

Beast Tamer 361

Chapter 361: The Hooked Golden Bull!_3

The reason Fang Mu made this statement was to quash Golden Bull's idea of seeing his master after arriving at the agreed-upon location.

However, Golden Bull didn't interpret Fang Mu's intention from his words.

Fang Mu had already mentioned that Qixing was in seclusion before.

A sequestered Grandmaster Creator was certainly not someone he could meet, as no Grandmaster Creator would abandon the opportunity for a power breakthrough just to see him.

Golden Bull took Fang Mu's words as a plea for a favor.

"Besides the Purple Qi Nine Crane Furnace, I also have a Sequential Spiritual Instrument of dual lightning and wind attributes, named the Wind Thunder Instant Knife."

"The Wind Thunder Instant Knife can enhance the elemental energy vitality of Lightning and Wind Guardian Beasts, promoting the improvement of Guardian Beasts with these two attributes."

"I can offer it to you as a token of my thanks for your willingness to extend a helping hand."

Offering a Sequential Spiritual Instrument as a token of gratitude is considered extremely generous.

Especially when Golden Bull has already offered the Purple Qi Nine Crane Furnace as a price.

Fang Mu didn't bother to be polite with Golden Bull, as he was trading longevity for resources.

For an ordinary person, longevity is worthless.

There are many common people who trade their lives for money at the Cleaner Division, but for Golden Bull, no external things are as precious as longevity.

If Fang Mu was now to be greedy and seek more benefits, Golden Bull would probably agree.

But Fang Mu didn't intend to do this.

People like Golden Bull could certainly not be controlled by Soul Parasite Ants.

What Fang Mu always aimed to do was not to control Golden Bull, but to befriend him.

Although what Fang Mu was conducting with Golden Bull was a one-time deal.

With continuous supply of resources from Fang Mu, the Ten Longevity Carp would evolve towards the Hundred-life Carp.

Fang Mu could continuously increase Golden Bull's longevity. With this capability alone, Fang Mu could make Golden Bull dependent on him.

With the Purple Qi Nine Crane Furnace, which contains the Beast Spirit of two crane beasts in sequence, and being protected by Golden Bull over these years.

Fang Mu would no longer have to worry about safety.

As long as he gave Golden Bull sufficient respect, trading a few years of freedom for longevity should be agreeable to Golden Bull.

Plus, accompanying him in his training would not hinder Golden Bull from enjoying his life.

The Sequential Spiritual Instrument, Wind Thunder Instant Knife, would suit his second older brother, Fang Yuan, perfectly.

Fang Yuan's Guardian Beasts are mainly of dual lightning and wind attributes. The Wind Thunder Instant Knife could provide a lot of convenience in Fang Yuan's process of Cultivating Beasts.

As a Red Sleeve of Jianmu Commerce Association, there must be many eyes on Fang Yuan.

The Jianmu Commercial Association currently lacks sequential power.

If Fang Yuan made the Marrow Pact with the Wind Thunder Instant Knife, it would be as if he had a Sequential strongman guarding him.

This would relieve Fang Mu of his worries about Fang Yuan's safety and give Fang Yuan enough time to strengthen the defenses of Jianmu Commerce Association.

"Thank you, Golden Bull. We'll discuss everything else when we meet offline."

"The last time I mentioned to my master that Shadow Eye Stones and high-level Blood Tribe hearts can be exchanged at the Starwheel gathering."

"My master has given me quite a few high-star creator resources and asked me to collect more complete Dragon Balls and high-level Blood Tribe corpses."

Actually, Fang Mu could have asked to collect some high-level beast corpses, but he didn't for two reasons.

Firstly, it would not be good for Fang Mu to collect too many things at once at the Starwheel gathering.

This would cause the Grandmaster Creator's resources to be released too much at once, attracting speculation from other official Starwheel members.

Secondly, Fang Mu collected sequential beast corpses for the purpose of enhancing the Patchwork Hacker.

Patchwork Hacker only needed parts of the beast with extremely strong attack power.

These parts are of high value but do not contribute much to the enhancement of Patchwork Hacker.

Fang Mu had allowed Sucker to control Patchwork Hacker through an electronic butterfly and didn't intend to finance Patchwork Hacker's training himself.

Instead, he planned to let the Sucker-controlled Patchwork Hacker absorb other Patchwork Hackers when he encountered such biological weapons in the future to further enhance their strength.

Fang Mu's words cleverly shifted the topic away from Golden Bull.

Fang Mu's exchange of supplies concerned every official member of the Starwheel.

Since Fang Mu mentioned last time that he needed Shadow Eye Stones and high-level Blood Tribe hearts, the official members of the Starwheel have been diligently looking for Shadow Eye Stones and high-level Blood Tribe hearts in the past month.

These resources could be obtained with some effort, but the Grandmaster Creator resources were different.

To get Grandmaster Creator resources, you had to owe big favors.

Favors were the hardest things to pay back for the strong.

Sagittarius failed to make a deal with Fang Mu last time, and noticing that Cancer, Capricorn and Scorpio, who had traded with Fang Mu before, were eager to try, Sagittarius directly addressed Fang Mu.

“Libra, I’ve collected a total of nine Shadow Eye Stones.”

“I have forty-four Blood Duke hearts, twenty-three Grand Duke hearts, and twelve Prince hearts.”

“I’d like to exchange these resources for five bottles of 92% pure Life Elixir. As for the remaining over a hundred Blood Count hearts, I’ll treat them as a gift to you.”

“This small item presumably wouldn’t bother your master.”

Sagittarius was trading with Fang Mu for the first time, which was no different from trading with Qixing in essence.

Libra had calculated several times the value of the Shadow Eye Stones and high-level Blood Tribe hearts he was offering.

He had reduced the price by seventy percent based on the market price before converting it to Life Elixir.

On top of that, he had raised the price of the converted Life Elixir by thirty percent.

All this in the hopes of leaving a good impression on Qixing, so he’d be more willing to trade with him in the future.

Fang Mu directly took out five bottles of 92% pure Life Elixir and handed it to Star Cloud Messenger behind him to complete the deal with Sagittarius.

Last time Fang Mu mentioned that he had two senior brothers who were Master Creators, he now decided to deepen this impression.

So when he gave the supplies to Star Cloud Messenger, Fang Mu deliberately took out two bottles of Wood Element Potions with a purity of 85%.

“Sagittarius, I can sense a natural aura emanating from you, most of your Guardian Beasts must be related to the wood system.”

“These two Wood Element Potions were given to me by my two senior brothers this morning. Consider them as a personal gift from me.”

“Thank you for the hundred plus Blood Race Earl hearts.”

Chapter 362: Blue Burn Flame Region_1

Fang Mu had expected that after his last request for the Shadow Eye Stones and High-Level Blood Tribe Hearts, he would reap some benefits this time.

However, he didn't expect to gain so much all at once.

In the Dragon Rising Federation, Fang Mu had only obtained three or four Shadow Eye Stones in total, but this time alone, he got as many as nine from Sagittarius.

The number of High-Level Blood Tribe Hearts was even more impressive, with twelve hearts from a prince included.

More than one hundred Blood Count Hearts were merely an addition, as they were obviously not valuable to Sagittarius.

Fang Mu proposed to offer Sagittarius two bottles of Wood Element Elixirs with a purity of 85% in return, with three main reasons in mind.

