

Be Yours 921

Chapter 921 Janet's Past

Jenny calmed herself down before calling Gilbert once again. 'We can't let Zack's relationship with her continue.'

"I feel the same way," Gilbert agreed. He'd already decided so before getting Jenny's response. He had to take care of his brother, after all.

"But we shouldn't be too in his face lest he gets defensive," Jenny advised.

People in love, especially those new to it, usually put love above all else. That was why she was concerned Zack might not take it well if Gilbert was direct.

"Why don't I show him the information first, let him see what kind of person Janet is. We'll see what he decides to do next." Maybe Zack would break up with Janet on his own accord after reading the info.

"Good idea."

further conversation before ending the she glanced at the information in her email log. She'd had after reading the information, she realized the woman might constantly mistreated. It carried on even until she this, it's not like she had the upset her the most was what Janet chose to do up in such a family, nor the fact that she put everything into working hard to earn money and marry well so she would never have to worry about her family again. It was the method boyfriend she had was richer than the next, even until after she graduated and started life. However, her target was now Zack. How was Jenny going to just sit she met Zack, dating a man at least a decade older than she was. She then broke up

Chapter 922 Don't Like Being the Only One There

"Evan," Jenny greeted, turning to let Evan come in.

The man went into the living room with several grocery bags in hand. "I didn't know what housewarming gift would be best for you, so I thought I'd make dinner instead."

"I've never tried your cooking before." Jenny smiled, surprised by the gesture. Did everyone she knew know how to cook, save for her?

"You're in for a treat then." Evan then brought the bags to the kitchen.

Jenny followed along. She'd thought to invite Evan out for dinner after a quick chat, so she didn't refuse his gesture to cook now.

Evan started taking out the ingredients and washing them in the sink.

later? It's still early." Jenny asked. She'd actually just had lunch. Her original plan was to nap, though afternoon yet." Evan set down the washed vegetables and went to the living room. He scanned his surroundings, the only one there. It's such a big space." Her apartment was far more cozy than Walter Castle, though the latter was constantly filled with about Mr. Walter? Any news

some leads, though I dunno if he's telling the truth." It'd been a couple days since she'd spoken with her father. She wasn't sure what he was sighed worriedly. "It's been so long. There's bound doesn't plan on giving up, so I'm not going to stop him either. He's better nothing, he'd still find true. Sometimes hope is what keeps people alive." A person in despair could soon his years of living with mind.

Chapter 923 Keep Watching Them

"Sounds fruitful." Jenny smiled.

Evan beamed. "What about you? What've you been up to all these years?"

"Me?" Jenny pointed at herself. 'I'm sure Gilbert filled you in with everything. I didn't get up to much either."

Evan disagreed, though. Jenny's life was much more colorful than his, what with her marriage, divorce, then relationship with Alec Faust, in that exact order.

But he didn't mention it. He wouldn't pry if Jenny didn't want to talk about it.

Their conversation continued until twilight, then Evan went to the kitchen to make dinner. Jenny's offer of help was swiftly turned down-she was even asked to make herself at home as if she was the guest.

preparing dinner in half an hour, with two mains and two sides immediately placed on the table. Jenny gave him a thumbs up, in awe of his two were just about to eat when the sank briefly. It wasn't Alec, get it." Evan went to open it was a

Jenny Walter? Here's your food delivery, miss." The man gave Evan the container of on the table and was from, already guessing who might've that I smiled, telling a white lie. *1 forgot to tell you, actually. I ordered this earlier today for his head, not buying it nodded, avoiding his eyes. "Why don't you sit down first?"

Chapter 924 Shouldn't Have Assumed

Not seeing the need to worry further now that Vincent knew his boss had a plan in mind, he changed the topic. "Well, sir. This is the info on the shares you wanted me to look up. Unfortunately, most of them are reluctant to sell, n

Faust Group was still churning out dividends annually, so the shareholders wouldn't sell their rights off that easily, even if Alec were to offer a great price.

"As expected." He didn't mind. Those shareholders would be scrambling to sell their shares once something happened to Faust Group later. "What about those projects?"

