

Be Yours 841

Chapter 841 Big Problem

Jenny glanced at him and didn't ask further. Since he said so, she would take his word for it.

"Don't worry. You'll know it when you meet the right person. Someone will come along someday and have a place in your heart." Jenny smiled at him and comforted him.

James nodded, feeling the same way. He believed he would meet the right person, but it would take time.

Afterward, Jenny and James had dinner together, and James sent her back to Walter Castle. The next day, it was all over the news. Multiple news sites published headlines about Jenny and James getting together.

Jenny had just finished performing surgery and noticed everyone at the hospital looking at her in a weird way. She instinctively knew that something was off and took out her phone to check the news immediately. As expected, it was indeed related to her.

and James was being a gentleman in escorting her home. How could

Was there a need for those paparazzi to keep an eye on her every single because he would handle it. Jenny agreed as she believed that James was more than capable of handling this to explain herself to others, nor did she care what they reached Walter Castle, her phone rang again. Thinking it might be Evan or Alec calling, she bar manager, she rarely called Melissa's voice sounded extremely asked Melissa to call her by her name, but Melissa insisted on calling her Boss," saying that it showed respect. Jenny was speechless about it, but she in turn. "Calm down and take it slow. Tell me what's as she approaches him, whispering straight into his ear, "I'm also your ex-wife."

Chapter 842 Will He Kill Me?

Upon seeing Jenny in person, Melissa wasn't as anxious as before. She asked someone to get Jenny a cup of coffee. She waited for the coffee to be served to Jenny before saying, "My senior, Flint Stauder, is here."

"Your senior?" Jenny was puzzled and didn't quite understand what it had to do with the matter at hand.

"Alicia sought him out," Melissa explained.

As soon as she said that, Jenny understood. After she had saved Alicia, the young woman hadn't given up on seeking revenge. She found Melissa's senior, who was most likely Jonathan's senior.

Jenny sighed. She didn't understand why Alicia was so persistent. Couldn't she just live her own life peacefully? Why bother with such meaningless revenge?

skilled is your senior compared to you?" Jenny asked. Since the man had a moment, then answered, "Let's put it this how skilled Jenny was. Comparing the two, she had no doubt her senior was the superior one among them.

was more skilled than her, he would be difficult to deal with, so she needed join forces, he won't be a match for us." Melissa guaranteed with a few pats on her was naturally skeptical and didn't quite believe her. "Really?

him fatally, what's wrong with giving him a beating?" Melissa had wanted to beat up Flint for a while laugh or cry. She asked, "Are you all free to do as you wish? It seems you all can exact revenge on whomever you please. Won't your master step in and keep you guys since she said we're on our own, she hasn't cared about us much. She has told us that we must solve things ourselves in the future, and she won't help." To put it simply, she was leaving them to their own felt that her master was indeed the best. She believed that if she encountered difficulties and asked for help, her master would definitely want her help as she was silent, Melissa quickly added, "Boss, you can't be careless. Flint wouldn't be able to defeat him on her own.

Chapter 843 Who Said You Could Leave?

Since Melissa had said so, Jenny couldn't underestimate the impending threat that would soon befall her. "Flint isn't a fool. If he sees you following me, he'll know better than to make a move."

"Don't worry. I'll secretly protect you. I just want to inform you that the management of the bar is temporarily handed over to others so that you won't say I'm incompetent," Melissa said while playfully sticking out her tongue. She would use this opportunity to give herself a break for two days.

She used to like coming to the bar to have fun, but now that it had become her profession, she didn't like the place anymore.

Jenny nodded without saying anything else. "It's up to you then."

With everything arranged and settled, Jenny left the bar and returned to Walter Castle.

into his villa only to find that Jolene hadn't made dinner. Instead, she was dragging were, but she felt somewhat melancholic. In fact, wasn't in love with him when she pulled that trick on him; she was only attracted to his status as the head of the Windsors. But after they spent many days together, Jolene knew dates, but he never showed any intention of letting after seeing the news that day, she realized that James' heart had always belonged to Jenny. As for the reason he with him any longer. She used to worry about James canceling their engagement and that she would be kicked out with nowhere the Walters' torch had been passed on to Jenny. She no longer had anywhere she could they would go abroad to start a new life. Jolene thought it was a good idea. She couldn't continue living like that forever. It was time to

He looked at the empty dining table and then at the suitcase Jolene was holding, frowning his brow unhappily. "Are you planning no reason to stay," Jolene said with a bitter out I'm still living in your villa, it's bound to cause misunderstandings."

Chapter 844 Of Course, It Isn't!

At that moment, James felt upset and frustrated. "Why would you think you could leave just because our engagement is over?" he asked, displeased.

"James..."

"Do you think I brought you here so that you would become Mrs. Windsor?" James interrupted Jolene before she could speak, his eyes filled with contempt. Without waiting for Jolene's response, he continued, "I brought you here to be a servant! To serve me and to pay for your sins against me!"

Feeling wronged, Jolene couldn't help but argue, "But I've been serving you for so long. Isn't that enough?"

