

Beast Tamer 951

Chapter 951: The Standard of the Saint Creator!

Fang Mu gazed at the dazzling starlight before him, feeling both familiar and alien to the Land of Star Wheel.

There had already been several Stardisk Meetings.

Although Fang Mu was new to Star Wheel, he had already become acquainted with the other members.

The reason Fang Mu felt unfamiliar was probably due to the numerous experiences he had undergone in the past month.

It seemed as though the Stardisk Meeting had not been held for a long time.

Just as the other members of Star Wheel were preparing to greet Fang Mu, they suddenly noticed the Golden Stage Epic Quality Star River Messenger behind him.

...

Every Star Wheel member who possessed a Messenger knew how difficult they were to train.

Reaching such a level in the Golden Stage bloodline surely required a substantial investment in high-end Grandmaster Creator resources.

If, during the upgrade to the Platinum Tier, Fang Mu's Star River Messenger successfully advanced to a Star Sea Messenger, there was a high probability that Fang Mu's Messenger could elevate to a Star Scar Angel, becoming an Angel Species Beast.

By then, Fang Mu would be able to travel to the Heritage Land of Star Wheel and obtain a treasure from within.

All official members of Star Wheel had always aimed to enter the Heritage Land of Star Wheel.

Unexpectedly, this goal was about to be achieved by the newcomer, Fang Mu!

Every Stardisk Meeting witnessed the members refreshing their understanding of Qixing through Fang Mu.

Initially, Shui Miao invited Qixing solely because he was a Grandmaster Creator.

If there could be a Grandmaster Creator within Star Wheel, it would greatly facilitate the acquisition of Grandmaster Creator resources.

Even those with access to Grandmaster Creator channels found it hard to refuse such benefits.

Because high-level Creator resources, whether for factions or individuals, were never enough.

However, after several transactions, Star Wheel members discovered that Qixing was not an ordinary Grandmaster Creator.

An ordinary Grandmaster Creator simply had no means to enhance someone's lifespan.

The lifespan of Golden Bull had clearly been extended.

This was evident from the last Stardisk Meeting based on Golden Bull's performance.

Fang Mu, representing Libra, had also met with Shui Miao representing Aquarius and Jin Ya representing Gemini.

Fang Mu had met three Star Wheel members in reality.

All three had greatly benefited from their transactions with Fang Mu.

Otherwise, they would not have immediately warmed up to Fang Mu upon meeting him.

Especially Jin Ya, representing Gemini.

Jin Ya had previously maintained an unflappable demeanor during Stardisk Meetings, but now seemed to treat Fang Mu like an old friend.

This made the other Star Wheel members who had not met Fang Mu in reality look at him with a hint of inquiry in their eyes.

Capricorn raised an oddly stitched doll in his hand.

Fang Mu could clearly see that the doll had undergone significant changes since before.

Originally, for some reason, the doll's two eyes had been plucked out, leaving two noticeable holes.

But next to the holes, three eyes had been sewn onto each side.

The doll's mouth was also split open and filled with dark red threads.

This doll spoke to Fang Mu in a noisy, peculiar voice.

"Do you have any good gains on your side?"

Fang Mu knew upon hearing this that Capricorn intended to trade Dead Creatures with him.

Fang Mu replied with a smile,

"Of course, I do have some good gains on my side."

"In addition to Dead Creatures, I also have other gains!"

"Do you by any chance have plans to trade Spiritual Energy?"

"I have discovered that many Guardian Beasts have certain reactions to Spiritual Energy, especially those inherited from the fourth and fifth Epochs!"

The mention from Fang Mu left those familiar with him, such as Shui Miao, Liang Jun, and Jin Ya, all taken aback.

They silently wondered what Fang Mu meant by his words.

Could it be that Qixing had achieved the freedom of Spiritual Energy, having so much that he could afford to trade it?

Otherwise, Fang Mu wouldn't have rashly brought up trading Spiritual Energy.

Upon hearing Fang Mu's words, Capricorn showed a clear interest.

This time, Capricorn unusually chose not to use the doll in his hand to speak for him, but instead spoke in a voice that sounded very soft and sticky,

"Spiritual Energy, I will trade as much as you can provide!"

"If you are willing to trade more Spiritual Energy with me, I am willing to owe you a favor!"

“If you need my help with anything in the future, as long as it does not harm my interests,”

“I will help you solve it!”

Fang Mu was somewhat surprised by these words.

The reason Fang Mu proposed trading Spiritual Energy was simple.

Firstly, because the Abdominal Space was currently producing enough Spiritual Energy for his own use.

Instead of keeping these resources to himself, it was better to use them to accumulate other resources.

For Fang Mu at the moment, Spiritual Energy was a continuously regenerating resource!

It was like water automatically springing from a well!

Fang Mu prioritized trading the Infinite Silver Silkworm with the glorious faction because he preferred exchanging valuable resources with factions close to him.

Since the relationship with the glorious faction was good, the stronger they became, the more value they could create for Fang Mu.

