

Beast Tamer 131

Chapter 131: Crown Scorpio!_I

Peonies among the floral beasts are extremely rare and exceptionally expensive.

Many peony beasts can be referred to as “auspicious”.

The peony that Fang Mu brought out clearly belongs to the “auspicious” category.

Fang Mu just referred to this peony as the Heaven Fragrance Peony, It’s not known if this beast was specially cultivated by Fang Mu’s master.

Being endowed with a national color and heavenly fragrance, the Heaven Fragrance Peony’s appearance and scent alone are enough to define it as a middle-grade auspicious!

Often, peony floral beasts are not as tall or lush as camellia floral beasts.

But this Heaven Fragrance Peony is more than twice as tall as Fang Mu’s carefully cultivated Coagulated Jade Camellia.

If this Heaven Fragrance Peony possesses any other special abilities, it could potentially be defined as a high grade auspicious!

It is considered an honor for wealthy and prestigious families to possess a beast that represents a high grade auspicious.

Such beasts can serve as the family's representation!

Keystone Construction had been in several battles over beasts that could be considered as high grade auspicious.

However, they have all failed without exception!

A beast that represents a high-grade auspicious could be described as priceless!

The fact that Jianmu could keep something of this caliber as a decoration in his room is impressive.

Compared to this Heaven Fragrance Peony, the furniture crafted by the craftsmanship of the grandmaster craftsman seems somewhat ordinary!

Having witnessed the confidence of a Grandmaster Disciple, Lv Jihong no longer had the mood to continue his introductions here.

Because Lv Jihong came to understand something.

What he thought was valuable to boast about did not seem to hold that much worth to others!

All he needed to do was to do his job well on his side!

After Lv Jihong left, Lu Xiaoyin sent He Qing home directly.

Lu Xiaoyin felt that the way Fang Mu treated He Qing was significantly different from how he treated her and She Wan.

Fang Mu treated her and She Wan as personal guards, whereas he treated He Qing more as a colleague and friend.

She and She Wan had entrusted their lives to Fang Mu, but He Qing was just an employee working for Fang Mu.

Therefore, Lu Xiaoyin did not let He Qing stay at the manor during the night.

She asked about Fang Mu's itinerary and asked He Qing to pick up Fang Mu on time the next day.

Because there were only two rooms available.

One of them was 500 square meters, which served as Fang Mu's bedroom.

The other one, 300 square meters, was temporarily occupied by herself and She Wan.

Even with a man and a woman, a 300-square-meter room was spacious enough for two people!

As a private housekeeper, arranging these things was precisely Lu Xiaoyin's job.

She Wan naturally had no objections.

After handing over the set of elixirs for Soul Energy restoration in her hand to Fang Mu, Lu Xiaoyin prepared to leave with She Wan.

She wanted to leave Fang Mu with a peaceful environment to rest properly.

As for bed sheets, quilt covers, and daily necessities, Lu Xiaoyin had already prepared them in advance.

In addition to the light blue bed sheets and quilt cover that Fang Mu was using now, seven or eight sets were stored in the cupboard in the room.

The cupboard used to store the bed sheets and quilt covers was made of rest wood.

The scent of rest wood has a calming effect on the mind.

When you take out new bed sheets and quilt covers from the cupboard and lay them on the bed, they smell even better than sun-dried ones!

Just as Lu Xiaoyin and She Wan got to the door, they heard Fang Mu say.

“Xiao Yin, if I recall correctly, your Main Battle Mystic Beast was a Platinum Level Perfect Quality Flame-winged Lion Scorpion.

“You might as well give your Flame-winged Lion Scorpion to me.”

“Evolving into Glory Lion Scorpion requires more than 80 percent purity Fire Elemental Energy, but Glory Lion Scorpion is not the ultimate form.”

“The Glory Lion Scorpion has the potential to evolve into the Crown Scorio after absorbing Fire Elemental Energy with a purity higher than 90 percent!”

“Recently, you’ve been working wholeheartedly for me, so I’m giving you a chance to get a Glory Lion Scorpion first, and I will also help you increase its quality to the Epic Level!”

“Once your Glory Lion Scorpion reaches the Diamond Rank, before you ascend to the next sequence, I will help you make it evolve into Crown Scorpio, trying my best to reach Legendary Quality.”

“However, before that, you need to allow this ant to enter your soul.”

Lu Xiaoyin had long decided to give up her freedom and become Fang Mu’s personal housekeeper.

Whether it was contact with Lu Yuyu, Luo Su, or even engagements with Grandmaster Craftsman Lu Jihong.

Lu Xiaoyin felt an unprecedented level of attention and respect.

This kind of attention, respect and even the effort to please him, has given Lu Xiaoyin much more relative freedom.

Even before he pledged his service, Fang Mu had already made a promise to him.

Previously, Lu Xiaoyin thought that evolving his Flame-winged Lion Scorpion into a Glory Lion Scorpion was already at the pinnacle.

He was only Fang Mu's personal trusted servant, doing some chores couldn't bring Fang Mu more benefits!

There was no reason for Fang Mu to invest more resources in him.

But now, Fang Mu is actually willing to invest Grandmaster-level resources into him and evolve the bloodline of the Glory Lion Scorpion into Crown Scorio when promoted to Diamond Rank.

Only the honored entourage of that respected figure in the Creator's Guild headquarters has a Crown Scorio!

Furthermore, the quality of the bloodline could be continuously improved.

The Platinum Level Ten Perfect Quality Flame-winged Lion Scorpion can evolve into the Diamond Rank Legendary Quality Crown Scorio once it's upgraded.

When it came to Creator resources, he now had more than Luo Su, a direct descendant of the Origin and deputy commander of the Jinghai Army!

At this point, Lu Xiaoyin was trembling with excitement. His gratitude towards Fang Mu was beyond words.

Lu Xiaoyin opened his soul, allowing the Soul Parasite Ant in Fang Mu's hand to drill into it.

Meanwhile, he felt glad to be able to serve as Fang Mu's personal servant.

The only thing he could do in the future was to handle Fang Mu's many trivial affairs as much as possible.

And fulfill his duty as a personal servant.

Lu Xiaoyin summoned the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion.

The ceiling in Fang Mu's room was high enough to accommodate the six-meter tall Flame-winged Lion Scorpion when it was squatting down.

Craftsmengineer Fang Mu didn't immediately feed the Sleep Moss to the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion, but planned to keep it in his Sequential Spiritual Instrument, the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, for a few days.

After a few days, he would promote the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion and hand it over to Lu Xiaoyin.

Fang Mu was willing to provide so many Creator resources for Lu Xiaoyin, partly because Lu Xiaoyin was absolutely his own personal servant.

And also because Lu Xiaoyin's ability to manage things satisfied Fang Mu.

On the other hand, after Lu Xiaoyin's strength increased, he could also serve as a semi-guard.

At present, Fang Mu only had considerable fighting power in She Wan, which was somewhat insufficient!

Besides these two factors, the outside world would inevitably know about Lu Xiaoyin's promotion.

Lu Xiaoyin served as the best living signboard for Fang Mu.

He could attract more powerful people who are willing to become his subordinates to work for him in exchange for high-star Creator resources.

At this moment, the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion hadn't reached the Diamond Rank and couldn't mimic other forms.

It squatted next to Fang Mu and gently tried to rub its mane against Fang Mu's shoulder.

However, Lu Xiaoyin stopped it in time!

It was a joke, each hair of the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion's mane is extremely hard; even scissors would have difficulty cutting it.

Even if the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion was gentle, the feeling of its mane brushing against the body would be no different from the friction of a steel wire ball.

As a contractor of the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion, Lu Xiaoyin had often suffered from the love of the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion "dominating" him!

He can tolerate the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion's "ferocious animal acting spoiled", but could Fang Mu really tolerate it?

Flame-winged Lion Scorpion, who was stopped by Lu Xiaoyin, was a bit puzzled and aggrieved.

It stared at Lu Xiaoyin with large eyes, as if asking whether it did something wrong.

Seeing this scene, Fang Mu suddenly felt that he should also contract a ferocious beast when he had the opportunity in the future.

Such a ferocious beast acting spoiled was too adorable!

Fang Mu reached out and gently touched the claw of the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion and said to it.

“Bear with me for a few days and stay in my Spatial Spiritual Instrument.” After saying this, Fang Mu activated the Purple Ice Crystal Ring.

A force of space immediately enveloped the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion.

The Flame-winged Lion Scorpion did not resist at all and was directly brought into the interior of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring by this force.

As a Sequential Spiritual Instrument, the space inside the Purple Ice Crystal Ring is as large as two football fields.

There’s enough room for the Flame-winged Lion Scorpion to play carefreely inside!

Chapter 132: Ranking Area and Age Area!_I

She Wan couldn’t disguise the envy as she looked at Lu Xiaoyin.

She Wan had thought that Fang Mu, who valued Lu Xiaoyin so highly, had already taken control of Lu Xiaoyin.

Unexpectedly, prior to this, Lu Xiaoyin was never under Fang Mu’s control.

Fang Mu had given her a life elixir with a purity of ninety-two percent, which was a much higher reward in terms of resources compared to Lu Xiaoyin.

However, Fang Mu's treatment of her was nowhere near as valued as that of Lu Xiaoyin.

Just as She Wan began to wander in her thoughts again, she heard Fang Mu speak.

"She Wan, starting from tomorrow, you don't have to assist Xiao Yin at the manor!"

"You will follow me instead!"

The two Shadow Eye Stones that Fang Mu had traded from Feng Lin were about to arrive.

Tomorrow, when Fang Mu goes to the incineration house to deal with the alien beast corpse, She Wan can completely go to Feng Lin to pick up the Shadow Eye Stones for him.

When he traded the Shadow Eye Stones before, Feng Lin also promised Fang Mu to help him find the hearts of the high-level blood tribe, but it was unknown how many he could find.

As a disciple of the Grandmaster Creator, having a Hexagram Beastmaster with a sequential guardian beast as a guard was quite reasonable!

She Wan was initially a little conflicted and worried.

But upon hearing Fang Mu's words, her mind instantly brightened!

Fang Mu saying this meant that he wasn't unwilling to value her.

Indeed, just as Lu Xiaoyin said, she was thinking too much!

A warm smile appeared on She Wan's cold and gorgeous face, just like a flowering iron tree.

Fang Mu found that She Wan was much more beautiful when she smiled than when she didn't.

In his previous life, Fang Mu always heard a phrase, being a beauty sealed by glasses.

Then, She Wan should be considered a beauty sealed by her cold face, right!

After Lu Xiaoyin and She Wan left his room.

Fang Mu summoned the diamond rank dream beast from his silver low-grade space spiritual tool shaped like a cufflink on his wrist.

If it weren't for the dream beast having a long nose, Fang Mu would almost mistake the dream beast, which was about the same size as the aromatherapy rabbit, for a juvenile black back mountain pig.