Faust Group was a large company handled by an equally large family. Alec doubted all their projects were acquired by clean hands. All he needed to do was do some digging for dirt to come up.

Vincent nodded and handed Alec another sheaf of documents. "Many issues turned up for two projects in particular. I've listed them out for you here, sir."

"Thank you. You can leave it here."

to take down the other Fausts, sir? Wasn't your plan to take over as heir instead?" Would there be a need to inherit the family if his boss

assistant. "Do you think shook his head. "No, sir.

he hadn't borne

only worried because were nothing more than empty shells, long rotten within. Best to burn out all the maggots inside before taking over as head of went back to work, but not before texting Jenny that he wouldn't be back tonight. He asked her to due to the large portion of food Evan had scratched her nose. "Now I really don't want to have you over anymore. What kind of guest cooks for their host and to be to help but finding no means to. "You'd make slightly. He smiled. "Really? That's the first time someone's said that to

Chapter 925 Dying Young

Only after seeing Evan off did Jenny spot Alec's messages. She sent him some texts in response, but the next second, the man was already giving her a call.

"Had dinner yet?" Alec asked, exhaustion evident in his tone. He was still busy with work, it seemed.

Jenny hummed in assent. "Mhm. What about you? You're not skipping meals again, are you?"

Alec didn't dare answer. He did skip dinner; he'd forgotten about it due to work.

Jenny sighed. "You need to take care of your health, Alec. Arent you worried about dying young?"

She didn't bother sugarcoating her words. She'd seen too many cases of people overworking themselves to the point of being hospitalized for passing out. Seeing Alec make the same mistake upset her.

I am." Alec truly hadn't been worried before he met Jenny. He lived life alone then, after all. But now, the thought implying, however. "Then regulate because there's no one waiting for me

Jenny fell silent.

love to come home to a hot meal too. Sadly, there's no one to make dinner for me at home or spend the days with me. So, I might as well focus on work," Alec continued, lips. "But no one would go to call was a

you coming home?"

have

Were you paying attention at all?" Jenny huffed angrily.

up right now." Alec assured her, not wanting to upset

Chapter 926 Wow. Polite.

Alec went right up to Jenny's apartment the moment he came up to his floor.

"Come on in. Dinner's ready." Jenny stepped aside to let him in.

"Did you make these?" Alec asked in surprise, seeing the food on the table.

"No, no. These are the foods you ordered." Jenny didn't intend to lie. She had merely heated up the food Alec sent over.

Alec frowned. "You haven't eaten?"

"I have." Jenny met his gaze, then looked away. "Evan came to visit after hearing I have my own place outside. We had dinner."

Alec's expression instantly turned ugly. So that was why Jenny didn't reply to his texts.

was just dinner, nothing special. Don't jealousy train. "Really? What I'm concerned about is Evan held for her. Their not? I can put wouldn't I?" No way would he to sit down at the table, digging

Jenny said after seeing Alec nearly wolfing down every bite." No one else replied through a mouthful of in front of him. 'Don't just chow it down. Unchewed food isn't good for your same to me.' Alec

an eyebrow

having anything to retaliate with. So, he slowed down his eating, waited until he finished eating before

"Thank you."

Chapter 927 You Worry Too Much

Jenny sighed. 'Of course, I do. Everyone deserves respect no matter who or what kind of person they are. You can't just look down on someone because they're not as rich as you, right?"

She didn't intend to convince Alec otherwise from his point of view. It was pretty expected for them to have different worldviews. After all, they grew up differently.

Plus, it wasn't as if he was ever a bully to everyone. At most, he ignored certain people, choosing not to interact with them instead.

Just as Jenny was ready to change the topic, Alec said, "Alright. I'll learn to be respectful to everyone from now on.'