This is what led Fang Mu to choose to trade with Star Wheel members when trading Spiritual Energy.

It was akin to internal resource swapping.

Star Wheel members were partners to one another.

Chapter 952: The Standards of a Saint Creator!_2

Secondly, Fang Mu wanted to use these resources to win over Star Wheel members with whom he had not much interaction.

Fang Mu did not like those who, in order to gain immediate benefits, would continuously make promises.

Because such people often do not take responsibility for their promises.

People like Capricorn, who put ugly words upfront, tended to value their promises even more.

Before Fang Mu could respond to Capricorn, the woman sitting in the Virgo seat had already spoken.

“Capricorn, this trade is jointly conducted between Libra and all our Star Wheel members,” she said.

...

“Where is the reason to give the entire trade to you!”

“If Libra has no special preference, it is also fair to distribute this Spiritual Energy according to the number of people trading!”

“Spiritual Energy is not only useful to you, it’s useful to all of us!”

The woman sitting in the Virgo seat spoke fluently, with flower shadows moving around her intermittently.

Previously, Fang Mu did not understand this situation, and had thought that this woman had contracted some special spiritual instrument or Guardian Beast.

Later, in the conversation with Shu Liangjun, Fang Mu found out.

When a Sequential one Guardian Beast stepped into Order, the Beast Master would receive corresponding energy feedback and activate their own Dharma Aspect.

The state of the woman at this moment was the manifestation of Dharma Aspect.

Shu Liangjun and Shui Miao possessed Dharma Aspects as well.

It was just that some people were willing to display their Dharma Aspect, while others were not.

Seeing Capricorn's sullen gaze turn toward her, Virgo showed no fear, her gaze calmly meeting Capricorn's.

In the trade of Spiritual Energy, Virgo was not going to give in at all!

Sagittarius sat there boldly, devoid of a lady's demeanor.

But it was precisely this bravery that added a distinctive heroic air to Sagittarius, unlike ordinary women.

"Capricorn, why do you always like to monopolize?" asked Sagittarius.

"Monopolizing is not a good habit!"

After saying this, Sagittarius looked seriously at Fang Mu.

“Libra, if you’re trading Spiritual Energy, count me in,” she said.

Sagittarius also clarified her intention to trade with Fang Mu, which prevented Capricorn from continuing to target Virgo.

Scorpio and Cancer also expressed their willingness to trade Spiritual Energy.

Cancer, towering like an iron tower, was not eloquent, but Scorpio was a very shrewd person.

After assessing his own situation and confirming his urgent need for Spiritual Energy, Scorpio spoke up.

“Libra, I am willing to offer any resource in exchange for trading Spiritual Energy with you,” said Scorpio.

“The moment you open your mouth, I will never go back on my word!”

Through these encounters with Fang Mu, Scorpio had already figured out what kind of person Fang Mu was.

Fang Mu valued fairness in trade.

This fairness not only secured Fang Mu's own interests but also protected the interests of the other traders.

Under such a premise, Fang Mu would not be making excessive demands.

Friendships were formed bit by bit.

A single gesture of goodwill might not earn Fang Mu's friendship.

But over time, the relationship between Fang Mu and oneself would inevitably become closer than with others!

Shu Liangjun silently watched the other Star Wheel members compete for the resources Fang Mu had proposed.

Before Fang Mu joined the Star Wheel, such a situation had never occurred.

Previously, trades were mostly conducted between two parties.

A tradesperson engaging with multiple parties led to competition which, firstly, was a loss of dignity for the trader.

Secondly, there were only a few resources that could possess such attraction!

Yet, the items Fang Mu offered for trade were those most fundamental and irreplaceable resources.

After joining under Fang Mu and becoming Fang Mu's Dao Protector,

Shu Liangjun would receive any needed resources from Fang Mu, negating any need to compete with others.

After it was confirmed that Qixing was a Saint Creator, it seemed entirely reasonable for Fang Mu to offer any valuable resource, Shu Liangjun thought.

Shu Liangjun could ignore the temptation of pure Spiritual Qi, but Shui Miao couldn't do the same.

Indeed, the reason why Spiritual Energy was so fiercely contested was as if it were rarer than pure Life Energy.

This was because a Guardian Beast stepping into Order would have a great reaction to Spiritual Energy.

Spiritual Energy was needed to promote the advancement of ranks.

This was a secret only the Order Strong could master.

Jin Ya clearly was not aware of this situation.

Additionally, the brilliant clan had always devoted themselves to collecting Guardian Beasts that could produce Spiritual Energy.

This led Jin Ya to refrain from joining the contention with other Star Wheel members and instead chose to watch the developments.

Before meeting Jin Ya, neither Shu Liangjun nor Shui Miao knew that Jin Ya was so young.

Both had always thought Jin Ya was intelligent and wise, but this time Jin Ya was unaware of the importance of Spiritual Energy to the Order Strong.

Therefore, she did not recognize the significance of this transaction.

