

Beast Tamer 231

Chapter 231: Ultimate Evolution: 10 Longevity Carp!_3

In an instant, it seemed as if a pool of cherry blossoms had blossomed in the porcelain jar.

The falling cherry petals were mesmerizing, creating a breathtaking cherry blossom rain underwater.

A beautiful fish creature, with a body about half a meter long, seven fins equal in length to its body, and a tail twice the length of its body, was swaying in the water.

Its body was a cold snow white, with many faint pine patterns present where its scales grow.

This added an ancient depth to the color of the scales.

The base color of the fin tail, unlike the coldness of the body, was a textured pearl white.

The color of the fish's fins gradually transitioned from white to tender pink at the tip of the tail.

The fine pink cherry blossom patterns on the fish's body echoed the pink tail.

Every swing of its fin and tail changed the fall of the underwater cherry blossom rain.

Fang Mu was certain that the most beautiful koi he had seen and studied in his previous life could not compare to the Sakura Tempering Carp, not even a mere one percent.

Before Fang Mu could use the Eye of Omniscience to inspect the data of the Sakura Tempering Carp, he felt a special force field.

This special force field was constantly pulling at his spiritual power.

In a short while, it made Fang Mu feel headaches and dizzy.

Moreover, the headaches and dizziness were continually intensifying.

After enduring the pull of the force field for a while, Fang Mu clearly felt that his spiritual power was growing at a slow pace.

Obviously, this force field was why the Sakura Tempering Carp was considered a sacred relic, able to enhance the spiritual power of nearby Beast Masters.

In comparison to the Sakura Tempering Carp, the two All-Kinds Carps swimming in the porcelain basin, which were less than 15 cm in length, seemed no different from the common small carp one could find anywhere in the pond.

As the scales of the All-Kinds Carp were gray-brown, the color of the patterns on them were similar to the scales.

Only upon a close look, one would notice that the patterns on the scales of the All-Kinds Carp were constantly changing.

Fang Mu examined the Sakura Tempering Carp through the Eye of Omniscience.

[Beast Name]: Sakura Tempering Carp

[Beast Species]: Carp Family/Koi Species [Beast Level]: Silver (3/10) [Beast Element]: Water Series/Spirit Series

[Beast Potential]: Gold [Beast Quality]: Perfect Quality

Skills:

[Fin Dance]: Inspire targets by waving its seven fins, eliminating the target's fatigue.

[Cherry Healing]: Sacrifice its cherry blossom-like scales to restore the damaged spiritual power of the target.

Exclusive feature:

[Tempering Swim]: During swimming, it will form a force field centered on itself. The spiritual power of life in the force field will be tempered. (The more life in the force field, the weaker the tempering effect on each individual's spiritual power).

Evolutionary Path:

O: Heavy Cherry Washing Carp, @: Cold Cherry Forever Frozen Carp, O: Red Cherry Burning Pond Carp.

As for the Sakura Tempering Carp's level being Silver, Fang Mu did not feel surprised.

Because before getting the Sakura Tempering Carp, Qian Yan had already specifically told him.

Under normal circumstances, few people would like to contract a Silver Stage Beast, as the spiritual power consumed is far greater than that required for a Bronze stage Beast.

However, encountering a Beast like the Sakura Tempering Carp would be a worthwhile investment, no matter how much spiritual power it consumed.

This is why Zhang Qing, as the assistant to the Grandmaster Creator of the Shuo Yang Founding Sect, wanted to contract the Sakura Tempering Carp, despite knowing it was Silver stage.

What surprised Fang Mu was that the quality of the Sakura Tempering Carp was only Perfect Quality, and it had not been further improved.

Compared to the value of the Sakura Tempering Carp, the resources required to upgrade the Sakura Tempering Carp from Perfect Quality to Epic Quality would be insignificant.

The Beastmaster Alliance chose not to upgrade the quality of the sacred relic, the Sakura Tempering Carp, for fear that an undesirable exclusive feature would appear after it was upgraded to Epic Quality, which could affect its value.

On the other hand, they were afraid that during the process of upgrading the quality of the Sakura Tempering Carp through elixirs, it could undergo mutation.

This could lead to a change in the exclusive feature [Tempering Swim].

If this were to happen, the Sakura Tempering Carp would completely lose its original value, and could only be sold as a middle-grade auspicious relic.

But Fang Mu didn't need to worry about this. He could freely strengthen the Sakura Tempering Carp.

Because after the Eye of Omniscience saw through the evolutionary path of the Sakura Tempering Carp, Fang Mu simply had to improve the Sakura Tempering Carp along this evolutionary path.

He could evolve the Sakura Tempering Carp into the Heavy Cherry Washing Carp.

Along the current bloodline of the Sakura Tempering Carp, the exclusive feature [Tempering Swim] would not change.

It could be seen from the names alone that neither Cold Cherry Forever Frozen Carp nor Red Cherry Burning Pond Carp have the ability to enhance spiritual power.

The skills of the Sakura Tempering Carp seemed mediocre to Fang Mu, and could even be described as mediocre.

The effect of the skill [Fin Dance] was merely to eliminate fatigue, it could not inject vitality into the target.

Just like drinking coffee when one is tired can relieve fatigue.

If one were to rely on the Sakura Tempering Carp's skill [Fin Dance] to falsely eliminate fatigue rather than resting, over a long period, even if a Beast Master's physical strength were good, there would still be a possibility of sudden death.

The price of the Silver-grade skill [Cherry Healing] is the sacrifice of the cherry blossom-like scales on its body.

Many Guardian Beasts have the ability to heal damaged spiritual power.

Once damaged, the scales of the Sakura Tempering Carp would lose their value as a auspicious relic..

Chapter 232: Ultimate Evolution: 10 Life Dragon Carp!_4

An injured auspicious beast is often seen as an ominous sign.

Fang Mu controls the distance between himself and the Sakura Tempering Carp by moving himself around.

Eventually, he figured out that the range of the Sakura Tempering Carp's exclusive trait [Spirit-Refining Movements] is five meters in radius.

Fang Mu plans to replace the current huge porcelain basin with a four-meter diameter one for the Sakura Tempering Carp to roam.

No matter where the Sakura Tempering Carp swims within the basin, it will be able to enjoy the benefits of soul refinement within a one-meter radius.

To help the bloodline of the Sakura Tempering Carp evolve towards that of the Heavy Cherry Washing Carp, he needs to feed it spiritual materials for a long duration.

Fang Mu doesn't have any spirit-type materials at hand right now.

Fang Mu plans to improve the bloodline of the Sakura Tempering Carp to epic quality first, then promote its rank.

Therefore, Fang Mu cannot feed the Sakura Tempering Carp any Blood Aged Wine for the time being.