Although the dream beast resembled a black back mountain pig, its personality was exceptionally stern and serious.

It basically did not express any emotions.

It was nowhere near as lively and personable as the gear broom, which was known as a domestic beast and could be considered a family member.

The dream beast would occasionally make a snoring sound from his throat.

If the chewing sound was only for assisting sleep, then the snoring sound of the dream beast had a strong hypnotic effect.

Very quickly, Fang Mu went into the dreamland to the sound of the snoring, and connected with the dream beast.

Fang Mu's body might be in a dormant state, but his spirit was extremely active.

No wonder the Dragon Soaring Federation required that non-beastmasters cannot log into the battle network.

If one has not awakened the Destiny Guidebook and let their Destiny Guardian Beast strengthen their spiritual power.

If hypnotized by a dream beast and forcibly brought into the battle network with insufficient spiritual power, it would cause considerable damage to the spirit.

In Fang Mu's previous life, a thing like a full virtual reality game hadn't been developed yet.

However, Fang Mu felt that the state of the battle network was no different from a full virtual reality game.

The battle network was divided into two sections, one was divided according to the rank of the battle network, and those of equivalent rank would be matched together.

In the section divided by rank, only the guardian beasts themselves could be used in battle, and spiritual instruments could not be used.

Such could ensure fairness in terms of strength.

The battle network rank that beastmasters often talk about refers to the duel in this section.

The other section was divided by age.

People in this section could be paired with opponents of up to two years difference in age.

In the section divided by age, in addition to using guardian beasts in battle, spiritual instruments could also be used.

This made it extremely unfair even when restricting the age and putting all opponents in the same age group.

Because some of the spiritual instruments could be activated at a certain cost.

Even if one's own strength wasn't enough, they could still be forcibly used!

Meanwhile, the battle network duel belonged to a duel in a dream, and everyone was connected in the form of ether.

So no matter how much damage they took during the battle, everything would return to normal when they wake up!

This allowed many spiritual instruments to be used beyond their rank without paying any price.

Making the section of the battle network that was divided by age, a place where all kinds of immortals fight and showcase their family wealth!

There was a time when many hosts wanted to live stream in the section divided by age.

However, it's hard to guarantee a show's effectiveness in this kind of division.

Once, a top streamer in a rank division decided to venture into an age-based division.

This streamer rode the current all the way to the Golden Rank, even becoming a gatekeeper at the Platinum Rank at one point.

To break new ground in the age-based division, he even spent his savings to acquire two gold spiritual instruments suited for him.

Being a Three Point Star Beast Master with a Platinum Rank Guardian Beast at the age of 27 or 28 is quite remarkable!

With two gold spiritual instruments assisting him, the streamer couldn't think of any possible reason for losing!

This streamer did some preheating before the division switch.

On the day of the live stream, the real-time viewers exceeded 800,000!

This streamer is notoriously offensive and likes to tease female opponents, as a way of creating a more interesting show.

However, in his first fight after transferring, he happened to be matched against a young woman with fair and clean skin.

The young woman was very polite and greeted the streamer.

However, he didn't even respond to her greeting and started making frivolous remarks.

He even insisted that he would give her a lollipop in real life!

Out of annoyance, the woman brought out two diamond spiritual instruments without summoning her guardian beast.

She directly used her spiritual instruments' abilities to crush the streamer and his guardian beast into dust.

Although it was entertaining at the time and caused quite an uproar,

In a world that respected martial prowess, seeking strength is everyone's instinct.

Earlier, when this streamer was broadcasting in the rank division, he used to guide his audience with combat commentary.

Even though his skill hadn't declined, his image and persona were crushed along with his defeat.

Despite returning to his original division the next day, he couldn't stop the massive audience exodus from his channel.

Afterward, the real-time audience in his channel dropped to less than 5,000.

With such a number of viewers, it's hard to maintain the internet fees for using a Platinum Rank dream beast.

The fate of this streamer served as a warning bell to most other streamers in the rank division.

It also provided a new path for those streamers with good backgrounds but no success in the rank division.

I'm out! I won't grind in the rank division anymore!

These privileged streamers stirred up a storm of blood and gore in the age division with their spiritual instruments.

This resulted in a rejuvenation of the division.

The viewing numbers in the age division have already surpassed those in the rank division!

Fang Mu's previous understanding of the Battle Network focused on how to set up character and guardian beast information!

He hadn't really paid much attention to the knowledge of divisions.

Fang Mu knew that only by participating in ranked games in a rank division would one be able to achieve a rank.

In the age division, winning a game earns one point, and losing a game subtracts one point.

Through the amount of points, one can evaluate a person's potential compared to their peers.

What Fang Mu wanted to know the most was how great the gap between his Rainy Doll, now at Silver Stage Legendary Quality, and his peers was.

So Fang Mu decided to fight a round in the age division first.

For identity information, Fang Mu chose to use his alternate account, Jianmu.

Besides setting up the name, the Dream Beast would automatically detect other information like gender and age.

As for the guardian beast, Fang Mu only input the Rainy Doll into the system.

Because naturally divine powers of Destiny Guardian Beast can be used by the contractor,

Even if he didn't input Fool's Shadow, he could still use the Eye of Omniscience, natural divine powers of Fool's Shadow.

Although the exclusive property of Royal Beast Blood Abundance, Ashes Dyed Dying, could serve as an offensive measure or a way to protect one's life, Fang Mu wasn't planning on revealing it on the Battle Network!

However, his two silver low-quality spiritual instruments, Spider Flash Ring, Armored Fish Inner Armor, and the low-quality sequential spiritual instrument Purple Ice Crystal Ring,

Fang Mu entered into the system without any hesitation.

Fang Mu has been wearing the Purple Ice Crystal Ring on his left index finger. Anyone who has had contact with him in real life could see it.

If he wasn't afraid to reveal it in real life, he definitely wouldn't cover it up online!

After generating his personal and guardian beast information in the Dream Beast's database, and connecting it to the Battle Network that all Dream Beasts collaboratively constructed,

Fang Mu entered the age division and began his first fight on the Battle Network.

It was also Fang Mu's first battle since becoming a Beast Master!

Chapter 133 Unlucky Guy Fang Mu!_I

The Joy District of Lu City teems with bustling crowds in the night, with men, women, old, and young dressed in splendid attire flitting in and out of various shops.

Despite being past nine in the evening, it is still bustling with activity!

The locals residing nearby know that there's barely a quiet moment here twenty-four hours a day.

Fortunately, many soundproofing materials are used within the surrounding residential area walls.

Otherwise, the residents would probably be stricken with bags under their eyes all day!

Within the Joy District, property prices on Champs-Elysees Road are the highest!

That's because Champs-Elysees Road is also known as Spirit Instrument Street.

Many Spirit-smithing Masters open shops here to sell spiritual instruments.

Many middlemen pick out moderately priced, high-value spiritual instruments here to sell in other cities!

The luxury hotels on Champs-Elysees Road require a minimum rental of five hundred Dragon Rising Coins per night.

Such a price could rent a house for a month or two in Lu City's other districts!

At this moment, three teenagers are seated in a hotel room, chatting over tea.

Two of the teens clearly regard the one in the purple long robe as the leader.

This teenager has a cold demeanor, his young face always stern.

But on this cold face are a pair of peach blossom eyes.

If this young man were to smile, these peach blossom eyes would undoubtedly look very attractive!

The teenager fiddles with a leather bracelet on his wrist.

The black bracelet, woven from Night Blade Leopard's inner skin and various spiritual materials, has a chain of thunder energy circuits connecting every spiritual material.

The entire leather bracelet exudes a diamond-like lustrous shine.

This is actually a Diamond Grade mid-ranked Thunder System spiritual instrument!

Thunder System spiritual instruments often have strong aggressiveness.

“Brother She, Little Five Wang has recently spent all his time on live streaming.”

“I heard that he privately leverages the Wang Family’s influence for the sake of his broadcasts, getting to know many advanced spirit forgers!”

“Using spiritual instruments borrowed from these spirit forgers, he’s made quite a name for himself in the youth section of the Battle Network!”

“He was even once suspected of being a direct descendant of some large power.”

“Because his Battle Network name is just a character ‘Huan,’ so everyone calls him Young Master Huan!”

As he speaks, the young man dressed in a green jacket and grey-brown trousers, wearing round-toed leather shoes, displays an air of disdain.

Clearly, he looks down on Little Five Wang he was talking about!

The cold-faced teenager in the purple robes shakes his head gently upon hearing this.

“Anyway, we have nothing to do. If we three want to make some extra money by selling spiritual instruments, might as well ask Huan Wang.”

“Huan Wang is always dealing with spirit forgers; he must have more resources than we do!”

Hearing what the cold-faced boy said, the young man who just now disparaged Huan Wang no longer dares badmouth him.

However, from his expression, it’s evident that he still doesn’t hold Huan Wang in high regard.

Just then, the room’s door was knocked. A slightly chubby young man with a smile on his face walked in.

Without paying any mind to the two others, the chubby young man greeted the cold-faced boy.

“Brother She, I never expected you would invite me out!”

“After my live stream is over, how about we go to He Feng Restaurant for a drink?”

Huan Wang didn’t even glance at the two other people as he spoke.

Huan Wang’s attitude is even more contemptuous than when the two were talking about him earlier.

She Jiazhen noticed Huan Wang’s response.

She Jiazhen didn’t say much because, in his opinion, Huan Wang really does have something to be proud of!

Although Wang Family can’t compare to the five big families in Lu City, it still qualifies as a secondary force.

Even though Huan Wang isn’t a direct descendant of the Wang Family, he’s an outstanding member of the side branch.

But indeed, among peers, Huan Wang is the best in the Wang Family’s younger generation!

Many direct descendants of renowned families in Lu City have to curry favor with Huan Wang when they want to find a specific spiritual instrument.

All this stems from Huan Wang finding his direction in live streaming on the Battle Network!

Zhang He's disdain for Huan Wang just now has turned into a favor for Huan Wang.

With such enormous resources of spirit forgers in hand, the direct descendant of the She Family, She Jiazhen, who has the qualifications to compete for the title of Young Noble, also wants to cooperate with Huan Wang.

"Great! I'll take care of dinner at He Feng Restaurant tonight!"

"I remember your live stream is from nine to eleven at night. I'll log onto the Battle Network and watch your live stream while waiting for you!"

As he spoke, She Jiazhen took off the black bracelet he was wearing and handed it to Huan Wang.

"Here, take this. Borrow it during your live broadcast for a fresh look! " A year ago, Huan Wang had come to understand one thing.

And that was, that if you want to be popular on a live stream, aside from having certain abilities, you also need to know how to interact with fans and package your persona.

If one could say that in the ranking area, skill accounts for eighty percent, then in the age area, skills only account for fifty percent.