While everyone was preparing to compete for the Spiritual Energy Fang Mu was offering.

Warning Jin Ya would undoubtedly provoke dissatisfaction among other Star Wheel members.

Hence, neither Shu Liangjun nor Shui Miao chose to do so.

It was not until Jin Ya finished participating in the Stardisk Meeting and asked Qin Shao about the situation with Spiritual Energy.

That Jin Ya would realize just how important an opportunity she had wasted!

Fortunately, this transaction of Spiritual Energy was not the only one of its kind.

After Jin Ya learned about the importance of Spiritual Energy, there would still be opportunities to continue trading it.

In fact, not only did Jin Ya not know about the importance of Spiritual Energy, but Fang Mu was also unaware.

Fang Mu felt somewhat strange because he had never seen these Star Wheel members compete so fiercely when he offered Life Elixirs before.

Just as Fang Mu was uncomfortable pricing the Infinite Silver Silkworm, he was also uneasy about pricing Spiritual Energy.

Since Fang Mu had never traded Spiritual Energy before, he did not know its actual value.

Fang Mu cleared his throat and looked up at Shu Liangjun.

Thanks to the Dao Protector Mark, even in the Star Wheel Land Fang Mu could still perform Soul Sound Transmission to Shu Liangjun.

“Elder Shu, the liquid Spiritual Energy I have ranges in purity from forty percent to eighty percent.”

“I wonder how I should price these Spiritual Energies?”

“My master didn’t tell me the specific value of Spiritual Energy, I’m afraid I may report too much or too little later during the transaction.”

“I won’t be able to explain it to my master!”

Upon hearing this, Shu Liangjun pondered for a moment and then spoke.

“Seven years ago, the Hidden World Aristocratic Family Moon Feeding Silver City conducted a resource exchange with the outside world.”

“I received an invitation to this trade meet.”

“At this trade meeting, well-blended Spiritual Elixirs appeared.”

“I’m giving you the prices from that trade meeting.”

“Such levels of resources are mostly exchanged through barter.”

“It’s somewhat unfair to measure their value in any other way!”

“A Spiritual Elixir of forty percent purity is roughly equivalent to a Life Elixir of eighty percent purity.”

“Such purity levels in Spiritual Elixirs aren’t worth much.”

“As long as one owns a Guardian Beast that can produce Spiritual Energy, coupled with a Master Creator preparing it.”

“Several bottles can be produced each day!”

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu raised his eyebrows.

The purity of the Spiritual Energy in his Abdomen Environment, measured by Xi Xi, was around forty-six percent.

This meant that just by letting the Five Blessings Orchid Longevity Absorbing Spirit Goldfish compress the Spiritual Energy into liquid form and bottle it randomly.

Each bottle would be equivalent to a Life Elixir of eighty percent purity.

The speed of the Five Blessings Orchid Longevity Absorbing Spirit Goldfish in liquefying Spiritual Energy was not as slow as that of a Master Creator.

Making dozens of bottles a day was no problem at all!

Fang Mu just listened as Shu Liangjun continued speaking.

“A Spiritual Elixir of sixty percent purity can only be blended by a Grandmaster Creator.”

“It not only requires a large number of Guardian Beasts capable of producing Spiritual Energy but also takes a Grandmaster Creator a lot of time.”

“A Spiritual Elixir of sixty percent purity is priced similarly to a Life Elixir of ninety-two percent purity.”

“As for a Spiritual Elixir of eighty percent purity, Moon Feeding Silver City did not bring it out for trade.”

“However, I once heard that Han Ming has the capability to blend a Spiritual Elixir of eighty percent purity.”

“Han Ming even proposed at one point to make the capability of blending an eighty percent purity Spiritual Elixir a standard for evaluating a Saint Creator.”

“But it was ultimately vetoed by Contract Garden.”

Chapter 953: Fang Mu’s Assistant!

“The Contract Garden still uses the ability to concoct a Life Elixir with a purity of ninety-eight percent as the sole criterion for measuring a Saint Creator!”

“I am not a Creator, but judging from this,”

“Spiritual Elixirs with a purity of eighty percent are more rare than Life Elixirs with a purity of ninety-eight percent!”

“For an Order Strong, a Life Elixir with ninety-eight percent purity is just as important as a Spiritual Elixir with eighty percent purity.”

“Either type is an indispensable resource for Order Strong.”

“Little Wood, I didn’t know you had so many Spiritual Elixirs on hand before, I wonder if I could trade resources with you for these Spiritual Elixirs in the future?”

...

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu’s heart shook violently as he transmitted his voice to Shu Liangjun.

“Elder Shu, you are my Dao Protector, responsible for my safety.”

“What is there for us to be so courteous about?”

“If you need Spiritual Elixirs in the future, just ask me!”

“However many you need, that’s how many I can provide for you!”

“Master has been collecting Guardian Beasts that can refine Spiritual Energy, so concocting pure Spiritual Elixirs is not difficult for master.”