Fang Mu looks at the two inconspicuous All-Kinds Carps and thinks about how life energy is the source of all life activities.

He can concoct a life elixir with a purity of one hundred percent that even the top Grandmaster Creator cannot produce.

He might as well use this hundred percent pure life elixir to induce evolution in an All-Kinds Carp.

He wanted to see what kind of existence the All-Kinds Carp would become after absorbing the life elixir with a purity of one hundred percent.

By inducing the All-Kinds Carp to evolve with the life elixir, and then simply using the life elixir would allow its bloodline to continue to improve.

There's no need to worry about further deliberation; worry about using life elixir causing changes to its bloodline.

Fang Mu takes out a jade basin with a diameter of only thirty centimeters.

To ensure that the All-Kinds Carp is not affected by the water element, Fang Mu deliberately didn't even put a drop of water in the basin.

Fang Mu has accumulated a total of thirty bottles of life elixir with a purity of one hundred percent over time, each bottle containing one hundred and fifty milliliters.

Thirty bottles, four thousand five hundred milliliters in total, are just enough to fill a jade basin with a diameter of thirty centimeters.

Fang Mu extravagantly pours all thirty bottles of life elixir with a purity of one hundred percent into the jade basin.

Except for daily consumption, these one hundred percent pure life elixirs were something Fang Mu couldn't use at all.

If he kept them, they would just pile up at the bottom of the box.

In the end, Fang Mu wanted to test whether these hundred percent pure life elixirs could create a miracle for the All-Kinds Carp.

The All-Kinds Carp was still writhing when Fang Mu held it.

As a life form that isn't even a bronze-level beast, the All-Kinds Carp had no intelligence to speak of.

But when Fang Mu placed the All-Kinds Carp in the jade basin full of life elixir, it immediately stopped struggling.

The one hundred percent pure life elixir is like a translucent Imperial Green Jade, rippling with clear emerald green light from time to time.

At this moment, the All-Kinds Carp seemed like it was sealed within this piece of Imperial Green Jade.

As the All-Kinds Carp inhaled life energy in large amounts, its body gradually became crystal clear at a speed visible to the naked eye.

From its dull grey color, it transformed into a living emerald-colored crystal.

The life elixir in the jade basin gradually disappeared, but the size of the All-Kinds Carp did not enlarge.

Only its originally inconspicuous whiskers extended to over a meter long. The whiskers burst open inch by inch, making the All-Kinds Carp look like a venerable elder now.

There was no major change in the size of the fish's fins and tail, nor did they become as graceful as the Sakura Tempering Carp.

Instead, they became shorter and rounder, like the feather fan gently waved by a long-lived elder.

The All-Kinds Carp completed its evolution after absorbing thirty bottles of one hundred percent pure life elixir.

After the evolution, the All-Kinds Carp began to flap rapidly due to being out of water.

Fang Mu quickly placed the evolved All-Kinds Carp in a ceramic basin eight meters in diameter in front of him.

Then he used the Eye of Omniscience to check the data of the evolved All-Kinds Carp.

[Beast Name]: Ten Longevity Carp [Beast Species]: Carp Family/Brocaded Carp [Beast Level]: Silver (4/10) [Beast Element]: Water Series/Life Series

[Beast Potential]: Gold [Beast Quality]: Perfect

Skills:

[Bubble Therapy]: Sprays bubbles to heal the target's wounds, capable of a second healing in a short time after being wounded.

[Whisker Whip]: Whip with the fish's whiskers burns the target's lifespan.

Exclusive Trait:

[Life Calculation]: When the target's lifespan is less than ten years, it can guide the life energy to replenish the target's life to ten years through its guidance.

Evolutionary path:

O: Hundred-life Carp, @: Leaping Carp O: Darkness Devouring Carp.

Upon probing, Fang Mu widened his eyes and looked at the exclusive trait [Life Calculation] for a long while, unable to calm down..

Chapter 233: Creation of Blood: It's Wa!? 1

Eternal life has always been the constant pursuit of living organisms.

However, during the pursuit of immortality, living organisms gradually realize that it seems almost impossible to achieve.

And so, they sought the next best thing, longevity.

In Fang Mu's previous life, health preservation had developed into a science.

The popularity of health preservation stemmed from people's desire to extend their lives and strive for longevity through it.

The Beastmaster world is the same.

Compared to the world where Fang Mu once lived, the Beastmaster world has a variety of spiritual materials.

Becoming a High-star Beast Master itself can also increase one's lifespan, making the average life expectancy longer.

The longer people live, the more they fear death.

Therefore, the Beastmaster World's pursuit of health preservation and longevity tend to be more fanatical.

That's why the price of beneficial spiritual materials like Blue Striped Goji and Blood Nourishing Honey Dates is higher than that of other same-ranked materials.

The Eternal Alchemy Association, such an evil organization, was initially founded by a group of powerful individuals pursuing longevity to help each other.

However, with its continued development, they found that injecting Beast-Taming cells into human bodies could enhance some of the Beast Master's abilities.

The development of the Eternal Alchemy Association started to go off course.

Many powerhouses of the Eternal Alchemy Association have turned themselves into grotesque monsters.

Although this method indeed improves life expectancy, it has a lot of side effects that are difficult to manage.

Usually, these side effects require the organs from other living organisms to compensate, hence the powerhouses of the Eternal Alchemy Association often conduct evil rituals.

These evil rituals result in massive killings, leaving countless innocent beings mutilated, with a large amount of their organs stolen.

People would think that the Eternal Alchemy Association is a group of fanatics infatuated with worshipping the dark gods.

In actual fact, all this was the consequence of the elders of the Eternal Alchemy Association's pursuit of longevity.

Moreover, after the Eternal Alchemy Association started to use bio-alchemy techniques and gradually twisted their minds,

They applied these techniques to the corpses of Guardian Beasts and Beast Masters, creating one disgusting alchemy living weapon after another.

These alchemy living weapons always make an appearance in large-scale evil rituals.

The existence of the Eternal Alchemy Association is enough to illustrate just how desperate those whose life spans are about to end wish to extend their lives.

Fang Mu is not sure whether there were Guardian Beasts that could increase a person's lifespan in the Beastmaster world before.

But now there is!

The Ten Longevity Carp, which he cultivated with a hundred percent pure life elixir, is a Guardian Beast that can increase a lifespan!

If used properly, the exclusive feature of the Ten Longevity Carp, [Life Calculation], could increase a living being's lifespan by ten years.

For Beast Masters above the Five Point Star, their spiritual power can already take shape outside the body.

With such strong spiritual power, they can sense their own lifespan.