Firstly, Fang Mu had presented a philosophy of equal exchange at the Starwheel Gathering.

Last time, he responded to all the welcome gifts given to him by the formal members of the Starwheel.

Having treated the simple gift-giving process as a negotiation last time, Fang Mu certainly couldn't break the ethos he set up after so much effort.

Once such ethos is shattered, there is practically no chance to rebuild it.

Secondly, Fang Mu planned to raise his status among the Starwheel members.

By stating himself that the purity of the Element Potions given by his two elder brothers was 85% instead of 80%, this indicates that both of his elder brothers have made substantial progress at the Master Creator level and are veteran Master Creators.

The value of two veteran Master Creators is incomparably greater than that of newly promoted Master Creators.

Thirdly, Fang Mu also used this method to encourage the formal members of the Starwheel to do more trading with him.

It was not for anything else, but merely to show that trading with him would never be a loss.

Fang Mu estimated that after this trade, the quality of both Blood of Abundance and Fool's Shadow would improve significantly.

According to the knowledge and records he possessed, the quality of a Guardian Beast reaching the Legendary Quality was considered its limit.

He never heard about anyone who managed to raise the quality of a Guardian Beast beyond legendary.

Just like the strength of a Guardian Beast could continuously improve without boundaries, the quality of a Guardian Beast should not be constrained by inherent definitions.

If he kept feeding Fool's Shadow and Blood of Abundance with Shadow Eye Stones and high-level Blood Tribe Hearts, could he push their qualities beyond Legendary?

Records of the Fifth and Sixth Epoch are scarce, but the excavated ancient books from large ancient battlefields discovered in recent centuries can confirm.

In the Fifth and Sixth Epoch, powerful Guardian Beasts were given special titles like Fantasy Breed and Mythical Breed.

Some scholars infer that Fantasy Breed and Mythical Breed refer to the strength of Guardian Beasts, while others argue they refer to the quality of Guardian Beasts.

The scholarly community has been divided into two factions over this argument and no one can provide an accurate conclusion.

Even the renowned Creators in the Ten-thousand Nations Federation maintain a dialectical attitude towards this.

They fear that one day their determination of whether the titles Fantasy Breed and Mythical Breed refer to the strength or quality of Guardian Beasts will be contradicted by new discoveries from the ancient battlefields.

As a Creator, they have abundant resources and high status.

Besides their own longevity and strength, their reputation is the only thing that matters to them.

The more Fang Mu learns about the Fifth and Sixth Epoch, the more curious he becomes about what exactly happened then.

How could it be that the history of two epochs, spanning tens of millions of years, was so completely erased?

It made the study of ancient history in this world once awkward.

In his previous life, research on ancient history would always yield results as long as there was funding.

But in the Beastmaster World, no amount of manpower and material resources could help.

After all, these scholars couldn't fabricate something out of nothing.

Sagittarius was taken aback by Fang Mu's words.

What Sagittarius cared was not the two bottles of Wood Element Elixirs that Fang Mu returned to him after expressing gratitude for the more than one hundred Blood Count Hearts.

Sagittarius, who had been concealing his identity in the Starwheel, was actually a master Creator himself.

Resources at the master-level were not hard to come by for Sagittarius.

When he heard Fang Mu mention his two Master Creator older brothers, Sagittarius was already quite surprised.

While Master Creators would try to curry favor with Grandmaster Creators hoping to receive their teachings, few Master Creators would offer themselves to assist Grandmaster Creators.

If they were two newly promoted Master Creators, that would be less surprising. The key point is that both Master Creators were quite accomplished.

What kind of person is Qixing!?

In just two Starwheel Gatherings, Qixing has already shown such an incredible amount of energy, and Fang Mu doesn't seem to be a high-profile person.

By revealing just the tip of the iceberg and it's already so amazing, how massive could his full strength be!?

Not only Sagittarius, but also other formal members of the Starwheel have the same thoughts.

Even without Qixing, the Grandmaster Creator, any of Fang Mu's two elder brothers alone is worth getting to know.

"Then I'll take it first, Libra!"

"Since all of you want to trade with Libra, I, Scorpio, Capricorn, Cancer, we four who have traded with Libra once."

"Let's give way to the opportunity since the Golden Bull wants to meet Libra offline."

"Gemini, Virgo, Aquarius, Aries, the four of you come and trade with Libra!"

"With the energy accumulated by the Land of the Stars over the past month, it's just enough for you four to exchange supplies through the messenger."

Chapter 363: Blue Burn Flame Region_2

"At the next Starwheel gathering, you can exchange resources and information freely."

This was acceptable to the Starwheel members who hadn't traded with Fang Mu before, however, Capricorn, Scorpio, and Cancer frowned.

During their previous trade with Fang Mu, he did not mention needing Shadow Eye Stones and High-level Blood Tribe Hearts.

Over the past week, they had found quite a few.

Yet they had already traded with him once and by all accounts should wait in line.

Perhaps they could utilize this week to gather more Shadow Eye Stones, High-level Blood Tribe Hearts and the complete Blood Race corpses that Fang Mu just mentioned.

If Fang Mu needed Dragon Pearl Fragments, they were willing to search for them and trade their own collections.

To acquire a Dragon Pearl one must kill a Sequential Dragon Beast.

Sequential Dragon Beasts will not obediently stand by to be attacked and when killed, it is challenging to obtain an intact Dragon Pearl.

An intact Dragon Pearl is more precious than a Life Elixir with a purity of ninety-two percent.

Only a fool would make unjustifiable deals.

Soon Fang Mu completed the exchange of resources with Virgo, Gemini, and Aries through the trade of Life Elixirs.

Now, Fang Mu had forty-five Shadow Eye Stones, two hundred and sixty Vampire Duke Hearts, ninety-four Archduke Hearts, fifty-seven Prince Hearts, and nearly five hundred Blood Race Earl Hearts.

Fang Mu truly felt the sensation of becoming wealthy.

After completing the final trade with Shui Miao, Fang Mu addressed him.

“Aquarius, I want to get a Sequential Spiritual Instrument customized from you.”

“I encountered some danger earlier, and my master gave me three bottles of Life Elixirs with a purity of ninety-four percent as a deposit.”

“I wonder if you would be willing to refine it for me?”

“Since my master is in retreat and cannot help me select, you’ll have to prepare the spiritual materials.”

“At that time, I will pay you using Spiritual Liquid.”

Fang Mu had only spoken a few sentences throughout the entire Starwheel gathering.

Yet these few sentences had twice refreshed everyone’s understanding.

In their minds, Qixing’s lower limit had risen from an Intermediate Creation Zenith Master to a Senior Creation Zenith Master.

As a Forging Spirit Grandmaster, any spiritual instrument Shui Miao casually refines could cause a sensation at an auction. He wouldn’t take on custom jobs.

But with Fang Mu willing to spend three bottles of Life Elixirs with a purity of ninety-four percent as a deposit, there was no reason for Shui Miao to refuse.

Shui Miao was the first Starwheel member to meet Fang Mu.

He had never met Qixing, the master creator in person, so one could say that Fang Mu symbolized Qixing.

Having witnessed Fang Mu himself, Shui Miao had a favorable impression of this confident and composed young man.

Qixing trusted Fang Mu so much that he didn’t feel the need to meet them in person.