Shu Liangjun had just revealed a very important piece of information.

That is, Order Strong need Pure Spirit Qi.

And the value of this Pure Spirit Qi can reach the level of Saint Creators concocting Life Elixirs!

Fang Mu did not know what Order Strong would use the Spiritual Elixirs for.

But in his heart, he understood the value of the Spiritual Elixirs.

He also realized why the Star Wheel Members in front of him were scrambling for the Spiritual Elixirs he had released, not minding losing face.

Understanding the value of Spiritual Elixirs, Fang Mu couldn't help but inwardly blame himself for his rashness.

Such a precious resource, he should not have released it so readily.

Fortunately, after releasing these resources, he asked Shu Liangjun.

Otherwise, without a clear understanding of the situation, he could have easily made mistakes.

Fang Mu took a deep breath; the actor Fang Xiaomu immediately came online.

A thought struck Fang Mu, and he instantly thought of how to retract his offer of releasing resources, like the Spiritual Elixirs!

While Fang Mu was conversing with Shu Liangjun, the struggle among the Star Wheel Members continued.

Facing something like Spiritual Elixirs, no one was willing to give it up to someone else.

These were things that could genuinely enhance one's own strength!

Fang Mu watched the Star Wheel Members vie for resources, but he didn't speak up immediately.

Only when the struggle among the members began to flare up did Fang Mu seriously say,

“The reason I offered to trade Spiritual Elixirs is not because I have many of them on hand.”

“Nor do I need to use Spiritual Elixirs to trade and exchange resources.”

“The benefits of Spiritual Elixirs, you all understand better than I do.”

“I proposed trading Spiritual Elixirs because I hope Capricorn can do me a favor.”

“Or rather, whoever among you can help me with this, I can trade Spiritual Elixirs with them!”

Fang Mu’s words made the atmosphere at the scene falter.

But this did not make the Star Wheel Members feel anything unreasonable about Fang Mu’s words.

The value of Spiritual Elixirs was clear, so Fang Mu truly had no reason to casually trade away the Spiritual Elixirs.

And as a Disciple of a Grandmaster Creator, he was not entitled to do that either.

Fang Mu's actions must have been guided by Qixing.

Doing a favor for Qixing is unlikely to be simple.

But whether it was Virgo, Capricorn, Cancer, Scorpio, or Sagittarius, they were all interested in finding out more.

If it was possible to facilitate a trade, of course, it would be good.

If they couldn't facilitate the trade this time, there would still be opportunities to do so in the future.

Since Qixing was willing to let Fang Mu offer resources like Spiritual Elixirs, there would definitely be more releases of Spiritual Elixirs in the future.

This time, Capricorn did not speak up himself but continued to raise the strange doll in his hand.

The doll emitted a noisy, shrill sound.

"Libra, if I want to trade Spiritual Elixirs with you, what do I need to do?"

“And the Spiritual Elixirs you provide for me, what level of purity can they reach?”

Fang Mu pondered for a moment before saying,

“I can’t disclose this in front of everyone; it needs to be a private trade.”

“I am currently in the Dragon Rising Federation, whoever can rush to the Dragon Rising Federation within two days can come and discuss this trade with me!”

“I need a hitman above the Sequential level.”

“As long as you are willing to come to the Dragon Rising Federation to do me this favor, I will directly provide three bottles of Spiritual Elixirs with a purity of sixty percent.”

“If this matter can be completed smoothly, although I cannot offer more Spiritual Elixirs to you,”

“I can give you an opportunity to trade two bottles of Spiritual Elixirs every month.”

“Whether to trade or not is entirely up to individual decision!”

After laying out his demands and benefits, Fang Mu waited for a response from the other Star Wheel Members.

Upon hearing this, Capricorn decisively shook his head.

“Given my current location, it would take at least two weeks to reach the Dragon Rising Federation.”

“I do not meet your requirements.”

“I can find you a hitman above the Sequential level, but I cannot guarantee that those I find will keep their mouths shut.”

With that, Capricorn curled up on the Golden Chair and fell silent.

It was evident he felt somewhat despondent for not being able to trade with Fang Mu.

Capricorn has always been a very strange presence in the Star Wheel.

Chapter 954: Fang Mu's Assistant!_2

He was the most emotionally expressive among all the Starwheel members.

Sagittarius also shook his head.

“I can’t reach the Dragon Rising Federation within two days either.”

“And given my current situation, I am not suited to go out and be an enforcer.”

After confirming that he could not trade with Fang Mu, Cancer did not make much of an expression.

Instead, Scorpio became entangled.

...

After pondering for a moment, Scorpio asked Fang Mu,

“Libra, two days’ time is indeed a bit tight.”

“Would it cause any trouble for you if I arrived at the Dragon Rising Federation within three and a half days?”

The reason the Starwheel members felt such loss was not just because they couldn’t obtain those three bottles of Spiritual Elixirs.

It was because they had lost the channel to trade Spiritual Elixirs with Fang Mu.

