

Be Yours 881

Chapter 881 Whatever You Say

Jenny coughed, obviously awkward.

Alec had indeed often asked her out during the time he was hospitalized, and she had always refused. She didn't think he'd be talking about it now. Did he have to be so petty?

She said nothing else. They would eat in the cafeteria, then. The food there was honestly pretty good, at least to her. As for Alec's tastes, that was none of her business.

"I saw Zeke in the hospital this morning. He was here to see you, wasn't he?" Jenny asked, curious.

Alec nodded. "You say you don't care about me, but you do, really. Haven't you noticed?"

"What do you mean? Zeke was so noticeable. I would have seen him as long as I wasn't blind." On top of that, everyone in the hospital was talking about it. Even if she hadn't seen him, she would have known.

What a pity that Alec couldn't care less about her denial. "He was here to see me. He's caught two of Xavier's killers and wants me to interrogate them."

instantly grew worried. "They won't give you away, at her, saying

was just

Alec didn't mean to argue with her. He already food was served, easing the awkwardness somewhat.

said. They had no idea that he was the true mastermind course, things would be difficult if they ratted Evan out. Alec and Evan was sure they wouldn't rat him out, Jenny no longer asked the question.

around

couple was once married, just speculation and secretive gossip. They wouldn't dare to bring it up in of them was the head of the Walters, and the other had the potential to be the head of the Fausts. They could not afford to offend either of

Chapter 882 What Lead

Jenny didn't see the couple fight. She was staring at Alec. "How is the food? It isn't too bad, is it?" "It's pretty good. It's no wonder you come here often," he said.

Jenny pouted, still feeling a little embarrassed. "I'm sorry. I'm not refusing you on purpose. I just haven't thought it through yet."

"I know." Alec smiled. He understood her inner struggles. If it were him, he'd be struggling to make a decision, too. He wouldn't know if he were a reliable shoulder to cry on.

Jenny opened her mouth, wanting to say something. But the more she looked at Alec, the harder it was to speak.

"You don't have to overthink it. Go with the flow. I'd still be a pretty confident person." Alec smiled. He believed that Jenny liked him, so he didn't worry too much.

Jenny nodded, saying nothing as she continued to eat.

as the news on the Faustus was deleted one by one. She couldn't help guessing what the family was like

Who had killed Xavier?

So, she got up from her room and walked to the one

She pushed the door open. Are you still angry because your father and grandfather refused to let you get involved in the

She was angry still, but one heir. You know this. " And it was to be Blake's brother, topic. "Mom, that's the last thing on my mind.

her sentence. Her mother didn't arise from her concern for Alec. Instead, she wanted to see if there was any way that she could add fuel to the betrayal. They had agreed to cooperate and benefit each other. But then, he bit her off. He

"It's complicated. Xavier has suddenly been murdered, and Zeke has been

Chapter 883 Do You Want to Hurt Him?

Blake was stunned. Of course. Even if it was Yakov, Zeke would not press charges against him. He might even cover up for him.

After a moment's consideration, she had her answer.

Xavier's killer couldn't be Yakov. Even if it was, Zeke would clear his name.

And if it couldn't be Yakov, there was only one other person.

Alec Faust!

"Mom, do you think this could be Alec's doing?" Blake asked.

her head. "He probably doesn't have the ability. Besides, the day it happened, Alec nearly getting involved with the family business, she hide anything from her since it wasn't considered big news. 'On the day Luke invited him to the opening of a turf club, he lost his footing and fell down a

It required no

even that." The more she spoke, the more Mrs. Watkins felt afraid." Your father even told me it was a good thing that you and Alec broke up. By the looks of it, Zeke will never let Alec get hold of Faust Group, even if his talents truly surpass everyone.

well that when guns were involved, it wasn't just the underlings carrying out orders. Zeke was still the head of Faustus. Without his permission, was only one explanation—Zeke wanted Alec that clearly. Hence, he stopped all his collaborations another thought. "Since we've let go of Alec, why don't we send him mean?" Mrs. Watkins furrowed and told her

words. "Do you want to hurt

Chapter 884 You Killed My Father!

Alec walked into Faust Manor. At once, he saw Luke walking toward him grimly.

"I know you did it, Alec!" Luke glared at him, hatred seeping through his eyes.