The leaders of many major factions would plan for their faction's future before their time is up.

They would hand over the responsibility of managing the faction to someone else.

This is to prevent internal disputes within the faction because they didn't manage to pass on the responsibilities before their death. When the Ten Longevity Carp uses its exclusive feature, [Life Calculation],

It can fully be used when the target only has one year of life left.

This way, the increase in lifespan can be maximized.

The Evolutionary Path of Ten Longevity Carp was deviated into Leaping Carp and Darkness Devouring Carp, from Water Series/Life Series to Water Series/Wind System and Water Series/Light Series.

Even though the Darkness Devouring Carp speculated to illuminate the night upon reaching a certain level of strength,

Fang Mu still would not choose the evolutionary path of the Darkness

Devouring Carp,

Because, following its own bloodline, the Ten Longevity Carp can evolve into a Hundred-life Carp.

When the Hundred-life Carp uses [Life Calculation], it can likely increase the target's lifespan by a hundred years.

This instantly caused a significant change to the exclusive feature [Life Calculation].

A hundred years of life is equivalent to an ordinary person's lifetime.

And the Hundred-life Carp might not be the end of its evolution.

If faced with some top-level powerhouses, the definition of a Grandmaster

Creator might not be enough to make them obedient and humble themselves,

Because these powerhouses themselves are capable of finding a channel to Grandmaster Creator.

But the lifespan could definitely make these powerhouses bow when they are about to face their life span's limit.

Compared to the Sacred Relic, Sakura Tempering Carp, the Ten Longevity Carp is the biggest gain for Fang Mu tonight.

The bronze-level skill [Bubble Therapy] of the Ten Longevity Carp is considered to be more outstanding among all the Healing Series skills.

Secondary treatment like this ability is quite useful in wild adventures with intense battles.

However, Fang Mu feels that the silver-grade skill [Whisker Whip] is much more useful than the bronze-grade skill [Bubble Therapy].

The exclusive feature [Life Calculation] of the Ten Longevity Carp is to give other lives an extended lifespan,

Then, the silver-grade skill [Whisker Whip] is for stripping away the lives of others.

The mustache of the Ten Longevity Carp is over a meter long, but hitting people might not necessarily be more painful than being hit with hemp rope.

Its effect of stripping life expectancy makes the Ten Longevity Carp's skill [Whisker Whip] the most potent form of torture.

After a light whip attack, one could lose several years of life. Who wouldn't be scared of this?

Fang Mu put the Ten Longevity Carp back into the Clear Pond Bracelet and then wore the Clear Pond Bracelet on his left wrist.

The Clear Pond Bracelet was intricately carved with many water ripples and was made of Mithril.

There are a lot of considerations in the design, which obviously targets males..

Chapter 234: Creation of Blood: It's Wa!? 2

On Fang Mu, the Clear Pond Bracelet didn't look hideous at all, instead, it complemented with an understated, precious charm.

Having put away the Ten Longevity Carp, Fang Mu turned his gaze to another All-Kinds Carp.

The fact that the Creator's Guild had some All-Kinds Carps in stock indicated that they weren't impossible to find again.

The best channel for Fang Mu to gather resources was Starwheel.

Fang Mu planned to try at the next Starwheel meeting to see if he could acquire another All-Kinds Carp from the other formal members.

The more control a person had over the resources of a Creator, the more precious the All-Kinds Carp became.

Among the formal members of Starwheel, only he possessed the ability of a Grandmaster Creator.

Others would probably be generous if he asked, as a way of forging connections with him.

Given that the item could still be obtained, Fang Mu didn't plan to keep it.

Instead, he decided to cultivate the remaining All-Kinds Carp directly.

The All-Kinds Carp itself had no value, only what it could cultivate would bring out its value.

Fang Mu put the remaining All -Kinds Carp into the jade basin, pondering what kind of resources he should use to prompt its evolution.

Except for life elixirs, the resources produced by sucking were elemental crystals.

Among all elemental crystals, the most special was the Blood Crystal.

Blood Crystals, like other elemental crystals, also varied in purity.

While Fang Mu was processing alien beast carcasses in the Soldier-level crematorium, he often encountered corpses of blood clan newborns.

Fang Mu, with his penchant for neatness, could hardly leave the corpses of the blood clan newborns aside.

With the rank and quality of sucking enhanced, the speed of processing the corpses of the blood clan newborns was several times quicker than before.

Originally, the Blood Crystals were intended to feed the Blood of Abundance.

However, since consuming the heart of a high-level blood tribe member, the Blood of Abundance no longer craved for Blood Crystals with an insatiable thirst.

Those Blood Crystals, which Fang Mu had purposely refined to one hundred percent purity, were left behind.

Rather than using common elemental energy to prompt the All-Kinds Carp to evolve, Fang Mu wanted to try using pure blood energy from the blood clan to do it.

He looked forward to what the All-Kinds Carp would eventually evolve into!

After Fang Mu prepared the Blood Crystals into an elixir, he poured all of the existing Blood Elixirs into the jade basin in one go.

In an instant, the crimson elixirs completely enveloped the All-Kinds Carp.

Immediately after, the Blood Elixir in the basin didn't remain calm like when the All-Kinds Carp absorbed the life elixirs.

The Blood Elixir transformed into blood flow, fluttered like a breeze.

Weaving together into dense, airtight blood nets.

The All-Kinds Carp, which had turned blood-red, flapped its seven fins, which somehow had taken the shape of blood clan wings, in the midst of the blood nets.

The color of the seven fins was at least ten shades darker than its body.

Various shades of red adorned the body of the All-Kinds Carp.

Making the All-Kinds Carp look full of a sense of intermingling brightness and shadow under the sunlight.

After the last blood net was absorbed by the All-Kinds Carp, it grew two white porcelain-like fangs at the lip, protruding from its mouth.

After evolution, the All-Kinds Carp's body didn't grow larger, instead, it shrank considerably.

It became just half a palm-size.

Fang Mu investigated the All-Kinds Carp after it evolved using the Fool's Shadow's Innate Divine Ability, Eye of Omniscience.

[Beast Name]: Origin Blood Carp [Beastspecies]: Cyprinidae / Fetus Carp

[Beast Level]: Silver (5/10) [BeastElement]: Blood [Beast Potential]: Gold [Beast Quality]: Perfect

Skills:

[Blood Suck]: Sucks the target's blood, drains the energy in the target's blood, and condenses it into special Essence of Blood.

[Purifying Blood Blessing]: Removes substances in the target's blood that do not belong to the target's blood, while enhancing the metabolism ability of the target's blood.

Exclusive Trait:

[Creation of Blood]: Increases the creativity of blood, it can replicate the blood with its own pure blood energy, the time taken to replicate depends on the amount of blood.