This channel could ensure the acquisition of twenty-four bottles of Spiritual Elixirs every year.

If they could obtain these Spiritual Elixirs, the speed of power enhancement for any Order Strong would greatly increase!

Fang Mu heard this and shook his head.

Fang Mu had already communicated in advance with Liang Jun.

From the performance of the Blood Tribe, they would likely act within two days.

Within two days, Shui Miao would arrive at the Dragon Rising Federation.

With two Order Strong's along with Liu Xi controlling Mr. Zi and Beast Witch Meng Sha, as well as the people from the brilliant clan capturing a Blood Race Queen, there was only a very small possibility of failure.

And this failure did not mean that they couldn't catch the Blood Race Queen.

It was that the subordinates of the Blood Race Queen might escape, causing the news to spread.

The reason Fang Mu was looking for another helper at the Stardisk Meeting was to ensure a fail-safe.

He also wanted to meet several Starwheel members offline and form friendships with them.

"Sorry, Scorpio, if you want to help me, you need to arrive in the Dragon Rising Federation within two days!"

Scorpio did not show any displeasure upon hearing this but instead seriously said to Fang Mu,

"Libra, if there's anything you need help with in the future, just say the word."

"Maybe next time we'll have an opportunity to cooperate!"

The always silent Virgo chuckled twice.

"I can arrive at the Dragon Rising Federation within two days since I am currently operating in the outskirts of Falling Moon Canyon in the Dragon Rising Federation."

"I'm preparing to leave the meeting immediately and head for the Dragon Rising Federation."

"Libra, give me a contact way!"

"Once I arrive at the Dragon Rising Federation, I will contact you immediately."

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu directly sent a Butterfly of Whisper via Messenger toward the woman sitting in the Virgo seat.

"You can contact me with this Communication Beast when the time comes."

"I will meet with you immediately upon receiving your message!"

The woman sitting in the Virgo seat, upon hearing this, smiled and said,

"This trip, I will bring some extra Supplies, including the Shadow Eye Stone and the bodies of the High-level Blood Tribe you wanted to trade."

"If we are really going to trade, let's do it offline instead of wasting time here!"

Having said that, the woman sitting in the Virgo seat immediately withdrew from the Stardisk Meeting.

Like last time, Fang Mu traded for a large number of Shadow Eye Stones and bodies of the High-level Blood Tribe, as well as many Sewn Soul Hackers at this Stardisk Meeting.

The Sewn Soul Hackers are humanoid weapons crafted by the Evil Heart Sect and the Eternal Alchemy Association.

Whenever the forces of the Evil Heart Sect and the Eternal Alchemy Association carry out missions, they always bring a certain number of Sewn Soul Hackers.

This allows a part of the Sewn Soul Hackers to circulate outside the Evil Heart Sect and Eternal Alchemy Association.

The Sewn Soul Hackers need a special way to be mastered.

The method to manufacture the Souls of Death mastering the Sewn Soul Hackers is a closely guarded secret of the Evil Heart Sect and the Eternal Alchemy Association.

Without the Soul of Death, the Sewn Soul Hackers are useless.

The members of the Battle Hall had gone to great lengths to trade for so many Sewn Soul Hackers with Fang Mu in the short term.

Although they had traded for numerous Creator Supplies from Fang Mu, the members of the Starwheel did not feel much joy.

The Supplies they got could not compare to the trade that Virgo was about to make with Fang Mu.

Fang Mu had always been a person who acted prudently.

With a disciple as prudent as Fang Mu, Qixing's actions would certainly be even more prudent.

Therefore, this matter was almost guaranteed to succeed.

Virgo had indeed picked up a great bargain!

Cancer realized that the time was almost up, and the Stardisk Meeting was about to end.

Cancer then spoke to Fang Mu, asking,

“Libra, besides the resources you mentioned earlier, do you need any other resources?”

“The resources we have been gathering for you lately will certainly not be as plentiful as before.”

“If you have any other resource needs, it will help us to collect them!”

Fang Mu had been waiting for other members of the Starwheel to ask him this question.

Fang Mu smiled at Cancer and made his request.

“In the future, I hope to trade contaminants, sources of contamination, and the Dead as resources.”

Fang Mu originally wanted to mention the Guardian Beasts that could produce Spiritual Energy.

But Fang Mu eventually gave up including the Guardian Beasts capable of producing Spiritual Energy as resources to trade with Starwheel members.

Such foundational supplies did not match the trading resources he had proposed.

And once the Starwheel members agreed to engage in related trades, then, when they sought Fang Mu’s assistance later, he would find it difficult to refuse!

For Guardian Beasts that could produce Spiritual Energy, Fang Mu could trade them for Infinite Silver Silkworms in the future when dealing with other forces.

Hearing Fang Mu's words, the other members of the Starwheel were somewhat surprised.

Fang Mu's ability to trade with Spiritual Energy indicated that at the very least, Qixing was at the level of a Senior Creation Zenith Master.