In fact, interacting with fans itself can also be classified as part of packaging one's persona.

For himself to package as a noble son, Huan Wang has consistently arranged to rent spiritual instruments from Spirit-smithing Masters.

Basically, he has gotten to know all the Spirit-smithing Masters on Champs-Elysees Road!

As time went on, it became easier for him to borrow spiritual instruments, and those Spirit-smithing Masters also became part of his network.

However, for the past two years, Huan Wang couldn't find a Diamond Rank attack-oriented spiritual instrument that could be triggered by making some sacrifices.

It's not that Huan Wang couldn't find Diamond Rank spiritual instruments, it's just that it's challenging to find such instruments that can be triggered with insufficient spiritual power at some cost.

She Jiazhen came to him with such a spiritual instrument, clearly understanding his needs.

Huan Wang is willing to work with such people!

Because such people would consider their partners more during the collaboration.

“Brother She, I, Huan Wang, thank you so much!”

“I will start the live stream first. Since I proposed a dinner party at He Feng Restaurant, how could I let you, Brother She, pay for it!”

As he spoke, Huan Wang took out the Diamond Rank Dream Beast that he had obtained at great cost.

He sat on the hotel bed, entered the Battle Network immediately, and opened his live stream room.

He discovered that more than one million audiences had gathered in his live stream room before the broadcast began.

A smile appeared on Huan Wang’s face.

He sent a notification that the live broadcast had begun, then warmly greeted the audience in his live stream room.

The moment Huan Wang appeared in the live stream room, the comments immediately rushed in at a high speed.

[Rainfall and Cherry Blossom]: What spiritual instrument has Young Master Huan brought for us to admire today!?

[Roadside Sequence]: When Young Master Huan makes a move, it's at least a platinum spiritual instrument! Hopefully, this time it's an aggressive type! Otherwise, if he struggles to activate a control-type platinum spiritual instrument like last time and fails to control the enemy, thus damaging himself, I'm not going to tip!

[Lone Soul Star Slayer]: I also want to see an instant kill! Kill the opponent before they can react. That's exciting to watch!

Upon seeing the rolling comments in his live stream room, Huan Wang selectively responded.

"A platinum spiritual instrument is not enough to match my, Huan's, status!"

"This time, let's try something special! Directly with a Diamond Rank spiritual instrument!"

"And this time it's a properly aggressive type spiritual instrument!" "Since you all want to see an instant kill, then I'll give you an instant kill!" "Let's start matching now, and see which unlucky guy we'll send off first!"

The moment Huan Wang saw someone mentioning they wouldn't tip, he immediately responded!

Not tipping? How could that be possible!

Recently, Huan Wang wasn't sure if it was because he didn't do well in his program, but the frequency of tipping from the viewers in the live stream room had decreased a lot!

In the past, earning forty to fifty thousand Dragon Rising Coins in a single night was easy, but now, sometimes he couldn't even earn ten thousand Dragon Rising Coins in one night!

Hopefully, the Middle-Diamond Rank Thunder Leopard Bracelet that She Jiazhen lent him tonight can stir up a bit of excitement.

So his name can show up frequently in the "Skin Peeling House" again!

As he thought about all this, Huan Wang picked a match while communicating with the Dream Beast.

Usually, Huan Wang liked to chat a bit before dealing with opponents, and then spring into action.

This time, to cater to the fans' requests, Huan Wang planned not to give their opponents any chance to react.

Anyway, once the match starts, he could attack immediately and it wouldn't be considered a sneak attack!

The side effect of using the Middle-Diamond Rank Thunder Leopard Bracelet to leap the ranks is that if the user fails to suppress the energy in the Thunder Leopard Bracelet with spiritual power after using it,

The user will also be attacked by the Thunder Leopard Bracelet!

Huan Wang wasn't worried about this at all.

Because if he can't defeat his opponent with a Middle-Diamond Rank spiritual instrument, even if he wasn't killed by the subsequent attack from the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, he would definitely have no chance of fighting back!

Chapter 134: The Dragon Roar from the Ancient Times! 1

The audience in the live broadcast room heard Huan Wang's words, the bullet screen paused for a few seconds, and then quickly began to scroll again.

[Zitan Flower Demon]:This is so powerful!? Diamond spiritual instrument! Young Huan rocks!

[Big Old Zhang]:Finally, the day has come when Young Huan brought out the diamond spiritual instrument!

[Wind Broken Shadow]:Just hearing about it is thrilling! I'm donating first! I'll donate more once the opponent is instantly crushed!

[Listening to the Wind and Eating Fish]: I love seeing the horrified look on the faces of the unlucky opponents! I can never get enough of it!

During Huan Wang's live broadcast, She Jiazhen, Zhang He, and Zhao Zihan all entered Wang's live broadcast room.

She Jiazhen treated Huan Wang as his potential partner, specifically showing up in support him.

Zhang He and Zhao Zihan always referred to Huan Wang as "Wang Little Five".

Generally, the direct descendants of big families would use numbers to refer to side branches descendants.

This was considered extremely impolite.

So, Zhang He and Zhao Zihan, only came out of consideration for She Jiazhen!

Upon entering, the two saw Huan Wang bravely displaying the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, a diamond spiritual instrument. He talked as if the bracelet were his own!

The two couldn't help but feel even more annoyed at Wang Huan, while simultaneously speculating about She Jiazhen's thoughts.

They figured She Jiazhen must be speechless seeing Huan Wang showing off his spiritual instrument!

Actually, Jiazhen did not feel this way at all. On the contrary, he valued Huan Wang even more.

If Jiazhen knew how narrow-minded Zhang He and Zhao Zihan were, he would have certainly regretted bringing them along.

She Jiazhen usually played in the ranking area of the Battle Network.

Rather than defeating his opponents through external spiritual instruments, Jiazhen preferred winning with his own strength.

However, seeing Huan Wang's style of fighting occasionally, Jiazhen found it rather interesting!

Soon, Huan Wang found his opponent.

Upon checking the information of the individual, Wang Huan found that the score of his opponent was surprisingly zero points!

For a moment, Wang Huan was uncertain whether this peer named Jianmu was actually a first time contestant in the age division of the Battle Network.

Or an unlucky guy in the age division with hundreds of wins and losses, yet still stuck at zero points.

If it was the latter, it's okay.

As an unlucky guy, he must have established the required mental fortitude for such a situation.

But if it was the former, then the blow Huan Wang was going to strike with the mid-rank diamond spiritual instrument, the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, might make this newcomer doubt his life!

He might, with a score of negative one, dare not re-enter the age division!

Although he had these thoughts, Huan Wang's hand movements didn't slow down!

He had already stimulated the Thunder Leopard Bracelet's spiritual power.

Jianmu, no matter what type of wood you are, you'll get charred by lightning!

Fang Mu also noticed the personal information of the opponent.

[Huan]: Points (819).

Seeing the points of his opponent, Fang Mu was surprised.

To know that in this point system, where winning earns one point and losing results in losing one point, zero is the average.

It seems that he was matched with a powerful enemy!

Fang Mu came to the age division to measure the gap between himself and his peers, the stronger the opponent, the better!

However, the opponent had no intention of summoning the Guardian Beast and equally, he had no plans for Mu to summon his Beast either.

Fang Mu just saw the opponent raising his left hand high, the bracelet on his wrist consisting of black ropes suddenly transformed into a thunder lake.

From the thunder lake, a beast's intimidating roar could be heard.

This roar was familiar to Fang Mu, very similar to the Extreme Electric Cloud Leopard's roar.

Except the pressure was much stronger than the bronze-phased Extreme Electric Cloud Leopard!

After a leopard made of thunder formed in the thunder lake, all of the thunder lake was absorbed into the body of the leaped formed by lightning all at once.

At this moment, this lightning leopard instantly came to life!

Through the Eye of Omniscience, Fang Mu had already understood what this Battle Network's youth named Huan was trying to do.

Relying on these higher order spiritual instruments that can be forcibly activated when overdrawn for battle, it's no wonder he has such high points!

Since the opponent wanted to use his spiritual instrument to stir up trouble, then let's go along with it!

Fang Mu was also eager to test out the auto-protection ability of his sequential spiritual instrument, the Purple Ice Crystal Ring.

After he tested the auto-defense ability of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, the Thunder Leopard in the sky would turn to say goodbye to the opponent's young boy.

Because he was confident, Fang Mu didn't plan to summon the Rainy Doll.

Thus he leisurely strutted towards the direction of Huan Wang.

Just like a free and easy teenager confronting the Thunder Leopard that roared and bellowed in the sky.

[Mountain Cold]: This poor little guy must be scared stupid by the diamond Spiritual Instrument! Even if he knows he can't compete, he should summon the Guardian Beast for protection or evade it!

[Happy Little Prince]: This lacks showmanship! Young Huan tried so hard, but he encountered an idiot!

[My Son is Called Yuanbao]: Wait! Have you noticed the silvery glimmer emitting from the teenager's collar and fingers? It contains a breath of two elements!? OMG! Dual attribute silver spiritual instruments?

[Old Scorpion]: I noticed these two dual-attribute silver Spiritual Instruments a while ago! This young man is not ordinary! The zero score was most likely because he had been playing in the ranking area.

She Tiazhen also noticed this scene.

The dual-attribute silver spiritual instruments on this boy, one should be a full-body defensive armor, and one with space fluctuations.

His equipment is identical to what I have!

The family who can equip the younger generation with this kind of spiritual instruments is probably no different from the She Family.

Having activated the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, Huan Wang's spiritual power was depleted.

Now he couldn't even summon a Guardian Beast through his Destiny Guidebook.

Fang Mu never stopped advancing, his facial expression unchanged as he watched the Thunder Leopard charging at him after gathering energy.

The moment the Thunder Leopard collided with Fang Mu, his expression was calm, not even blinking his eyes.

Just then, a roar resonated like a dragon chant echoing from ancient times.

The moment this dragon aura echoed across the battlefield, Huan Wang, who was drained of his spiritual power and stood by force, was overwhelmed by the dragon's aura and collapsed on the ground.

His legs shook uncontrollably, as though they were spasming.

A layer of pale purple frost emanated from Fang Mu's left ring finger.

These frost flakes immediately separated the charging Thunder Leopard and then condensed into cross-shaped crystals.

These cross-shaped frost flakes pieced together in front of Fang Mu into a cross-shaped shield.

The shield was covered in frosty snow and was enveloped in pale purple mist.

The entire Cross Shield took on the form of purple crystal!

This automatically condensed Purple Crystal Cross Shield completely blocked the onslaught of the Thunder Leopard Bracelet.

Perhaps sensing the Furious Thunder Leopard's beast spirit in the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, a more intimidating dragon chant resounded.

The most famous characteristic of the Dragon species is their imposing presence!