– Evolutionary Paths:

O: Origin Blood Nuwa Carp,@: Blood River Poisonous Carp,O: Bathing Blood Sturgeon Carp.

With just one probe, Fang Mu's heart gave a stark thud and shrank.

The speed of blood flow throughout his body sped up compared to before.

Fang Mu originally thought that obtaining Yi Han, the Grandmaster Creator, was his biggest fortune tonight.

But after strengthening the Ten Longevity Carp, Fang Mu felt that strengthening the Ten Longevity Carp was the biggest fortune of the night.

However, Fang Mu didn't expect his biggest fortune to be the Guardian Beast named Origin Blood Carp that he had finally strengthened.

What Fang Mu needed most was to find a way to speed up his blood production.

Fang Mu had once thought of finding a solution from the Guardian Beasts.

After a long time of thinking, Fang Mu couldn't figure out which Guardian Beast could help him accelerate blood production.

However, the exclusive trait [Creation of Blood] of Origin Blood Carp had solved Fang Mu's problem.

It's not that Origin Blood Carp's unique trait, [Creation of Blood], accelerates

Fang Mu's blood production, but it can duplicate Blood Aged Wine, or even Covenant Blood Essence, through its ability to replicate blood.

Thinking about this, Fang Mu tried to communicate with Origin Blood Carp via spiritual power.

The intelligence of Origin Blood Carp was much higher than that of All -Kinds Carp, but it still fell short compared to a house cat.

Since Origin Blood Carp knew that its evolution was facilitated by Fang Mu.

Despite not having signed a contract with Fang Mu, Origin Blood Carp was still very close to him..

Chapter 235: Creation of Blood: She is Wa!? 3

Fang Mu communicated with the Origin Blood Carp through spiritual power, unlike language communication which requires him to convey his intentions.

He could directly guide the Origin Blood Carp.

Fang Mu took out a drop of Blood Aged Wine which was only about 0.1 milliliters.

Fang Mu tried to get the Origin Blood Carp to copy the Blood Aged Wine with its unique trait [Blood Creation].

As a result, Fang Mu had to wait a full six minutes before the Origin Blood Carp had recreated this 0.1 milliliter of Blood Aged Wine.

When Fang Mu let the Origin Blood Carp copy the Blood Aged Wine again, the Origin Blood Carp was reluctant.

It wasn't until after a good six or seven minutes of rest that the Origin Blood Carp finally recreated the Blood Aged Wine using its unique trait [Blood Creation].

Fang Mu watched the Origin Blood Carp repeat the process of recreating blood, including rest, for a full hour.

After an hour, Fang Mu had a rough idea of the scope of the Origin Blood Carp's abilities.

The Origin Blood Carp could only create one milliliter of Blood Aged Wine per hour of work, and could only work a maximum of twelve hours a day.

So it could produce a maximum of twelve milliliters of Blood Aged Wine a day.

Although this amount seemed small, it would add up to more than four-thousand milliliters over the course of a year.

More importantly, the Origin Blood Carp's rank now was only at the Silver Stage.

As its rank goes up, the blood-producing ability of its unique trait [Blood Creation] would become stronger!

Fang Mu didn't have any Covenant Blood Essence on hand that the Origin Blood Carp could copy.

Even if he did, after seeing the actual blood-producing capability of [Blood Creation], Fang Mu had no plans to try it.

Even if the Origin Blood Carp could copy the Covenant Blood Essence,

It would be better to have it contribute Blood Aged Wine regularly, rather than waiting several years for just one drop.

In addition to the unique trait [Blood Creation], Fang Mu found the Origin Blood Carp's Copper Grade Skill [Blood Suck] to be very useful.

The Bloodline Power of a Dragon race Beast was stored in the blood before it ascended to Master Dragon.

Even if it became a Master Dragon and condensed a Dragon Ball, there was still some residual Dragon Bloodline Power in the blood.

If the Origin Blood Carp were to suck the blood of a Dragon race Beast using [Blood Suck],

The Origin Blood Carp would extract all the Bloodline Power from the Beast's blood and condense it into the Essence of Blood.

In a way, this ability was similar to that of a Creator.

However, using the Bloodline Power alone to improve Beasts could lead to deviation.

It was not as flexible as a Creator using elixirs to enhance a Beast's Bloodline.

The Silver Grade Skill [Purifying Blood Blessing] could remove foreign substances from the blood of a life form, making it a powerful detoxification function.

Except for destructive toxins like Acid Poison and Erosion Poison, it could not be removed,

Blood Poison, Mold Poison, Cell Toxin could all be dispelled by [Purifying Blood Blessing].

The Silver Grade skill [Purifying Blood Blessing] could not only remove foreign substances from the blood, but it would also enhance the target blood's metabolic ability.

This could fundamentally accelerate the self-purification of the blood. This blood metabolic ability was similar to blood creation, except that accelerating blood metabolism would consume a life form's Life Energy.

If Fang Mu used [Purifying Blood Blessing] to speed up his own blood production, he would end up becoming a skinny, white-haired skeleton in no time.

When he saw the Evolutionary Path of the Origin Blood Carp, Fang Mu was even more surprised than when he saw the unique trait [Blood Creation].

Origin Blood Nuwa Carp!?

Nuwa?

As a transmigrator who grew up reading mythology, the word 'Nuwa' held a certain sanctity in Fang Mu's heart.

As far as Fang Mu knew, there were no Beasts in the Beastmaster world related to the word 'Nuwa'

What would the Origin Blood Nuwa Carp evolve into if it followed the 'Nuwa' Bloodline?

The Evolutionary Path of the Blood River Poison Carp was mainly focused on using Blood Poison as a form of attack.

With the Rainy Doll as a precedent, this ability of the Blood River Poison Carp seemed commonplace.

The third Evolutionary Path, the Bathing Blood Sturgeon Carp, was considered a high-end method of fish evolution.

Besides turning into dragons, Fish Beasts could also continue down their fish bloodline.

Sturgeon was one type of fish in the high-end fish Bloodlines.

The Bathing Blood Sturgeon Carp should be a large, melee-fighting Fish Beast.

These two Evolutionary Paths could not compare to that of the Nuwa Carp.

The Origin Blood Carp evolving towards the Original Blood Nuwa Carp followed the evolution of its own Bloodline and didn't have to worry about changing the unique trait [Blood Creation].

The current Origin Blood Carp was close to Fang Mu but was ultimately not his contracted Beast.

It didn't completely follow Fang Mu's request to continuously copy the Blood Aged Wine.

Fang Mu didn't demand it, and it wasn't too late to wait for the Origin Blood Carp to be contracted through the Contracting Blood before insisting.