"No, it isn't! Of course, it isn't!" James stared at her fiercely. "Since you dared to plot against me, be prepared to be tormented by me for the rest of your life. Do you think you can leave so easily? Dream on."

James fumed inwardly, "Who do you take me for? After that despicable trick you pulled on me in the past, do you think you can make up for it with so little effort? How ridiculous!"

be his servant for the rest of her life? What if James got married and had children in the future? Did it mean not only would she have to serve James, but she would up in her eyes as she pleaded desperately, "James, I've realized my kitchen and start cooking." James ignored whatever she at the door. Although it was submit, she gritted her teeth, deciding that no matter what James said, she would but Jolene didn't stop. She ran toward the the cruel joke fate played on her. If she'd listened to her parents in the first place and not moved in with James so hurriedly, would she have were divorced, her mother was about to leave, and her father had completely abandoned her. If she continued to stay in this place, she feared that no one would care, to chase after her. This was his territory, and without his consent, not even a mosquito could fly out.

Jolene was escorted

Chapter 845 I Swear

That night, Jenny didn't get a visit from Melissa's senior, but she received a call from Jolene instead. She looked at the screen of her phone with confusion, especially when she saw that the caller was her half-sister. She felt it was somewhat unreal.

"Why is Jolene calling me? Strange!" Jenny thought.

After a moment of contemplation, she decided to answer the call. After all, Jolene posed no threat to her now, and she was curious about what she had to say.

"Jenny," Jolene's voice came through the phone, thick with sobs.

Jenny was surprised and asked, "What's wrong?"

and go abroad with my mother. I won't appear in front of anymore, okay?"

have anything to do with me? You can go anywhere you felt that they were letting Rowena off too easily if she was had a certain understanding of her character-she wouldn't go down of you agree to let me go," Jolene said, unable to hold back from couldn't believe that James had said that.

anything, Jolene continued, "I know I was wrong before. I shouldn't have treated you that way. I was in the wrong, and I apologize. Can you ask James to let me go?"

because of her.

should she have tried harder to stop possibilities ran through Jenny's mind. She didn't say anything, and her silence made Jolene think she was reluctant to help. Hence, Jolene pleaded again, "Jenny, I was wrong.

Chapter 846 Let Her Go

After hanging up on Jolene, Jenny immediately dialed James' number without any delay.

The call took a while to connect, and James' voice came through, saying, "Jenny, why are you calling so late? What's the matter?"

At James' question, Jenny didn't know what to say for a moment and fell into silence.

"Jenny?" James called her name, sounding worried.

Taking a deep breath, Jenny decided it was best to be direct instead of beating around the bush. "James, Jolene just called me."

James' face immediately darkened upon hearing that, though Jenny couldn't see it.

"She said she wants to go abroad with Rowena, but you won't let her."

yet. Of course I won't let her go.' James tried to keep his emotions in check and not the real reason James was stopping Jolene from leaving. "James, of them to continue to be in each could torment her, Jenny didn't see it that way. It was clear to her that on how James and Jolene their recent interactions, she had felt toward her initially genuinely surprised that Jenny would plead on Jolene's behalf did she think it's better for her to leave with Rowena. We won't have to see each other in

She only spoke up because she didn't want James' judgment to be clouded say anything, clearly showing that moment, Jenny's heart skipped a beat. Could her speculation have come in and day out, Jenny had believed that based on James' dislike toward Jolene, it was impossible for any feelings to want to let her go?" Jenny's

Chapter 847 Don't Let Me See You Again

Jolene finally opened the door. On the one hand, she was afraid that James would wreck the door, and on the other hand, she understood since this was James' house, he could still unlock the door with his keys even if she refused to open up.

"Why...why are you looking for me?" Jolene looked at him reluctantly, fear written all over her face.

"Ah!"

The next second, James lifted Jolene, and the feeling of being suspended in midair amplified her fear to the extreme.

“James! What are you doing? Are you crazy?”

“I underestimated you. You had the gall to call Jenny. Don’t you feel ashamed?” James asked her, eyes stormy and cold.

same time by James’ huge reaction, which was likely because of Jenny. She thought that James reacted that way because gritted her teeth and tried to keep her fear from overpowering his teeth, hating the woman before Jolene asked. Since Jenny called James, she must have told him to flames were about to burst out from his eyes were filled with joy. “Since that’s the case, shouldn’t looked you expect me to stay here and serve you for the couldn’t bear the thought of serving his wife and children

The standoff lasted again.” James turned and went back to his study without him. She was conflicted, as she felt happy yet dismayed at the same time. At the end of the day, Jenny’s words

Chapter 848 You’re Helping Her?

When news of it reached Jenny’s ears, her anxious heart finally settled. Fortunately, things were not as bad as she had imagined. She didn’t pay much attention to the matter after that. In her opinion, as long as Jolene left, the matter was considered over.

She continued to work diligently at Bardoff Hospital. After some time in the hospital, she had slowly built up her reputation. Now, there were quite a few people who came to her for treatment every day, and Jenny had once again found a sense of accomplishment of her own.

After a busy day, she was exhausted. She changed her clothes and walked out of the hospital, intending to go back early and rest. However, she didn’t expect to see Flint, who hadn’t shown up for the past few days, waiting for her today.