The Jiaolong Beast carries a majestic and elegant aura while those of Dinosaur species are brutal and bloodthirsty.

And the Pterodactyl is a part of the Dinosaur species, indeed, the Pterodactyl lineage thrives among the Dinosaur species with Dragon bloodlines.

The dragon's howl caused ripples on the flat ground and distortions in space, similar to rotating kaleidoscopes.

Then, an ancient dragon with a wingspan exceeding thirty meters and a body covered in silvery scales appeared in a phantom state in front of Fang Mu.

Spatial energy continuously poured into this ancient dragon's body, making it stronger while its figure became more solid.

The ancient dragon's sharp beak reflected silver rays, and its bat-like wings ferociously beat the ground.

The dragon's tail, longer than its wingspan, directly whipped at the Furious Thunder Leopard's beast spirit!

The scales that burst open at the tail's end struck the Furious Thunder Leopard's back, reducing the beast spirit to nothing more than fragments in the air.

This was the autonomous action of the sequential spiritual instrument's beast spirit when a low-level spiritual instrument dares to challenge it.

At this moment, Huan Wang's live-streaming room was completely silent.

Huan Wang, who had been worshipped and pursued by everyone before, was now slumped on the ground, like a defeated dog.

And that teenager beside the ancient dragon, was like a deity!

The viewers in Huan Wang's stream, not only watch his streams every day.

But in the impression of these viewers, never has such a shocking scene appeared in the age group section of the Battle Network!

At this moment, a knowledgeable person posted a comment in Huan Wang's streaming room.

[Above the Lushui River]: I was originally idling and watching the live stream, but I unexpectedly witnessed the auto-protection of a sequential spiritual instrument and the crushing of a lower-ranked spiritual instrument's beast spirit!

Chapter 135: Spider Stings and Kills! 1

This comment popped up in the desolate comments section.

Normally, Huan Wang enjoyed interacting with the audience in the live broadcast room while fighting or toying with his opponents using spiritual instruments.

But right now, Huan Wang was clearly not in the mood.

Huan Wang held a diamond-grade spiritual instrument, the Thunder Leopard Bracelet, assuming he could easily crush his opponent with it and gain a surge of fans.

But the supposedly average-looking opponent he was matched with conjured up an enormous, terrifying dragon spirit after being attacked.

Huan Wang, who has been dealing with Spirit-smithing Masters for years and constantly fiddling with spiritual instruments, instantly recognized it. This must be the Sequential Spiritual Instrument that only a Forging Spirit Grandmaster can create!

A figure like a Forging Spirit Grandmaster was definitely not within Huan Wang's reach.

Although the number of Forging Spirit Grandmasters was greater than that of Grandmaster Creators, there were only a dozen or so in total.

All these people were big shots who could shake the Dragon Rising Federation by merely stamping their feet!

Unlike regular spiritual instruments that could be used immediately after being activated with spiritual power, Sequential Spiritual Instruments required marrow recognition!

A youngster wearing a Sequential Spiritual Instrument in the Battle Network indicates that this boy named Jianmu must be the master of this Sequential Spiritual Instrument!

The fact that a boy so young could possess a Sequential Spiritual Instrument suggests he has an astonishing background!

In Huan Wang's opinion, She Jiazhen certainly didn't have such a standing!

Given Huan Wang's predicament, on top of their shock, Zhang He and Zhao Zihan's faces were filled with an uncontrollable joy.

It seemed as though Huan Wang's shameful behavior was indeed something to celebrate.

She Jiazhen's brows furrowed in response.

Having been raised in a wealthy and influential family like the Lu Dushe clan, he was used to being praised by others and had seen many big shots.

Thus, She Jiazhen understood very well the concept of 'there's always someone better.'

She Jiazhen didn't care about Jianmu's identity.

However, Huan Wang's tarnished image due to his humiliation undoubtedly meant the popularity of the channel would decline!

Moreover, the reason why Huan Wang was able to maintain such good relations with those Spirit-smithing Masters was that he opened an online shop on the Battle Network.

He would sell the spiritual instruments he used in each fight.

This made Huan Wang a sales channel for these Spirit-smithing Masters.

Under the effect of the fan-based economy, the audience in Huan Wang's live broadcast room tended to pay more than necessary.

Therefore, these inherently not too strong spiritual instruments, which could be forcefully activated at a cost, were sold at higher prices than at auctions.

If Huan Wang's performance was seen by those Spirit-smithing Masters, many would likely choose to stop cooperating with him.

This would significantly reduce Huan Wang's value.

She Jiazhen started wondering whether he should reconsider his cooperation with Huan Wang.

After a brief silence, the audience in Huan Wang's live broadcast room broke out in an uproar.

The barrage of comments kept the comments section rolling non-stop.

The comments were coming in so fast it was hard to read them!

[Xi Sui]: Sequential Spiritual Instrument?! Is it real?! Is this the legendary Sequential Spiritual Instrument?! The Beast Spirit inside the Sequential Spiritual Instrument is too cool!

[Night Night When I was a Child]: I just love Dragon-race Beast Masters! This is the Dragon Spirit of the Sequential Pterodactyl?!

[This Isn't the Bus to the Kindergarten]: Young Huan is done for! Put on a grand funeral! Today I declare Jianmu as my new idol!

[Sima Zhoulong]: Eh-, just because he lost, you stop being a fan. Isn't that too realistic?! Unlike me who became a fan because of his good looks, don't you think Jianmu is kinda handsome?

After dealing with the spirit of the Furious Thunder Leopard, the Sky Hollow

Pterodactyl let out another proud and defiant dragon chant.

Only then did it return to the Purple Ice Crystal Ring.

Fang Mu felt a bit helpless at this point. He didn't have much knowledge of Sequential Spiritual Instruments.

Fang Mu knew that when he was attacked, the Purple Ice Crystal Ring would automatically protect its master.

But he didn't expect the Sky Hollow Pterodactyl's Dragon Spirit to kill the Beast Spirit that challenged him.

The Beast Spirit is the core of a Spiritual Instrument's control.

Since the Beast Spirit of the Furious Thunder Leopard was killed instantly, the Thunder Leopard Bracelet could no longer backlash its user.

Fortunately, his opponent had used up all his spiritual power to deploy the diamond-grade Furious Thunder Leopard Bracelet and couldn't use any other spiritual instruments immediately.

Fang Mu planned to take this opportunity to take out his opponent.

The boy on the other side was clearly showing off his age-segmented spiritual instruments, relying on his family background.

Fang Mu was uncertain whether his opponent had other diamond spiritual instruments.

Although the Purple Ice Crystal Ring indeed offers protection for its master, this protection is not unlimited!

Each activation needs a certain amount of time to accumulate, commonly referred to as the cooling period of the spiritual instrument.

Fang Mu had now reached the middle of the arena, and Huan Wang had already entered the attack range of the Spider Flash Ring.

Fang Mu stimulated the Spider Flash Ring through his spiritual power, and the ring instantly diffused into an unnoticeable fog in the duel arena.

Then, the Mist Spider Beast Spirit silently condensed at the back of Huan Wang's neck.

The specialized claw limb of the Fog Spider was nearly twenty-five centimeters long.

This specialized claw limb can easily cut through a three centimeter-thick manganese iron plate.

After the Mist Spider Beast Spirit condensed, it pierced directly through Huan Wang's neck according to Fang Mu's instructions.

After the Fog Spider pierced its prey, it lowered its claw in a habitual downward slashing motion while retracting it.

This habitual slashing movement, as the end to the entire match, carried a terrifyingly bloody taste.

A manganese iron plate could be easily cut through by the specialized claw of the Fog Spider.

Let alone, the flesh and blood of a young boy!

If a chef witnessed this scene of the Mist Spider Beast Spirit retracting its claw, they would certainly find it eerily similar to killing a fish!

After Huan Wang's death, the entire duel arena dissipated like a cloud of smoke, and Fang Mu returned to the matching area.

Fang Mu was filled with an indescribable feeling.

Even in a dream, as a transmigrator who had lived two lives, it was Fang Mu's first time killing an opponent with force.

This act was hard for Fang Mu to accept, as he was a transmigrator who had received elite education in his previous life.

But rationality made Fang Mu realize that he must accept all of this.

Because in the martial world of Beast Masters, this was a common occurrence.

Lu Yuyu once told Fang Mu that even projects led by the Beastmaster Alliance had at least a five percent death rate.

The deputy leader of the Lionheart Brigade, Liu Jihui, also subtly expressed to Fang Mu that he could handle some things lurking in the shadows.

This included assassination!

Back when Fang Mu was still a high school student in Jinghai High School for Beast Masters, he couldn't see the reality of this world.

Now standing from a different view, Fang Mu had a deeper understanding of the world he was in.

The more he understood, the more cautious he became.

Not until he had She Wan as his guard did Fang Mu feel slightly relieved.

This time, his opponent was just on the Battle Network.

If he encounters someone harboring ill intentions in reality in the future, he would react in the same way.

Being merciful to those who harbor hostility towards oneself in this martial-centric world was a saint's act.

And being a saint seldom ended well!

Dragon Rising Federation reformed the Battle Network several times, making it mandatory to kill all the opponent's Guardian Beasts during a duel or directly kill the Beast Master to end it.

This practice was to let Beast Masters understand that combat itself is a matter of life and death.

Reality is not like the Battle Network where everything has the chance of a redo.

In reality, if you die, you truly die!

No beast was known to be able to resurrect dead Beast Masters and their Guardian Beasts.

After playing a round in the age-segmented area of the Battle Network, Fang Mu felt its stench.

If he hadn't had the Sequential Spiritual Instrument- the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, he was afraid he would have been blasted into charcoal by the Diamond Spiritual Instrument- Thunder Leopard Bracelet.

The authorities chose not to change the state of the age-segmented area, suggesting that even though the world Fang Mu currently resided in had laws to follow, it was vastly different from his past life.

After completely digesting the discomfort in his heart, Fang Mu felt that in addition to enhancing his personal strength,

He should also quickly build a stronger private armed force.

In addition to hiring guards like She Wan, his beloved Exclusive Beast- Xixi, had already produced the first electronic butterfly.

Fang Mu felt that his plan to create humanoid weapons should be put on the agenda as soon!

Chapter 136: Beating up a teenager from a different age zone!_I

Huan Wang, who had returned to the matching area, had completely recovered his focus.

The first thing Huan Wang did when he regained his focus was to check the comments in his live room.

Huan Wang knew deeply how much impact losing this game would have on the image he was trying to build.

However, what Huan Wang didn't expect was that the comments in the live room had reached a point where he couldn't reply!

[A Visitor Passes By]: I don't know why but I suddenly lose all interest when Young Huan loses! I think I'll stick to watching live streams in the ranking area from now on!

[Old Dream Against Heart]: I feel the same! The strength of a Beast Master largely depends on his Guardian Beast! Spiritual instruments are after all just external objects!