Under these circumstances, Fang Mu could have chosen not to give him that Life Elixir with a purity of ninety-two percent.

But Fang Mu didn't abuse Qixing's trust, which is why Qixing was willing to use such a high-purity Life Elixir to forge a spiritual instrument for him.

Qixing letting Fang Mu choose him also indicated his trust in him.

Smiling, Shui Miao said.

"I'm not in Dragon Rising Federation at the moment, but I'll be back in a week."

"I'll give you a number to contact me when I get there, then we can decide where to meet."

"You don't have to worry about the spiritual materials, but since it's a spiritual instrument tailored for you, your opinion is the most important."

"During the time I design the spiritual instrument, I'll stay by your side; maybe I'll even have the chance to see Golden Bull."

"It's been decades since I've seen Golden Bull privately."

Fang Mu noted the phone number Shui Miao gave him. Golden Bull also left his phone number for him.

They both planned to contact him like Shui Miao, once they reached Dragon Rising Federation.

Initially, everyone didn't plan to trade a complete Dragon Pearl with Fang Mu, but once they saw the Life Elixirs he used in the transaction with Shui Miao, they changed their minds.

Frequent resource exchanges would consume a large amount of energy within the Starwheel gathering, shortening its duration.

After trading with Fang Mu, the Starwheel gathering ended completely without much further discussion.

Returning to reality, Fang Mu was not in a hurry to use these high-level Blood Tribe Hearts and Shadow Eye Stones.

Both upgrading the Blood of Abundance and the Fool's Shadow had caused unusual phenomena last time, so it wasn't suitable for Fang Mu to do so now.

Fang Mu organized his supplies, calmly waiting for the arrival of the "Dragon Mother" in JA City.

About half an hour had passed in reality after Fang Mu's participation in the Starwheel gathering.

Once Fang Mu left his room, Hu Tao, accompanied by She Wan, was just finishing her meal.

Upon seeing Fang Mu, She Wan hurriedly said to him.

"Master, there's a Mr. Red in Jinghai Tianyu University, this situation is not good."

"Wen Heng, one of the Thirty-Six Scholars of the Purple Que School Palace, has certainly been killed in an ambush by Mr. Red."

"Another scholar, Shu Yue's Guardian Beast, has been critically injured."

"With Shu Yue present, my Silver Void Purple Spider will not be targeted by Mr. Red, but I dare not openly clear the Alien Beast Wave now."

Chapter 364: Blue Burn Flame Region_3

“Once Mr. Red targets the Silver Void Purple Spider and attacks it...”

“He will divert his attention here through the psychic connection of the Silver Void Purple Spider.”

Sweat began to seep from She Wan’s forehead as she spoke.

She Wan had thought that even without her help, the two scholars from the Purple Que School Palace in Jinghai Tianyu University would be enough to dominate the situation.

The two Mr. Grays at Jinghai Tianyu University had already been killed by the two scholars.

However, just as she thought the situation was about to be settled, the hidden Mr. Red made a move.

This Mr. Red could really keep his cool. The deaths of the two Mr. Grays didn’t seem to matter to him at all.

But it was exactly because this Mr. Red could keep his calm that he was able to strike a devastating blow, killing the scholar who was almost equal in strength to him.

He also severely injured another scholar who was completely unprepared.

Upon hearing She Wan’s words, Fang Mu cast a worried glance towards Jinghai Tianyu University.

But Fang Mu had no solution to the current predicament at this moment.

“Sister Wan, secretly distribute these medical supplies.”

“And give a message to those Sequential powerhouses who are not targeted by Mr. Red, and ask them to hold on for a longer time.”

“Your Silver Void Purple Spider is skilled in moving in the void dimension, use it to deliver the medical supplies from my spatial equipment to various shelters and refuge buildings outside, try not to be noticed by the Evil Heart Sect warriors and high-level beasts.”

Upon hearing Fang Mu’s words, She Wan accepted the two pieces of spatial equipment that Fang Mu handed her and nodded.

“Young master, don’t worry. Even a Sequential beast of level five may not be faster than the Silver Void Purple Spider in the chaotic void.”

She Wan, born into the prominent Lu Dushe family, has always held the belief that the greatest priority of the elite families in face of crisis is self-protection.

For the top families, the advent of a disaster is not necessarily a bad thing.

As long as they ensure the disaster is not aimed at themselves, the aftermath will inevitably weaken their competitors.

Which essentially means that it indirectly enhances their own strength.

She Wan had been taught this from a young age, but much of her thinking shifted after joining Starwheel.

Fang Mu’s actions earned her heartfelt admiration.

As a superior grandmaster disciple, he had a heart filled with sympathy for the world.

There is indeed a happiness in being the guard of such a person, at least with him, she didn’t have to worry about betraying her conscience one day.

Fang Mu took out all the medical supplies he had hoarded for this disaster in JA city.

He was contributing to his hometown in his own way.

The thirty-six scholars from the Purple Que School Palace were all important figures in Hu Tao's eyes.

The Beastmaster High School of Jinghai could only invite a scholar for the speech at its 120th anniversary gala.

The thirty-six scholars in the Purple Que School Palace only ranked second to the eight record judges.

Hu Tao never thought that she would hear the news of a scholar's death.

Seeing the worry and fear on Hu Tao's face, Fang Mu reassured her.

"That Mr. Red must have bypassed the beast he had a pact with and attacked the scholar directly to be able to kill a scholar."

"Even a Sequential powerhouse cannot change the fact that they are more vulnerable if they are caught off guard."

"The other scholar only had one beast severely injured, so it's impossible for this scholar to only have one beast."

"So this scholar should be able to withstand Mr. Red unless he's willing to be seriously injured, otherwise, it will be very difficult for him to kill the remaining scholar."

Fang Mu's words eased Hu Tao's worries a lot, but Fang Mu's own heart became even heavier.

The presence of a Mr. Gray in Jinghai Yu Beast High School alone made Fang Mu feel that the Evil Heart Sect was making too much noise.

There is a Mr. Red in Jinghai Tianyu University, and Mr. Red has at least a level six beast.

How strong is the powerhouse arranged by the Evil Heart Sect in the Sweepers Division?

No wonder the incinerator of the cleaners had issues.

For a moment, Fang Mu even wondered if the Dragon Mother would really be able to control the situation if she arrived.

As time ticked away, Fang Mu stood in front of the balcony and gazed into the distance, feeling the intense energy fluctuations coming from Jinghai Tianyu University.

Looking at the time, Fang Mu thought to himself, "It's about time for the dragon chant to sound."

Just as he thought this, the blue sky over the whole city of JA was suddenly filled with red color.

This red color was like a flame lit on cotton, igniting the sky above JA city in an instant.

The glowing red clouds were continuously vaporized, and the sky was like a red purgatory.

A domineering dragon chant exploded between heaven and earth.

"I was wondering why there's been a communication failure in JA all this time, Evil Heart Sect, you guys are awfully audacious, even daring to target our Dragon Rising Federation!"

"Crimson Armor, use the Blue Burn Flame Region to cleanse the whole city of JA, start by killing all these beasts!"

With this compassionate voice full of sympathy, Fang Mu couldn't even see the dragon beast known as Crimson Armor, but he noticed that the ground beneath his feet was burning with crimson flames.

The crimson flames did not scorch him, nor did they damage any furniture in the main house.

