

Beast Tamer 64

Chapter 64: Sequential Spiritual Instrument? 1

For meeting such an important person, Fang Mu had already mentally prepared himself.

Standing as the representative of a Grandmaster Creator, he could deduce it from the manner the other party interacted with him via the Beastmaster Web on the [Stellar Start] account.

The other party seemed deeply interested in forming a close alliance.

Given that, Fang Mu saw no reason to feel nervous.

The one who should be nervous was the other party.

With this in mind, Fang Mu was at ease and headed towards the Creator's Guild.

The [Amber Button] had made a special trip to JA City just to meet him.

Hence, Fang Mu also decided to arrive half an hour earlier to show his sincerity.

While riding the Six-Hoofed Yak Car, Fang Mu suddenly caught sight of a man walking leisurely at the side of the road.

The man's gait projected a very peculiar rhythm.

For a moment, Fang Mu felt as if time and space had halted beneath this man.

After awakening his Destiny Guardian Beast, Fool's Shadow, Fang Mu's perception had greatly improved.

For instance, if he participated in a challenge to find three different points amongst ten thousand on a screen in his previous life, he could easily manage it and had verified this ability.

So, anyone that could make him feel this way would not be ordinary.

Just as Fang Mu spotted the man, the man also turned his head to look at Fang

An ordinary face, which would be easy to overlook in a crowd, entered Fang Mu's vision.

The man gave Fang Mu a gentle smile.

Instantly adding a gentleness to his otherwise ordinary face.

The Six-Hoofed Yak Car was moving very swiftly, quickly leaving the man behind.

Fang Mu was certain that even Feng Lin, a powerful fighter like the Green Screen Knight, had never given him this kind of feeling before.

Upon disembarking and walking towards the entrance of the Creator's Guild, Fang Mu continued to ponder over this encounter.

However, he was devoid of any leads.

Upon seeing Fang Mu, Lu Xiaoyin immediately greeted him warmly.

But she didn't engage in much small talk with Fang Mu.

With his constant coming and going, Fang Mu, as a creator's assistant, was clearly not living a relaxed life.

If she prolonged every encounter with idle chatting, it might likely breed resentment in Fang Mu's mind.

Lu Xiaoyin knew very well how to perform her duties to the best of her ability.

Once she had done her part, after a few months or even years, she would naturally become a familiar face to "Jianmu".

This gradual familiarity would be the most suitable foundation for her relationship with "Jianmu".

After all, she didn't have a deep background the way Lu Yuyu did, to the extent of being able to help "Jianmu".

Fang Mu entered the hall of the Creator's Guild.

The hall of the Creator's Guild was furnished with numerous leather sofas made from the skin of swift antelopes.

This area was reserved for waiting and socializing.

However, creators usually preferred their rented personal workrooms over these public areas.

The workrooms, rented at the rate of ten thousand Dragon Rising coins per day, were much more lavishly furnished than the lounge area in the hall.

The complete privacy provided by these areas was also more convenient for conducting business meetings.

After waiting for less than five minutes, Fang Mu saw the ordinary-looking man he observed earlier walking towards the lounge area.

At this moment, the lounge was hosting around ten people.

These people are generally gathered in small groups.

As the man entered, his gaze swept over the people, eventually landing on Fang Mu.

Checking his watch, Fang Mu realized something.

This man was most likely the [Amber Button] whom he had asked to meet at the Creator's Guild.

Just as Fang Mu was planning to stand up and approach him, the man had already come over to him.

He said in a gentle and clear voice.

"I didn't expect the disciple of the Qixing Grandmaster to be so young!" "Truly, heroes often emerge at a young age!"

With those words, Fang Mu was completely certain of the man's identity.

Fang Mu brought himself into character.

In his previous life, Fang Mu too had mentors in his academic field.

And he had also assisted his mentors in entertaining their friends before.

So, he had a well-developed plan on how to interact with [Amber Button].

"Hello, how should I address you?"

"I'm here on behalf of my teacher. We can discuss official matters in the working room!"

Having said this, Fang Mu took the lead in leading the way.

Shui Miao did not want to act superior in front of Fang Mu. In fact, Shui Miao was a humble person by nature.

When it came to forming acquaintances, Shui Miao enjoyed treating people as equals rather than judging by seniority.

“Call me Ah Shui, how should I address you?”

In Shui Miao’s gentle voice was pure sincerity.

Fang Mu could easily perceive the genuine nature of Shui Miao’s personality.

An influencer offering Fang Mu to use a casual nickname like “Ah Shui” to address him, was a bit startling! “Respected Elder A Shui, you can call me Jianmu!”

On hearing this, Shui Miao smiled.

“Calling directly by the name seems distant, I would rather call you Ah Mu!”

While speaking, Shui Miao handed over to Fang Mu a Purple Crystal Ring, carved with a wisteria flower pattern and of ancient design.

“I initially assumed that the Qixing Grandmaster’s disciple would be older, so the gift I prepared may not be quite appropriate.”

“However, as a sequential spiritual instrument of the Ice Type and Space Series, as long as you make a contract with it, you can still use its storage and passive defense abilities.”

“Therefore, I do not need to replace the first gift, I hope you like this Purple Ice Crystal Ring.”

Fang Mu was in character, suppressing his emotions.

This helped him look more like the genuine disciple of a Grandmaster Creator.

If not for staying in character constantly, Fang Mu would not have been able to maintain his composure.

What! This is a sequential spiritual instrument that surpasses the legendary diamond spiritual instrument!

Fang Mu had heard about sequential spiritual instruments from Feng Lin not long ago. Only a Forging Spirit Grandmaster could make them.

Each piece can be passed down as a legacy.

But since sequentially spiritual instruments require marrow from bones to make a contract, similar to the advanced form of a blood oath, it could only be passed on to blood relatives even if the owner died.

This became a casual meeting gift from a member of the Star Wheel Organization.

Moreover, it was supposedly just his first gift.

For a moment, Fang Mu felt like a country bumpkin, ignorant of the world.

Previously, Fang Mu had been planning to buy a low-grade silver spatial instrument for storage.

Now, Fang Mu no longer needs to prepare for that.

Due to the nature of the marrow pact, even if one's power is insufficient to fully utilize the sequential spiritual instrument, like a Five Point Star Beastmaster,

They can still enjoy the basic effects provided by the sequential spiritual instrument.

Be it the storage or independent defense capability of the Purple Ice Crystal Ring, these were both abilities Fang Mu needed.

It's often said: from the slight, one can know the general.

From the gift received, one can comprehend the type of people the [Amber Button] and others like him are..