

Be Yours 861

Chapter 861 Can't Force It

After the trio of them were done with their conversation, they stood up and went to the parking lot. Gilbert asked Jenny to wait in place while he took Evan to get the car.

On the way there, Gilbert looked somewhat displeased with Evan. 'I brought you back so you could pursue Jenny and make her happy, not say things you shouldn't say in front of her.'

Evan looked innocent as he shrugged and said helplessly, "How was I supposed to know that you never told her? With all the commotion, I thought Jenny already knew."

"I didn't want her to know," Gilbert said.

"Okay, I promise I won't say anything in front of her, alright?" Evan didn't think too much about it. It was indeed embarrassing, and it was understandable that Gilbert didn't want Jenny to know.

Seeing that Evan didn't mean any harm, Gilbert didn't say anything more but asked, going? Why do I feel like Jenny

It was true that he hadn't successfully won Jenny over, and he wasn't words angered Gilbert. "What do you mean

She said she only sees me as a brother," Evan explained, feeling a little dismayed. If he hadn't rejected Jenny's confession, they might have been married by now. He was too young to know how to cherish what had been his. Gilbert stared at him blankly, not knowing how

just giving

I can only take it slow. You know Jenny. If I push too hard, if bringing Evan back was the right decision. If Jenny didn't shoulder. "Things like this are ultimately up to fate. We talking about. Even if they wanted to force it, they wouldn't stand a murmured, brought Jenny with me today to see you. Otherwise, she wouldn't have stayed with me for so long. So, you should understand a disdainful look and scolded, "Do I have to help you with

Chapter 862 Someone's Watching Us

"Is Zack coming to Bardoff City too? That's awesome!" It had been a long time since the three of them hung out together. Jenny missed those days very much.

Seeing how happy she was, Gilbert asked, "Why won't you let him come here since you want him in Bardoff City so much? He'd happily oblige if you just said the word."

"You and Zack are good to me. I know you would agree to my requests, but I can't influence you for my own sake." Jenny would be happy if they came to Bardoff City to further expand their companies. However, if they came here purely for her sake, it would be different. Jenny didn't want to be such a selfish person.

Gilbert looked at her, a mixture of emotions swirling in his chest. "It's okay to be selfish once in a while, Jenny. You don't have to be so understanding."

One's heart would ache seeing someone be too considerate. Gilbert felt that Jenny had the right to make outlandish requests. She didn't have to consider their feelings so much.

"It's not about being selfish. I think it goes both ways. You guys are so good to me. I'd want to be good to you, too," Jenny said.

them, his heart aching had promised to treat him like she treated Gilbert, Evan knew that they were different. He would never be as close to Jenny as Gilbert was. Thus, if he wanted Jenny to stay by his side forever, his only choice would be to make her his lover. Otherwise, they were certain to after, the car stopped at the largest mall in Bardoff City. They walked

You can

"Well, don't was delighted. She thought that she and Gilbert had gone back to how they once used to at nearly every store, making a bunch of purchases and after, Jenny paused in her tracks and looked was the result of years of Gilbert and like something is watching us." She hadn't seen anyone behind them, but those words, Gilbert and Evan looked back, their expressions matching the other

Chapter 863 Do You Think I Want To See You?

When Jenny was about to take her phone out to check for messages, a gift box suddenly appeared before her. She looked up, seeing Evan smiling at her. "It's for you. You can see if you like it."

"There's no need, Evan..." Jenny refused, attempting to slide it back to him.

But Evan was persistent. He pouted and said, "You didn't refuse any of the things Gilbert bought you, but you're saying no to this little thing from me. Are you really treating me like your brother, Jenny?"

Jenny was at a loss for words. If she refused him again, it would show she didn't think of him as a brother. However, she didn't want to accept the gift from him.

"Seems like I'm nothing to you." Evan began to take it away, the disappointment apparent in his demeanor.

Jenny felt guilty and hurriedly took the box. "How could that be? You're my brother. I just didn't want you to break the bank."

"Don't worry. I have the money for this." Evan smiled, watching her take it. "Open it up," he said. He'd bought it when Jenny and Gilbert were shopping. He thought it suited Jenny well, which was why he wanted to give it to her.

opened the box. A turquoise pendant was nestled inside. It was obviously of good quality. The Evan asked, "How is it? Do you like she gave it back to him now, Evan would herself, thinking she would give him

Gilbert's face was as dark as thunder in the you return to the country?" He looked at the woman before him, intimidated. She

He couldn't believe that Marigold actually had the balls to meekly. "I wasn't weren't?" Gilbert refused to do some shopping. I didn't know that you'd be frustrated. He asked, "Shopping?"