Fang Mu had always been curious as to why the Sacred Relic Sakura Tempering Carp was a Silver Stage Beast.

The value of a Silver Stage Beast was far lower than that of a Copper Stage Beast.

Now, having personally enhanced a Ten Longevity Carp and an Origin Blood Carp, Fang Mu understood why.

Turns out, during the process of using high-end materials and elixirs to guide the evolution of the All-Kinds Carp, the energy within the materials and elixirs would cause the All-Kinds Carp's rank to raise.

Just when Fang Mu was about to put the Origin Blood Carp into the Clear Pond Bracelet as well, the Blood of Abundance transmitted a sense of desire once again.

But this time, it was not a desire to eat, but a deep hope that Fang Mu would keep the Origin Blood Carp in the well..

Chapter 236: Creation of Blood: It's Wa!?!_4

As for his thirst for his Royal Beast Blood Abundance, Fang Mu didn't refuse it.

In a sense, refusing the blood abundance would be akin to denying himself.

Fang Mu once heard his grandfather say that in order to prevent dirty things from entering the well and affecting the safety of those who drink the water, there would typically be several small fish kept in the well.

If the fish are alive, it means the water is non-toxic.

The well in front of the old house back then was what is now known as the Blood of Abundance.

Could the Blood of Abundance have developed a habit of nurturing fish back then?

The Origin Blood Carp is too precious, it cannot tolerate any mishap.

Fang Mu decided to climb into the Blood of Abundance himself for a look.

If the bottom of the well is suitable for the survival of the Origin Blood Carp, then he can raise the Origin Blood Carp within the Blood of Abundance.

Fang Mu sat at the mouth of the Blood of Abundance, using his foot to test the writhing wall of the well.

He found that his foot could embed firmly into the wall with just a little force.

It's as if the well wall itself were part of his own body.

Descending into the well, it wasn't long before Fang Mu reached the bottom of the Blood of Abundance.

Fang Mu found that the bottom of the well was a separate world on its own.

He had never discovered that before because he had never descended into the well.

The interior of the Blood of Abundance is bottle-shaped, narrow at the mouth and big at the belly.

There is a patch of open space about twenty square fits below, next to which is a bubbling pit of blood.

This is where the Blood Aged Wine is constantly brewing. Looking at the scene in the pit, Fang Mu sneered.

This small pond was definitely filled bit by bit with the blood he infused every few days.

After consulting the Origin Blood Carp through spiritual power, Fang Mu found that the carp was quite satisfied with the environment within the Blood of Abundance.

With a flick of its tail, it plunged into the blood pool and began to swim freely. Only when he saw this did Fang Mu feel at ease and climb back out of the Blood of Abundance.

After washing up, drawing his Heartblood, reading a couple of hours' worth of books, he let the Covenant Servant Soul Ant Queen drain his soul power and then fell into a deep sleep.

The time for the start of the semester was drawing near, and Hu Tao had scheduled several trips to the library with Fang Mu.

Fang Mu took this time to tutor Hu Tao while reading up on areas he was previously unfamiliar with.

Every single time, Fang Mu saw Silver Shade, an elderly woman with white hair who was responsible for managing the library.

Fang Mu had always thought that Silver Shade was just a benevolent old woman.

It was not until his Destiny Guardian Beast, Fool's Shadow, examined the cat in Silver Shade's arms through the Eye of Omniscience that he discovered she was a powerful Beast Master with a sequential Guardian Beast called Sleepy Night Cloud.

When Fang Mu first saw Sleepy Night Cloud, he was still a novice in the world of Beast Masters.

Now that he looked at Sleepy Night Cloud again, it seemed much less mysterious to him than it had previously.

Enhancing two All -Kinds Carps had cost Fang Mu a great deal of top-tier resources.

Apart from going to the library, Fang Mu spent almost all of his recent time in the Scavenger Division.

He had been extremely busy during this period.

But one person was even busier than Fang Mu, and that was Feng Chenhao.

After receiving the Heavenly Fragrant Peony Flower Powder and Still-Face Palm Oil from Fang Mu, Feng Chenhao was initially shocked but soon was overcome with immense joy.

If it wasn't for the tight schedule of building the Peach Beguile brand, Feng Chenhao would definitely have a non-stop party for three days and nights!

Both the flower powder of Heaven Fragrance Peony and Still-Face Palm Oil, either one of these could propel the makeup brand Peach Beguile to the very top of the makeup brand pyramid.

Where it could look down on any existing luxury brand.

Feng Chenhao had staked everything to gamble on his future with Fang Mu. While Feng Chenhao had made his decision nonchalantly, he hadn't completely let go of his apprehensions just yet.

However, the moment he got his hands on the Heavenly Fragrant Peony

Flower Powder and Still-Face Palm Oil, Feng Chenhao was completely relieved.

Knowing it was a deal that he couldn't possibly lose on, Feng Chenhao threw in all his energy.

Peach Beguile, as a makeup brand, completed all its approvals in a short span of one month's time.

To ensure the high standard of Peach Beguile's makeup products, Feng Chenhao specifically spent a lot of money hiring three Junior Creators.

They would manually fill the makeup products of Peach Beguile brand using the method of mixing Spiritual Liquid, and then seal it with a thin line.

On the day of Peach Beguile's makeup brand exhibition, Feng Chenhao made a point of calling Fang Mu.

At that time, Fang Mu had just come out of the library with Hu Tao and they had agreed to go out for lunch together.

While sipping on a chilled glass of melon juice, Fang Mu knew that in the luxury sector of the Dragon Rising Federation,

The category of cosmetics was about to undergo a ground-breaking transformation.

A brand known as Peach Beguile would soon stand atop all cosmetics brands!

Chapter 237: The Thousand Layer of Tricks in Peach Beguile!_I

The Dragon Rising Federation places great importance on job functions.

Once a power group has registered a certain job function officially, it needs to seek approvals anew from the federation if it wishes to operate in another job function.

The Lionheart Brigade, for example, was just an adventure group previously. An adventure group does not qualify as a job function.

Therefore, they could smoothly apply to operate as a mercenary organization, a recognized job function.

If Fang Mu, after operating the Jianmu Commerce Association and involving himself in its job function, wanted to establish a Contemplation Hall, he would need to go through a lot of procedures.

A minimum endorsement from two official organizations would be required to complete the approval.

The purpose of these regulations is to ensure that power groups devote their full efforts to the job function they are engaged in, rather than setting up another one as soon as they find a better job function.

Any shift in a power group's job function or business operation could affect the livelihoods of hundreds of thousands, even millions, of people in a region.

The concept of accumulation effect applies to both the food chain and job functions.

