Chapter 421: What is Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia!? _3

Xixi has always been very keen on feeding. Due to the high strength of the Giant Toothed Whale, Xixi is not so fast to clean the wound.

Fang Mu, with nothing better to do, took out the space series silver spiritual instrument that She Junjie handed over to him when he saw him.

When his spiritual power was probed into this space series silver spiritual instrument, he saw a letter placed in five or six cubic meters of space.

My side is also a space spirit tool that is the same as the one in my hand.

Seeing this, Fang Mu raised his eyebrows. She Junjie's arrangement must be very deep, and will not do meaningless nested dolls.

Fang Mu picked up the envelope first. The envelope did not contain a letter, but a Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card.

Fang Mu already has a Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card, and as a user of the Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card, Fang Mu knows that he can get ten billion Dragon Rising Coins.

The Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card actually also has a clear level division.

There are many forms of dragons on the Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card, and the dragon on Fang Mu's Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card is a horned dragon.

Capricorn represents a deposit between ten billion and one hundred billion.

Every tenth billion, there will be more stripes on the horns of the horn dragon.

The dragon painted on the Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card in the envelope is not a horned dragon, but a Tenglong.

This means that this Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card definitely has more than 10 billion Dragon Rising Coins in funds.

Fang Mu looked at the scales on the neck of the Soaring Dragon. The symbol of the Soaring Dragon is that there will be shield scales on the neck.

There are two shield scales on the neck of this Tenglong, indicating that there are 20 billion Dragon Rising Coins in this Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card.

It's actually 20 billion!

The gifts that the She family gave to themselves will not be so generous.

If Fang Mu did not guess wrong, the two hundred billion funds in this Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card are actually the reward that She Junjie gave herself for treating the Giant Toothed Whale.

This also explains why there is an identical space spirit tool in this space spirit tool.

Fang Mu opened a space spirit tool suspected of being a nesting doll, and saw two small trees more than three meters high inside.

One of them Fang Mu had just seen at the gate of the She family, and it was Yao Yue Fusang.

To use Yao Yue Fusang, a resource-productive Guardian Beast that does not need any input, as a meeting gift, it is enough to show the She Family's attitude towards himself.

With Yao Yue Fusang, Fang Mu no longer needs to prepare light attribute potions for Yin Nanzhen, saving Xixi's time.

Let Xixi spend more time on devouring the bloodline of the sequential Guardian Beast, accelerating the upgrade speed of the Electronic Butterfly for Seam Body Hacker and Blood Race Prince.

In addition, as long as this Yao Yue Fusang is cultivated, it can also help Fang Mu support more Beast Masters who have contracted with the Dark-element Beast.

Compared with this Yao Yue Fusang, the small tree next to it obviously makes Fang Mu more interested.

Fang Mu has already investigated this small tree through the Eye of Omniscience.

The strength of Eden Dreamland has been promoted to the Silver Stage.

Fang Mu was thinking about what kind of plant-type Guardian Beast Eden Dreamland should plant through the exclusive feature [Above the Green Field] after it reached the Silver Stage.

The She Family put the best choice in front of Fang Mu.

[Beast Name]: Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus

[Beast Species]: Oleaceae/Prolific Osmanthus Genus

[Beast Level]: Bronze (3/10)

[Beast Element]: Wood

[Beast Potential]: Silver

[Beast Quality]: Epic

Skill:

[Moon Laurel Shadow]: Cast shadow to protect the target by flowers, reducing the damage the target takes.

Exclusive Trait:

[Moon Under Laurel]: Absorb moonlight and convert it into energy stored in the trunk to form the tree heart, which can be consumed to convert into surging energy when necessary.

[Tree Heart Same Life]: When the tree heart that can be condensed in the trunk reaches the limit, it will expel the tree heart from the body and continue to absorb energy. The tree heart has the characteristic of revitalizing plant life and letting dead plant life come back to life.

Evolutionary Path:

①: Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia, ②: Bright Moon Gold Osmanthus, ③: Rabbit Raising Moon Laurel.

The skill [Moon Laurel Shadow] of this Wood system beastmaster named Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus is a very powerful auxiliary skill, which can reduce the damage taken for the target beastmaster.

And the skill release is very beautiful.

Power and beauty are two things, but when it comes to performing competitions, beauty is sometimes easier to gain fans than power.

With this skill alone, it is destined that the price of Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus is high.

If it is spread to the market, it will be contested by various club guilds.

Those beastmasters who have not yet joined a club guild but want to become star players will get the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus, which is equivalent to getting a ticket to join a large club.

However, the skill [Moon Laurel Shadow] of Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus has no relationship with Fang Mu.

If you plant Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus in the [Above the Green Field] of Eden Greenfield, Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus only has exclusive traits related to Fang Mu.

Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus has been upgraded to Epic Quality and has two exclusive traits.

Whether it is the exclusive trait [Moon Under Laurel] or [Tree Heart Same Life], Fang Mu loves them all.

The Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus absorbs moonlight and condenses into tree hearts, which is very similar to Yao Yue Fusang.

Just let Yao Yue Fusang and Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus absorb moonlight when the moon appears.

The tree heart is used to store energy and be consumed at critical moments, allowing the Eden Fantasy Field to continuously unfold in the field, and multiply the time to unfold the field.

The inability to unfold the field of Eden Fantasy Field for a long time will no longer be Fang Mu's shortcoming.

The tree hearts condensed by the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus through the exclusive trait [Moon Under Laurel] are a lot, which is destined to let the energy storage exceed the limit of the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus level.

Once the absorbed moonlight is too much and exceeds the limit of Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus.

The tree heart that is expelled from the body through the exclusive trait [Tree Heart Same Life] can also become a sacred healing medicine for plant-type beastmasters.

This method of reviving dead plants, I'm afraid that even the Grandmaster Creator has never had it.

After all, strengthening a plant-based beastmaster to make the level of this plant-based beastmaster change, and reviving a dead plant-based beastmaster are two different things.

One level can be classified as human, and the other level has reached a field that is unpredictable in legend.

In addition to the exclusive traits, what made Fang Mu curious was the evolution path of Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus.

In theory, the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus should evolve into the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus according to its own bloodline.

The evolution route shown by the Fool's Shadow has hundreds or even thousands of kinds, and the first is generally the evolution route according to its own bloodline.

But what is this Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia?

Chapter 422: The Spectacular Sight! _1

It is evident that the Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia did not evolve along the existing bloodline of Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus!

Such a situation had appeared before during Fang Mu's use of the Fool's Shadow, Eye of Omniscience, an innate divine ability.

For example, the evolution of the Dark Nightmare Tiger into a Subduing Dragon Nightmare Tiger is a mutation superior to its own bloodline, requiring resources as precious as a complete Dragon Ball.

The spiritual material required for Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus to evolve into Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia is equally, if not more, precious and rare, potentially more so than a complete Dragon Ball.

It needs to absorb high-purity life energy daily. The higher the purity of the life energy it absorbs, the higher the probability of its evolution into Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia.