[Gentlemen Do Not Laugh]: I disagree! Watching live streams in the evening is just for entertainment and killing time, seeing different kinds of spiritual instruments is also a way to broaden our horizons!

[Wood Becomes Gold Dish]: Spiritual Instruments are not just external objects!

At least Sequential Spiritual Instruments aren't! Sequential Spiritual Instruments through Marrow Pact can almost equate to the existence of half a Guardian Beast!

Huan Wang knew that his image was completely ruined!

Many other streamers like him have seen their popularity decline significantly due to being defeated by their opponents.

If he had lost while using a platinum spiritual instrument, Huan Wang would have accepted it!

But he already had a diamond spiritual instrument and still lost.

Huan Wang was truly unwilling to accept this!

But being unwilling was of no use.

After Huan Wang's first duel in the past, the real-time viewer count in the live room would at least reach 2 million!

But now the real-time viewer count in the live room had dropped to 950,000, which was even less than when he just started streaming!

This duel was equivalent to a butterfly flapping its wings in the grand scheme of the Battle Network.

But someone happened to record this battle and posted it on the Skin Peeling House of the Battle Network.

They even deliberately came up with a title fitting for a third-rate website. "Shocking! Finally, someone used a Sequential Spiritual Instrument to bash the age area!"

The title mentioned Sequential Spiritual Instruments, and also the age area that has always been a hot topic.

This immediately attracted the attention of many Beast Masters who were surfing the Skin Peeling House.

Fang Mu had no idea that just a casual match-up could cause such a huge reaction.

After playing in the age area once, Fang Mu had no interest in the age area anymore.

The next time he matched for a duel, Fang Mu had switched to the ranking area.

Because Fang Mu was a newbie on the Battle Network and didn't have any rankings yet, Fang Mu needed to play five placement matches to determine his rank.

If he lost all five matches, he would be placed in the Black Iron Rank.

Beast Masters would at least contract a Bronze Stage Guardian Beast.

Those who lurk in the Black Iron Rank are often those Beast Masters who couldn't contract a Guardian Beast with good combat capability.

These Beast Masters consider Battle Network duels as a form of entertainment in their spare time.

Those who often lurk in the Bronze Rank are Beast Masters who only have Bronze Stage Guardian Beasts, as well as those whose Guardian Beasts, even if they advance to the Silver Stage, are relatively weak in attack.

Being weak in attack doesn't mean lacking in combat capability.

Once a Guardian Beast has advanced to the Silver Stage, its abilities will be positioned based on its two skills.

The Battle Network rank duel area only allows single duels.

This makes Beast Masters who have contracted healing and auxiliary Guardian Beasts struggle to improve their rank.

Under normal circumstances, rank is equated with the strength of the Guardian Beast.

As soon as a Beast Master who only has a Silver Stage Guardian Beast advances to the Gold Rank, he will immediately attract the attention of large club guilds!

Even some higher education institutions would set up special classes to specifically recruit these young Beast Masters who have made a name for themselves in the Battle Network rank division.

However, it's a difficult task to defeat a Gold Guardian beast with a Silver Stage Guardian Beast and secure a place in the Gold Rank.

Every time you advance in rank, you need to participate in a promotion game, and you can only advance if you win all three promotion games!

Applying for a promotion game also has prerequisites – you need to have maximum points in the current rank!

Each major rank is divided into ten minor stages, corresponding to the Guardian Beast's ten minor stages.

Although only major rank promotions require a promotion game, it's no easy task to accumulate 1000 points of the current rank!

Because if you lose a duel, a certain amount of rank points will be deducted!

Fang Mu owns a Silver Stage Guardian Beast, if he wins all five matches, there is a chance to be directly placed in the promotion game of the Bronze Rank.

The number of streamers in the rank division is much larger than that of the age division!

However, very few of these streamers are under the Silver Ranks.

Under the Silver Rank, the Bronze Rank Guardian Beasts peck each other, which doesn't have much value for viewing.

This makes the streamer unable to earn enough to cover the internet cost of using a Dream Beast at the platinum level!

Of course, no matter which division, there are always streamers who stir things up for the sake of their shows.

Some broadcasters who can easily hold their ground at the Golden Rank deliberately lose, becoming gatekeepers at the Silver Ranks.

They gain a following by blocking others who have painstakingly fought their way up!

What's more, some would even lose until they fall to Bronze Rank, then crush their way back up to the Golden Rank!

As the Ranking divisions don't allow the use of spiritual instruments, Fang Mu can finally get a good idea of Rainy Doll's power!

The matching speed for the placement match is much slower than usual.

After about six seconds, Fang Mu finally got matched with his first opponent.

Because Guardian Beasts of different ranks have different abilities, the arena for placement matches is relatively small.

It's about one-sixth the size of the arena Fang Mu just used in the age division dueling grounds!

Standing in the duel arena that was fifty meters long and six meters wide, Fang Mu glanced at his opponent's details.

[Liu Feifei]: Age 109, Female, Rank (Black Iron Level 10, 99 Points).

109 years old!?

The opponents you meet in placement matches, especially in the first round, are definitely weak.

This age can definitely be considered elderly!

Fang Mu looked towards the other side of the dueling arena and saw a frail old woman with white hair and thin body, standing shakily on the opposite side with the support of her walking stick.

The Ranking System of the Battle Network does not allow the use of spiritual instruments, let alone offensive weapons.

However, persons with disabilities or elderly individuals over a hundred years old could apply to use a wooden walking stick for support.

Looking at the old granny across from him, Fang Mu felt like a gust of level-four wind could knock her down!

Still coming to the Battle Network at such an old age for duels, how trendy!

The old woman summoned her Guardian Beast straight away.

Three “cluck cluck cluck” sounds came from a distance.

Fang Mu saw three poultry around half a metre tall appear next to the old woman.

A big rooster with teal feathers tinged with brown was constantly scratching at the ground with its claws.

The incessant “cluck cluck” sound was coming from this rooster.

The two hens beside him were shorter and less brightly coloured, their tail feathers bald, clearly domestic hens.

Fang Mu didn’t even bother to inspect these three Bird Beasts with his Eye of Omniscience.

Not only had he seen these three Bird Beasts before, he’d even eaten them!

Three-Flower Valley Chickens are relatively cheap Bird Beasts that are usually served during the festive seasons in ordinary households.

Based on the size of these three Three-Flower Valley Chickens, they were obviously low-level Bronze Rank.

A brawny man weighing around two hundred pounds could defeat these three chickens with some minor scratches!

Fang Mu could see why this old granny was still stuck in the Black Iron Zone.

The fact that she managed to climb up to Black Iron Level 10 with 99 points likely had a lot to do with others taking pity on her.

As expected, after summoning the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens, the old granny across from Fang Mu shouted towards him.

“You’re playing placement matches, lad!?”

“My great-grandson is about your age; he’s in high school!”

“Let this old woman have this one! Surely your teachers have taught you to respect the old and care for the young!?”

Fang Mu was slightly taken aback by these words, and his brows immediately furrowed.

The old woman was clearly aware that he was participating in a placement match, and from her experienced viewpoint, she must’ve understood the importance of these matches.

Many club guilds require that young members win all their placement matches as a minimum requirement for selection and training.

If this old woman's great-grandson was really the same age as him and in high school, he must've known this.

Teachers in high school usually emphasise this when speaking about Battle Network placement matches.

Placement matches for high school students on the Battle Network are usually completed in their first semester of freshman year under their combat class teachers' supervision.

Knowing all this and still morally blackmailing him, it was just so contemptuous!

Fang Mu, who was educated traditionally, knew to respect the old and care for the young, but respecting the old didn't mean obeying them unconditionally.

Looking at the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens charging towards him, Fang Mu said coldly.

"Mrs. Liu, it looks like it's going to rain.. Don't forget to keep an eye on your great-grandson's summer homework!"

Chapter 137: The Final Rating Game!_1

Fang Mu summoned Rainy Doll as they spoke.

After raising Rainy Doll's quality to Legendary Quality, she acquired the exclusive trait of Element Twins.

In the Fire of the Pioneering Cremation House, Fang Mu specifically extracted several bottles of Fire Elemental Potion with the purity of 100%.

Fang Mu had fed these Fire Elemental Potions to Rainy Doll.

The ink-colored cloud under Rainy Doll's body is still entirely occupied by the poison, there is no difference from before!

However, the upper half of Rainy Doll's body has undergone significant changes.

Rainy Doll's body is still blue, but her elaborate dress and the cloud-shaped crown on her head have turned orange-red, the color represented by the flame.

As a Half-Elf, Rainy Doll has her own judgment about the battlefield.

Seeing the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens rushing towards her, Rainy Doll didn't need Fang Mu's command and instantly rose to the sky.

The ink-colored cloud underneath her kept dividing and turned into a rain cloud covering an area of more than forty square meters.

With a light snap of Rainy Doll on the rain cloud, grayish yellow raindrops fell down in an instant!

The three Three-Flower Valley Chickens, flapping their wings, couldn't escape the range of the rain.

The moment the grayish -yellow raindrops touched the Bronze Level Three-Flower Valley Chickens, yellow smoke began to rise from their bodies.

Fang Mu didn't let Rainy Doll use the exclusive trait of the Element Twins.

Three-Flower Valley Chickens of the Bronze level are not worthy. Rainy Doll uses the exclusive traits gained when promoting legendary quality to cope with them.

The yellow smoke that rose when their bodies got wet from raindrops is the Acid Poison and Erosion Poison corroding the feathers of the Three-Flower Valley Chickens.

The feathers of the Three-Flower Valley Chickens produce high temperatures under the corrosion that directly blister the thick and delicate chicken skin underneath their feathers!

The blisters burst, and it is unnecessary for the toxin of the Black Nightmare Snake to act.

Blood Poison, Mold Poison, and Neurotoxin have already started to take effect.

Neurotoxin infiltrated the nerve center of the Three-Flower Valley Chickens.

After feeling the pain, not even a scream was heard, and colorful mushrooms appeared before them one by one.

Like a drunk, they flapped their wings and kept colliding with the other two Three -Flower Valley Chickens.

Blood Poison caused the blood of the Three-Flower Valley Chickens to coagulate. The coagulated blood completely fixed the Mold Poison on their bodies.

In the blink of an eye, the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens have been corroded by the poison beyond recognition!

After the Erosion Poison and Acid Poison finished corroding the feathers, they joined with the Rot Poison to decompose and digest the meat and bones.

Rainy Doll just dropped ordinary rain threads, and the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens had already turned into three streams of black water on the ground.

Only the hard chicken beaks and the gizzard stones that aid digestion remained in this pool of black water.

Mold Poison continued to generate and divide mold spores in the black water.

The infestation of the mold spores caused the hard beaks of the Three-Flower Valley Chickens to soften.