However, through She Wan's report, Fang Mu learned that the beasts rampaging in the city of JA were all turned into ashes under the crimson flames.

Not a single beast remained in the whole city of JA, even in the sewers, basements, or abandoned factories in the old city.

Red flames were swirling in the sky, burning the Dimensional Rift that was still pouring out monsters.

The Dimensional Rift seemed to have turned into a pocket, and all the beasts pouring out from the pocket were like being thrown into an incinerator.

Before even reaching the ground, they turned into flames in the air and disappeared.

With the burning of the crimson flames, all the toxins in the monsters body also disappeared without causing any environmental damage as they turned into flames.

This was one of the reasons why Dragon Mother was qualified to serve as the Sweepers' Flower Bishop.

With just one move, Dragon Mother turned the defensive battle into a fight to pound the invading powerhouses.

Feng Lin, who was confronting two Mr. Reds in the Cleaner Division, Shu Yue, who was confronting a Mr. Red at Jinghai Tianyu University, as well as a group of Sequential powerhouses, all took a sigh of relief.

Shu Yue looked at the man in front of her who wore a Thorn Crown, a broken heart on the crown, and a red robe, and said,

"I remember you just asked me if I was afraid of dying here, and my answer is no!"

“Now I want to ask you the same thing, are you scared?”

Chapter 365: Pierce through it, Eulogy Holy Spear!_1

“Dragon Mother will surely end your pathetic lives!”

Shu Yue’s eyes turned a fiery red as she spoke.

Wen Heng and Shu Yue may not have been childhood friends, but they were high school classmates, having known each other for over seventy years.

In those seventy-plus years, both had risen from One-point Stars Beast Masters to Six-Polar Star. Together, they joined the Purple Que School Palace fifty years ago.

Both subsequently became scholars of Purple Que School Palace.

They had just gotten engaged a year ago, and family and friends had celebrated for them alike.

Wen Heng and Shu Yue looked forward to entering the hall of marriage together under the witness of their loved ones and building their own family.

Starting a new academic year at Jinghai Tianyu University and delivering a speech, sharing the good wishes of Purple Que School Palace to the students, was supposed to be easy work for the pair.

But they ended up getting embroiled in the Evil Heart Sect’s scheme against JA City.

When Wen Heng died, Shu Yue was too busy defending against Mr. Red’s sneak attack from the shadows to spare a thought to collect Wen Heng’s remains.

As scholars of Purple Que School Palace, they should have stood up to face such a catastrophe. Shu Yue was willing to sacrifice herself for this.

However, her willingness to sacrifice herself was entirely different from being able to accept Wen Heng's death.

The man in the red robe and thorn crown, Mr. Red, had a carefree smile on his face.

By killing a scholar of the Purple Que School Palace, his reputation within the Red Mist Squad would undoubtedly increase.

When the internal ranking of the Red Mist Squad came out, his own ranking would likely rise a few places.

Also, he could use the body of the dead scholar as his trophy.

Once a Beast Master dies, their Guardian Beasts immediately die too.

If Mr. Red could take these intact Sequential Beast corpses back to the organization and hand them over to the Church Servant, he might be rewarded with an Evil Fetus Seed.

With the Evil Fetus Seed, his Ghost Device could morph into a sequential hacker. Who knows, he might even be absorbed into the Church Group one day.

Only by joining the Church Group could one truly become a core member of the Evil Heart Sect.

This operation was meticulously planned and seemed perfect.

Why would Dragon Mother appear in JA City!?

Wasn't Dragon Mother supposed to stay at the Scavenger's headquarters? Has there been a traitor within the Evil Heart Sect, revealing the plans?

That can't be right!

If the Dragon Rising Federation knew about it, they wouldn't allow the Evil Heart Sect to cause massive destruction within JA City.

If Dragon Mother had made an early deployment in JA City, she wouldn't have waited until now to act.

The arrival of Dragon Mother signaled the end of the Evil Heart Sect's plans for JA City and the only thing left for Mr. Red to do: flee.

He had at least to survive under Dragon Mother's watchful eyes.

Thinking of this, Mr. Red, who had just made his appearance in the sky above Jinghai Tianyu University, prepared to flee.

However, to his horror, he found the space around him turn into a mire, trapping him in place.

"Afraid now are we!? Running away after killing Wen Heng, I will stake my life on not letting you leave!"

"You will pay with your life for killing Wen Heng!"

As she spoke, a Pegasus with three pairs of wings appeared beneath Shu Yue.

The Pegasus was of the same size as a regular horse, but its three pairs of wings were cloud-like and constantly changing shape.

Each wing was at least twice the size of the horse's body.

The Pegasus flapped its cloud wings, let out a neigh, and the flowing clouds in the sky immediately morphed into chains, trapping Mr. Red's gigantic ink-colored jellyfish beside him.

Each of the jellyfish's tentacles were tightly bound by the cloud chains.

In Shu Yue's hands was a pair of double-edged dark gold long spears. The front was spiral-shaped, clearly showing a strong piercing power.

Shu Yue screamed defiantly.

"Pierce it, Eulogy Holy Spear!"

"Cloud Top Wing Colt, use your special feature Cloud Thousand Rivers to catch both of them!"

"Unless you can tread over my dead body within a short time, both of you are going to accompany Wen Heng in death!"

At this point, Mr. Red started to panic. While it was possible for him to kill this scholar, it would take him at least ten minutes; a luxury he couldn't afford under Dragon Mother's watchful eyes.

Dragon Mother's Crimson Armor had deployed the Blue Burn Flame Region. The red flames that were moving about on the ground had now locked onto Mr. Red after eliminating the mutated beasts and were approaching him.

The flowing flames in the sky converged right above Mr. Red, slowly taking on the form of a fierce dragon's head.

Getting marked by the blazing flame from Dragon Mother's Main Battle Mystic Beast translated to Dragon Mother locking on to one's location.

As long as they were within the area of Jing Hai Province, they would remain under Dragon Mother's radar.

With the approaching Eulogy Holy Spear, Mr. Red hastily summoned his Ghost Device and another Styx Ghost Mother.

When facing a blow dealt by a scholar in anger, Mr. Red couldn't dismiss it lightly.

Despite the Eulogy Holy Spear being a mid-tier Sequential Spiritual Instrument and not a Ghost Device, it had a penetrating effect that could bypass defenses

Amidst the clouds congregating around him, transforming into one cloud swamp after another, Mr. Red's two Styx Ghost Mothers entwined their dark silky tendrils together.

Since the Eulogy Holy Spear had a penetrating effect, the best way to hinder it was to use their bodies as a shield and resist the force of the spear.

Chapter 366: Pierce through it, Eulogy Holy Spear!_2

The Styx Ghost Mother, as a sequential, dual-system Guardian Beast of water and darkness, is the ancestor of playing with water, and Cloud Thousand Rivers relies on the Chains formed by the clouds and fog to bind it.

The main composition of the clouds and fog are water elements, which don't exert much control over the two Styx Ghost Mothers.

It is the Shuttle Space Stag which confined their motions by creating a spatial quagmire.

Although both Mr. Red and Mr. Gray use the same kind of "seam", their ranks are very different.

Mr. Gray's "seam" measures up to the seventh sequential level, while Mr. Red's "seam" reaches the sixth rank.

The life span of a sixth sequential level and that of a seventh level are entirely different.

