

Beast Tamer 62

Chapter 62 Starwheel's Invitation! 1

[Amber Button]: Hello Stellar Start, are you the blender of this Life Elixir? If so, I would like to order another bottle of the same Life Elixir at the auction price.

[Amber Button]: I am willing to order Earth, Water, Fire, and Wind, these four Element Potions with a purity of 90%, for a price of 1.5 billion Dragon Rising Coins per bottle.

Upon seeing the message from [Amber Button], Fang Mu couldn't help but take a sharp intake of breath.

The total order, including the previously auctioned Life Elixir, has exceeded one billion Dragon Rising Coins!

Despite Fang Mu's psychological expectation, it was still hard to imagine the price would be so high.

This price further deepened Fang Mu's understanding of the definition of a Grandmaster Creator!

This order was something that Fang Mu could easily complete with a wave of his hand.

The Beast Taming Base that Fang Mu chose to collaborate with mainly focused on cultivating Water Attribute Beasts.

But there was also a portion of Guardian Beasts with other attributes.

As long as Fang Mu issued instructions to suck, allowing it to spend some more time refining and concentrating.

Within one or two days, Fang Mu would be able to complete this order.

If there's any industry in the world that requires the most input, it would definitely have to be the Contemplation Hall.

The best way for Beast Masters to understand Mysterious Patterns is by observing natural wonders.

For example, watching a volcano erupt at close range can increase the probability of comprehending Fire Patterns.

Watching a tsunami or being in the middle of a tsunami has a chance to comprehend the same Water attribute patterns.

The Contemplation Hall simulates the natural environment for Beast Masters at close range through Guardian Beasts.

Because Guardian Beasts can be controlled, it ensures that they won't harm the Beast Masters.

It is said that the top Contemplation Halls in the Capital use Sequential Type Beasts to simulate the natural environment.

In the future, while cultivating Guardian Beasts, Fang Mu may consider opening his own Contemplation Hall.

Fang Mu forcefully calmed himself down.

Today, Fang Mu also understood what a big spender is.

In the future, if he encounters similar situations, Fang Mu will never be so flustered again!

Before replying, Fang Mu deliberately read [Amber Button]'s message again.

Fang Mu noticed that the other party used “you” instead of “you”, and did not address himself as Mr. [Stellar Start].

It indicated that the other party was probably a powerful Beast Master, or perhaps a Grandmaster of some profession.

[Stellar Start]: The Life Elixir I put out is naturally blended by me. If you want to order extra Elixir, I need two days to prepare.

Shui Miao casually stroked the four-tailed big cat that was transformed from his soul.

Resentful Spirits were constantly emerging from the big cat.

But it didn’t stop this big cat from looking cute when it was yawning.

It rubbed its round chubby face with its little paw, then meowed and swallowed up the Resentful Spirits that sprang out from its body.

In the process, the four faint-blue tails instantly turned into a strange dark red color.

What Shui Miao hated the most was waiting.

Shui Miao didn’t expect [Stellar Start] to be offline at the very moment when he was bidding for the Life Elixir!

It was as if he didn’t care about the Life Elixir with a purity of 90%.

This indeed seemed like the behavior of a Grandmaster Creator.

But he had already sent his message. If the other party saw it and wanted to talk to him, he would reply.

If they didn't want to talk to him, sending more messages would be pointless.

Shui Miao scratched his short blue hair, planning to play with the four-tailed kitty in his arms.

Just then, Shui Miao saw that his message had been replied to.

Seeing the reply from [Stellar Start], Shui Miao didn't waste words and directly cut to the chase.

[Amber Button]: Stellar Start, I would like to invite you to join Starwheel.

Fang Mu knew [Amber Button] was prepared. He was probably not just contacting him to order supplies.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have offered such a high price at the auction when ordering the Life Elixir.

It turns out that their aim is to get me, Fang Mu, to join an organization called Starwheel.

But Fang Mu is still like a frog in a well, exploring the world of Beast Masters.

He had never heard of Starwheel before.

Fang Mu heaved a soft sigh.

Internalizing what it means to be born a superb actor.

Oh, the drama he'd staged today!

Even professional actors didn't have as much drama as he did.

[Stellar Start]: Oh? Starwheel? Is it the same Starwheel I know?

Fang Mu was actually clueless, but his words, seeming as if he understood everything, made Shui Miao's brows furrow instantly.

[Stellar Start]: You've heard of Starwheel!?

Starwheel was an organization that only had nine members, with mutual discretion and assistance being the consensus of all members.

Could it be that [Stellar Start] was once a target for their organization to get in touch with?

No, that's not right! The targets our organization intends to contact ultimately join the organization.

For a moment, Shui Miao was somewhat unable to discern [Stellar Start]'s situation.

[Amber Button]: There's only one organization named Starwheel in this world. It's named after celestial bodies, perpetuates the intentions of the ancients, and believes in the concepts of equivalence in exchange and equal assistance, so we can all develop together.

[Amber Button]: If you join the organization and other organization members ask for your help during regular meetings, they will pay a sufficient price according to your requirements.

[Amber Button]: Likewise, if you want help from the people in the organization, you also need to negotiate the price with them.

In the current historical context, the term 'near ancient' generally refers to before the sixth era, that is, occurrences in the fifth era.

The 'ancient times', however, refers to the first to the fourth era.

In other words, Starwheel should be a force that has continued since the fifth era.

Fang Mu didn't expect that when he put out a bottle of Life Elixir at a purity of 90%, it would attract such a huge force.

This organization could provide Fang Mu with an extremely high -end channel of resources.

Through this organization, Fang Mu could essentially peep into the world and exchange for supplies that were hard to obtain before.

In reality, there's the cover of having a Grandmaster Creator as a teacher.

No matter how special the item Fang Mu puts up is, it wouldn't seem out of place in Feng Lin's eyes.

So, after understanding the essence of this organization, Fang Mu decided to join.

Only that, considering his unique circumstances, it was impossible for a real Grandmaster Creator to get in touch with the other members of this organization.

Even though the Fool's Shadow's skill, [Breath Convergence], allows Fang to suppress his spiritual power fluctuations under his control.

But the people in this organization are all powerful individuals, or those with exceptionally high backgrounds.

He couldn't guarantee that by using [Breath Convergence], he could perfectly conceal himself.

Thinking of this, Fang Mu made his response.

[Stellar Start]: I just want to focus on the field of Creators and seek further progress. I don't want to spend time and effort on mundane chores.

[Stellar Start]: Let my disciple represent me at these so-called gatherings! Whenever I have any needs or you want to order any elixirs, you can discuss it with my disciple.

Shui Miao wasn't new to Grandmaster Creators. Most people who could achieve Grandmaster Creator status were eccentric.

If a person didn't devote their total concentration to the field of Creators, it would be difficult to achieve such a high level of success.

[Stellar Start] seeks further improvement, which indicates that Stellar Start has made considerable achievements in the field of Creators.

Otherwise, there wouldn't be any thoughts about further progress.

Furthermore, [Stellar Start] trusts his disciple very much and even allows his disciple to decide whether to negotiate transactions concerning Grandmaster Creator resources!

It seems that if he wants to form connections with [Stellar Start] in the future, he can make an effort with [Stellar Start]'s disciple.

It's like being nice to your colleague's kid, buying things for their kid.

It's more pleasing to your colleague than if you'd spent the same amount of money to buy things for your colleague, that's the same principle!