Under the erosion of the Acid Poison and the Mold Poison, the gizzard stones creaked and shrank in a matter of moments!

The death of the three Three-Flower Valley Chickens left the 109 -year-old Liu Feifei with no Guardian Beasts to use.

This signified Fang Mu's victory.

After the victory, Fang Mu spiritedly matched three more times in succession. All the Guardian Beasts he faced were of Bronze level.

Fang Mu used the same method for all, only relying on the ordinary rain threads dropped by Rainy Doll, to achieve victory.

Fang Mu planned to fight one more round to complete the placement match, determine his Ranking, and then go to read and sleep!

At this point, someone else shared the same idea as Fang Mu, a young man from Ice Rock City in Han State Province.

Ever since the college holiday started, Xin Guang had been working part-time.

To earn some more money to reduce the pressure on his parents, and also to put out more resources to strengthen his Guardian Beast.

Xin Guang purposely accepted some decoration work with the help of his Guardian Beast, Iron Arm Fire Monkey, to help a small construction team carry materials.

Even when he arrived home every night, both he and the Iron Arm Fire Monkey were tired and sleepy.

But the Iron Arm Fire Monkey loved to battle too much.

Xin Guang thought, he must be the only Beast Master who is forced by his Guardian Beast to battle on the Battle Network!

Xin Guang has made a development plan for himself, which is to promote Iron Arm Fire Monkey to Gold Level by the time he graduates from college.

At that time, he might as well become a full-time broadcaster with Iron Arm Fire Monkey!

Even though the network fee for using a Platinum- Level Dream Beast is expensive, he has advantages that other broadcasters can't match.

That is, he only went to the Contemplation Hall once, but he was lucky enough to get a Rune that matches Iron Arm Fire Monkey!

The number of broadcasters his age who have understood runes are quite few.

Xin Guang always felt that if he had not failed to awaken his Destiny Guardian Beast and lacked the resources to cultivate a second Guardian Beast beyond the Iron Arm Fire Monkey,

He might have been noticed by some mid-level Club Guilds!

After becoming a Battle Network broadcaster, he could spend time being a Silver Stage gatekeeper.

Perhaps he could receive some olive branches from low-level Club Guilds. Once he joined a Club Guild and helped them compete,

He could exchange for certain Creator resources from the Club Guild through points and his contributions!

As a veteran of the Battle Network ranking division, Xin Guang knew that he must have met an opponent who was still in the placement matches when the matchmaking was not completed within two seconds.

Xin Guang was surprised, his current rank was Silver Fourth Level, 62 points.

At his rank, there were already chances to occasionally match against Beast Masters who possessed Gold Stage Guardian Beasts.

If someone could be matched against him in placement matches, this person probably had already achieved four consecutive victories.

Xin Guang didn't expect that he would have the chance to become a "Dream Destroyer" before going to bed!

To destroy an Unlucky Guy's dream!

After four consecutive victories and then a loss, the person would probably be placed at around Bronze Level 3 or 4.

It's not as comfortable as being placed directly at Bronze Level 10, 100 points, and then being promoted to Silver!

Upon entering the Duel Arena, Xin Guang saw information about his opponent.

[Jianmu]: Age 16, Male, Ranking (Unplaced).

Sixteen years old!

So young!

The Battle Network was created by Dream Beasts.

The information set by the Dream Beast was extremely accurate and there was no chance of error!

If Jianmu, this sixteen-year-old boy, could be matched against him, could it be that he already possessed a quite powerful Silver Stage Guardian Beast!?

Owning such a level Guardian Beast at such a young age indicated that the boy had the chance to be approached by large Club Guilds, or even be specially recruited as a reserve team member.

Xin Guang automatically wondered if he should throw the match.

After having this thought, Xin Guang quickly dismissed it.

Because he hasn't joined a Club Guild yet, even a low-level guild would give much consideration to a member's combat record when recruiting new members.

Even though they don't require all five victories in the placement matches, they would look at the overall winning percentage.

Losing a round would lower his overall winning percentage.

Before, when Xin Guang matched against an opponent in the placement matches, someone had offered him some benefits to throw the match intentionally.

Since they didn't agree on a price, Xin Guang chose not to hold back.

If this sixteen-year-old boy in front of him was willing to give him some real benefits, it wouldn't matter if he lost this round.

To be matched against him at such a young age, the boy must have great potential!

While Xin Guang was observing Fang Mu, Fang Mu was also observing Xin Guang.

[Xin Guang]: Age 20, Male, Ranking (Silver Fourth Level, 62 Points).

Seeing Xin Guang's age, Fang Mu realized that he must have met a college student.

The four-year difference wasn't much!

Fang Mu sighed quietly, he had finally met an opponent of a similar age!

Just as Fang Mu was preparing to summon his Rainy Doll, he heard the bald young man opposite him shout.

"It's fate that we've met! I imagine you must plan to join a large Club Guild!"

As he spoke, the bald young man from the opposite side summoned his Guardian Beast.

The bald-headed youth was tall, probably about 1.95 meters tall.

He was more than ten centimeters taller than Fang Mu.

Fang Mu, being 1.78 meters, seemed to have become a dwarf.

With such a build, plus a shiny green bald head, Xin Guang seemed very imposing!

Standing beside Xin Guang was a monkey taller than Xin Guang, with fiery-red skin and muscles.

It was beating its arms, which were as thick as Fang Mu's waist, with palpable force.

Directly causing the green stone bricks on the Duel Arena to develop a spider web-like crack!

Chapter 138 The Terrifying Rainy Doll!_I

Immediately, Fang Mu used Fool's Shadow's innate divine power, the Eye of Omniscience, to probe this fiery red muscular monkey. [Beast Name]: Iron Arm Fire Monkey [Beast Species]: Muscular Monkey / Macaque Family

[Beast Level]: Silver stage (6/10)

[Beast Element]: Fire [Beast Potential]: Gold [Beast Quality]: Elite

Skills:

[Fire Stare]: Stare at the target with pupils, the first thing in sight will be ignited.

[Fire Arm Dance]: Flames erupt from the muscles in both arms, forming fire whips roughly the length of the arms to attack the target, while increasing the strength of both arms based on the intensity of the Fire Elemental Energy around them.

Upon investigation, Fang Mu discovered the capabilities of this Silver Level Six Elite Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

The Fire Monkey's skill, Fire Stare, could be considered a sneak attack method in battle.

If unprepared, during a battle with the Guardian Beast, the Beast Master could easily be attacked by Fire Stare.

If the Beast Master dies, even if their Guardian Beast is still alive, it is still considered a victory!

Many times, it is much easier to kill the opponent's Beast Master than to kill their Beast!

Fire Arm Dance gives the Iron Arm Fire Monkey something akin to two whip-like weapons when using this skill.

It can also increase the strength of its arms according to the intensity of the Fire Elemental Energy around them.

This makes the Iron Arm Fire Monkey, akin to a close combat mage!

Considering the Iron Arm Fire Monkey's ranking, the range of the Fire Stare skill is probably within a radius of 25 meters.

Fang Mu and Xin Guang are both in a duel arena that is 50 meters long.

If the Iron Arm Fire Monkey accelerates and dives forward, Fang Mu could easily fall into the attack range of Fire Stare.

Fang Mu had already guessed why Xin Guang would immediately summon his Guardian Beast after saying that sentence.

Either to distract him and command the Iron Arm Fire Monkey to sneak attack him.

Or to put pressure on him by showing off his strength, so he would spend supplies for the chance to win positioning matches.

Such behavior is common, just like when Fang Mu played games in his previous life.

However, Fang Mu did not intend to give Xin Guang this opportunity.

No matter what Xin Guang's purpose was, Fang Mu immediately summoned the Rainy Doll.

The appearance of the Rainy Doll choked off Xin Guang's words he was about to say!

This is an Elemental Beast! And it looks like it has already evolved into a Half-Elf!

Who on earth is his opponent!?

Thinking about this, Xin Guang turned on the battle recording feature.

The power of his opponent's summon could not possibly exceed the Silver Stage since they matched his own.

Since when could a Silver stage Elemental Beast evolve into a Half-Elf!?

Even Senior Creators couldn't do it, could they!?

Xin Guang was a loyal viewer of Skin Peeling House forums, and he would occasionally post there.

Xin Guang thought that those who considered themselves knowledgeable on Skin Peeling House forum would be amazed at seeing the Silver stage Half-Elf.

It's not a matter of conceding or not when faced with such an opponent.

Xin Guang believed that against a Silver Stage Half-Elf, he had a chance at victory.

After all, he figured out a Mysterious Rune!

If he won this duel relying on the rune and had this Half-Elf as a lead.

Perhaps he would be spotted by a mid-level Club Guild!

Thinking of this, Xin Guang's fighting spirit soared! He immediately commanded the Iron Arm Fire Monkey to charge forward.

At the same time, he launched the skill, Fire Arm Dance!

Two flames as thick as his arms burst out from among the fur.

The Iron Arm Fire Monkey swung its arms; the hot fire whip made the Qing Shi sizzle.

The stones within one meter of the fire whip shattered due to the high temperature.

The specifications of the duel arenas are different for each ranking.

In this ranking match arena, the battle had already reached its limit.

While Xin Guang commanded the Iron Arm Fire Monkey to attack, Fang Mu was also not idle.

Since the Rainy Doll was summoned by Fang Mu, it immediately spread clouds and rained.

The current rainfall of the Rainy Doll was not for attack, but to defend against the Iron Arm Fire Monkey's Copper stage skill, Fire Stare.

Fire Stare works on the first thing in sight.

As rain fell in threads, the moment the Iron Arm Fire Monkey launched Fire Stare at Fang Mu, it would be the rain threads that ignite first!

The Rainy Doll is primarily a long-range AOE Guardian Beast.

Although Rainy Doll can use Aqua Reception to transform into a Blood Race newborn, as powerful as those at the apex of the Silver Stage, and maintain this state for quite some time.

But Fang Mu decided not to do so.

Once Rainy Doll transformed into a Blood Race newborn and fought alongside Iron Arm Fire Monkey,

Fang Mu would be unable to defend against Iron Arm Fire Monkey's copper-level skill, Fire Stare.

Fang Mu did not want to suddenly find himself turned into a roasted yam during the fight!

Furthermore, given the opportunity to fight an impressive Silver Stage beast,

Fang Mu wanted to experiment further with the potency and effect of Rainy Doll's toxins.

He immediately ordered Rainy Doll to use the skill Silent Tear.

After using Silent Tear, the cloud beneath Rainy Doll decreased significantly, and the clothing on her body was not as extravagant as before.

A large amount of grey-yellow mist veiled the air and instantly surrounded the Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

At this moment, Fang Mu could have used the mist transformed from Rainy Doll's body to poison Xin Guang.

However, poisoning Xin Guang did not align with Fang Mu's original intent!