As for the level of Saint Creator, unless there was solid evidence, few people would consider it, for a Saint Creator was far too rare.

The number of Saint Creators in the entire world was also countable on one hand.

Although the people were unclear about Qixing's realm, they knew he was a dangerous individual.

Otherwise, Qixing wouldn't research contaminants and sources of contamination, which could greatly influence Beast Masters.

Fortunately, whether it was contaminants, sources of contamination, or the Dead, they were all easy to obtain.

With some effort, they could gain a harvest from Fang Mu's hands at the next meeting.

Fang Mu had not been a member of the Starwheel for long, but gradually, the meetings of the Starwheel were becoming increasingly significant.

The recent Stardisk Meetings had all revolved around Fang Mu.

Fang Mu firmly held the C position of the Starwheel.

As Fang Mu continued to meet with official Starwheel members offline and engage in trades at the Stardisk Meetings, it was only a matter of time before Fang Mu became the core of the Starwheel.

Not only did Fang Mu himself realize this, but the other members of the Starwheel also recognized this.

Fang Mu was keen on making this happen, and the other members of the Starwheel were not at all averse to it.

Because Fang Mu brought tangible benefits to all members of the Starwheel.

After Scorpio, Cancer, and Capricorn expressed their willingness to keep an eye on these resources for Fang Mu, a meeting held among the stars quietly came to an end.

Accompanied by the Star River Messenger, Fang Mu returned to reality.

Now, all Fang Mu had to do was wait for Virgo to contact him through the Communication Beast.

These past few nights, Fang Mu had been competing with Hu Tao on the Battle Network.

Although their Peach Wood Team had risen to the Gold Rank, the battles these past few days were much simpler than taking two exhibition matches at the Silver Battle Hall.

Fang Mu did not take that exhibition match seriously, but the exhibition match between him and Hu Tao created a great stir on the Battle Network.

Not only that, even the Beastmaster Web also saw many discussing this issue.

Ze Yuan Club's Gemini stars, Feng Yue and Feng Xing, matched with Jianmu and Hu Tao, were believed to have an inside edge.

Firstly, the abilities of Feng Yue and Feng Xing did not belong in the Silver Ranks.

Secondly, their capabilities were too much of a counter to Fang Mu.

Initially, Ze Yuan Club was happy about the growing popularity of Feng Yue and Feng Xing.

But soon, Ze Yuan Club discovered that many of the casual fans of Feng Yue and Feng Xing had turned into haters.

Feng Yue and Feng Xing were following the elite route, and this route feared 'infamous popularity' the most, for when the number of haters surpassed the regular fans on the elite route, it was as good as cut off.

Chapter 955: Arrival of the Star Wheel Members!

Ze Yuan Club immediately reached out to Yang Mingyu, the person in charge of the Battle Network Silver Division.

But Yang Mingyu had no time to spare for the Ze Yuan Club, a party he wanted to cultivate ties with.

Because at that moment, Yang Mingyu was completely swamped with problems.

Yang Mingyu originally believed that with the traffic he attracted for the Silver Battle Hall, defeating his competitor to become the person in charge of the Gold Battle Hall was a sure thing.

Yet, the reality was far from as simple as Yang Mingyu had envisioned.

The day after Fang Mu participated in the exhibition match, the Battle Network's officials took the initiative to contact Yang Mingyu and inquired about the situation.

...

The Battle Network's officials always granted considerable authority to each division's person in charge.

And they hadn't imposed restrictions on the managers of the Battle Network's various divisions.

It was a common occurrence for those responsible for different ranking divisions within the Battle Network to arrange opponents for the exhibition matches.

But the opponent Yang Mingyu arranged for Fang Mu was somewhat too ridiculous.

So preposterous that it sparked questioning.

This was something the Battle Network officials could not accept!

Once such challenges arose, the Battle Network's authority would undoubtedly be compromised.

Moreover, whether it was Jianmu or Feng Yue and Feng Xing, all of them had significant followings.

This meant that even without a backstage pusher, the incident naturally evolved and spread.

Upon learning about the situation, the head of the Battle Network, after much hesitation, ultimately decided to inform the Beastmaster Alliance.

The Battle Network, as a subordinate force under the Beastmaster Alliance, was directly led by it.

Wen Xun, the head of the Battle Network's responsibilities, was well aware of Jianmu's background.

Wen Xun certainly did not want to let Yang Mingyu's actions affect him.

Wen Xun could have suppressed the issue if he wanted to.

However, he was unwilling to cover for Yang Mingyu.

As for how to deal with this matter, it was best to leave it to the Beastmaster Alliance to decide.

If the people from the Beastmaster Alliance were prepared to punish Yang Mingyu, he would execute the decision made by the Alliance.

That way, Yang Mingyu couldn't blame him for anything.

If he were to punish Yang Mingyu, a veteran of the Battle Network himself, it was bound to elicit criticism.

After all, Wen Xun had always advocated for arranging adversaries in exhibition matches to attract traffic.