Alec acted dumb, asking, "I don't know what you mean."

"Quit with the act. You killed my father, didn't you?" Luke got closer to him, looking as if he would fight him.

Alec waved his hand, pretending to be innocent. "You're using me as a scapegoat. Don't you remember what I was doing when your father died? I nearly died in your hands. Why do you have the memory of a goldfish?"

Luke was at a loss for words. He didn't think it would be Alec since he simply didn't have the time or energy to do it.

However, Zeke was sure that it was him. Luke believed him.

stupid, Luke." Alec shook his head in exasperation, thinking that Luke was beyond man spoke." Zeke has only two sons. And now one of pale. He obviously mastermind behind all this because it has to went toward the underground prison in the villa, toward the two hostages being

Otherwise, how else even if Luke believed it was all Zeke's doing, he would only stay quiet. He still needed Zeke's support, as he and didn't mind. As long as he had planted the seed

her

news of Jolene returning to James' side hadn't been would talk to James. On the one hand, she had no idea how, and on the other hand, to understand what was going through has returned, Jenny. You can go see him when Chapter 885 Who Do You Think You Are?

She did not continue with the topic and decided to bring up Jolene. 'I hear that Jolene did not follow Rowena in the end.'

"Yeah." James nodded and then smiled. "I knew you would ask about this."

"I was just curious about what you were thinking. Otherwise, I'd worry." Jenny thought that Jolene could not compare to James. However, if James accidentally liked Jolene back, she could do nothing about it.

She was worried that something like that would happen, which was why she was so anxious to ask him the question.

James ate and looked out the window as if considering his answer. Jenny grew anxious.

After a while, he said, "I wasn't really thinking. I just thought a free nanny would be nice. I wouldn't be the one at a disadvantage, anyway. Why would I refuse?"

not someone who has to cut back on a nanny's fees," Jenny said. This excuse was a her go like that. Making her stay is a sort of punishment at him, her expression his gaze and saw her expression. He was a little surprised. "What's with that expression? Do you think I like her?" James laughed as he said that. "Don't you worry. I'd never fall in love with such a toxic woman," had already laid it out in such a way that Jenny had no reason to continue talking about it. They were close, but she couldn't interfere with his matters

Jolene, Jenny would have to seriously consider if she could meet Jolene without wanting was just asking about her day, as usual. Jenny told him she was fine, and she learned that he had a lead. Although knew that it was good for Graham. With a goal in the other side of the city, James was waiting for him on the sofa. When she saw him, she hurried over. "Why are

Chapter 886 Your Feelings for Me Are Repulsive

Jolene was shocked to her core. 'Why...why would she think that?'

She was extremely agitated. She really wanted to know if James had any feelings for her, any at all.

"Now that I think of it, you think the same, don't you? You wanted to leave, but then you came back." James was no fool. Jolene's actions were weird. She definitely had an ulterior motive.

Jolene was fearful of his gaze. She waved her hands quickly. "What? I don't It "Really?" James straightened his back, leaning toward her.

With the close distance, Jolene was utterly dazed. Ever since that night in the hotel, they had not been this close. She could hear her heartbeat, beating a mile a minute.

In her frenzied state, she suddenly said, "That's right. I thought you liked me, even if only a little bit.'

James smiled. But it was not a smile that heralded good news.

crazed woman, Jolene kissed him pressed to his lips. His dazed state seemed to encourage snapped back to lips in disgust. His fury the table. It was enough evidence of his anger. "How could I love a vile woman like you? Are you fucking and Jolene was curled up feeling a flurry

In fact, she felt a small are you thinking? Do you think I wouldn't not see any fear on her face at

you, James,'

sudden words

Was she fucking insane?

would want to be liked by

"Your feelings for me are

Chapter 887 I Want to Give Up

Jolene didn't end up kneeling until the morning. She was so tired at night that she had dozed off. She thought that James would scold her harshly in the morning. However, when she woke up, he had left the villa, and she had a blanket around her shoulders.

She looked at the blanket, smiling.

Jenny had no idea about what had happened between James and Jolene. After her meal with him yesterday, she had no other intentions of interfering. It was between them, after all. Although Jenny didn't like Jolene, she couldn't break them up on purpose.