However, pure life energy is only a small part of the journey for Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus to evolve into Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia.

What it truly needs is the Spirit Spring Eye.

The Spirit Spring Eye, a creation of nature, is hidden in deep mountains, with its gushing spring water nourishing all things in the vicinity.

Places where Spirit Spring Eyes are born are usually referred to as Cave Heaven Blessed Lands.

The Dragon Rising Federation does not allow any power or organization to disrupt the ecosystem and excavate Spirit Spring Eyes. The Spirit Spring Eyes are sealed in Dragon River Vessels made from Dragon River Stones.

Once a power or individual is discovered damaging the ecosystem and excavating a Spirit Spring Eye, they will face severe punishment.

On Lu Yuan Mountain in Lu City, there is a Spirit Spring Eye of exceptional quality.

The Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus doesn't need the Spirit Spring Eye for assistance to evolve into Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia, it needs to absorb the Spirit Spring Eye itself.

Once absorbed, the Spirit Spring Eye will disappear and become the nourishment for the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus.

What's more, the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus isn't satisfied with absorbing just one Spirit Spring Eye.

In terms of evolution resources, Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus is a bottomless pit.

From the name Silver Chrysosplenium Stamen Cassia, Fang Mu couldn't infer the function of this Guardian Beast.

If it was anyone else, even a rich and powerful clan like the Lu Dushe clan wouldn't dare to attempt to evolve Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus in this direction.

However, with hard work, Fang Mu might be able to achieve it.

The Dragon Rising Federation does not allow the sale and excavation of Spirit Spring Eyes, but many Federations haven't explicitly prohibited it.

The official power of the Dragon Rising Federation is strong enough to enforce its laws on other powers.

However, the official powers of some middle or small Federations are toothless, hardly capable of regulating the Federation's daily operations.

Some large Federations are compromised of dozens of powers that form a Federation Congress, with each power having a say in the Congress.

Each power tries to suppress other powers to increase its own voice in the Congress, all for their own development.

This rivalry between Congress members makes it impossible for even large federations to protect resources for sustainable development.

If Fang Mu wants to get a Spirit Spring Eye, he can think of ways when he leaves the Dragon Rising Federation for his journey.

He may ask Shui Miao and the Golden Bull if they have any leads.

Fang Mu would pay for it himself. Golden Bull and Shui Miao would just help build relationships.

Given his value, it is likely that both Shui Miao and Golden Bull would be willing to help!

Given this place is indeed the She Family's Martial Arts Arena, Fang Mu didn't rush to plant the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus in the [Above the Green Field] in Eden Dreamland.

Fang Mu had personally felt the sincerity of the She Family.

However, the relationship between Fang Mu and the She Family could only be maintained as it is for now.

If the relationship with the She Family continues to develop, others will not think that the She Family is trying to form an alliance with him.

Instead, they might think that he is supporting the She Family.

Regarding his trip to Lu City, Fang Mu felt he needed to meet the other four clans of Lu City, to further build his network of relationships.

"Fang Mu, Sucksucks has finished eating!"

"When Sucksucks was eating the insides, it tasted something strange that was super delicious! Sucksucks loved it!"

Hearing this, Fang Mu raised his eyebrows.

Sucksucks was never picky with food and had never shown such a reaction before, not even when eating spiritual instrument fragments.

What in the world could be so delicious to Sucksucks?

Since the food had already reached Sucksuck's stomach and was being digested in the Mechanical Heart, and the metallic fibers had already crushed the food,

Fang Mu couldn't make Sucksucks vomit it out, therefore, he could only wait until Sucksucks had finished digesting the food. Then he could ascertain what it was by the energy crystals formed inside Sucksuck's Mechanical Heart.

Once Sucksucks finished cleaning up the body of the Giant Toothed Whale, Fang Mu didn't take out the Life Crystal, which could be directly turned into an elixir.

Instead, he let Sucksucks embed the Life Crystals into the body of the Giant Toothed Whale.

The elixir would be absorbed by the Giant Toothed Whale in an instant, much less effective than the slow absorption of pure life energy to restore its source within five minutes.

After finishing all this, Fang Mu recalled Sucksucks back to his Destiny Guidebook, then left the She Family's Martial Arts Arena.

Inside the huge door of the She Family's Martial Arts Arena, made of ten thousand catties of ancient bronze, there was a very delicate mechanism.

With just a slight flip of the mechanism's switch, the bronze gate would open. This skill could only be mastered by a master craftsman.

This required a clever use of the collision between the properties of metal spiritual materials, which would generate enough energy in an instant to activate the gate, a technique akin to an array of a Spirit-Smithing Master.

Chapter 423: Spectacular Sight!_2

Pushing open the door of the Martial Arts Arena, Fang Mu found it deserted, with not even a shadow to be seen.

Walking across the jade-green floor, he found She Junjie, She Ruan, and She Wan quietly waiting for him at the archway outside the Arena.

Seeing the hopeful and expectant look in She Junjie's eyes, Fang Mu said with a smile.

"The Giant Toothed Whale is no longer a problem. With its strength, it should wake up before tonight."

"Once the Giant Toothed Whale wakes up, be sure to replenish its nutrition well!"

At those words, She Junjie finally let go of his worries, and a feeling of inexpressible joy spread from the bottom of his heart.

"Mr. Jianmu, my She Family would like to host a banquet in your honor. I don't know if you would be interested in attending?"

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu immediately shook his head.

"You don't need to host a banquet, I am not interested in such things."

"However, I am interested in holding a trade fair on the eve of the Wan Yu Festival. Elder She, could you help me spread the word?"

"There will be no invitation cards for this banquet. Anyone who can provide resources of the same value can trade at the fair!"

She Junjie looked at the bottle of 85% pure Life Elixir in Fang Mu's hand and thought to himself.

Fang Mu's trade fair might set a new record for the highest entry threshold in the history of trade fairs!

If previously Fang Mu seemed to She Junjie as a quiet and precious youth, now Fang Mu seemed distant and unreachable with his powerful and sharp edge.

Fang Mu was like a Longquan Treasure Sword, those who held on too tightly would have their Root Whiskers cut off by the blade.

She Junjie composed himself and said gravely.

“Mr. Jianmu, I will definitely carry out the tasks you assign to me. Before tonight, I will spread the news of the trade fair you’re hosting to all the powers eligible to participate in Lu City.”

If the request hadn’t come from Fang Mu, She Junjie wouldn’t have promised, even if the person asking him was a benefactor of the She family.

Because not all individuals were capable of organizing a trade fair of this caliber.

Only a disciple of the Grandmaster Creator like Jianmu can persuade others to bring resources of the same value as the 85% pure Life Elixir, and the other powers would agree to it.

For many years in Lu City, there hasn’t been a large-scale resource exchange. The forces attending the banquet will try their best to please Jianmu and show their utmost respect to him.

The supplies traded at the fair will surely be extraordinary and precious.