“Seams” can appear in many forms. The primary form of a “seam” is significantly related to the type of Guardian Beast corpses consumed by it.

The “seam” confiscated by Fang Mu from Mr. Gray had taken the shape of a clump of shapeless flesh.

However, Mr. Red’s “seam” had taken the form of a strange bird with several bird beaks on its head and tentacles coiled around its wings.

The bird-shaped “seam” shot towards Shu Yue’s Shuttle Space Stag like lightning when it was summoned.

Shu Yue didn’t care about Mr. Red’s attack, even if it meant that the Cloud Top Wing Colt would crash into the bird-shaped “seam”.

Even if it meant injuring herself, she intended to ensure the safety of the Shuttle Space Stag and not leave Mr. Red unattended.

Mr. Red, unable to escape after the initial exchange, became utterly frantic.

Simultaneously, crimson flames erupted from beneath the ground, burning the bodies of the two Styx Ghost Mothers.

The flames did not roast the Styx Ghost Mothers’ black ribbon-like tentacles, nor did they cause them to crackle and release oil or burn into charcoal like real fire would.

The fire streaked across the bodies of the two Styx Ghost Mothers and formed into a massive dragon head.

Both of the Styx Ghost Mothers, each hundreds of meters long, were held within the dragon's mouth as if they were a delicious snack ready to be swallowed at any moment.

It was at the moment Mr. Red was so mentally traumatized by the deaths of the two Styx Ghost Mothers that he clutched his head, that the dragon head exploded with a powerful energy fluctuation.

A giant red dragon, its body protected by red crystal armor that stretched over a kilometer, appeared on the grounds of Jinghai Tianyu University.

A gentle flick of its tail thrusts both Mr. Red and his "seam", whose strength was comparable to a sixth rank Guardian Beast, onto the solid stone pavement.

Mr. Red did not die, but was locked up in a tight cage formed of red flames.

It was evident that the Dragon Mother intended to spare Mr. Red's life to extract vital information from him.

As a member of the Evil Heart Sect's Red Mist Squad, he was qualified to know the purpose of their attack on JA city.

Fang Mu watched the awe-inspiring and colossal red dragon from his mansion's balcony.

Fang Mu acutely noticed that the red dragon's left foot, which had just stepped on the "seam", was missing one toe.

This red dragon had clearly been through countless battles.

Fang Mu dared not use his unique characteristic-[Ash-Dyed End] against such experienced beasts.

After dealing with the experts of the Evil Heart Sect within Jinghai Tianyu University, the red flames wrapped themselves around the signature Guardian Beast of the Dragon Mother, Crimson Armor.

Crimson Armor was transported to the dragon head made of fire in the distance.

The Dragon Mother must have resolved the Scavengers' problems to send Crimson Armor to aid Jinghai Tianyu University.

The temperature in the air notably dropped at this moment.

If the Evil Heart Sect still had any strong forces, they would be guarding the most crucial battlefield-the Cleaner Division.

Since the conflict at the Cleaner Division was resolved, it meant that the Evil Heart Sect didn't send anyone stronger than Mr. Red for this attack on JA city.

Fang Mu turned to find Hu Tao gazing in the direction where Crimson Armor had disappeared with awe and yearning in her eyes, and he calmly said to her,

"Hu Tao, you can treat this giant dragon as your goal to strive for."

"One day, your Iron-winged Sparrow will also possess such tremendous power."

"Now, there are no more strange beasts in JA city. I'll have He Qing take you to your parents!"

"I don't think the school will start anytime soon, you can stay home and cultivate for a while."

"But don't forget to study."

"In the last year of Senior three, many dark horses will surge ahead. You'll fall behind if you don't study during this period."

Hearing this, Hu Tao nodded firmly.

“I will work hard to enter Jinghai Tianyu University. I want to join your team then!”

After sending Hu Tao away, Fang Mu said to She Wan,

“You go get ready too. We will be visiting the Dragon Mother at the Cleaner Division together.”

Fang Mu was going to meet the Dragon Mother with various designations this time.

Firstly, Fang Mu is an official member of the Scavengers, a prodigy who has broken the Scavenger’s record.

Secondly, Fang Mu is an apprentice of a Senior Creation Zenith Master. Feng Lin has not hesitated to trade resources with him recently.

Many of the resources Feng Lin had traded away had likely ended up in the hands of the three Bishops Flowers.

The Dragon Mother’s purpose in visiting the Cleaner Division was to meet Fang Qin and decide whether to accept her as a disciple or not.

Fang Mu was going to visit the Dragon Mother more as Fang Qin’s brother to endorse his sister.

She Wan was extremely excited to hear Fang Mu’s words.

Chapter 367: Pierce through it, Eulogy Holy Spear!_3

The She Family might be a wealthy and powerful clan in Lu City, but they rarely had the opportunity to interact with a figure like the Dragon Mother.

She Wan was very grateful to Fang Mu for giving her an opportunity to meet the Dragon Mother as a follower.

She quickly started to get ready, preparing to change into a more low-key and formal outfit.

In front of the Dragon Mother, She Wan had to maintain her status as a younger generation.

Fang Mu wore a new school uniform. Wearing a school uniform to meet the Dragon Mother surely wouldn't be inappropriate.

Ever since he had been masquerading as a Grandmaster Creator, Fang Mu had never had an opportunity to meet a great personage like the Dragon Mother.

Fang Mu's mind received a surge of creativity.

He was accustomed to achieving his goals through acting and now was the critical time to test Fang Mu's acting skills.

Fang Mu initially considered preparing some gifts to emphasise the importance he placed on this meeting with the Dragon Mother.

However, after some deep thought, he discarded this idea.

He was merely an average junior in front of the Dragon Mother, and it was reasonable for his fabricated Master Qixing to be kind to him.

Starting the Jianmu Commerce Association to establish fundamental business, with Fang Yuan's assistance, was also to help himself.

But, if he were to prepare gifts, then it would imply that Master Qixing was excessively concerned about Fang Qin and wished the Dragon Mother to accept Fang Qin as a disciple.

Such behavior wouldn't make any sense.

Dragon Mother wouldn't feel anything at present, but once she reflected on it, she would certainly harbor doubts.

And that wouldn't do Fang Mu any good.

Ultimately, whether or not Fang Qin would become a disciple of the Dragon Mother depends on if the Dragon Mother found Fang Qin sufficiently promising. It wasn't a matter of decorum for Qixing, that would allow Dragon Mother to reluctantly accept Fang Qin.

In the former scenario, the Dragon Mother would develop Fang Qin whole-heartedly, sparing no expense to cultivate Fang Qin.

But in the latter scenario, the Dragon Mother would become less and less invested in Fang Qin.

If the Dragon Mother did not have favour for Fang Qin, there's no need for Fang Qin to insist on becoming her disciple.

With Fang Mu providing the resources of a high-ranked Grandmaster Creator, Fang Qin would inevitably grow, even without becoming a disciple of the Dragon Mother.

For this meeting with the Dragon Mother, he simply needed to behave as a youngster.

Last time while competing with Yi Han for the Sakura Tempering Carp, he had brought out the Life Elixir with a purity of ninety-four percent, raising the prowess of his behind-the-scenes Master.

The Dragon Mother would certainly like to establish good relationships with Fang Mu's Master. Otherwise, she wouldn't be in such a rush this time.