Jenny shot him a curious look. "What? You don't need to—"

"Anything else I can improve on? Just let me know." Alec said, gazing at Jenny with a serious expression.

silence, she finally said, "You don't need to change anything about yourself just because himself, he'd no longer be the man though? I'm grateful you even care enough to tell me Instead, she said, "It's late. left, he couldn't help but ask, question? I've made my intentions was worried Jenny's feelings might Alec out the door. "You worry his face while he stared at it longingly. He didn't feel too terrible. Jenny didn't seem to be into Evan for the time being, though he wasn't sure what might transpire in the let went back home, turning in soon enough, just as he

Chapter 928 Are You Sure?

It was nearly noon when Jenny called Stephanie again. This time someone answered, though, to her surprise, it wasn't Stephanie, but a stranger.

"Is this your phone? You can have it back for five hundy, or I'll toss it into the river." A man's voice came from the other end of the call.

Jenny blinked in surprise but swiftly recovered. "Did you find the phone somewhere?"

"What'd you think? You're not gonna say I stole it, are you? I'm telling you, I didn't steal it. I just found it by the road." The man sounded worried as if he really might get in trouble.

Now Jenny was worried. How did Stephanie's phone end up by the roadside?

"Do you want it back or not?"

a location. I'll me the money, and I'll have it posted back to you by wanted to report you to the police, I

"You-"

then just give up. Put the phone first time finding a lost phone, after all. He also knew very well

"Hey! Keep that you sure you're ready to

I recovered a lost phone, then?" the man

over to the police. If you think that's not worth doing, then just leave the phone where you hundred dollars was nothing to Jenny, but she refused to let the man get his way. If he hadn't picked the phone up, Stephanie still Chapter 929 Can You Stop?

"What do I have to do for you to forgive me, Stephanie?!" A man yelled from the other end of the call, much to Jenny's surprise. She instantly recognized it to be Paul Wagner, currently pissed off, it seemed.

"Why should Steph forgive you? You can't expect a simple 'sorry' to make up for all the wrongs that you did, Paul Wagner," Jenny replied, hackles rising.

Compared to Paul, Alec was a saint.

"Jenny? What-" Paul's tone calmed down the moment he heard it was Jenny. "Where's Stephanie? Hand her the phone. This is our personal business we need to settle."

"Stephanie lost her phone. I got it back for her."

Paul frowned. "Lost it? But I just saw her earlier. How could she have lost it so soon?"

He was still at the place he met up with Stephanie, having grown so upset that he couldn't help but call her number again.

was Jenny's turn to frown. Something was wrong. "I'll head to her office right phone and went over, needing to make was on work today, her

Where could she be?

was deadly worried something might've had Melissa check on Stephanie's whereabouts while she went to Jenny immediately asked, "Where were you with Stephanie just this information to access the evidently unaware of how serious the situation

"I don't know."

you

one knows where she went after leaving the rendezvous spot you set,

Chapter 930 Do as I Tell You

There were no cameras at that corner, so Jenny wouldn't know what happened exactly based on the footage alone. She then left for that location, ready to find any clues leading her to figure out what happened.

Unfortunately, she found nothing. There was nowhere to hide behind that corner, nor were there any signs of struggle. It was as if Stephanie disappeared into thin air.

Jenny went back to the footage, determined to find some clues. Sure enough, she soon noticed a specific van leaving the area.

It had stopped by the sidewalk just before Stephanie walked around the corner, then left a little after she disappeared down it. No other person or car has come or left from that corner since.

Jenny sent the car plate number to Melissa, who quickly reported that the vehicle attached to the number had long been reported missing, so there were no available leads to track it down.

But Jenny didn't plan on giving up. She returned to the footage, rewatching the van and memorizing its features. She'd find it no matter what.

Just then, her phone rang.

on. She soon called again as if determined to have her answer it. With a sigh, Jenny said

old and scratchy—familiar, yet Jenny couldn't for the life

you do to Stephanie?" Jenny man only said, "I've sent you an target was me, why bother going to

Abducting Stephanie? Really?

of the safest ways for us, Miss Walter." Forcefully abducting Jenny would cause too great a commotion, not something easier to use in manipulating Jenny. Hence, she was one strand of her

I can't promise something won't happen to your friend." The man then hung up, not