The Wan Yu Festival might not be as lively as the trade fair hosted by Jianmu!

She Junjie originally wanted to make use of this opportunity to strengthen the alliance between the She family and Fang Mu.

But now that Fang Mu is hosting his own trade fair, the She family obviously lost this opportunity.

Fang Mu had his own plans for hosting the trade fair.

If there were so many powers in Lu City that wanted to get acquainted with him, he would give all of them an equitable opportunity.

The Golden Bull will arrive tomorrow night, and hosting a large gathering will certainly involve considerable pressure.

If anyone made trouble at the event, as the organizer, he would have to handle it.

Otherwise, the guests would look down upon him.

She Wan alone couldn't handle any issues that would arise at the trade fair.

She Wan didn't have the power, but Golden Bull, as an official member of the Starwheel, certainly did.

While most people hoped nothing unexpected would happen at a trade fair, Fang Mu, on the other hand, hoped that some reckless powers would cause trouble.

It would allow Golden Bull to demonstrate its strength.

That would greatly deter the other powers.

Fang Mu noticed that Mountain Opening Construction was backed by the Gao Family, one of Lu Du's five prominent families. He had heard from Lu Yuyu that Lin Ziyuan's father was also in a fierce feud with his brothers, similar to She Ruan's situation.

Lin Ziyuan didn't actively communicate with Fang Mu, but he had been silently helping Fang Mu.

Fang Mu decided that this trip to Lu City was a good opportunity to return the favor to Lin Ziyuan.

The Lin family's situation was complicated. Lin Ziyuan's uncle married a direct descendant of the Gao family and was leveraging the Gao family's power.

To the Gao family, Lin Ziyuan's uncle, who married a direct family member of theirs, had a closer relationship and was easier for the Gao family to control than Lin Ziyuan's father.

Without lifting a finger to help Lin Ziyuan's father, just by letting the Gao family know that Lin Ziyuan was well-acquainted with him, the Gao family would make the right choice.

The auxiliary courtyard in Fang Mu's Si Ning Mansion was newly purchased and needed more decorations for the trade fair.

As a power with several Master Level Craftsmen, the Lin family had the capability to produce a few sets of furniture for him from their inventory.

Meanwhile, he would also ask Lin Ziyuan to help with the venue layout.

In a day's time, the trade fair would take place. The timeline chosen by Fang Mu would give major powers enough time to prepare and bring out their most valuable supplies.

For major powers, many decisions were made through internal family meetings.

If they only had half a day, they wouldn't be able to make decisions on many valuable supplies.

However, one and a half day was still insufficient for thorough preparation.

Fang Mu could use this to gauge the attitudes of these powers towards him and see which powers were worth associating with.

After leaving the She Family residence, Fang Mu took out his phone and saw that Feng Chenhao was getting along well with Lin Ziyuan, Lu Yuyu, and Luo Su in the group chat.

They had become familiar with each other.

In addition to Feng Chenhao being personally invited by Fang Mu to join the group, Feng Chenhao had a certain value to She Wan and the others as well.

Chapter 424:

Fang Mu, Luo Su, and Lu Yuyu have heard of the cosmetics brand Peach Beguile before, because Luo Su is far away from Jinghai Province and Qing Cang Province.

Moreover, Luo Su has spent most of his resources on raising the Guardian Beasts, without much surplus funds to spare.

Considering purchasing power alone, Luo Su could not compete with the true wealthy ladies of major powers and men willing to empty their savings to pursue the women they loved.

Lu Yuyu wanted to buy some for Luo Su, but Peach Beguile was incredibly popular, exceeding Lu Yuyu's expectations.

The products sold out the moment they went on the market.

The Peach Beguile skin care products hoarded by scalpers were quickly grabbed by those wealthy ladies at any cost.

The three of them were surprised to learn that Peach Beguile, a rising star in the cosmetics and luxury industry, was connected to Fang Mu.

With Feng Chenhao managing Peach Beguile and being one of its shareholders, improving their relations and acquiring Peach Beguile products from him seemed likely to happen.

For other matters, Feng Chenhao would consider Fang Mu's opinions. But for a small matter like Peach Beguile's cosmetics, he could likely make the decision on his own.

Of course, the fact that they became so familiar with each other in just one day had a lot to do with Feng Chenhao's networking skill.

Fang Mu took a quick look at the group chat and directly addressed Lin Ziyuan and Feng Chenhao.

[Fang Mu]: @LinZiyuan @FengChenhao, come visit me at my place when you have time. I happen to have a favor to ask of Brother Lin!

Feng Chenhao, who had just met with Fang Mu not long ago, knew that Fang Mu was in Lu City, preparing to attend the yearly Fish Festival in Lu City.

Feng Chenhao had been wanting to get in touch with Fang Mu, but he didn't want to intrude in case Fang Mu was busy.

Now, he was thrilled to be contacted by Fang Mu proactively.

Getting closer to Fang Mu could only be beneficial for him.

Feng Chenhao informed his family about his need for funds, promising that if they helped raise the money as much as possible, he could provide resources from a Master-Level Maker as a reward.

Essentially, he transferred the pressure of one billion Dragon Rising Coins from himself to Langya Biology.

Feng Chenhao wasn't sure if his family could rally that amount of money for him.

However, opportunities wouldn't wait for anyone, so he had to give it his best shot.

When Peach Beguile grew bigger and bigger, his share of the money would also increase.

By then, if an opportunity like this presented itself again, he would be in a better position to benefit the most.

Among the group, Lin Ziyuan was the least noticeable, similar to the newly added Feng Chenhao.

Though in terms of family size, Lin Ziyuan was ranked first among the four of them.

However, the position of the group members was not determined by family or glory, but by their relationship with Fang Mu.

Lin Ziyuan got to know Fang Mu through Lu Yuyu, and all along, he had communicated with Fang Mu through Lu Yuyu.

Lin Ziyuan was surprised when Fang Mu actively contacted him. He felt undeservedly favored.

Having just earned a Grandmaster-level resource from Fang Mu, Lin Ziyuan had gained support within his family for his father.

This had severely affected the prestige of his second uncle, who had insisted on a certain deal before.

If he could enter Fang Mu's residence now, with all the major powers in Lu City focusing on Fang Mu, he would certainly draw attention from other forces in Lu City.

This included the Gao Family.

[Lin Ziyuan]: Mr. Jianmu, I'll be right over. Just let me know what I can do to help. I'm humbly at your service!

After Fang Mu returned to the mansion, She Wan spoke to him very seriously.

“My Lord, this trade meeting is going to be grand, and I’m afraid my abilities are insufficient to ensure safety!”

“Perhaps you should inform your master and ask for a couple of strong reinforcements?”

Normally, She Wan wouldn’t voice such a thing because it contradicts her interests.

As a guard, admitting her limitations would be like a chef telling customers that the food he cooks isn’t tasty!

But she had to say this.

If anything happened because Fang Mu wasn’t prepared in advance, she would be held responsible!