If she simply wanted to choose outstanding talents from the Jinghai Army, those talents would be collectively presented to the Dragon Mother for her selection.

If Dragon Mother travelled to each city, she would have no time to do other things.

Since Fang Mu planned to leave JA City to gain experience and no longer stay in there as before, he no longer needed to maintain his low profile.

Fang Mu had Yin Nan Zhen drive him, along with She Wan, to the Cleaner Division in his car with three Fiery Hellhounds.

Fang Mu made a special call to Feng Lin on the way.

The call was quickly connected and Feng Lin's voice came through, sounding somewhat anxious.

"Fang Mu, are you hurt?"

"I heard from Dragon Mother that the situation at Jinghai High for Beast Masters was already taken care of. The people from the Evil Heart Sect have been cleaned out."

Feng Lin's concern was genuine.

Over the months spent with Fang Mu, Feng Lin had grown increasingly fond of this diligent, low-key young man.

During this time, Feng Lin was constantly helping Fang Yuan, Fang Qin and Yan Wood to create spiritual instruments.

Through the care that Fang Mu showed for his siblings, one could see that he was a person who valued relationships greatly.

Thanks to consistently receiving Grandmaster-level Creator resources from Fang Mu, Feng Lin, a Green Screen Knight of middling rank, was receiving more and more attention from the three Bishops Flowers.

Feng Lin had decided to latch onto Fang Mu and see how far he could go.

Feng Lin hoped that once Fang Mu grew up, he would participate in the World University Championship and win the laurel that the Dragon Rising Federation had not obtained in many years.

“Aunt Fang, I’m not hurt, so don’t worry!”

“I’m on my way to the Cleaner Division right now. Once I’m there, I’ll come straight to your office to find you!”

Knowing this, Feng Lin felt relieved. It seemed Fang Mu must have had a strong person alongside him.

Someone powerful around Fang Mu had taken care of the crisis at the Jinghai Beastmaster High School.

“Come on, I’ll be waiting for you in the office.”

“Dragon Mother is currently dealing with a hidden powerful member of the Evil Heart Sect in JA city and won’t arrive until later.”

“I’ve just contacted the Jinghai Army and arranged for Assistant Corps Leader Luo Su to bring your sister Fang Qin over to the Cleaner Division.”

“It should take them roughly an hour to arrive given the Jinghai Army’s speed. Your sibling and you will be able to see each other soon!”

Feng Lin knew that after a disaster that struck the whole JA City, the people one would most want to see would be their family members in the same city.

She had previously confirmed from Fang Mu that the Dragon Mother was seeking disciples.

Luo Su didn't expect Fang Mu to act so quickly and attract the attention of the Dragon Mother towards Fang Qin.

Feng Lin understood Fang Qin's strength. A platinum-ranked Iron Trident Carp was not up to much.

The Frost Language Snow Dragon was not bad. The Dragon Mother, however, had seen many excellent Dragon Beasts.

Without any cultivation, Frost Language Snow Dragon would just barely enter Dragon Mother's sight.

Fang Mu was eager to bring Fang Qin to the Dragon Mother's attention, but as the assistant corps leader of the Jinghai Army, Luo Su wasn't going to let Fang Mu bring an unprepared Fang Qin before the Dragon Mother.

After all, Fang Qin was selected from the Jinghai Army, so Fang Qin's Beastmaster must have been improved.

Feng Lin was curious about the extent of the improvement of Fang Qin's Beastmaster for Fang Mu and Luo Su to have such confidence in him.

From Feng Lin's understanding of the Dragon Mother, the Dragon Mother wouldn't arbitrarily accept disciples just for the sake of building good relationships with Fang Mu and thus gaining access to the Grandmaster Creator behind him.

Dragon Mother's requirements for disciples were very stringent; otherwise, she wouldn't have spent so long without determining a suitable candidate.

Ever since the Dragon Mother made her intentions of seeking disciples known, all the family elites of the Dragon Soaring Federation had been trying all means to present their golden sons and daughters before the Dragon Mother for her to choose!

But the Dragon Mother just did not seem to be interested in any.

This just showed how high Dragon Mother's standards for her disciples were!

Chapter 368: The Dragon Mother's Test!_1

"Dragon Mother" has such high expectations for her disciples, Luo Su could understand that.

With Mo Shang, the grandson of the "Dragon Mother", as a shining example, "Dragon Mother" would naturally compare any potential disciples with Mo Shang.

There were very few peers of Mo Shang in the Dragon Rising Federation who could compare to him.

If it weren't the case, Mo Shang wouldn't have been the one representing the Dragon Rising Federation in the World College Beast Master Competition.

The reason Mo Shang possesses such strength, even leading amongst the younger generation in the Dragon Rising Federation, is partly because his spiritual power displayed mutation since childhood.

His highly sensitive spiritual power makes it easier for Mo Shang to sense mystic patterns, and to forge contracts with more Guardian Beasts than the average person.

Mo Shang is in affinity with Dragon Beasts and is not confined to a specific element.

This broad direction of affinity for Guardian Beasts offers Mo Shang a multitude of choices.

On the other hand, a Beast Master's strength does not entirely depend on their innate talent. Talent only accounts for thirty percent or even less of a Beast Master's achievement.

Cultivating Beasts requires a large amount of resources from the Creators, with high demands on both quantity and quality.

Using purer Elemental Energy in daily Beast cultivation can improve the Beast's affinity for elements, resulting in stronger skills after the Beast's advancement.

This was initially a hypothesis proposed by scholars, but it has gradually been corroborated.

This caused the cultivation of Beasts to deviate from its original direction, that solely focused on using high-purity elemental energy for guidance during the Beast's advancement.

This tremendously increased the Beast Master's consumption of Creator resources, resulting in varying degrees of Beast cultivation.

The strength of a Beast Master directly affects their status.

"Dragon Mother" loves her grandson dearly, and therefore, Mo Shang's Beasts were all cultivated with resources provided by Master Creators.

This makes it difficult for ordinary influential children to compete with Mo Shang.

However, if Fang Mu was willing to provide Fang Qin with resources from a Grandmaster Creator, Fang Qin could possibly compare with Mo Shang.

Interestingly, Fang Qin's direction of Beast affinity is quite similar to Mo Shang's.

While Mo Shang has an affinity with all Dragon Beasts, Fang Qin has an affinity with Aquatic Sovereign Beasts.

Among the Aquatic Sovereign Beasts, Fang Qin chose the Dragon Beasts, thus, he will mainly command Water-attributed Dragon Beasts in the future.

Although Mo Shang is in affinity with all types of Dragon Beasts, he particularly loves Fire-attributed Dragon Beasts.

Due to personal preferences that limit the advantages of his talent, Fang Qin and Mo Shang possess similar prospects in terms of contracting Dragon Beasts – one contracts with Water series Dragon Race, the other with the Fire series Dragon Race.

The perfectly contrasting Fire and Water make Luo Su sense a kind of chemistry between them.

Mo Shang is not young anymore, and descendants of top forces usually do not marry too late.

Previously, all the top families brought their young female relatives to “Dragon Mother”, hoping that they could be chosen as disciples or even captivate Mo Shang’s heart to become his wife.

In any world, at any time, solidifying one’s power through marriage and bloodline exchange is always the best method.

If Fang Qin could truly become a disciple of “Dragon Mother” and be around Mo Shang every day, sparks might fly.

