

Beast Tamer 43

Chapter 43 The Abandoned Frost Dragon Fish! 1

Deep in the night, within the headquarters of the Jinghai Army of the Abyss Legion.

A gentle and quiet woman was smiling at a middle-aged man in front of her, who was looking pained, as if he was fretting over someone who wasn't living up to his expectations.

The temples of this man were turning gray, and there was a long scar from his cheek to his neck.

It indicated that this middle-aged man had once brushed with death.

"Fang Qin, I suggest you think it over!"

"This reward was earned through your half-life sacrifice and contribution."

"Are you sure you want to exchange it for a low-frequency spiritual power stimulant and four Flame Thorns?"

"You should be clearer than me about how rare this Copper Stage Frost Dragon Fish in larval stage is."

"It may potentially awaken to become a dragon!"

"With your natural talent in spiritual power, it's not impossible to see the day when the Frost Dragon Fish transforms into a dragon during its evolution."

Fang Qin listened quietly as the middle-aged man finished speaking.

Then, she spoke gently yet firmly.

“Commander, I don’t need to think about it.’

“I am sure of my choice!”

“If you have nothing else, I’ll head back to my dormitory first!”

After her words, Fang Qin stood up and headed towards her dormitory.

In a moment, it would be her turn to call Little Wood.

She didn’t know if Little Wood, after taking the medicine that could stimulate spiritual power at a low frequency, would have another chance to awaken the Destiny Guidebook.

In the Dragon Rising Federation, after one’s spiritual power has been stimulated at low frequencies three times, it becomes impossible to artificially stimulate the awakening of the Destiny Guidebook anymore.

However, one can still attempt it through medicinal stimulation.

But this type of drug is expensive and has a low success rate.

Since this drug’s launch, only a small number of people have awakened their Destiny Guidebook due to the effects of the drug.

But all of these people were under the age of fourteen.

Fang Mu was already sixteen!

Even though she knew her choice might be a waste.

Fang Qin still wanted to give it a shot for Fang Mu.

Fang Qin was twelve years older than Fang Mu.

Because their parents were always busy with the family's livelihood and the family's breeding base had started to decline, it could be said that Fang Mu was brought up by Fang Qin.

The four Flame Thorns were exchanged for Fang Yan with the merits of Fang Qin's mission.

Since Fang Yuan became a Golden Glove at the Ten Thousand Treasures

Commerce, he had not hesitated to supplement her needs.

She didn't need to worry about Fang Yuan.

With these four Flame Thorns, Fang Yan no longer needed to worry about the food for the Vermilion Sun Crane!

The money that she and Fang Yuan usually transferred to Fang Yan was generally spent on the food expenses of the Vermilion Sun Crane.

Fang Qin really wanted to contract the Frost Dragon Fish.

But to cultivate the Frost Dragon Fish and let the Frost Dragon Fish Bloodline evolve towards the dragon type, it would require countless resources.

This was not something she could afford.

As the eldest sister, Fang Qin helped Fang Yuan the least.

Moreover, Fang Yuan had given up the opportunity to join the Beastmaster Alliance in order to support their family.

Since she couldn't do much for Fang Yuan, she didn't want to bring more burdens to him.

Seeing her younger brother and sister growing up healthily and having good development.

This was Fang Qin's wish.

So, the moment she made her decision, she no longer felt any longing for the Frost Dragon Fish.

Fang Qin gave up the Frost Dragon Fish, she gave up her own future.

She hoped she could stake her own tomorrow for her brother and sister.

Fang Mu had been observing the Clean Water Spirit carefully for a while.

The more he looked, the more he felt the necessity of upgrading the Clean Water Spirit to the Silver Stage and evolving it into a Rainy Doll.

The Clean Water Spirit's current spiritual intelligence was too low, and its response to Fang Mu's instructions was extremely slow.

This made it hard for the Clean Water Spirit to bear heavy responsibilities in real battles.

But if it evolved into a Rainy Doll and became a Half-Elf, it would be completely different.

By then, the Half-Elf would have an intellectual level that far exceeded other beast familiars of the same level.

Furthermore, it could communicate without obstacles with Fang Mu, who carried out Fang Mu's orders.