Chapter 864 I Don't Have Those Thoughts

When Gilbert got back to the restaurant, the food was already served.

Jenny and Evan were waiting for him to come back.

"Apologies. I was taking a phone call." Gilbert sat down, showing nothing out of the ordinary on his face. At least, not to Jenny.

Evan glanced at him for a while, but he said nothing. Quite frankly, Gilbert had nothing to do with him. Evan couldn't be bothered, either.

They began eating their food. Whether by coincidence or not, Marigold walked into the restaurant, too. There was a man next to her.

"Let's eat somewhere else," Marigold said. She'd spotted Gilbert and the others, and was afraid she'd be misunderstood. Furthermore, she didn't want to be seen with him.

should we? I think this place to say something else, but Jenny and others were looking over. She had no choice but to follow him into the

"That's Marigold, Gilbert. I remember her having a crush on expect Gilbert's

you don't like her. She seems pretty close someone they knew. Jenny was did not think too much of it. As long as Marigold and looked at Gilbert. He was involved with when he was abroad had something be the Marigold that Jenny was talking about? He thought that it was likely. Gilbert didn't look happy at if you've found someone suitable." Gilbert was a few years older than her. He was already in his thirties.

He

Chapter 865 What Do You Take This Place As?

Jenny wanted to say that she had no intention of threatening him, but then Evan pulled her towards him. "Jenny is under my protection now. You can't pick on her like that."

"Oh, so you're protecting her already." Gilbert smirked. "Alright, alright.

You'll protect her."

Jenny was a little embarrassed, but she smiled, saying nothing.

After the meal, Gilbert sent Jenny home. As for Evan, he returned to Walter Inc. If he agreed to do something, he would do it to his best ability.

He wanted everyone to see his strengths so that everyone would know that he was capable and worthy of Jenny.

After a whole day's worth of shopping, Jenny was exhausted. She wanted to take a nap, but her phone rang.

was Alec. She was stunned and didn't reach out still fresh in her mind. She remembered what Stephanie had said. She had and Alec no longer called again. Jenny sighed in relief. She didn't know what to say had not picked up. He could guess what she was thinking, so he didn't chase after her relentlessly. It was good to give her some time to his phone

Villa. He saw someone standing drove toward it and stopped in front of the person. He got out of the looked at him, biting felt when he saw her, but there were no changes in his expression. "What are you doing here? Shouldn't you already be out of the

it another thought and decided to stay because I couldn't through James' eyes, but mostly, he felt sardonic. "You were clamoring to leave, but now you suddenly want to stay. Do you think I'm a clown, don't mean it that way." Jolene shook her head quickly. "I only want to stay with you because I like want. What do you take this place as? A hotel?" He smiled coldly. There was no warmth

Chapter 866 Victory Could Be Hers

"Can I stay?" Jolene looked at him anxiously.

James refused. 'You chose to leave, so you should fuck off as far away as possible and never appear in my sight.'

"I..." Jolene stammered, at a loss for words.

If she could have figured out why he refused to let her go earlier, she wouldn't have insisted on leaving.

What a pity it was that she had not analyzed anything before. She merely thought that her days, if spent there, would be dull and dreary.

Jolene bit her lip, deciding to try her luck. "Well, in that case, I'm going to leave now." She tugged on her suitcase, preparing to leave.

Seeing that she was actually going to leave him, James was stunned. He thought Jolene would beg him for another chance. He wasn't expecting her to leave just like that.

Was this what she meant by liking him? It was very half-assed.

near, he would have heard her counting to a hundred. She wanted to see how far along she'd "Seventy-seven, seventy-eight..."

"Stop right there!"

behind. Jolene smirked. So, Rowena

be

just

You're not letting me stay. What else can I was being manipulated, but he thought it was the silence, Jolene's heart thumped hard. However, her anxiety dissipated when she heard James say, "Get the nothing, going was back in this familiar place. But this time, she had a completely different time, victory would called every day. He would not stop calling even if she refused what to say. She hadn't yet given the matter any careful consideration, which was why she neither picked up nor

Chapter 867 Sticking to the Plan

Vincent nodded. He had served Alec for many years. He knew of his abilities well. If he dared to go to the launch, there wouldn't be much to worry about.

After Vincent left the office, Alec investigated the turf club that had just opened. He wanted to observe the geographical layout of the place so that he could figure out what they'd use to finish him off.

He figured it out very quickly, but he was speechless.

It was a cliff, again.

They wanted to make it look like he had lost his footing and fallen into the water.

They would be riding horses, after all, but horses had a rebellious streak. If they ran over the cliff, it would be pronounced an accident.