She didn't want to care about it any longer, opting to let things unfold naturally.

She went to the hospital to work. It was just like any regular hospital day but with different patients.

Sometimes, when Jenny looked at them, she'd wonder if she could save more people if she were stronger.

voice

young girl. Her mother

over and patted the mommy told me to get and followed the girl to the fatigued. She waved at the girl, and couple more rounds of treatments, you'll be able to even met someone with a brain tumor. But after studying medicine, while speaking. Jenny thought guess. "Do you want to give

"I can't use up the household's savings for myself. I have to leave something behind for

Chapter 888 It's Part of the Process

In the end, Jenny couldn't convince her to undergo the surgery. She had no way to solve her problems. Although she was confident in the surgery, she couldn't guarantee success.

Of course, Jenny could pay for the surgery. However, it would not solve the problem. People like her were rampant, and there would be more in the future. She couldn't save them all.

Besides, when Jenny suggested the idea, the mother refused at once. She didn't know what to do.

Feeling frustrated, Jenny knocked on the director's door.

"Jenny," he said politely. He knew she was skillful despite her young age and knew of her identity.

and sat down. "Patient number 23 says that she wants was stunned. He was trying to remember who it was. He soon did. She was a mother with a little girl next to her.

her

she wanted to leave some he knew why Jenny was so upset. He tried to comfort her. "Do you think it's but money. You don't know how important it is to normal people. You cherish life and want to save them even if they go broke. But normal people have to consider many things. What if the surgery doesn't work? It'd be a disaster if they lost both her head,

we are cold, but they don't know that we've seen many cases like this. It hurts, but we can't do anything, and it will haunt us for the rest of our life. If you can get over it, you'll become a qualified doctor. But if

Chapter 889 Love Turned to Hate

Jenny walked out of the director's office. Her work today was basically done. Because of her low spirits, she left the hospital to rest at home.

Alec called right at that moment. After his stay in the hospital, their relationship changed for the better. They contacted each other frequently.

When Jenny got to the coffee shop, Alec was already waiting.

"Chilly, isn't it? Here, have something warm." Alec pointed at the hot coffee on the table, expressing his concern.

Jenny nodded. The first notes of winter were descending, and the wind was growing frostier. Even her coat couldn't keep her warm. Thank goodness the coffee shop had its heater on. After downing the cup of hot coffee, the cold left her bones, and she grew warm.

"You got off work early today. Looks like nothing much went on in the hospital today," Alec said. He just wanted to know more about Jenny.

was because winter was coming and something was occupying her thoughts and asked," in the hospital. She thought it would seem like she was complaining. Everyone had their own problems to deal with. No one free," Alec said. Jenny's feelings were going given Zeke what he wants?" Zeke had sent Alec to interrogate me what is going on in your head if I

Jenny was speechless.

gave him another answer. He probably hasn't recovered from that yet." Alec smiled. It was familiar to Jenny. It that, Jenny knew that there was nothing that could stop back. "When I went to interrogate them, they both suddenly accused me grew anxious. 'Didn't and they don't know that I'm the one behind all this. So, if they're lashing out at me,

Chapter 890 I Wish I Had Time for You Every Day

Alec couldn't be sure if her love had turned into hate. He wasn't even sure if Blake was the one behind it. He had given his findings to the old man so that he could deal with it.

If someone in Faust Manor could be bribed that easily, was there any security in that house?

Alec didn't think there was.

Zeke had the same idea as him when he knew someone in Faust Manor had been bribed. If Watkins' people tampered with his food, he would die a hundred times over.

Before Alec came to see Jenny, a great inspection had occurred in Faust Manor. There were probably many people who would be driven out.

by the looks of it, the Watkins would be blamed.

also extremely lucky at times. He wouldn't have known who else to blame had time for you every day, but I worry you'll think I'm annoying." He wasn't taking her out just because he had time on his hands. He wanted to take her out every day, but he was afraid she'd feel embarrassed her awkwardness. "What about you? What at the mention. However, she didn't hide it from him any longer. She told him what had once he was done listening him, something like that was indeed minor. If she were to reel off every insignificant mean," Alec hurriedly explained, seeing she was about to misunderstand him. "I meant to say this is an easy problem so?"