She thought about asking the She Family to send skilled elders for reinforcement, but ever since Fang Mu declined her grandfather’s invitation and refused to let the She Family help organize the welcome dinner, she had sensed that Fang Mu did not wish to get too close to the She Family.

She fear that something she might say could make Fang Mu feel that she wanted the She Family to bind him.

Speaking from her own perspective, She Wan was not fond of any power that clung to the She Family like a clingy dog.

Fang Mu shook his head at She Wan's words.

"Sister Wan, don't worry about this. You and Lin Ziyuan just need to help me decorate the residence in the next two days!"

"There will be people there to reinforce my trade meeting."

Upon receiving Fang Mu's message, Lin Ziyuan dropped everything he was doing and rushed to Fang Mu's residence.

He happened to run into Feng Chenhao at the entrance.

The two met for the first time. Lin Ziyuan took the initiative to greet Feng Chenhao.

Feng Chenhao, who came from a small power like Langya Biology, certainly didn't know him.

Lin Ziyuan could recognize Feng Chenhao because he had always used his picture as his profile picture on QV.

Having seen Feng Chenhao's photo, it was hard for Lin Ziyuan not to recognize him!

Upon meeting Lin Ziyuan and Feng Chenhao, Fah Mu directly informed them about the trade meeting he was planning.

Upon hearing this, Lin Ziyuan and Feng Chenhao were both taken aback. They had never heard of such an entry-level trade meeting before.

At the same time, they were filled with unspeakable excitement and joy.

Fang Mu had entrusted the preparation of the trade meeting to them, and that was an enormous honor!

Chapter 425: New Exclusive Features of Blood of Abundance!_1

Feng Chenhao is now the manager of the Peach Beguile brand, and people no longer associate Feng Chenhao with Langya Biology.

But when people mention Lin Ziyuan, they naturally think of the Lin Family first.

Lin Ziyuan's fists clenched tightly.

This time, as long as he managed Fang Mu's tasks well and proved his closely-knit relationship with Fang Mu to the other factions, just like She Wan.

The Gao Family will immediately abandon their allegiance to his second uncle. They would treat him and his father as honored guests.

At that time, the Lin Family would be able to break free from their dependence on the Gao Family, and no longer cater to their every whim.

They can truly develop independently!

Of course, all this depends on whether Fang Mu thinks of him and is willing to lend a hand to the Lin Family.

Lin Ziyuan felt extremely grateful for Fang Mu.

Fang Mu wouldn't take advantage of Lin Ziyuan and Feng Chenhao for nothing. He handed the Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card he received as compensation from the She Family directly to Lin Ziyuan.

He asked Lin Ziyuan to use it to arrange the venue.

The Lin family spent 110 billion Dragon Rising Coins to procure resources from the Grandmaster Creator and had to sell many properties. However, Fang Mu could easily spend 200 billion cash to arrange the venue.

Receiving the Dragon Cavalry Black Gold Card from Fang Mu, Lin Ziyuan solemnly said,

"All the master-level furniture controlled by my father in our Lin Family has been placed in the Jianmu Commerce Association for display."

"At that time, I will bring out all the ones controlled by my second uncle to decorate the venue."

"If you're only doing this for the trade fair, you don't need to give me funding. It's a minor thing to use the family's master-level furniture."

Lin Ziyuan had some little tricks in mind when he said this.

First, Lin Ziyuan expressed loyalty to Fang Mu and told him that his father had controlled all the master level craftsman resources to support the Jianmu Commerce Association, without any private reservation.

Otherwise, if he suddenly brought another batch of master-level furniture, Fang Mu would easily think that he had not fully supported the Jianmu Commerce Association before.

Secondly, Lin Ziyuan was also aiming to take a jab at his second uncle.

He told his family about the situation and needs of the Jianmu Commerce Association, and while his father fully supported it, his second uncle did not respond at all.

He was still holding some of the master-level furniture in his hands.

Fang Mu might not care about what he said, but over time, this would subtly build resentment in Fang Mu against his second uncle.

This would prevent his second uncle from ever regaining Fang Mu's trust, regardless of whatever cunning tricks he would use in the future.

In terms of Lin Ziyuan's understanding of his second uncle Lin Chengxiao, Lin Chengxiao was a person who liked to play smart and curry favor in matters.

Gao Ping of the Gao Family was obtained by Lin Chengxiao through such tricks.

As soon as Lin Chengxiao had the opportunity to meet Fang Mu, he would certainly try his best to curry favor with Fang Mu without any decency.

So Lin Ziyuan wanted to give Fang Mu a pre-emptive warning.

Fang Mu accepted Lin Ziyuan's good intentions without refusal.

“I should thank the Lin Family right here and now!”

“However, aside from the master-level furniture, there are still many other things to prepare.”

“The other decorations at the venue should complement the master-level furniture!”

“I can’t let the two of you pay for this part!”

Feng Chenhao and Lin Ziyuan were responsible for purchasing outside, while She Wan was responsible for arranging inside.

Fang Mu took out many Guardian Beasts from his Purple Ice Crystal Ring. Most of these Guardian Beasts were extra peony class royal beasts enhanced by Fang Mu when he previously strengthened the Fragrant Peony.

The second Heaven Fragrance Peony had been a long time in the making, and did not appear as smoothly as the second Restoring Appearance Palm.

Now these remaining peony class royal beasts finally have a place to be put to use!

In fact, many of these peonies are blooming more beautifully than the Heaven Fragrance Peony. However, because they lack the effect and fragrance of the Heaven Fragrance Peony and are not suitable for Fang Mu to contract, they have all been stored by Fang Mu in the Purple Ice Crystal Ring.

At that time, Fang Mu was not short of money, so naturally, there was no need to sell these peonies enhanced with Blood Aged Wine.

She Wan has always been fond of the peonies that Fang Mu has placed in his JA City Mansion.

Now that Fang Mu has suddenly taken out so many, She Wan suddenly felt that the peonies Fang Mu had arranged in the mansion might not be as precious as she had imagined.

But this notion was only in relation to Fang Mu.

If these peony class royal beasts were put out, each one would cause a bidding war.

Even her grandfather would not be able to resist buying them to decorate the old house when he saw these rare peony class royal beasts.

In fact, there was no need for the master-level furniture and other decorations. Just having dozens of these peony class royal beasts as displays was enough to hold down the fort.

While Lin Ziyuan and Feng Chenhao were out shopping and She Wan was decorating, Fang Mu went back to his room.

He planted the Moon Gold Osmanthus Seed on the exclusive attribute [Above the Green Field] of Eden Dreamland.

The Moon Gold Osmanthus became a part of Fang Mu's royal beast, Eden Dreamland.

When he left the She Family, it was already getting dark.

Fang Mu looked at the moonlight outside the window and let the Moon Gold Osmanthus stand in the courtyard.

Originally, the leaves of the Moon Gold Osmanthus were all spread out upwards.