He could tell that they had done this very secretly. Alec even suspected that this turf club was prepared specially for him. No one would choose a place like that for horses. A fool could tell that it was an accident-prone place.

didn't prepare himself beforehand and figure out that they

to message. "Does he upset all he wanted, but Evan knew he had to do henchmen and got them to keep an eye on Xavier so that they would the excuse of meeting a client to meet with his the country. He had to make sure that it was perfect. Even if the Faustus could not trace it to him, Evan had decided to send his henchmen abroad

the country, and the Faustus

the day of his death instead of reached the turf club, there were plenty of rich people coming to support Luke. When they saw Alec, they formed a path for him to walk through. They

"We'll race each other." Luke went forward and patted Alec on the shoulder. Anyone might think that dawned on him. Luke was pretending to be on friendly terms with him so that if something happened later amusing. Humans

Chapter 868 I Thought You Were More Capable Than This

Alec had already changed his clothes and selected his horse.

"Let's go." Luke trotted over on his ride, raising his eyebrows at Alec.

Alec smiled and got up the horse's back. They went toward the racing track not far off.

The race began quickly. There were quite a number of people watching them, curious to know about their relationship with each other.

The media said that they were like fire and ice, but they didn't seem too bad.

Alec rode on his horse. Luke suddenly neared him and said in a not-so-soft voice, "Do you know what day it is, Alec?"

Alec said nothing. Luke continued, "It's the day that you die."

whipped his horse so that his horse would surpass Alec's. He rushed smiled lightly, not expressing too much emotion. He knew Luke was intentionally provoking him, but he went over anyway. How could they have the chance to kill him if he people around them watched them disappear into

"Why did they run to tracks. Although the conditions are worse, it's very suitable for people who like to race," the

Luke didn't

He knew that Luke was riding in the direction of the cliff. So, distance away

slowed down as well and rode over. He not going to accompany you anymore. You can go by yourself." Luke sneered. This beat up trail was better suited for Alec arm and signaled with his hand.

poked out of the horse's back. There was no telling what the horse was injected horse ran forward in panic. It was going to just had to fight the Faustus. You pretty much lost your

Chapter 869 Stall Him

Luke felt embarrassed. It was indeed his plan. Although he had run it past his father, he had not offered any suggestions for improvement. It led to Luke thinking that his plan was perfect.

But now, it seemed that his plan was far from perfect. He hadn't even investigated Alec's abilities.

"Don't you dare get too excited!" Luke gnashed his teeth and waved his hand. The people hidden in their surroundings rushed forward.

He had other things prepared. So what if Alec was good at combat? He couldn't possibly win against everyone here.

Alec was a little more impressed now that he saw Luke's other preparations. He wasn't as stupid as he thought.

the outside, Alec knew he would have to put a lot of effort into knocking all those people out. What was more, henchmen. He was the only one fighting for himself against a group of taking a few steps back.

it was too late now. Alec would be long gone by the time they got there. Luke began to grow anxious. If he panicked. He no longer cared if backup would Alec. Anyone who tried to attack him would be taken out at once. There was no point in fighting. They would rather save themselves and wait for

win. These people on, but he had to make sure he was not hurt in the process. But right now, even if he were hurt, he smile on his face. "Is that it? Just Alec's wrath, Luke stepped back in fear. Could Alec be taking this chance to beat him reaching

Chapter 870 You Think My Death is Definite?

Luke was a little upset about it. If Xavier had planned it without telling him, he didn't trust him.

His grumbles ran deep, but he was smart enough to brush them off for now. Right now, what he needed to do was make Alec disappear.

Everything else would follow.

The gunshots were still being fired. Xavier had planned this well. There were several men hidden in the mountain. Alec was beginning to tire out.

He had been careless. He hadn't thought that the Fausts would be so incredibly ruthless. Weren't they afraid of being caught? On top of that, Zeke was still the head of the Fausts. Weren't they afraid he would find out about them using guns?

While Alec's mind drifted off, one of the bullets hit his thigh. However, he did not stop running. He had to leave quickly and escape their circle.

bad, but the pain made him even more

Without his permission, Luke and so they hold it in any

to the edge of the cliff. He realized that the snipers did not mean to kill him by gunshot. They merely wanted to force him to the edge. Did they want him to Cowards!

why they wanted him to jump. After that, they bullet wounds, gunshots stopping. He knew that someone was staring at him. They would fire if he

He was not afraid cliff. His previous accident involved one, and he'd be haunted by it. If he

What if you're lucky and you're saved again?" Luke walked over. However, he did not go near him