Fang Mu was unaware of this development.

However, Hu Tao, being a Battle Network anchor, was very much aware of the details.

Hu Tao was quite dissatisfied with Yang Mingyu's actions.

Although Hu Tao had only recently become a Battle Network anchor, it didn't mean she hadn't enjoyed watching the drama unfold on the Battle Network before.

Hu Tao knew very clearly that Fang Mu was in a position where he could not afford to lose.

If Fang Mu lost the duel, he would face tremendous scrutiny.

It would also greatly affect Fang Mu's popularity!

If the person in charge of the Battle Network had negotiated with Fang Mu and made such a decision with his consent, that would have been acceptable.

But the person in charge of the Battle Network's Silver Division had not only failed to communicate with Fang Mu in advance, he hadn't provided any explanation afterward either.

It was only because Fang Mu didn't care about these things.

Had it been someone else, they would have long gone to argue with the person in charge of the Battle Network Silver Division!

So, facing the doubts and rhythms raised by the audience in the live broadcast room, Hu Tao did not stop them, nor did she offer any explanation for Yang Mingyu.

Hu Tao's live broadcast content mostly revolved around that night's duel.

The two previous exhibition matches caused the popularity in Hu Tao's live broadcast room to soar by the minute.

Following Jianmu and Yan Luo, Hu Tao also became a star of the Battle Network.

In the past few days, Hu Tao's personal popularity had even surpassed that of Yan Luo.

Unlike other anchors who became arrogant when they gained popularity, Hu Tao still maintained the humble and meticulous attitude she had in the beginning.

This meant that after Hu Tao's fan base increased, it became harder to lose fans due to personal reasons.

Fang Mu was very satisfied with the situation in Hu Tao's live broadcast room.

Within the next one or two months, the officials of Lu City would likely extend an invitation to Hu Tao.

After contracting the Infinite Silver Silkworm, the City Protecting Magpie's ranking improved based on its original level.

Because Fang Mu provided Hu Tao with a wealth of quality resources, the City Protecting Magpie's bloodline advanced again during the promotion to the Golden Stage.

It eventually evolved into the Barrier Silver Phoenix at noon today.

[Beast Name]: Barrier Silver Phoenix

[Beast Type]: Long-winged Species/Sturdy-winged Species

[Beast Level]: Gold (1/10)

[Beast Element]: Metal

[Beast Potential]: Platinum Tier

[Unload Wall]: Imposes an Unload Wall command on an enemy target, which lowers the target's defensive effect, converting the Armor Break effect into Spell Break effect once the target's defenses hit rock bottom.

Exclusive Trait:

Chapter 956: Arrival of the Star Wheel Members!_2

[Suffering Siphon]: When oneself or the target under one's protection is injured, one can absorb the injuries based on their severity and convert it into life energy to heal oneself. Excess life energy will be stored in the wings.

[Barrier Enhancement]: All defensive effects will continue to strengthen with the rise in rank. When sustaining an attack strong enough to breach the shield, a barrier will form post-shield break, which will block damage not exceeding one's own tolerance limit for the target once.

Evolutionary Path:

①: Barrier Phoenix, ②: City Defense Arrow Phoenix, ③: Barrier Dragon Trogon.

For the City Protecting Magpie, to transform its blood into that of a Barrier Silver Phoenix upon ascending to the Golden Stage was far beyond Fang Mu's expectations.

The advancement of a Guardian Beast's bloodline requires not only resources but also depends greatly on its inherent foundations.

...

The foundation of the Barrier Silver Phoenix is exceptionally strong, but the quality of a Guardian Beast's foundation cannot be discerned from appearances alone.

Even a Saint Creator cannot directly distinguish the quality of a Guardian Beast's foundation.

It must be discovered little by little through subsequent nurturing.

The Gold Level Skill of the Barrier Silver Phoenix, [Unload Wall], seems like an unremarkable auxiliary ability at first glance.

However, when the Barrier Silver Phoenix uses [Unload Wall] on an enemy unit, considering the Guardian Beast's strong Defensive effect, as long as the opponent's Beast Master's strength does not exceed that of the Barrier Silver Phoenix by a large margin, it can be said with certainty that the Barrier Silver Phoenix can reduce the opponent's armor to zero.

Against Guardian Beasts with weak defensive capabilities, the [Unload Wall] effect of the Barrier Silver Phoenix can also lower their resistance to elemental attacks.

This ability undoubtedly makes the Barrier Silver Phoenix have a more comprehensive impact in actual combat,

Whether pairing with the toxic attacks of the Lake Flame Gemini or with any future teammate's powerful offensive Guardian Beast, the result would be perfect!

Since Hu Tao's upgrade happened just today, Battle Network viewers are still unaware of the advancement in Hu Tao's Guardian Beast's strength.

Once Hu Tao summons the Barrier Silver Phoenix during the battle, just by looking at it,

Those with discerning eyes would recognize that Hu Tao's Guardian Beast possesses elements of both the Thousand Mile Barrier Bird and the Phoenix's bloodline.