Feeling the moonlight, the leaves of the Moon Gold Osmanthus adjusted their angles like mirrors, facing the bright moon spilling golden light.

Under the bright moonlight, the leaves of the Moon Gold Osmanthus began to condense moon essence, which flowed from the leaves along the branches toward the center.

Fang Mu knew that this was the Moon Gold Osmanthus condensing its tree heart through its exclusive attribute [Moon Under Laurel].

Chapter 426: New Exclusive Features of Blood of Abundance!_2

Fang Mu planned to test the speed of the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus's heart formation tonight.

The speed at which the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus formed its heart directly affected its value.

After having dinner with She Wan, Lin Ziyuan, and Feng Chenhao, Fang Mu didn't go wandering around staring at the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus absorbing the moonlight.

Instead, he planned to take the Shadow Eye Stone and the heart of the high-level Blood Tribe he had obtained from Starwheel's gathering to improve the quality of his Destiny Guardian Beast, Blood of Abundance, and Fool's Shadow.

In Fang Mu's hands were hundreds of hearts from the high-level Blood Tribe, including quite a few hearts of Blood Race Princes.

The number of Shadow Eye Stones he held was more than fifty.

Thinking about the pain his eyes endured when the Fool's Shadow was upgraded last time made him slightly apprehensive.

However, apprehensive or not, the necessary upgrades had to be undertaken.

Given Fang Mu's nature, he wouldn't give up improving his Destiny Guardian Beast's quality out of fear of pain.

Fang Mu summoned his Blood of Abundance and Fool's Shadow at the same time, pouring all the high-level Blood Tribe hearts into the Blood of Abundance's well, and laying all the Shadow Eye Stones on the table for Fool's Shadow to absorb.

For Fang Mu, the high-level Blood Tribe hearts and Shadow Eye Stones had no other use.

After Fang Mu's communication with Yan Yubanruo, it was confirmed that the Shadow Eye Stone indeed enhanced the quality of Yan Yubanruo.

However, the Shadow Eye Stone wasn't indispensable in the cultivation of the Ghost System Beast.

High-quality Spiritual Liquid, Soul of Death, and other ghost flames from Ghost System Beasts could achieve similar effects as the Shadow Eye Stone.

The reason the Shadow Eye Stone was valuable for research was because its price was higher.

But high-quality Spiritual Liquid posed no pressure on Fang Mu and could be provided without limitation.

Along with the feeding of numerous high-level Blood Tribe hearts, there was a sudden rumbling sound of surging blood within the Blood of Abundance.

The Origin Blood Nuwa Carp was so shocked that it jumped out from the Blood of Abundance right away,

And cowered behind Fang Mu, resembling a helpless little girl during an earthquake.

While comforting the Origin Blood Nuwa Carp, Fang Mu watched the Blood of Abundance writhing violently.

A vast amount of blood-red fog gushed out from the well, enveloping Fang Mu.

Fang Mu took a mirror and watched his black hair turning bloody red and growing longer till it reached his neck.

The slowly rotating black goat in his red-bloodened eyes revealed an indescribable sinister and ferocity.

If Fang Mu appeared this way in a church in his previous life, he would have been mistaken as the arrival of Satan.

On the other hand, Fool's Shadow had absorbed all Shadow Eye Stones without much movement.

The only hint was the dark shadows it emanated, making it look more concealed and mysterious.

When Fang Mu shifted his gaze back from Fool's Shadow to the mirror on his hand,

He was startled to find a faint, unknown bubble enveloping the Black Goat Skull in his reflection, noticeably slowing down its rotation.

Fortunately, the walls of Si Ning Mansion were all adorned with soundproofing materials that provided excellent sound isolation.

Even if She Wan heard a sound in her room, she wouldn't be likely to investigate.

If She Wan walked in at this moment, she would be undoubtedly terrified by his current appearance.

As the Blood of Abundance absorbed the high-level Blood Tribe hearts, Fang Mu felt the same sense of hunger that had occurred when he had upgraded the quality of the Blood of Abundance last time.

Luckily, his Purple Ice Crystal Ring was loaded with plenty of food this time.

Fang Mu brought out all types of food and started to feast on them.

While eating, he sighed in his heart.

As the Blood of Abundance increased in quality, would his food quantity keep growing too?

If that was the case, wouldn't he end up a real-food bucket?

The thought of having to consume hundreds of nutritional meals every time made Fang Mu shudder.

The Blood of Abundance was very picky about food, but it ate just like a child.

If a child who rarely eats sweets was given a handful of candies and chocolates, they would likely eat the chocolates last, saving their favourite for the end.

The Blood of Abundance was obviously craving the hearts of the Blood Race Princes, but it started eating the hearts of the Blood Race Earls and Dukes first.

The Blood of Abundance had already improved to Perfect Quality before.

Elevating from Elite quality to Perfect Quality only required a few hearts of Blood Race Earls and one heart from a Blood Duke.

However, to elevate the quality of the Blood of Abundance from Perfect Quality to Epic Quality, even after feeding the hearts of Blood Earls and Dukes, the transformation hadn't completed.

It was only after the Blood of Abundance started to devour the hearts of the Blood Clan Archduke that a trend of quality improvement appeared.

Fang Mu had originally thought that with so many high-level Blood Tribe hearts, the Blood of Abundance could at least upgrade from Perfect Quality to Legendary Quality.

However, it now seemed like reaching Legendary Quality was unlikely.

But if it could reach Epic Quality and gain new exclusive attributes, Fang Mu would already be satisfied!

After joining Starwheel, Fang Mu could continually obtain more hearts of high-level Blood Tribe as long as he wished.

Chapter 427: New Exclusive Features of Blood of Abundance!_3

Thank heavens I joined the organization Starwheel back then and accepted Shui Miao's invitation.

Without it, Fang Mu's growth would certainly not be this swift!

About ten minutes later, the writhing sound and the pulsing of blood within the Blood of Abundance intensified even more.

Fang Mu watched as the mouth of the well expanded nearly twice in size, and the fleshy protrusions on the well walls became even more pronounced.

The surface was now covered with a layer of crystal armor emitting a bloody, fleshy luster.

Then, more blood-red fog billowed out from the well, and Fang Mu's short, blood-red hair began to grow wildly, reaching down to his shoulders.

Within the blood-red fog, Fang Mu's shoulder-length hair fluttered wildly, enhancing his malevolent aura.

The black goat in Fang Mu's eyes, which originally only had one pair of long horns, suddenly sprouted another pair.

Fang Mu could clearly feel his power growing once more.

Fang Mu brought out a crowbar made of Manganese tungsten steel of golden metal, a common tool used by construction companies.

Thirty to forty of these crowbars, fitted with large handles and wielded by a Great strength baboon, can uproot the foundations of a building.

It was considered the sturdiest among the inexpensive golden metal spiritual materials.

When this crowbar was crafted, it was labeled with the capacity to bear an enormous weight of ten thousand tons.