Fang Qin is in his late twenties and it’s about time for him to consider life’s big event.

At this thought, Feng Lin quickly shook her head, driving away the strange idea from her mind.

Just as Feng Lin was about to verify the losses that the Qingdao Branch of Jinghai Province inflicted by the Evil Heart Sect, Fang Mu stepped into her office.

Feng Lin glanced at Fang Mu, and after confirming that Fang Mu was not injured, she immediately poured him a cup of Calming Tea.

Feng Lin was no stranger to She Wan, who had visited the Cleaner Division on behalf of Fang Mu several times and was familiar with Feng Lin.

If She Wan visited her office alone, Feng Lin would definitely serve her tea.

But now, She Wan came with Fang Mu, serving as his guard.

If Feng Lin offered She Wan tea at this time, not only would She Wan refuse, but she would also scold her.

Therefore, Feng Lin didn't offer She Wan any extra hospitality.

"The headquarters need me to report the loss as soon as possible, so I'm going to verify the reported losses first."

"Please sit down and wait for a bit."

While speaking, Feng Lin handed the four Platinum Spiritual Instruments to Fang Mu.

These four dual-attribute Platinum Spiritual Instruments were crafted by Feng Lin, the Spirit Forging Master, for Fang Qin, Fang Yuan, and Yan Wood.

Fang Mu inspected the functions of these four Spiritual Instruments. Upon inspection, every instrument turned out to be top-class.

To ensure the durability of the Spiritual Instruments, Feng Lin purposefully added Meteor Gold, a spiritual material that is only added to Sequential Spiritual Instruments, into these four Platinum Spiritual Instruments.

This alone is enough to reveal the amount of thought Feng Lin has put into this.

Feng Lin looked over the files containing the initial loss estimates, calculating the required repair funds – using repair funds to determine losses is the best way.

The more she calculated, the tenser Feng Lin's eyebrows became.

The two Mr. Reds from the Evil Heart Sect who were at odds with her did not cause a lot of damage, they only broke the interior wall of the incinerator.

But apart from these Evil Heart Sect experts who she had passionately rebuked, the damage caused by the exotic beasts was far more severe.

Almost all the buildings on the outskirts of the Cleaner Division were destroyed by the exotic beasts, and many of the Cleaner Division's trainee members and regular members were attacked by the beast to varying degrees.

The preliminary estimate of casualties showed that the affected area alone covered more than one and a half million people.

Chapter 369: Dragon Mother's Test! _2

Once a family loses adult labor, it can have serious effects on the family's operation.

The Cleaner Division definitely can't sit idly by, they need to provide funds to address the issue.

With a reported loss of 90 billion Dragon Rising Coins, the Sanitation Workers Headquarters could only provide 60 billion Dragon Rising Coins for post-disaster reconstruction.

The remaining 30 billion would have to be secured by themselves.

As a Spirit Forging Master, Feng Lin should have ample funds.

However, Feng Lin had invested all her savings into research on Vine Beasts, hoping to cultivate special Vine Beasts to remediate polluted lands.

Even if Feng Lin hadn't been cultivating these Vine Beasts, she couldn't possibly fund the gap with her own money.

The more Feng Lin thought about it, the more worried she became. Suddenly, she thought of Fang Mu, who was sitting in front of her.

Feng Lin tentatively asked Fang Mu.

“Fang Mu, how much money can you provide? I would like to negotiate a deal on behalf of the JingHai Province’s Cleaner Division.”

Feng Lin’s intention to draw on Fang Mu was not to take advantage of him.

Many resources collected by the Cleaner Division could be discounted to Fang Mu.

The 30 billion funding gap was too large. If they were to go to the coastal merchants and other established forces in Jinghai Province, somewhat like the Coastal Merchants would definitely be willing to help.

However, these forces are relatively greedy, and once they converted resources into financial aid, it would mean greater losses for the Cleaner Division.

Furthermore, such transactions would result in the Cleaner Division’s resources being exfiltrated to Jinghai Province.

Fang Mu was one of their own; swapping resources for capital with him would be tantamount to moving funds from the left hand to the right.

The Cleaner Division would retain control over the resources.

Fang Mu understood Feng Lin’s intention from the moment she spoke to him.

“Aunt Fang, I have some money, but it’s definitely not enough to make up for the Sanitation Worker’s Division’s losses in this disaster,”

Fang Mu said with a smile, before confidently continuing.

“Aunt Fang, even if I can’t provide all the money, I can provide some, depending on the amount you need.”

Feng Lin was relieved to see Fang Mu willing to help and directly stated the financing gap.

“At least 30 billion Dragon Rising Coins are needed to fill the gap,”

“There’s no hurry for this money, as long as you can scrape it together in two months!”

“I won’t expect this money from you for nothing, I will convert all the funds you supply into contribution points at each ten thousand Dragon Rising Coins,”

“You can use these contribution points to exchange for materials at the Merit Pavilion.”

Fang Mu’s eyes brightened at her words.

If exchanged at a rate of ten thousand Dragon Rising Coins per contribution point, 30 billion Dragon Rising Coins could provide him with three million contribution points.

Ever since Fang Mu visited the Merit Pavilion and saw the treasures within, he had been coveting many of the materials there.

However, having only been a part of the Cleaner Division for a little over two months, Fang Mu hadn’t managed to accumulate many contribution points.

Previously, when Fang Mu wanted to exchange for the Eden Greenfield, he had used Feng Lin's points, and he certainly couldn't always rely on Feng Lin to help him exchange for resources in the Merit Pavilion.

No matter how you look at it, the points of the Merit Pavilion are incomparable to Dragon Rising Coins.

In his last visit to the Merit Pavilion, Fang Mu had taken a fancy to a special beast called the Dust-eating worm.

The Dust-eating worm, an Earth System beast, feeds on dust.

After ingesting dust, Dust-eating worms build houses on their bodies out of hardened dust according to their preferences.

In several provinces in the northwest of the Dragon Rising Federation, there had once been a trend of guesthouses built from the dust on the backs of Dust-eating worms.

Fang Mu wasn't actually interested in the Dust-eating worm because of its abilities, but because after being induced by a large amount of pure spatial energy, the Dust-eating worm could potentially mutate when it evolved to legendary quality.

This mutation would give rise to a beast called the Abdominal Territory Worm.

Wild Abdominal Territory worms are equivalent to living, mobile castles.

Not only does the Abdominal Territory Worm retain the Dust-eating worm's ability to build houses on its back, but it also has a significantly larger space inside its abdomen.

The abdominal space of the Abdominal Territory Worm can be used to grow plants and breed animals.

The Abdominal Territory Worm supplies its internal animals and plants by absorbing nutrients through the walls of its abdominal cavity.

There are Dust-eating worms available within the Merit Pavilion of the Cleaner Division.

Fang Mu plans on purchasing the Dust-eating worm and inducing it to evolve into the Abdominal Territory Worm, then nurturing the Abdominal Territory Worm with Blood Aged Wine.

The Abdominal Territory Worm would then become the best vehicle for Fang Mu when he goes on field explorations.

Fang Mu could comfortably live on the back of the Abdominal Territory Worm while on an expedition.

Apart from the Abdominal Territory Worm, Fang Mu was also interested in a Mechanical Beast from the Merit Pavilion known as the Mechanism Fortress.