It was not that Jenny had seen a picture of him beforehand. Flint wore a black tracksuit and stood right before the hospital entrance, making his presence known. It was easy to guess who he was since he was being so obvious about it. Jenny would be a fool if she couldn’t deduce the identity of the person before her.

“You must be Jenny?” The man in black had obviously done some research beforehand as he recognized Jenny at a glance.

Jenny nodded and asked tentatively, "Are you Flint, Melissa's senior?"

"Yeah, where is Melissa? I heard that she disappeared after challenging you," Flint said, keeping his eyes trained on Jenny.

would think I did something to her. She's doing well and living a carefree life now." Jenny thought Melissa was indeed living a carefree life, with a new job and a good living Melissa's current situation and quickly got to the point. "I came to find you for a reason, and I believe you know speechless. Where had she run off to? Wasn't she waiting for him to show concluded that even disciples taught by the same master could be person was obviously not as likable with me." Jenny didn't want to waste time. It was just a fight— she wasn't intimidated by the lot. There was rarely anyone there, and Jenny chose a corner out of nowhere. "Flint, let's talk this through. Is there really a need to but been subdued. No wonder you haven't been in by being subdued? I've found myself a new boss. Jenny treats me very well. So, I can't stand by and watch you skills and knew he might not have the upper hand in a fight with her alone. If the two of them teamed Chapter 849 Who Won?

Flint rolled his eyes at her and said, "As martial artists, we value the reputation of our masters the most. Your defeating both Jonathan and Melissa successively has brought great shame to us. My main purpose of coming here is to uphold my master's dignity!"

As for avenging Jonathan, it was secondary. In his opinion, Jonathan was inferior in skill, and if he died, he could only blame it on his lackluster skills. Revenge wasn't strictly necessary. But the problem was Jenny defeated Jonathan and then Melissa.

Wouldn't that mean Tywin Munster's disciple was stronger than Olanna Roy's disciples?

Jenny thought, "How was I supposed to know that was what you were thinking? If you come looking for trouble, I can't just sit around and wait to get my ass kicked, can I?"

Melissa didn't expect Flint to harbor such thoughts, so she was immediately irritated upon hearing his words. "Flint! Do you think you're the spokesperson for our master?"

Master hasn't even spoken up yet, so why are you sticking your nose where it doesn't belong?"

“Master is naturally too busy to bother with these things. As your senior, of course I have to take care of it.” Not only did he have to take matters into his own hands, but he also had to win against Jenny to uphold his master’s integrity.

a fight, Jenny pulled Melissa aside and said, “Alright, you

I have to help you! Let’s beat him to the ground and defeat all riled up and found Flint extremely annoying at that moment. The feeling was mutual for Flint. If the situation allowed it, he would have taught Melissa a “Actually, it’s normal for Flint to have such side. I know what she would probably be unhappy about the damage to her master's reputation. Since the other party came something. “If I defeat you, will there be other disciples who’ll come after me?” If that were the case, she would have an loss, no one feeling relieved. “Alright then, let’s it was just a fight between two martial artists, they probably wouldn’t go for the kill. At most, there would be some injuries, which were way better than what she had very interesting novel last night, and now was the perfect time to continue reading. However, she’d barely read a couple of chapters before someone walked up to her and looked up at Jenny, who was in front of her, then at Flint, who was standing not far it’s over.”

Let’s go

Chapter 850 He’s Strange

Flint took a deep look at her but didn’t say anything else. “Let’s call it a draw this time. Neither of us won.”

Jenny was about to refuse, but Flint didn’t wait for her to speak and had already walked toward the parking lot exit.

Seeing him walk away, Jenny was speechless. “Has he always been like this?”

“Do you find him strange?” Melissa asked as she looked in the direction of the retreating Flint.

Jenny nodded. “He’s a little strange indeed, but he’s not as bad as you make him out to be.”

Melissa shrugged. She couldn’t really tell what was going on in Flint’s mind. Seeing that the matter was over without causing too much commotion, she breathed a sigh of relief.

“Anyway, I’m glad we didn’t get into an ugly fight with Flint. It’s a pity I didn’t have a chance to make a move.”

As soon as she finished speaking, her phone rang. Melissa glanced at her phone screen and found it was a call from the bar’s management. She answered the call and listened to the person on the other end explain the situation. Her expression immediately fell.

now. I have to go back first. You be careful these days. If Flint comes to find you again, remember to inform happen at the bar?” Jenny major, just a few little brats who like to come and make a scene. I held back and didn’t do anything to them need my help?” Jenny small issue doesn’t require your attention. I can you go ahead. Call me if you need anything.” Jenny to hand over the bar management to Melissa, she wouldn’t interfere too Melissa hurried to the bar. Once she was some to be so passionate about her work. When Jenny first met her, she thought Melissa must be someone didn’t want to make more money- she didn’t you laughing at, Miss Walter?” A male voice came from behind Jenny. She turned around and composure and kept the corners of her mouth raised to maintain her smile.

you to have already finished work. I thought I would miss you, but I bumped into