Fang Mu initially thought that he would need substantial effort to bend the crowbar made of Manganese tungsten steel.

However, the moment he felt resistance, the crowbar snapped under his force.

The loud noise from the crowbar snapping startled Fang Mu.

He couldn't help but touch his head.

The quality of Blood of Abundance has only been upgraded to Epic, and yet, his power was already so immense!

Fang Mu was now confident that he could kill a platinum-level Beast with a single punch.

If one were to calculate by this, wouldn't he, as a Beast Master, be more destructive than his most potent Guardian Beast, Rainy Doll!?

There were no other items sturdier than the Manganese tungsten crowbar in Fang Mu's possession.

Fang Mu reckoned that if he tried again, he could break ten of these crowbars without any problem.

The colossal strength he possessed was far more shocking than his appetite. Fang Mu vowed not to demonstrate this power in public unless it was absolutely necessary.

With the quality and level of the Blood of Abundance rising again, his own strength would only continue to grow increasingly potent.

Maybe his tremendous strength would come in handy to overturn the tide at a crucial moment.

Fang Mu exercised the Eye of Omniscience to inspect the enhanced Blood of Abundance.

[Beast Name]: Blood of Abundance

[Beast Species]:

[Beast Level]: Bronze Rank (6/10)

[Beast Element]:

[Beast Potential]:

[Beast Quality]: Epic

Skill:

[Blood Aged Wine]: Place one's own blood within the Abundance for fermentation, allowing it to guide life evolution. The effectiveness of the evolution depends on the volume of the blood consumed.

Exclusive Traits:

[Ash-Dyed End]: Under attack that threatens life, a single judgment is made. If the attacker suffers more damage than oneself, the judgment is voided.

When the attacker suffers less damage than oneself, the judgment is valid. The attacker's strike becomes ineffective, and instead, they will suffer all the damage inflicted on oneself.

[Creation of Blood and Life]: The Contractor's blood will fuse with the essence blood of several lives, extract special characteristics from these connected bloodlines, and create a creature through Blood Aged Wine, Life Energy, and other special energy types like Elemental Energy. This creature is created with the Blood Aged Wine as the foundation and the energy-infused blood as the fuel for upgrading the rank and quality. (Only 10% of the normal spiritual energy for a Beast contract is consumed)

Innate Divine Ability:

[Contract Blood]: Inject a large amount of Blood Aged Wine and Heartblood into the Abundance. Once the Blood Aged Wine and Heartblood meet the conditions, a drop of Contracting Blood is fermented, which can replace spiritual power to form a contract with life, promoting the life to evolve in a positive direction.

Looking at the newly acquired exclusive trait "Creation of Blood and Life," a nameless feeling arose in Fang Mu's heart subconsciously.

If the Bright Moon Golden Osmanthus can resurrect other plant lives by absorbing moonlight and condensing it into Tree Heart, it can be categorized as the hand of God.

Then "Creation of Blood and Life" fusing one's own blood with the essence of other living beings to create a unique creature with the characteristic of the blood from others is virtually an act of the Creator.

Aside from absorbing the characteristics from the essence blood of other living beings, one can also infuse Life Energy and other special energies such as Elemental Energy to influence the creature's creation.

The more Life Energy is added, the larger the creature will be.

This creature will also be more dependent on its physical attributes during battles.

The infusion of different Elemental Energy will grant diverse abilities to this creature.

A creature can only withstand a limited range of energy. The more Life Energy it has, the fewer special energies it can accept.

Each execution of the exclusive trait “Creation of Blood and Life” requires nothing more than Fang Mu’s Blood and Blood Aged Wine.

These were things Fang Mu can easily obtain.

The ability to use the energy in the blood to enhance rank and quality eliminates the need for high-concentration Elixirs.

Not requiring the resources of a Creator.

For many creatures, blood can regenerate, and a Beast like this, when available in the market, would drive many Beast Masters into a frenzy.

Many Beast Masters only contract one or two Beasts not necessarily for comprehending Mystical Patterns.

Merely because they do not have enough resources to cultivate so many Beasts.

Even She Wan’s resources at hand could only suffice to meticulously cultivate two Beasts, let alone others.

Even more importantly, a creature created by “Creation of Blood and Life” when bonded by another living being, only requires 10% of the usual Spirit Power needed for a normal Beast contract!

Chapter 428: Twilight of the Gods!_1

Making a pact with ten beasts created by “Creation of Blood and Life” is equivalent to making a pact with a single ordinary beast.

It won't significantly affect one's sense of mystical patterns through their own spiritual power.

Any powerful faction, when cultivating their direct descendants, wants the Guardian Beasts they form pacts with to be Blood Beasts created by "Creation of Blood and Life".

This allows the direct line members of the faction to easily comprehend the mystical patterns in the initial stages.

Moreover, a Guardian Beast created by "Creation of Blood and Life" can continue to make contracts, even without acquiring external blood. The first beast created by "Creation of Blood and Life" can be used to nurture the following ones.

This is equivalent to a revolution in the history of beast-taming.

Fang Mu has many types of Essence Blood derived from different Guardian Beasts. The skill [Blood Suck] of the Origin Blood Wad Carp can help Fang Mu to extract Essence Blood from the corpses of the beasts.

Whenever Fang Mu had encountered an opportunity to gather essence blood, he would allow the Origin Blood Wad Carp to use [Blood Suck].

He carefully classified all types of Essence Blood and stored them in crystal bottles, each labeled accordingly.

Fang Mu took out all the crystal bottles containing Essence Blood of Guardian Beasts.

Upon examining, he found that he had the most Essence Blood of serpent beasts.

This was due to He Deen, who, after pledging allegiance to Fang Mu, gave him all the serpent beast corpses he had accumulated.

The bird-type controlled creatures with the phoenix bloodline that He Deen had made pacts with, usually fed on serpent beasts.

Now that these bird-type controlled creatures with the phoenix bloodline were dead, He Deen needed a lot of time Cultivation after getting the Elixirs given by Fang Mu before he could start forming pacts with Guardian Beasts again.

These serpent beast corpses were now useless to He Deen.

From the dozens of types of serpent beast essence blood, Fang Mu chose three types: Silver ring flying snake, Blue water viper, and Dragon blood myst snake.

Fang Mu first pricked his fingertips and squeezed out around fifty milliliters of blood.

Then he poured the essence blood of the three serpent beasts into a beaker containing his blood.

Fang Mu had specific reasons for selecting these three types from dozens of types of essence blood of serpent and python beasts.

The Silver ring flying snake is highly venomous and able to glide long distances after bouncing.

The Blue water viper is also adept at using venom as an offensive method. It is a medium-sized python-type beast that excels in hunting in the water.

The scales of the DragonBlood Myst Snake are similar to a mirror, they can reflect light.

It can perfectly hide itself in a natural environment and contains a trace of the bloodline of the dragon beast.

It has the potential to evolve into a dragon beast.