At first glance, there seems to be little correlation between a craftsman-centered power group and the livelihoods of ordinary people.

However, in reality, every power group specialized in the craftsman job function controls many Spirit Material Cultivation Bases and mines.

Under a large Spirit Material Cultivation Base, there will be many Beast Taming Bases, and it will be teeming with numerous adventure groups.

Ordinary people participate in mining for metals and rare minerals, not just Beast Masters.

If power groups could freely change their job functions, the constant changes in the lives of ordinary people would have an enormous impact on their lives.

That's why the Dragon Rising Federation has strict restrictions on job functions.

This explains why in recent 20 years, despite the progressively saturated market for luxury goods, no power group has stepped out.

Luxury items are so called because their individual units are high-priced and not meant for ordinary people.

Even for Beast Masters, buying these items could be considered a luxury.

This is the precise definition of "luxury" for products.

Power groups that focus on luxury goods have to make significant investments in supplies to guarantee product quality.

Initially, cosmetic brands were not included within the job function of luxury items.

However, the outrageous slogans of those high-end cosmetics were undeniable. With the consistent mix of high-end materials escalating their value, these brands had no choice.

Though these high-end materials actually made no significant difference.

The Profession Supervision Department, one of the eight official organizations, specifically managing various job functions, made a decision.

All cosmetic brands with individual products priced above 500 Dragon Rising Coins were incorporated into the job function of luxury items.

Different job functions have different tax rates.

Instead of opposing the decision made by the Profession Supervision Department, the high-end brands supported it strongly.

Because only by incorporating it into luxury items could they freely set their prices.

It was this decision from the Profession Supervision Department that led to the appearance of face creams on the market priced at over 80,000 Dragon Rising Coins.

Feng Chenhao kept asking Fang Mu about the pricing strategy.

Fang Mu didn't answer Feng Chenhao immediately but spent a night researching the business operation model of the Dragon Rising Federation through relevant books before providing an answer.

During his academic research, Fang Mu hated it when people who knew nothing gave unsolicited advice.

Now that Fang Mu is the one making decisions, he certainly will not become the person he used to despise.

Fang Mu discovered that this world does not have the concept of scarcity marketing, and there is no concept of limited quantity of any item. Fang Mu believed that the situation was due to the production capacity of advanced craftsmen on one hand.

Items that can be sold at high prices are rare and often unique.

Without mass production, there is no possibility of limited quantity.

On the other hand, the pricing of spirit materials also influences the price of a product.

If the cost of the spirit materials used in a product is less than 50,000 Dragon Rising Coins, no fool would buy it at a price multiplied by several or even dozens of times.

Those who truly have the ability to consume luxury goods often come from large power groups, and they are all very savvy.

There are conflicts within the power groups, and wasteful spending could become a means for competitors to criticize someone.

Once others in the power group see them as spendthrifts, chances are it will be difficult for them to rise further.

So it's crucial that luxury items have a reasonable higher price.

It's for these reasons that the development of scarcity marketing is restricted in the Beastmaster world's commercial system.

But the cosmetic brand Peach Beguile definitely has the qualifications and ability to do so.

Firstly, only Peach Beguile possesses Heaven Fragrance Peony and Still-Face Palm Oil, which in turn gives the brand bargaining power in the market.

Secondly, Peach Beguile can control the production of their goods, enabling them to maximize the concept of limited sets.

They can introduce monthly limited editions, seasonal limited editions, annual limited editions, holiday limited editions, powerful Beast Masters collaboration limited editions, and collaboration limited editions with good-looking Guardian Beasts.

While they have to pay for collaborations with powerful Beast Masters, collaborations with good-looking Guardian Beasts are free.

Each limited series has a specific identifier.

Only a few bottles in a batch can get a limited-edition card, which is like introducing the concept of blind boxes.

When there are many different types of limited-edition items, these limited cards will become valuable collectibles.

Which world doesn't have a group of OCDs who love collecting cards!?

When the limited cards circulate at high prices in the black market and among individuals, the brand value of Peach Beguile is bound to rise again..

Chapter 238: The Thousand Layer of Tricks in Peach Beguile!_2

For this reason, Fang Mu took the time to share his ideas with Feng Chenhao and discussed with him all night long.

Feng Chenhao had been anxiously waiting for Fang Mu's response.

Because if Fang Mu didn't give a definite answer, the products wouldn't be able to officially go on sale.

Feng Chenhao originally thought that Fang Mu would propose a standard business model, but was surprised to receive a meticulous and profound plan, just like a bible.

From the moment he heard Fang Mu's ideas, Feng Chenhao felt an exhilarating surge of excitement in his mind.

Being part of the prominent business family of Langya Biology, Feng Chenhao was well-versed in various business strategies since childhood.

But he had never considered a business approach like this could be used.

However, after careful thought, Feng Chenhao realized this business strategy would only work for Peach Beguile.

Any other force attempting this method would likely be condemned as foolish.

It was precisely the indispensable spiritual materials contained in Peach Beguile's brand products that gave Peach Beguile the qualification to limit the production of their line of products.

Feng Chenhao knew Fang Mu was a disciple of a high-level creator, but he didn't expect Fang Mu to exhibit such exceptional business acumen.

No wonder the high-ranking creator behind Fang Mu was willing to let him run a business.

After thoroughly explaining his ideas to Feng Chenhao, Fang Mu didn't intervene in the operation of Peach Beguile, except for providing regular supplies to Feng Chenhao.

In the meantime, Feng Chenhao delivered several more Age Fix Palm and Fragrant Peony plants to him.

Fang Mu cultivated the Fragrant Peony and Age Fix Palm with the Blood Aged Wine.

He found the evolutionary paths of the Guardian Beasts he raised were not fixed.

Out of the nine Fragrant Peony, only one successfully evolved into Heaven

Fragrance Peony, while the other eight evolved along different evolutionary paths.

The same happened with the seven Age Fix Palm plants.

This made Fang Mu realize something – The direction the Blood Aged Wine guides the Guardian Beasts' evolution is not fixed.

The simpler the gene of the Guardian Beast, the less restriction, the more complex the evolutionary line will be.

So, it is not practical to use Blood Aged Wine to mass-produce certain kinds of Guardian Beasts.

Fang Mu needed to condense the Covenant Blood Essence and didn't have enough Blood Aged Wine to keep testing on a certain kind of Guardian Beast.

Fortunately, the Guardian Beasts evolved from those six Age Fix Palms and eight Fragrant Peony, although not evolved into Heaven Fragrance Peony and Restoring Appearance Palm, were not bad at all.

For example, the Flowing Peony and Luminous Peony, evolved from Fragrant Peony, had even higher aesthetic value than the Heaven Fragrance Peony.

