought that Alec felt guilty and had come with the sole knew she had misunderstood him, Alec quickly explained, "The main reason I came was to see you. My surgery is just she didn't say anything, Alec could tell she didn't believe issues performing surgery for you, Mr. Faust, but are you really comfortable with that? Aren't was extremely risky, especially for someone like Alec,

about this at her mentor had referred his case to her, Jenny couldn't refuse him. "I can do

Chapter 758 The End of the Glass Family

With that, Alec left. Since Jenny had refused his help, he wouldn't insist. Perhaps because his memories hadn't recovered, his feelings for Jenny weren't particularly strong.

Jenny spent the next few days recuperating and didn't pay much attention to whatever was happening outside the hospital. She believed that Graham and James would be able to resolve everything. However, before the Glasses were dealt with, she ran into another problem.

When the doctor came to change the dressing of her bandage that day, Jenny noticed that the person was not her attending physician, and she was surprised. "Where's Dr. Forbes?"

"Dr. Forbes is performing surgery today. I'm his intern," the person answered and began to change Jenny's dressing.

Although Jenny was puzzled, she didn't think too much about it. However, when the person took out the medicine and was about to apply it, she detected a strange scent. Without hesitation, Jenny immediately pushed the person away and asked, "Who are you? What do you want?"

He feigned puzzlement and stared at Jenny in confusion. "What are you doing? Lie down, and I'll change your dressing."

change my dressing? What kind of just some antiseptic medication. You're overreacting now." He laughed and was about to grab had already sensed that something was amiss. She would not allow the man to do as he pleased. Immediately, she Jenny pointed at the doctor. No matter what, she couldn't let him began to panic. Although he wanted to run, he knew he couldn't under the current circumstances and could only get away with it. After the guards caught hold of the doctor, she walked over to the medicine and carefully studied it. Then, her to allowed to let her get hurt. They guarded the door and prevented anyone from accusations," the doctor refused to up to the doctor with the "medicine" in her hand. "Since you won't admit it, let's try it on you. After all, you said it was just an antiseptic medication. If that's the case, you'll be fine, the medicine at the doctor's face. With a loud sound, he kneeled in front of Jenny before the "medicine" came into contact with

Chapter 759 Why Can't You Just Die?

Jenny stayed in the hospital for about a week, during which the Glasses went bankrupt. It didn't surprise her. After all, Graham and James had been preparing for so long. If they couldn't handle the Glasses, they would have wasted all their time.

On the day she was supposed to leave the hospital, a patient was admitted and specifically asked for Jenny. Although she was on leave, she still went to take a look.

"Alicia?" Jenny was a little surprised when she saw the person lying on the hospital bed. She never thought she would see her again.

Although Alicia had sworn she would seek revenge the last time they met, Jenny didn't care since she didn't think Alicia couldn't do anything to her.

"I heard that you almost got killed?" Alicia asked. Perhaps because of her illness, her face was a little pale. Although it had been cured through surgery, her former health was still not restored, and she needed to take medicine all the time and avoid rigorous activities.

Jenny frowned, "What do you want to say?"

you just die?" Alicia looked at Before she could reply, Alicia continued, "You killed my brother, but you have no remorse. I guess the lives of ordinary people like

Jonathan to commit suicide in prison, even if he did, it wouldn't change the fact that he response only made Alicia hate her end, my brother sacrificed his life for others. Why didn't you go after the mastermind instead brother refused to tell me who it was. What could I

Jonathan had been willing to tell Jenny who the mastermind was, Jenny might have continued," Your brother didn't reveal the mastermind because he hoped that the mastermind would look after you even in his death. But he was still too naive. After he died, no one in

was shocked when about her, how

Chapter 760 What's the Point?

With that, Jenny left. She didn't care whether Alicia believed her or if she appreciated her. Alicia could easily find out the truth if she spent some time asking around at the hospital where she had her surgery done.

However, Jenny couldn't be bothered. It was the day of her discharge, and she didn't want her mood to be affected because of Alicia.

When Evan came to pick her up, Jenny didn't know how to feel about it.

"Where is Gilbert? Why isn't he here to pick me up?"

"Gilbert? You know he's a workaholic," Evan said with a chuckle as he led Jenny out of the hospital.

If Gilbert had heard what Evan said, he would have been furious. A workaholic? It was Evan who didn't want him to come. Evan had told him he would be a third wheel if he went.

as he knew that he really had to create had agreed upon. While Evan went to get the car, she a cry from about see someone sitting on the hospital's rooftop. Although it was quite far and Jenny couldn't see of Alicia, who she had just met, as she had the same hairstyle. Disregarding whether the person was Alicia or not, Jenny quickly ran and took the elevator to the top floor. When Jenny reached the heart raced as she cried, "Alicia! What am I doing? I'm going that Jenny had saved her, she realized that the person she thought was her enemy was actually her benefactor. Instantly, her resentment disappeared, and she suddenly in such a manner. Although she was annoyed,