Fang Mu could observe that the fire elemental energy in the environment surrounding Iron Arm Fire Monkey was steadily weakening under the effects of Rainy Doll's Silent Tear.

The enveloped Iron Arm Fire Monkey was increasingly losing its resonance with the surrounding elements.

The fire whip that initially bore the thickness of Iron Arm Fire Monkey's arm had reduced to a fifth of its original size.

This significantly restricted Iron Arm Fire Monkey's power.

Xin Guang was greatly surprised by this.

Could such an ability, which manipulated the concentration of environmental elements and reduced the elemental affinity of other beasts, possibly exist in a Silver Stage beast!?

However, there was no time for Xin Guang to express his surprise. Iron Arm Fire Monkey, that was previously advancing, suddenly stopped in its tracks.

Iron Arm Fire Monkey began scratching its body uncontrollably.

The body hair, which had already been emitting thick smoke and gradually turning from fiery red to dark brown under the rain, was easily scratched off by the Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

The exposed flesh was not fresh and red as expected, but rather a rotten grey-green!

The numerous bursting pustules made the Iron Arm Fire Monkey appear like a repugnant undead creature.

The reason the poison invaded Iron Arm Fire Monkey so swiftly was partly due to the cellular toxins contained within the venom sac of the Black Nightmare Snake.

Once the lymph system failed to defend against the poison, Iron Arm Fire Monkey's entire body became fertile grounds for toxins such as blood and mold!

Primates like the Iron Arm Fire Monkey have well-developed brains and relatively strong resistance to mental toxins.

However, after prolonged corrosion, Iron Arm Fire Monkey started to become disoriented and staggering.

Another reason was that the flaming arms and flame whip of Iron Arm Fire Monkey had evaporated the mist from the rain.

The vapor entered the lungs of Iron Arm Fire Monkey through its nostrils, infecting its internal organs and causing its five viscera to rot from the inside!

Just before Iron Arm Fire Monkey was on the brink of mental collapse, Xin Guang shouted loudly.

A mysterious rune carrying the aura of fire element flew out from the Destiny Guidebook in his hand.

This rune directly infiltrated the body of Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

Within an instant, a raging fire ignited inside and outside of Iron Arm Fire Monkey's body.

Although the flames were quickly suppressed by the surrounding mist, the aura of the Iron Arm Fire Monkey soared far beyond its previous state!

Fang Mu could immediately discern that Xin Guang's fire pattern was of the amplification category!

This type of rune was incredibly useful in battles as it could drastically boost Iron Arm Fire Monkey's combat power.

However, Xin Guang had expended his rune!

The toxins had permeated Iron Arm Fire Monkey's body. The major fire that ignited could only eradicate the cellular toxin and mold toxin.

Mental, blood, erosive and acid toxins were still corroding the Iron Arm Fire Monkey's body.

In fact, the high temperature even acted as a catalyst for the erosive and acid toxins.

Xin Guang evidently realised this fact through sensing the condition of the Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

Xin Guang issued a final command to the mentally collapsing Iron Arm Fire Monkey. "Fire Stare!"

Iron Arm Fire Monkey, even in its confounded state of mind, glared in the direction of Fang Mu based on its rich battle experience.

However, Fang Mu had already anticipated this move.

The rain silk in Fang Mu's direction was always the densest beneath the dark clouds!

Rainy Doll had the strength of a Silver Level Four beast of legendary quality.

Under the circumstance where she already had a quality advantage over Iron

Arm Fire Monkey,

Iron Arm Fire Monkey's Fire Stare failed to penetrate the rain silk, and instead ignited a colossal flame in front of its own eyes!

Under the dazed gaze of Xin Guang, Iron Arm Fire Monkey, half dead from its own fire, had its flesh corroded by the rain silk, revealing white bones.

The hyphae growing on the white bones bloomed like vibrant flowers, demonstrating the power of the decomposer!

By the time Xin Guang recovered from his surprise, he had already returned to the matchmaking area.

Xin Guang replayed the battle recording just now and posted it directly in the Skin Peeling House.

Xin Guang was oblivious that the forum of Skin Peeling House had already been abuzz due to an individual..

Chapter 139 Jiamu being skinned! 1

Skin Peeling House was a gathering ground for gossip lovers.

Apart from always releasing some surprising news, the most common activity was a crowd guessing the abilities of a certain Guardian Beast of a Battle Network host.

They would accurately guess the skills and unique traits of the Guardian Beast!

This left many Battle Network hosts feeling as if they had been stripped naked.

Of course, no one would bother guessing about a Guardian Beast without any distinctive traits.

The Guardian Beasts that got guessed were either extremely powerful, or the Battle Network hosts were overly secretive about them.

Occasionally assistants, or even real Creators and Spirit-smithing Masters would join the guessing games.

No rules stated that Creators and Spirit-smithing Masters couldn't gossip!

Guessing about spiritual instruments would not be as popular as guessing about Guardian Beasts, but that depended on the caliber of the instrument.

A diamond class spiritual instrument could stir up a frenzy in the Skin Peeling House forum. Not to mention a Sequential Spiritual Instrument!

Especially when the owner of this Sequential Spiritual Instrument was a youth who had just turned sixteen!

The quick spread of this news can be attributed to Huan Wang's live audience giving the event a sufficiently eye-catching title.

"Shocking! Someone with a Sequential Spiritual Instrument finally dominated the age-framework! "

Moreover, it was not just one person who posted this duel on Skin Peeling House.

In the world of Beast Masters, people would specialize in contracting a type of Guardian Beast for a particular profession.

Scavengers played this special role.

However, the Guardian Beasts contracted by Scavengers were not unconventional.

After all, these Guardian Beasts had decent combat capabilities in the wild.

Many Beast Masters contract Guardian Beasts that can enhance their power through sacrifices since childhood.

And many would contract several of these beasts and become a nuisance in the ranking district through them.

Basically, if you contracted four sacrifice-type Guardian Beasts, you can develop a sacrifice strategy on the Battle Network.

You would start by sacrificing your four Guardian Beasts – if you couldn't kill the enemy, you lose!

Many Beast Masters, due to family reasons or adolescent rebelliousness, contracted “vase” Guardian Beasts that were of no use apart from being aesthetically pleasing.

These Beast Masters who contracted “beautiful waste” had to invest resources to maintain the Guardian Beast’s appearance.

But these types of beasts could not bring resources for them.

This led these Beast Masters to become journalists and commentators on the Battle Network.

These people flooded into the commentary circle, and for a time, large competitions are commented by them hugging a cute creature, becoming the symbol of a professional commentator.

These kinds of Beast Masters made a living off the Skin Peeling House forum, spreading popular news to get traffic and attention so they could get advertising opportunities.

Many journalists were not keen on finding popular news in various Battle Network forums all day.

But these journalists had other methods, which was to pay attention to several colleagues.

Once a colleague released related news, they would just steal it themselves!

After all, other Battle Network journalists also stole their news from the original posters.

This caused a situation where once a journalist got some popular news, other journalists would quickly follow suit.

That's why the duel between Fang Mu and Huan Wang spread almost entirely through Skin Peeling House in just two hours.

Because of the explosive attention, this news was bumped to the top of the hot search on the Skin Peeling House forum.

[Fly Pigeon]: Owning a Sequential Spiritual Instrument at sixteen! When I was sixteen, I didn't even have a bronze spiritual instrument! So jealous!

[Big Mummumu]: Same here, so envious! The age-framework is getting more and more lively! Even a Sequential Spiritual Instrument has been brought out, I always feel that such behavior is somewhat disrespectful to the Forging Spirit Grandmaster who made this spiritual instrument!

[Once Maple]: Surprised to see a respect monster! Whether this person called Jianmu respects the Forging Spirit Grandmaster or not, I don't care, I just want to know why he would go to the age-framework with a Sequential Spiritual Instrument which can automatically protect the owner! Is he there to flaunt his superiority?

The public opinion in Skin Peeling House was quickly stirred up.

Of course, there were more discussions about the Purple Ice Crystal Ring and the Thunder Leopard Bracelet itself.

The abilities and Beast Spirit of the Thunder Leopard Bracelet were quickly revealed.

However, when it comes to the Beast Spirit and abilities of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, the onlookers could not make a reasonable guess.

Firstly, the promotion sequence for the Beastmaster embarked on a unique path, which was difficult for people without a certain level of mastery to understand.

Furthermore, Fang Mu did not utilize the powers of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, instead, it naturally formed a shield to fend off the attack.

Even a Forging Spirit Grandmaster couldn't guess the abilities of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring based on such a small amount of information from the video.

Liu Tiantian usually frequents the Battle Network as well, but unlike those three-nothing journalists who only report gossips and trending news.

Liu Tiantian is a specially invited journalist hired by the Beastmaster Alliance dedicated to discovering popular incidents on the Battle Network.

If it's just a youngster showing off their Sequential Spiritual Instrument in the age segment, Liu Tiantian wouldn't pay much attention.

She has no intention of writing a special news report for this.

However, she saw something unusual in the combat video.

This young man, Jianmu, his points in the age division were zero.

If this boy relied on his Sequential Spiritual Instrument for battle, his points would undoubtedly be much higher than that of the host called "Huan"!

Excluding this Sequential Spiritual Instrument, this young man only wore two silver, dual-attribute spiritual instruments.

This suggests that he normally battles with these two dual-attribute silver spiritual instruments within his age division.

Therefore, many of the discussions on the forum were going off track.

A young man who can make a Marrow Pact with a Sequential Spiritual Instrument, but only fights with silver spiritual instruments, deserves recognition for this kind of mindset alone.

Additionally, as a beginner Spirit-smithing Master, Liu Tiantian also wanted to peel back the layers on this Sequential Spiritual Instrument.

As a beginner Spirit-smithing Master, and a novice at that, Liu Tiantian admits she lacks the ability to unwind Sequential Spiritual Instruments.

However, Liu Tiantian can use her special status as a journalist appointed by the Beastmaster Alliance to inquire of the few Advanced Spirit Forgers within the alliance.

After logging out of Star Web for half an hour, Liu Tiantian returned to the Battle Network.

While looking at the image of young Jianmu, the look in Liu Tiantian's eyes completely changed.

Liu Tiantian carefully began to write.

[If we hadn't accidentally run into someone brandishing a diamond spiritual instrument that could be activated across ranks in the age division, we might never have seen this Spatial, Ice dual attribute Sequential Spiritual Instrument!]

[The Beast Soul is a pterodactyl, a Space-type Dragon Spirit from the dinosaur species; using a Space-type Dragon Spirit as a Beast Soul, instead of choosing the more attack and defense focused Ice-type Sequential Beast Spirit as the Beast Soul(Spirit), suggests that this Sequential Spiritual Instrument likely possesses storage abilities!]

As a special correspondent for the Beastmaster Alliance, Liu Tiantian has to take responsibility for every word she writes in her report.