All the Guardian Beasts cultivated from the Blood Aged Wine were considered auspicious, regardless of their type.

Fang Mu planted all these peonies in jade basins and chose one each to be placed in the rooms of Fang Yuan, Fang Qin, and Yan Wood for decoration.

Fang Mu kept the newly cultivated Heaven Fragrance Peony in his room for regular pollen collection.

The rest of the five were arranged by Fang Mu in the living room on the first floor.

The already elegant living room, crafted by a Grandmaster Craftsman, was further enhanced with the addition of these five peonies, deserving of middle-grade auspicious status, exuding a sense of grace and charm.

Grandmaster Lv Jihong, who was responsible for the finishing touches of the manor, was completely mesmerized by the sight.

Lv Jihong has always been annoyed that the status of Grandmaster Craftsman could only be compared to Senior Creators.

In many cases, they were not even treated as well as senior creators with extensive experience.

Seeing the peonies that Fang Mu placed in the living room made Lv Jihong realize the gap between them.

Compared to the exquisitely rare Guardian Beasts cultivated by senior creators, whatever a Grandmaster Craftsman could craft would ultimately still be dead objects.

Previously, with only one Heaven Fragrance Peony and one Restoring Appearance Palm, it was slightly difficult to supply Peach Beguile.

Now, with two each, it was enough to maintain the scarce marketing strategy of Peach Beguile.

On his side, Feng Chenhao specially found several painters renowned throughout the Dragon Rising Federation.

Unlike craftsmen and weavers, painters do not have specific ranking, but the paintings of famous painters are no cheaper than the furniture and clothes made by Grandmaster-level craftsmen and weavers.

Considering it was August, Feng Chenhao planned to release an August limited edition product.

Instead of co-branding with existing Guardian Beasts, which might invite potential disputes from fans of celebrity players in some large clubs claiming that Peach Beguile was trying to ride on their idol's coattails.

Feng Chenhao decided to look into ancient literature and co-brand with the Guardian Beasts from the Fifth and Sixth Epochs, adding a sense of mystery.

Many ancient documents have been regarded as mythology and can be consulted in public libraries.

Feng Chenhao remembered that the ancient documents mentioned a cat-type Guardian Beast with twelve tails that could link to the heavens and understand destiny.

The ancient documents did not describe the specific appearance of this cat-type Guardian Beast.

But that didn't matter, let the painters create their own interpretation!

The creativity of top painters is limitless, and no matter how they paint, it will not be ugly!

As for the color of this cat-type Guardian Beast, Feng Chenhao thought white would be the best.

Who can resist the charm of a white cat!?

If anyone could, that cat is simply not white enough.

The quality of Peach Beguile's products is already solid, not to mention the great effort Feng Chenhao put into the packaging.

Cangyun Market in Qing Cang province is comparable to Dinghai Mall in Jinghai Province, both are the largest official markets in their respective provinces.

They sell all sorts of Guardian Beasts and spiritual materials.

Like Dinghai Mall, the first five floors of Cangyun market are used by the official for selling supplies.

From the sixth floor to the thirty-seventh, all thirty-two floors are rented out to individuals.

Only those with powerful forces and abundant cash flow would choose to open a store in the Cangyun market..

Chapter 239: The Thousand Layer of Tricks in Peach Beguile!_3

In order to operate the first Peach Beguile store and set it up in a upscale location.

Feng Chenhao was burdened with a heap of debt.

Fang Mu had once offered Lu Xiaoyin and Feng Chenhao that he could provide financial help if they needed, by pumping more funds into the business.

Feng Chenhao rejected Fang Mu's suggestion outright.

The shares he currently holds were not much, only ten percent.

Once his shares are diluted further by Fang Mu's capital injection, the dividends he would receive each year would be much lesser than what it is now.

Feng Chenhao could still recognize how big a cake Peach Beguile is.

The Peach Beguile exhibition was located in the sales area on the twenty-sixth floor of Cangyun Market, right next to the Peach Beguile store.

Renting an exhibition area for a day would cost one million two hundred thousand Dragon Rising Coins.

Feng Chenhao clenched his teeth and rented it for three days.

Peach Beguile was positioned as the ceiling of luxury brands, so it was most suitable to open a store in such a place.

Since it was positioned as the ceiling of luxury brands, it naturally couldn't cheapen itself by allowing people to use their products as trials.

Feng Chenhao rented the exhibition area for three days not for promotion, but to allow more people to see and buy.

No matter if they were attracted by the intrigue of the limited model or the packaging, as long as there were people buying, Feng Chenhao had achieved his goal.

All the cosmetics of Peach Beguile would exude the fragrance of Heaven Fragrance Peony whenever they were opened.

The high-class women who were mindful of their skin status every day and had already reached a certain threshold using Firming Palm Oil.

They could feel the difference between Restoring Appearance Palm Oil and Firming Palm Oil upon first use.

To prevent Peach Beguile from being positioned too low in the future, Feng Chenhao set the prices of each product extremely high.

To better understand the market on the opening day, Feng Chenhao specifically dressed in an Attendant's costume.

Including Feng Chenhao himself, there were only three attendants in the entire store.

The other two were the personal butlers Feng Chenhao specifically hired.

Employing a personal butler as an attendant could be considered an underutilization.

However, the personal butlers' manners and conduct were often more in line with the temperament of the high-class women.

If it were not for the inability to afford clothing custom-designed by a Grandmaster Weaver.

In order to maintain the imposing manner, Feng Chenhao would have had all the attendants including himself wear clothing prepared by a Grandmaster Weaver while serving customers.

Even if the money to rent the exhibition area was borrowed. Feng Chenhao, after all, took advantage of a promotion by a Master-level weaver to have three sets of clothes custom made ahead of time.

Just to max out the prestige!

Healthy socialization is extremely useful for the development of power.

Men sit together to talk business, while the high-class women gather to forge connections.

Sometimes it could key to securing a business deal.

Nobody could resist the whispers of sweet nothings in the dead of the night!

And the best place for high-class women to socialize is the shops above the sixth floor of the Cangyun Market.

They can not only shop to flaunt their wealth and buy things they fancy. But also pick out gifts to give away when they get to talking about profitable ventures.

Liu Shu had been working on her connection with Lingfeng Biological these past few days.

Lingfeng Biological is a power that specializes in breeding bird-type controlled creatures.

Her youngest daughter had just awakened her Destiny Guidebook this year and is compatible with Eagle Beasts.

Eagle Beasts are quite rare in the bird-type controlled creatures and most of them have good offensive capabilities.

The contract for the first Guardian Beast has a significant influence on a Beast Master's potential and developmental direction.

