

Beast Tamer 36

Chapter 36 Blood Fort, Bloodline Newborn

The “Scavenger” role provides points to its official members to encourage them to train newcomers.

Training newcomers is essentially defined as an official task of an employee.

However, while it is indeed a task, not everyone takes it seriously and fulfills their duty responsibly.

He Qing casually rested his hand on Fang Mu’s shoulder.

But as he applied a little pressure, he instantly furrowed his brows. Due to his contract beast, He Qing could sense that Fang Mu’s bone age was very young.

He wondered what kind of people would let such a young boy work as a “Scavenger”.

It appeared that he would have to scare this kid a bit to make him back off. If he successfully managed to deter him, he would consider it his good deed of the day.

Otherwise, if Fang Mu inhaled the gases produced by the burning corpses of the different beasts during the disposal process without the protection of a powerful Guardian Beast, it would be disastrous.

Even a single instance could inflict permanent damage.

On their way to the Soldier-level Crematorium on the seventeenth floor, He Qing noticed that Fang Mu’s eyes were darting around, observing his surroundings.

Intrigued yet solid was his demeanor.

Just as He Qing was considering striking up a conversation with Fang Mu, the latter's clear voice echoed out.

"May I ask how to accumulate points after disposing of different beast corpses?"

He Qing almost choked on his own saliva upon hearing this.

While he was figuring out how to urge Fang Mu to quit, Fang Mu was already thinking about how to earn points.

"Inside the Soldier-level incinerator, various corpses of soldier-level different beasts are piled up."

"You need to dissect them using your tools and then toss them into the incinerator."

"Once you are done, someone will inspect the inside." "Points will be added immediately after the inspection." "You get a point for each Soldier-level different beast corpse you deal with." "To earn a single leaf, you need to get a hundred points."

"So, after handling three hundred Soldier-level different beast corpses, you become an official Scavenger."

During his explanation, He Qing gestured towards the two flower badges and three leaves on his chest.

"Once you become an official member, you can continue to deal with Soldier-level different beast corpses."

"Even though the point distribution remains the same, but when counting for rank promotion, only one-tenth of a point is counted."

“As an official member, you should start dealing with heavy artillery-level different beast corpses if you want to promote quickly.”

Heqing then added in a serious tone.

“Every day, numerous non-official members are carried out from the incinerators.”

“They die on-duty because they inhale excessive amounts of gas generated by incineration of different beast corpses.”

“This is incinerator No. 2293.”

“Think about it, then decide whether or not you want to enter.”

Fang Mu had already read in his manual that each incinerator stored a hundred different beast corpses of corresponding levels.

So there would be no mistake in the point verification process.

Fang Mu completely ignored He Qing’s last words.

With what he was relying on, Fang Mu didn’t need to consider his personal safety.

Something else was on Fang Mu’s mind.

“What should I do to replenish the different beast corpses if I completely dispose of all that is inside?”

He Qing originally thought that if he scared the young man in front of him, he would back down.

However, he didn’t expect this young man’s courage to be so great!

Not only did he not fear, but he was also worried about not having enough different beast corpses to handle.

He Qing irritably responded.

“You can’t ever fully dispose of the different beast corpses.”

“If you do happen to, then after point verification, you can simply pick another empty Soldier-level incinerator to continue working.”

“And proceed with your disposal duties.”

As soon as He Qing finished his words, Fang Mu thanked him and entered incinerator No. 2293.

Looking at the tightly shut door of the room, He Qing found himself at a loss.

The contracted Guardian Beast of each Beastmaster is their secret.

Some “Scavengers” even need to use their Destiny Guardian Beast to dispose of the different beast corpses.

Hence all levels of incinerators are unmonitored.

That’s why many people die in the incinerator and don’t have the chance to be saved.

Today, He Qing was not planning to deal with the heavy artillery-level different beast corpses.

Although He Qing could do an effective defense with his Guardian Beast, he needed to allow his beast some rest as well.

Therefore, he only goes to the heavy artillery-level incinerator every other day.

With nothing else to do, He Qing decided to wait and see how long this young kid would last before succumbing and coming out of the incinerator.

Heqing still remembered his first time entering the Soldier-level incinerator. He could barely handle the scorching heat inside.

He managed to endure for about an hour, burning almost five and a half different beast corpses.

As someone who's not fond of waiting, Heqing took out a table from his Spatial Spiritual Instrument and prepared some braised beef and a drink.

He wondered if Fang Mu would come out embarrassingly by the time he finished his beef and liquor.

He Qing wasn't trying to mock Fang Mu.

He was intending to follow the principle of saving as many as possible so as soon as Fang Mu came out, he could take him to the therapist among the "Scavengers" immediately.

This would keep the consequences to his future life to a minimum.

However, He Qing guessed wrong.

When Fang Mu was changing into his high-temperature protective suit, he could already feel the heatwave coming from inside, which was even hotter than a midsummer day in JA City.

Fang Mu started to summon his Destiny Guidebook.

A dark green talisman was circling Fang Mu's Destiny Guidebook.

Fang Mu summoned both the Vacuum and the Clean Water Spirit.

As an Elemental Beast with a Water attribute progressing towards becoming a Half-Elf, the Clean Water Spirit could easily provide efficient cooling by encompassing Fang Mu completely.

Then, Fang Mu, who had just put on the high-temperature protective suit, instructed the Vacuum to activate its skill [Waste Recycling] and stepped into the working area.

As a key high school in Jinghai Province, Jinghai High School for Beast Masters provides abundant educational resources.

Therefore, Fang Mu had seen many Soldier-level different beasts in observation classes, and even followed Cui Ruochen to observe several heavy artillery-level different beasts several times.

So, Fang Mu was not unfamiliar with the different beasts.

However, upon a casual glance, he noticed a small portion of the accumulated different beast corpses showed signs of white boning.

But mostly, many of the species were ones Fang Mu hadn't seen before.

Most of the different beasts were Alien Bugs, with a few Demons and Subterranean Creatures.

Apart from these, there was also a humanoid creature with delicate facial features among the heaps.

This creature had a pair of wings resembling a bat on its back.

According to Fang Mu's knowledge, he quickly recognized it to be a newborn of the Blood Race..