The Mechanism Fortress wasn't significantly different from the Ingenious Round Tent that Fang Mu previously used.

However, compared to the Ingenious Round Tent, the Mechanism Fortress had a much larger area.

The Ingenious Round Tent was just a small tent; even when it was upgraded to the gold level, it only took up about ten square meters.

The Mechanism Fortress, however, was the size of a small building even at the copper level and covered at least 800 square meters when it was upgraded to the gold level.

After purchasing the Mechanism Fortress, Fang Mu could place it within the abdominal cavity of the Abdominal Territory Worm.

This would provide Fang Mu with a stable living environment while on his expeditions, saving him from camping rough.

Unlike the relatively common Dust-eating worm, the Mechanism Fortress, a mechanical beast, is extremely rare.

Chapter 370: Dragon Mother's Trial!_3

Each Mechanical Beast like the Ingenious Round Tent costs over several million Dragon Rising Coins.

Compared to the Ingenious Round Tent, the rarity of the Mechanism Fortress is equivalent to the difference between a Grandmaster Creator and an ordinary person.

When the Mechanism Fortress appears on the battlefield during large-scale battles, it can immediately construct a large command center, holding immense strategic significance.

Missing out on the Mechanism Fortress in the Merit Pavilion of the Cleaner Division of Jinghai Province, Fang Mu might not even have a chance to see another one, let alone obtain it.

The Mechanism Fortress can be exchanged for 800,000 points of merit. If you have three million merit points, you can directly redeem it.

Subtracting the points used to exchange for the Dust-eating Worm, Fang Mu still has over two million points left. In the future, he can acquire anything he desires from the Merit Pavilion.

"Aunt Fang, I should be able to handle 30 billion Dragon Rising Coins in two months."

Feng Lin can apply for a large amount of funds from the Sanitation Workers Headquarters. With this money, she can maintain the division and provide benefits to the workers.

There's no rush for the 30 billion Dragon Rising Coins Fang Mu needs to raise.

The best way for Fang Mu to obtain Dragon Rising Coins is to release some Creator resources.

He can then use his existing channels to exchange these resources for capital.

Companies like Keystone Construction, Origin Construction, and Mountain Opening Construction all have a vast amount of capital stored up inside.

Forces with the craftsman's profession need to use this money to accumulate Spiritual materials.

If Fang Mu releases advanced Creator resources, Keystone Construction, Origin Construction, and Mountain Opening Construction would be more than willing to use their stockpiled funds.

Although grateful to Fang Mu, they would likewise strengthen their strategic partnership with him.

Apart from these three companies, Fang Mu's primary sources of capital will be the Yi Family and Chang Le Pavilion.

Compared to the other three construction companies, the Yi Family and Chang Le Pavilion have a much more prominent status and power.

The last time I visited the Yi Family, Yi Han was very considerate towards me.

If Yi Han had any reservations towards me, he wouldn't have let me successfully trade the three Ember Burning Cranes, which were about to merge.

Chang Le Pavilion is currently awaiting my response.

If I establish cooperation and trading relations with Chang Le Pavilion in the future, it will undoubtedly deepen the relationship between them and myself.

Feng Lin knows better than to allow resources to leak out of the Cleaner Division, and so does Fang Mu.

Fang Mu will try to ensure that the resources of the Founding Sect, which flow out from his hands, are used in the interest group centered on him to increase the overall energy of his interest group.

It allows him to benefit from the transactions.

Feng Lin felt utterly relieved after hearing Fang Mu's response.

"Since it's a special period, the Merit Pavilion has been temporarily closed by me. It will reopen in three days."

"When you leave, I'll give you a catalog of the resources in the Merit Pavilion. You select the ones you want and inform me."

"I will hand over the resources you chose to you before the Merit Pavilion reopens and will modify the catalog accordingly."

As she spoke, Feng Lin looked at the time and saw that nearly an hour had passed since Fang Mu had arrived.

Fang Qin and Dragon Mother should have arrived by now.

Not daring to call Dragon Mother casually, Feng Lin told Fang Mu,

"Fang Mu, make a call to your elder sister."

"I contacted Luo Su an hour ago, and she said that they would arrive within an hour maximum. The time has passed."

Fang Mu had called Fang Qin before he received Feng Lin's call.

After confirming the safety of Fang Qin, he finally felt completely at ease.

Fang Qin said she would arrive at the cleaners' division within an hour.

Fang Mu thought to himself, could something have really gone wrong?

Dragon Mother is in JA City right now, and the Alien Beasts that flooded out from the Dimensional Rift have all been cleared by the Bug Mother. There should be no danger in the city now.

The call from Fang Mu was answered by Fang Qin right before it ended.

"Little Wood, I am currently carrying out a task that I just received, clearing the Alien Beast wave with my squadron."

"I will give you a call when I have completed the task."

With that, Fang Qin hung up.

On hearing about the task, Fang Mu felt a frown immediately creasing his brows. He relayed the situation to Feng Lin.

On hearing this, Feng Lin got an idea and said with a smile.

"If I'm not mistaken, these mutant beasts should have been deliberately released by Dragon Mother."

"Dragon Mother probably wants to assess Fang Qin and get a measure of her overall strength."

"Otherwise, with Dragon Mother's Crimson Armor around, there is no way any mutant beasts could exist in the entire JA City under the protection of the Blue Burn Flame Region."

With a sigh, Feng Lin added.

“Thankfully, because of you and Fang Qin, Dragon Mother made a trip here.”

“Without even considering whether the entire JA City would continue to exist under the Evil Heart Sect’s plot, even if JA City eventually wins, the city area polluted by the mutant beasts would not recover easily.”

“All the people in JA City would have to move!”

As the deputy commander of the Jinghai Army, Luo Su also thought of this possibility, knowing that it was most likely a test from Dragon Mother for Fang Qin.

But Luo Su dared not alert Fang Qin because from the very beginning of this test, Dragon Mother’s gaze has been focused on Fang Qin.

Alerting Fang Qin would surely displease Dragon Mother.

This would be akin to openly meddling in Dragon Mother’s intent of accepting a disciple.

So, Luo Su could only silently observe Fang Qin, hoping that her performance could win Dragon Mother’s appreciation.

Luo Su had already seen the two Guardian Beasts that Fang Qin has right now.

Fang Qin had no problems regarding Guardian Beasts; otherwise, Dragon Mother would not have taken this trip.

What Dragon Mother is observing now is Fang Qin’s decision-making and execution abilities in battle.

Seeing the Demon Tide rushing towards them, Fang Qin immediately summoned Cangluan Ying Jiao.

The several tens of meters long Cangluan Ying Jiao flapped its powerful wings and soared up but did not hover high above.

Instead, it allowed its body to be protected by a few other Flying Beasts in the squad.

Under Fang Qin's command, Cangluan Ying Jiao coiled up its undulating body, and the diamond level skill [Jing Canghai] was immediately activated.

Large amounts of Earth and Water Elemental Energy transformed into a sea domain, enveloping the squad Fang Qin was in.

All the Aquatic Sovereign Beasts in the squad were nourished and began to recover from their previous injuries.

A silver-haired elderly woman was standing on the rooftop of a high-rise building, watching all this.

Seeing Cangluan Ying Jiao's [Jing Canghai], a touch of laughter finally emerged from the elderly woman's sorrowful and grave eyes.