In order for the Clean Water Spirit to evolve, Fang Mu needs a large amount of pure water elemental crystals.

Because the improvement of an Elemental Beast's strength and potential is related to the purity of the elements it absorbs.

Therefore, on the topic of water elemental energy, Fang Mu plans to let the Clean Water Spirit refine its purity as much close to one hundred percent as possible.

This would, of course, be impossible with just the open taps that run every day.

The water elemental energy in tap water is extremely thin, and a large amount of water system spirit materials are still needed to quickly condense water element crystals.

The Clean Water Spirit has no particular preference for food, whether it be good or bad, it takes all as is.

Fang Mu, who once opened a Beast Taming Base at home, knew very well that many Beast Taming Bases clean out a large amount of garbage every day.

Among them, a lot of trash is rich in water elemental energy.

These pieces of garbage, because of mould and spoilage, or because they are mixed with some toxic substances.

Make it impossible for further use.

He only needs to spend a small amount of money to acquire a large quantity.

Fang Mu plans to contact these cultivation bases and then hire a truck.

To help himself pull the garbage from those Beast Taming Bases to a fixed location.

If it weren't for the fact that opening a garbage station would be too conspicuous.

Fang Mu would have liked to open a trash recycling field!

After making the decision, Fang Mu didn't care about the types of toxic system crystals in his hands.

He indiscriminately fed them all to the Clean Water Spirit.

Fang Mu just watched as the water orb beneath the Clean Water Spirit changed from a faint yellow-green to a gray-green.

When these spirit poison infused toxic system crystals were thrown into the Clean Water Spirit's body.

The water orb beneath the Clean Water Spirit is like an injection of pearlescent, giving off a faint fluorescent feeling.

After giving the last piece of erosive poison crystal to the Clean Water Spirit.

The water orb beneath the Clean Water Spirit had turned to ink color.

No matter how you looked at this color, it seemed extremely dirty and eerie.

Fang Mu went to the fridge in the basement and took out a pork leg that he had just bought.

A braised leg of Black Back Mountain Pig is Fang Mu's favorite food.

But now Fang Mu was going to use this frozen pig leg to test the toxicity of the Clean Water Spirit.

Returning to the room, Fang Mu threw the at least twenty-pound pork leg high into the air.

He issued an attack command to the Clean Water Spirit.

An invisible, transparent water whip smacked the frozen pork leg.

Making a crisp snapping sound.

Obviously, the bone inside was broken by this whip.

The whip did not bounce off the pig leg but turned directly into a water cell, wrapping the pig leg inside.

Before the blood could disperse, the ink color immediately spread within the water cell.

Because the ink color was not too concentrated at this time, Fang Mu could faintly see that under the ink color distortion, the Black Back Mountain Pig's leg was corroded and rotten.

Fluffy fungal filaments destroyed the internal structure.

Finally, the pig leg completely disappeared inside the water cell, without leaving even a piece of bone.

This kind of attack power can already compete with the majority of Guardian Beasts at the copper stage.

However, toxic attacks have a delayed effect and cannot kill the target instantly.

The target will certainly fight back before its life is extinguished.

Even the notorious Gluttonous Hunting Dog, who has a chance to attack its Beast Master in a mentally frantic state.

Isn't able to process the frozen Black Back Mountain Pig's leg this quickly.

Fang Mu gave the Clean Water Spirit a thumbs up.

Affirming the toxicity and attack power of the Clean Water Spirit.

However, this is only Fang Mu's gain after one day in the Soldier-level Crematorium.

Later, Fang Mu will dispose of more Alien Beast corpses, and the rank of the Alien Beast corpses he disposes of will continue to increase.

The toxicity of the Clean Water Spirit will also continue to rise at that time. After putting away the silly Clean Water Spirit, Fang Mu summoned the Blood of Abundance.

Looking at this strangely squirming blood-red Dry Well in front of him.

If it weren't for the fact that this Dry Well was his own Destiny Guardian Beast, Fang Mu would surely be creeped out just looking at it.

If someone often saw him pouring blood, even Heartblood, into the Blood of Abundance.

They would certainly think he was a fanatic follower of a particular evil god, conducting some sort of evil ceremony..