For the past two months, Liu Shu has been frequently contacting Chu Tao, someone she would occasionally greet, but rarely go shopping with.

Chu Tao is the second daughter of the Family Head of Lingfeng Biological.

Her elder brother, who was a useless wreck, had deeply hurt the heart of Lingfeng Biological's old man.

In addition to the elder brother, all the younger generation of the family are females.

Thereby, the old man intends to promote Chu Tao as the next family head.

As long as she maintains a good relationship with Chu Tao, with appropriate resources, Liu Shu would be able to select a high-quality Eagle Beast from Lingfeng Biological.

Moreover, her husband, who owns a transportation company, wants to start a business involving flying Beast Cars, and will most likely collaborate with Lingfeng Biological in the future.

Seeing that the brand name of the cosmetics on display in the exhibition area is Peach Beguile, Liu Shu subconsciously thought, Is this some random crappy brand that popped up from somewhere!?

The cosmetics brands of nowadays are becoming more and more absurd.

The most effective product is nothing more than the Firming Palm Oil.

Using the powder of Gold-grade Watery Pearls for hydration has already reached the ceiling in terms of efficacy.

However, some cosmetics brands, in order to sell their products at a high price, add in powder from the scales of the Water System Jiaolong, causing it to feel uncomfortable upon application.

They can even use facial cream as exfoliating paste!

Do they think our faces are wild boar skins!?

Liu Shu, who considers herself to be quite knowledgeable about cosmetics, hasn't had to pay the so-called 'stupid tax' for a long time.

If she was shopping alone, Liu Shu wouldn't even bother entering the exhibition area.

But it's different when she's trying to please Chu Tao!

"Sister Tao, the name of this brand, Peach Beguile, seems kind of destined with you."

"I've been wearing the bracelet you gifted me last time."

While speaking, Liu Shu lifted her wrist, revealing the Gold-ranking spiritual instrument bracelet she was wearing.

This Gold medium-grade spiritual instrument bracelet stood out as incongruous compared to the other platinum spiritual devices she wore. “This time, Sister Tao, I’ll gift you a set of cosmetics. You must accept it!”

Chu Tao knew very well why Liu Shu had been contacting her frequently and giving her gifts these past few days.

If it were someone else, Chu Tao wouldn’t want to waste her precious time.

Her elder brother had felt the looming crisis and had recently been showing signs of striving hard..

Chapter 240: The Thousand Layer of Tricks in Peach Beguile!_4

The old man seemed to be paying noticeably more attention to his eldest son than before.

This put a lot of pressure on Chu Tao.

Chu Tao also wanted to explore the market and facilitate a cooperation with Yuen Fan Transportation.

However, in a negotiation whoever speaks first would be at a disadvantage, so Chu Tao was waiting for Liu Shu to take the initiative.

She figured that after Liu Shu delivered this set of cosmetics, she would surely ask for her help!

“Sister Shu, as your older sister, I thank you in advance!”

At her words, Liu Shu gave a bright smile and walked with Chu Tao towards the exhibition area.

Upon seeing customers arriving, Feng Chenhao immediately went to greet them.

When Liu Shu saw Feng Chenhao’s attire, she was taken aback.

Was this the attire of a Peach Beguile shop attendant? Why was he wearing clothing customized by a master-level weaver!?

Even the attendants of the top-of-the-line cosmetics brand “Snow Face” only wore ready-made clothes produced by advanced weavers.

She had never heard of the Peach Beguile brand before, it must be newly launched.

Considering the kind of garb even Peach Beguile’s attendants wore, could they possibly have some novel products!?

Feng Chenhao noticed that the two middle-aged women's eyes were constantly on him.

From the state of their skin, it was clear that they took excellent care of it, indicating that they care deeply about the quality of cosmetics.

Feng Chenhao needed customers like these.

"Ladies, welcome to Peach Beguile's exhibition sale!"

"Our Peach Beguile products are all limited editions, currently, we have an August limited series and a Spirit Cat limited series."

"Those trying our products for the first time may consider buying a jar of facial cream."

"If it's for gifting, I'd suggest simply choosing a complete limited set! "

"The August limited series will be reissued next year, but the Spirit Cat limited series will become collector's items if this chance is missed.

During his introduction, Feng Chenhao could sense Liu Shu and Chu Tao's eyes widening in surprise.

Feng Chenhao thought that the women were rather impressed by Peach Beguile's business model.

The design of the Twelve-Tailed Spirit Cat on the Spirit Cat Limited Edition perfectly matched descriptions of the Cat's Beast from ancient texts.

The exquisite piece was made by a top artist, anyone with taste could see its remarkable value at a glance.

However, in reality, Chu Tao's and Liu Shu's thoughts were completely different from what Feng Chenhao had in mind.

What kind of brain-damaged brand was Peach Beguile, still playing with the limited edition model!

Despite all the gimmicks, weren't they all just cosmetics in the end?

Were they implying that using them would make you age backwards!?

While Feng Chenhao was introducing the products, Liu Shu and Chu Tao saw the price tags.

A facial cream so small it was the size of a tangerine, they're asking for 150,000 Dragon Rising Coins for it!?

Even robbery wouldn't be this extreme!

A complete set of products that breaks down into thirty-seven items, even the makeup remover oil is divided for morning, afternoon, and evening use.

You were suggesting I buy a complete set, costing me a total of 4-38 million Dragon Rising Coins.

This outrageous price made Liu Shu and Chu Tao believe that the Peach Beguile brand was established by lunatics.

And somehow, the price tag felt rather insulting?

At this point, Liu Shu's feelings were even more complex than Chu Tao's.

Because Liu Shu had just declared that the Peach Beguile brand was destined for Chu Tao and promised to give her a set of cosmetics.

As the saying went, she had already spoken and abruptly backing out on her word would be akin to slapping herself in the face!

Especially when she saw Chu Tao getting ready to leave, Liu Shu felt she couldn't lose face.

Grinding her teeth, she presented her bank card to Feng Chenhao. "I'll take one complete set of the Spirit Cat Limited Edition!"

"Please pack it nicely for my sister Tao!"

Feng Chenhao initially intended to further explain the benefits of the products, but before he could even start, they were purchased.

Making a major sale right after opening was quite a delight for Feng Chenhao.

However, his joy was short-lived.

Due to the high prices of individual items, generally people would come to look more than they would to buy.

In the morning, only four bottles of facial cream were sold, and those were bought by men accompanying their wives shopping.

But Feng Chenhao was not disheartened, each sold item would eventually become a spark.

Upon opening the packaging, one would catch the scent of the Heavenly Fragrant Peony Flower Powder.

And instantly fall for Peach Beguile's products!