The Guardian Beast formed by the fusion of the essence blood of these three beasts is likely to be proficient in air, water and land combat, adept at concealment and the use of toxins.

Because the blood of the python beast is mixed in, its body is much stronger than that of a regular serpent beast.

Under the catalysis of Fang Mu's blood, three types of essence blood, which were initially incompatible, perfectly integrated with each other.

Looking at the viscous blood in front of him, with a hint of purple in the dark red, Fang Mu pours five milliliters of Life Elixir, two milliliters of water elemental potion, and three milliliters of wind elemental potion into it.

The elixir mixed suspensefully into the purple-red viscous blood, automatically began to boil, like a birth chamber of original blood.

Fang Mu poured his pre-stored Blood Aged Wine into the cup slowly.

The boiling liquid solidified at the instant it made contact with the Blood Aged Wine, continuously dividing and expanding.

The white crystal beaker jar broke under the pressure.

The liquid, originally taking up less space than a fist, has now split and expanded into a blood cocoon nearly three meters high.

The blood cocoon was rhythmically squirming, Fang Mu was very clear about the life being born inside the cocoon.

There was an invisible gene lock between this life and him.

Through this gene lock, he can control the life and death of the Beast created from his own blood.

Fang Mu was taken aback by this thought.

This innate gene lock is related to the gene of life.

Just like the genetic connection between parent and child, but the connection cannot be materialized.

But now, the genetic connection between him and this life he created can be materialized and thoroughly controlled by him.

Even if other Beast Masters form a pact with a Beast created by the exclusive feature of the Blood of Abundance "Creation of Blood and Life", they can't find the presence of gene lock.

If a Beast Master who has contracted a creature created by "Creation of Blood and Life" becomes his enemy, he can manipulate the opponent's Beast through gene lock at the start of combat.

This expanded Fang Mu's horizons and turned creatures created by "Creation of Blood and Life" not only into a means to make money for resources but also into a weapon.

Of course, for those on his side and his friends, forming a pact with a beast created by "Creation of Blood and Life" bears only benefits, there are no disadvantages.

In less than ten minutes, the three-meter-high blood cocoon was broken from inside.

A triangular-headed snake-type controlled animal with silver-blue patterns on its body and scales like a mirror appeared before Fang Mu.

From appearances alone, this special-looking serpent beast, which obviously looked extraordinary, did not differ significantly from a standard Guardian Beast.

This means that Guardian Beasts created by "Creation of Blood and Life" will not have any obvious characteristics.

This allows Fang Mu to release as many such beasts as he wants without anyone noticing.

A beast, over six meters long, was curled up inside a giant blood cocoon that was only three meters high.

Chapter 429: Twilight of the Gods!_2

Now fully spread out, its hissing already possessing quite a bit of imposing aura.

Through the Eye of Omniscience, natural divine powers, Fang Mu began investigating this serpent beast, created by the “Creation of Blood and Life”.

[Beast Name]: Silver-Blue Mystical Snake (Creation of Blood and Life)

[Beast Species]: Ring Snake Species/Cobra Family

[Beast Level]: Bronze (1/10)

[Beast Element]: Water System/Wind System/Poisonous System

[Beast Potential]: Silver

[Beast Quality]: Ordinary

Skill:

[Poison Hailstorm]: It can shoot venom through its developed venom sac, with the venom being similar to a hail of bullets with strong penetrability. If the venom does not hit the target, it will automatically gasify and cover a small range in its immediate vicinity, making it difficult to disperse.

Upon examination, Fang Mu couldn't help but sigh at the dominance of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake, a beast produced by the “Creation of Blood and Life”.

Not to mention the strength of its skills, just the fact that it's a tri-elemental beast is enough to make it highly sought after in the market.

What's more, contracting the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake requires only one-tenth of the spiritual power necessary to contract an ordinary beast.

A skill like [Poison Hailstorm] is, in fact, possessed by many beasts that use venom as an offensive tactic.

However, a beast's attributes can greatly affect its skills.

The reason why the skill [Poison Hailstorm], when it does not hit the target, can automatically gasify and cover a certain small range is because the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake is a Wind System beast, giving its skill the effect of the wind system.

Given that this was his own trade fair, Fang Mu felt that he had to showcase something impressive.

The recently cultivated Silver-Blue Mystical Snake seemed to be a good choice.

However, just placing the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake out there was unlikely to fetch a good price.

After all, it was still of ordinary quality, and did not have a race-specific feature.

The quality of race-specific features could directly affect a beast's value.

Hence, Fang Mu decided to first improve the quality of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake.

Enhancing the quality of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake was simple. Fang Mu didn't intend to raise it to legendary quality, so there was no need for the blood aged wine.

Given the attributes of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake, Fang Mu prepared some life elixirs, water elemental potions, and wind elemental potions.

Since the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake can strengthen its venom gland through the life elixir, Fang Mu didn't need to deliberately prepare poisonous spiritual materials to promote its venom gland.

It should be noted that using poisonous spiritual materials to enhance the toxicity of beasts is very dangerous.

Poison-series beasts have a high probability of being harmed by poisonous spiritual materials.

There were many Beast Masters who contracted poisonous beasts, and lost their battle partners because they arbitrarily used poisonous spiritual materials to enhance the toxicity of poisonous beasts.

Fang Mu fed the prepared elixirs to the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake, which was continuously trying to please him and had taken him as its parent.

Soon, the quality of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake began to rise progressively.

During the enhancement of its quality, the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake did not show any signs of evolution.

This was arguably the only drawback of the exclusive characteristic of "Blood of Abundance" – "Creation of Blood and Life".

The beasts created by "Creation of Blood and Life" cannot evolve like normal beasts.

Fang Mu used the essence blood of dragon blood mystery snake, which would only make outsiders believe that Silver-Blue Mystical Snake has the potential to advance to the dragon race.

No matter how much cultivation, it would not possibly evolve into a dragon beast in its lifetime.

If that were the case, Fang Mu would not need to contract other beasts in the future, and could simply choose to contract beasts created by "Creation of Blood and Life".

However, Fang Mu was planning to prepare a beast for each of his brother and sister, created by the exclusive characteristic of “Blood of Abundance” – “Creation of Blood and Life”.

Fang Mu had contracting blood and could contract as many beasts as he wanted, without worrying about his spiritual power.

But his brother and sister were different.

Compared to the conservation of spiritual power, the inability to evolve is no longer considered a drawback.

During the enhancement process from ordinary to epic quality, the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake acquired the unique characteristics of [Snake Domain Hunt] and [Crazy Snake Traceability].

[Snake Domain Hunt]: It injects snake blood into the ground beneath its feet, polluting the land with the snake blood. The snake blood transforms into small snakes that shuttle within the domain, attacking enemies within its range with a powerful toxin.

[Crazy Snake Traceability]: It mimics and hides its traces through its scale armor, burning its own energy to assassinate the target.