She cannot fabricate stories as those journalists who only chase page views and hot topics can.

As an official reporter, Liu Tiantian cannot include too many subjective directives in her reports.

However, the users of the Battle Network, especially those who frequent Skin Peeling House and other forums.

Can easily identify the crux of the matter with a little hint.

Those three-nothing journalists pay attention to their competitors and pay even more attention to official reporters like Liu Tiantian.

The news that Liu Tiantian releases often represents a certain trend.

Those three-nothing journalists immediately understood the hidden message Liu Tiantian wanted to subtly express in her report after reading it once, and their hearts were filled with shock.

Damn it! This Sequenced Spiritual Instrument is not only among the rarest of all jewelry class Spiritual Instruments but also a space series Sequenced Spiritual Instrument used for storage!

The production of a Sequenced Spiritual Instrument requires a Sequenced

Beast Soul, which can directly add a new attribute to the Sequenced Spiritual Instrument based on its own attribute.

This results in Sequenced Spiritual Instruments often being of dual attributes.

Even some Forging Spirit Grandmasters occasionally create top-quality items with three attributes!

Therefore, the dual attributes of the Sequenced Spiritual Instrument are not surprising in any way.

However, adding a space attribute to the dual attributes is entirely different!

A Sequenced Spiritual Instrument with a storage function can undoubtedly provide a large storage space.

However, its other abilities definitely fall short in comparison.

A Forging Spirit Grandmaster would only create a Sequenced Spiritual Instrument with a space attribute under two conditions.

Either the Forging Spirit Grandmaster makes it specifically for their own descendants, or they have received a special order.

Otherwise, creating a space-series, storage-capable Sequential Spiritual Instrument is not a worthwhile investment.

It's just like using gold to make a hairpin, but you use gold as a footstone to prop up a table..

Chapter 140 What defines a noble son!

Liu Tiantian has a beautiful voice and appearance, and has been invited as a commentator for competitions in addition to being a specially-appointed reporter.

With her svelte silhouette, alluring eyes, and sweet smile, Liu Tiantian was invited to commentate on the National High School Beastmaster League in her second year as a commentator!

Although she only commented on the preliminary matches, this was a significant achievement and honor that aspiring commentators could only dream of!

The sweet personality and Beastmaster elements exist harmoniously within Liu Tiantian, and she performs both flawlessly.

The number of fans that follow Liu Tiantian's Battle Network personal account, far exceeds that of general live streamers.

Only a live streamer who has achieved the Diamond Rank through their skill in the ranked matches could compare with the number of Liu Tiantian's fans. After Liu Tiantian's press release was made public, it received immediate widespread attention.

Liu Tiantian's moves were quickly mimicked by other journalists, which significantly increased the attention to the matter.

"[Not settling for less]": I was always curious as to why Fang Mu, apart from Sequential Spiritual Instrument, only had two dual-attribute silver spiritual instruments! If he hadn't met a host like Huan who had triggered the master-protective function of the Sequential Spiritual Instrument, wouldn't Fang Mu lose terribly!?

"[Aquatic South Qiao]": I've always said that it would be abnormal for Fang Mu's points to be zero. It's probably his first time getting involved with age divisions, and I guess people like him won't participate in the age division after this! I request the officials to rein in the age division!

"[Loneliness starts at dusk]": The age division is just a place to have fun and broaden horizons. Once it's regulated, you won't see as many high-level spiritual instruments!

“[Leisurely with the Wind and Clouds]”: Huan always portrays the rich young master persona, which I’ve never felt for, until seeing Fang Mu’s spiritual instrument. Then I knew what a true rich young master is!

“[Shallow Snow like Dawn]”: I have always thought that among spiritual instruments of the same level, the most luxurious ones are jewelry type spiritual instruments and spatial ones. Yet this Sequential Spiritual Instrument is stacked with buffs!

The comments under each post on the Skin Peeling House forum depict the trending discussions.

This press release from Liu Tiantian cleared all the doubts that Fang Mu had received before.

Unbeknownst to him, Fang Mu has also gained a small fanbase.

Seeing the effects brought about by her press release, Liu Tiantian can’t help but reveal a smile that is sweet enough to be lethal!

Liu Tiantian has always been indifferent towards live streamers who project the rich young master persona.

Perception determines insights.

Since becoming a special reporter for the Beastmaster Alliance and an official event commentator, Liu Tiantian has seen many talented young men.

Very few children from the truly powerful and prestigious families choose to become live streamers.

Even if they do, they only do it casually and don't spend too much effort or time on it.

Nor will they broadcast every night!

Liu Tiantian knows about live streamers on the Battle Network selling Beastmasters and spiritual instruments.

It's precisely because she knows about it, that she feels even more indifferent towards those presenting the rich young master persona.

Yet all her imaginations about the rich young master persona are perfectly matched by Fang Mu's appearance.

To maintain the rich young master persona, you must have top-tier spiritual instruments that match this identity.

Nothing can better display the status of a rich young master than jewelry-type spiritual instruments with spatial storage functionality, like Sequential Spiritual Instrument!

In addition to having such a companion instrument, a rich young master also needs to refine his own skills.

The best way to refine oneself is to use spiritual instruments that do not exceed your own rank.

Two dual-attribute silver-class inferior spiritual instruments, just enough for a single-star or two-star Beastmaster to use.

Aside from the spiritual instruments he uses, what attracts Liu Tiantian's attention more is Fang Mu's calm and assured attitude.

Fang Mu's attitude seems to be declaring one thing- -he doesn't take his opponent who spurred the diamond spiritual instrument —Thunder Leopard Bracelet, seriously.

As a lightening-attribute diamond-class mid-quality spiritual instrument, there's no doubt about the destructive power of the Thunder Leopard Bracelet!

Liu Tiantian is curious: if Fang Mu is willing to summon his Beastmaster, how amazing would his Beastmaster be!

As a Beastmaster, she should invest more resources in the Beastmaster than the spiritual instrument!

Fang Mu is completely unaware of the waves set off in the Skin Peeling House section of the Battle Network forum.

Fang Mu's mind was focused on his positioning match results at the time.

Just as he thought, after a five-game winning streak, he was ranked at 100 points at the Bronze Tier Level.

If he wins another game, he can directly go to the upgrading Silver Tier Promotion Match!

His battle with Xin Guang showed Fang Mu that he was not behind his peers.

In fact, because of his access to a large number of high-star Creator resources, he's leading many of his peers.

The Rainy Doll showed great suppression power in the battle and completely overwhelmed the Iron Arm Fire Monkey.

During the combat, Fang Mu had not let Rainy Doll use its exclusive characteristics, only using the skills of Bronze and Silver Stages.

Through this battle, Fang Mu thoroughly understood how the quality and the way of nurturing a Beastmaster from a young age could create significant differences among beastmasters of the same rank and level.

Even when Xin Guang used a Fire Pattern, he could not free Iron Arm Fire Monkey from being restrained by Rainy Doll.

In Fang Mu's Destiny Guidebook, there was also a Wood System Pattern, but this pattern was not a good match for Rainy Doll.

Fang Mu couldn't use it yet.

Only after establishing a contract with Eden Greenfield would the pattern Wood System: Eruption be useful.

Being engaged in real combat enabled Fang Mu to see what he lacked in battle.

No wonder the key members of the wild Adventure Teams were Beast Masters who have established a contract with defensive beasts.

The vanguard is really important!

Eden Greenfield belonged to the domain function type of beasts.

Although plants could grow Above the Green Field and obtain the exclusive characteristics of plant beasts, it was clear that Eden Greenfield was not suitable for use as a defensive beast.

So after establishing contracts with the Descendant Star Messenger and Eden Greenfield and condensing Contracting Blood, Fang Mu planned to cultivate a strong vanguard.

The Bloodline newborn formed by Rainy Doll's usage of the skill Water Spirit Conversion was a close combat brawler which had a significant difference from the traditional vanguard.

Under normal circumstances, a Beast Master would try not to develop too comprehensively, but would focus on a specific direction.

In this way, they could bring more value to the team, and be more easily accepted by the team.

But Fang Mu didn't need to worry about this.

Every once in a while, the blood of abundance could solidify and form a drop of the Covenant Blood Essence.

If Fang Mu didn't develop himself comprehensively, it would be a disservice to his Destiny Guardian Beast's blood of abundance and its powerful innate divine ability.

Since the strength of Rainy Doll has been promoted to Silver Stage, it was now possible to discard the Bloodline newborn of the Water Spirit Conversion.

It was to be replaced by a Blood Noble, which had equal strength to that of a Blood Knight.

The strength of a Blood Noble could reach the level of a high-ranking Gold Beast.

This level of a dimensional creature was definitely being reared in the underground of the Jinghai Cleaner Division.

Fang Mu decided to get one himself from Feng Lin the next day.

Once Rainy Doll absorbed the Blood Noble through the Skill Water Spirit Conversion, Fang Mu, would be completely capable of reaching the Golden Rank!

After leaving the Battle Network, Fang Mu took a long hot shower.

Then he poured the remaining Deep Pool Heavy Water into the bathtub, letting it be absorbed by Aqua Reception during the night.

Previously, Fang Mu only let Aqua Reception digest 150 pounds of Deep Pool Heavy Water and used the harvested Water Element Crystal to promote Rainy Doll to the Silver Stage Four of Legendary Quality.

Once the remaining 350 pounds of Deep Pool Heavy Water was digested by Aqua Reception, after promoting Rainy Doll's rank to Silver Rank Level Ten with Fang Mu, there would still be a lot remaining.

While sitting in the bathroom and accompanying Aqua Reception in absorbing the Deep Pool Heavy Water, Fang Mu was reading a book about "Sacred Relics" in his hand.

Ever since breaking the Scavenger record and making good relations with Lv

Yuyu,

Fang Mu had been able to read the books in the Beastmaster Alliance and the Scavenger's internal collections!

Otherwise, you couldn't find any books about "sacred relics" in the Library of Jinghai Beastmasters High School.

With a wide range of knowledge sources, Fang Mu's insight had become broader.

According to the book's description of each sacred relic, Fang Mu immediately understood why the Sakura Tempering Carp was so fiercely competed for by numerous big shots.

The Sakura Tempering Carp actually ranked among the top fifty on the list of sacred relics, ranking thirty-seventh!

And according to legend, the Sakura Tempering Carp had evolved from a Fish Beast called All -Kinds Carp.

The All-Kinds Carp was recorded in the fourth Epoch and has continued to this day.

It was an easily evolved and mutated beast.

Since the Sakura Tempering Carp was evolved from the All-Kinds Carp, it had obviously inherited this characteristic perfectly.

Fang Mu felt that if he could really get the sacred relic, Sakura Tempering

Carp,

He had the potential to give himself a huge surprise by cultivating the Sakura Tempering Carp with the blood of abundance..