Among these two race-specific features, Fang Mu prefers [Snake Domain Hunt], which the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake gained upon leveling up to perfect quality, over [Crazy Snake Traceability], which it gained upon leveling up to epic quality.

[Crazy Snake Traceability] belongs to a type of stealth ability. Burning its own energy will definitely cause damage far greater than under normal circumstances.

However, serpent beasts are not adept at assassination.

If it can't break the target's defense in the first place, an attempt to assassinate is equally ineffective.

Even if it conceals itself and the target cannot see the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake before the attack.

Once it causes damage to the target, even if the target reacts slowly, it can still identify the location of the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake and retaliate.

Luckily, the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake has wind attributes, is proficient at flying, and can move rapidly in water.

With the unique ability of [Crazy Snake Traceability], even if it's not used for assassination, it can be used as an excellent reconnaissance skill.

[Snake Domain Hunt] is a type of range attack race-specific feature. While it overlaps with the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake's Bronze-level skill [Poison Hailstorm], the two do not restrict each other.

Chapter 430: Twilight of the Gods!_3

But they complement one another.

The lethality of [Poison Hailstorm] isn't as effective as the exclusive trait [Snake Domain Hunt], yet [Poison Hailstorm] has an advantage, it can obstruct the opponent's line of sight.

Because the moment one opens their eyes, the delicate corneas would be corroded by the poison mist.

With the targets blinded within the range, the small snakes split by the exclusive trait [Snake Domain Hunt] are hard to dodge.

More importantly, the skill [Snake Domain Hunt] is really cool.

Once [Snake Domain Hunt] is triggered, it behaves similarly to some Domain-Type Control Beast.

For the scions of powerful forces, attractiveness and flamboyance have always been major rules in choosing Guardian Beasts.

With this Silver-Blue Mystical Snake, Fang Mu doesn't need to make any other preparations.

Just as Fang Mu was about to recall the Silver-Blue Mystical Snake into the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, his eyes suddenly felt as though they were engulfed in flames.

Tears uncontrollably flowed from Fang Mu's eyes.

Fang Mu once again experienced the feeling of excruciating pain from his eyes.

This time, Fang Mu was prepared.

Previously, in his haste, he could only rinse his eyes with water, but this time he prepared ice packs in advance.

Fang Mu applied the two ice packs to his eyes.

However, the ice packs did not alleviate the pain in Fang Mu's eyes.

Following the burning sensation was a stinging sensation like being pricked by needles, as if an old woman was arbitrarily jabbing a thousand thin steel needles into Fang Mu's eyes.

And each time after jabbing, she would stir them a few times.

After experiencing this prickly sensation, Fang Mu was certain that the pain he was enduring this time was much worse than the pain he had to endure when the Fool's Shadow was promoted to the Elite quality.

The Fool's Shadow truly is a vexing fairy!

However, in daily life, Eye of Omniscience, the Fool's Shadow's natural divine powers, is used more often.

Suddenly, Fang Mu felt the Fool's Shadow's aura surge dramatically.

Fang Mu knew that the Fool's Shadow had advanced to Perfect Quality, but at that point, Fang Mu hadn't yet recovered from the pain and was unable to open his eyes.

Fang Mu thought that with more than fifty Shadow Eye Stones, at the very least, he could upgrade the Fool's Shadow to Legendary Quality.

However, the Fool's Shadow's resource acquisition far surpassed that of the Blood of Abundance.

Upgrading to Perfect quality consumed exactly fourteen Shadow Eye Stones.

At this rate of consumption, even if the Fool's Shadow consumed all of the Shadow Eye Stones, it wouldn't likely reach Epic Quality.

But this wasn't necessarily bad news for Fang Mu.

Because enduring such intense pain twice a day, Fang Mu feared that his mental state might deteriorate.

This kind of pain can only be endured when one's mental state is at its peak.

Otherwise, they might end up mentally broken.

Some psychic beasts launch attacks on their enemies by inflicting pain that leads to a mental breakdown, rendering them mentally incapacitated.

After a while, Fang Mu was just able to slightly open his eyes to see a tiny sliver of bright light in the house.

He took half an hour to adapt.

It was only when the Fool's Shadow had nearly completely absorbed all the Shadow Eye Stones that Fang Mu could see normally.

Fang Mu picked up a mirror and noticed that the faintly perceptible bubble that originally covered the Black Goat Skull had solidified a bit.

But when he blinked, the bubble became increasingly illusory, making his eyes appear even more profound and extensive.

It was as if they hid the universe of a wicked god.

After he had returned to normal, Fang Mu used Fool's Shadow's Eye of Omniscience to minutely examine the Fool's Shadow itself.

[Beast Name]: Fool's Shadow

[Beast Species]:

[Beast Level]: Copper Tier (6/10)

[Beast Element]:

[Beast Potential]:

[Beast Quality]: Perfect Quality

Skills:

[Breath Convergence]: Under passive conditions, it can actively shield its own spiritual power fluctuations. When activated, it will fully suppress its own aura, putting itself in a state that can't be detected.

Exclusive Traits:

[Twilight of the Gods]: Pin down a target as a god, weaken the target marked as a god, enhance one's attack against the god, and uncover the target's weaknesses. Based on the changes in the target's body, nerves, blood flow, and breath, judge the target's next move. Once deployed, the target marked as a god must be killed; otherwise, the effect of [Twilight of the Gods] cannot be undone, and the next target cannot be targeted.

Divine Abilities:

[Eye of Omniscience]: When the target's life level does not exceed oneself's and the level difference does not exceed five tiers, it can digitize the target's situation and conduct an investigation.

Upon the investigation, Fang Mu had a spine-chilling sensation.

The Fool's Shadow slaughters the gods in the name of the fool.

The exclusive trait named [Twilight of the Gods] sounded so heretical.

The Dragon Rising Federation doesn't have any clear faith, but some federations in the Outer Realm have an almost fanatic worship of certain gods.

It isn't impossible for gods to exist in the Realm of Beasts.

Once a being's strength has reached a certain level, exceeding human cognition and stepping into a new level,

If this being can gain the faith of other beings, it can declare itself as a god.

The history of the fifth and sixth Epochs is fragmented, only able to be glimpsed through the scriptures found in ancient battlefields.

Those scriptures clearly stated that gods existed during the fifth and sixth Epochs.

Any being marked as a god by Fool's Shadow's exclusive trait [Twilight of the Gods], while being weakened, will also suffer more damage from Fang Mu's attack.

The other Destiny Guardian Beast, Blood of Abundance, grants Fang Mu immense power.

Fang Mu can engage in combat physically.

If Fang Mu were to fight like two boxers, it might take half an hour to determine who won, possibly after they're both exhausted.

Yet, if one sees through the opponent's weakness, only a single punch would be needed to determine victory.

Fool's Shadow's exclusive trait [Twilight of the Gods] possesses the ability to see through a target's weakness.