As for the Evolutionary Path, the choice is to continue to deepen the bloodline of the Thousand Mile Barrier Bird and Phoenix, evolving towards the Barrier Phoenix.

Hu Tao has already started to rise within a short week's time,

Just like a fledgling phoenix about to soar amidst the rosy dawn.

This evening, right after Fang Mu accompanied Hu Tao in a Battle Network duel, he sensed someone sending him a message through a Legend Butterfly.

Fang Mu had made different markings on each of the Legend Butterflies he had sent out.

The Legend Butterfly bearing the message was the very one Fang Mu had sent to Virgo via messenger during the Stardisk Meeting.

Fang Mu thought Shui Miao would be the first to arrive, but to his surprise, it was Virgo who came first!

The Star Moon Canyon is not close to the Dragon Rising Federation.

That Virgo managed to arrive in such a short time meant she must have set out for the Dragon Rising Federation immediately after leaving the Stardisk Meeting.

This certainly showed Fang Mu Virgo's attitude towards wanting to cooperate and make a deal.

Fang Mu summoned the Legend Butterfly to receive the communication, and a tender yet grandiose female voice echoed in his soul.

“Libra, I am currently in Coldwater Province of the Dragon Rising Federation.”

“Should I wait for you in Coldwater Province, or should I head to The Capital of the Dragon Rising Federation first?”

Fang Mu replied directly,

“Vir... which city are you in Coldwater Province?”

“Tell me the city, and then wait for me at the entrance of the Beastmaster Alliance Headquarters there!”

“I'm on my way.”

When Fang Mu first had real-life meetings with the members of Starwheel, they addressed each other by titles.

They only started using first names after becoming more familiar with one another.

However, in real life, Fang Mu found the codename “Virgo” particularly hard to utter.

Hearing Fang Mu hesitating to use her codename and quickly changing his words,

The bright and beautiful woman on the other end of the Legend Butterfly couldn't help but laugh softly.

This laugh made the peonies blossoming in the garden seem dull in comparison.

Coldwater Province is rich in various types of floral Guardian Beasts.

At least forty percent of the Peony Class Royal Beast in the entire Dragon Rising Federation originate from Coldwater Province.

Not only did this laugh outshine the peonies in the garden, but it also stunned a few Beastmasters who happened to pass by.

"I should be in Luoming City."

"If you would prefer not to use my codename, you can just call me by my name."

"My name is Su Qing!"

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu quickly replied,

"Su Qing, then I'll set off right now!"

Right after, Fang Mu retrieved the Legend Butterfly.

If you have something to say, it's much better to say it in person when you see Su Qing than through a Communication Beast.

When Su Qing heard Fang Mu's appellation, she couldn't help but smile brightly.

The title of “senior” showed the respect the junior Fang Mu had for her.

The title of “senior”, when heard by Su Qing’s ears, made her feel much better than being called “Sister Qing” or “Aunt Su”.

Having lived for over a hundred years, even if one does not wish to acknowledge the traces time has left in their life, it is inevitable to acquire the maturity and composure that come with age.

Su Qing always despised those who were unruly and frivolous.

When walking in the Human Federation, Su Qing hesitated for a moment before putting on the Faceless Paper Mask.

In an instant, Su Qing’s appearance became ordinary.

Yet the grace and elegance exuded in her every move still caused passersby to turn their heads frequently.

Su Qing had just arrived at the entrance of the Beastmaster Alliance in Luoming City.

She saw a youth with sword-like eyebrows and starry eyes, wearing a white and blue tailored overcoat, walking out from the Beastmaster Alliance’s entrance.

With just one glance, Su Qing could affirm that this youth was Libra.

First, it was because this youth gave her the same feeling as Libra had during the Stardisk Meeting.

Second, it was because the temperament exuded by this youth was too rare to find.

Even the offspring from Hidden World Aristocratic Families could hardly cultivate such an aura.

Only those with real confidence could radiate such a calm and composed self-assurance.

Su Qing waved to Fang Mu.

At the same time Su Qing recognized Fang Mu, he also recognized her.

Su Qing was clearly using a Faceless Paper Mask to conceal her original appearance.

At this moment, Su Qing gave Fang Mu a feeling similar to the first time he met Shui Miao.

Both had unremarkable appearances, yet they could instantly capture one's attention.

Fang Mu quickly walked up, warmly saying,

“Senior Su Qing, you must have had a tiring journey getting here.”

“You probably have not eaten yet, have you?”

“Would you prefer to try some of the local specialties of Coldwater Province in Luoming City, or would you like to dine at my estate?”

Su Qing lightly shook her head upon hearing this.

“Due to contracting a special Guardian Beast, my constitution has changed.”

“I can now only consume flowers as food.”

“If you haven’t eaten yet, I can accompany you to have a meal first.”

“If you have already eaten, perhaps we could take a walk in the park ahead!”

“I think the flowers there are blooming nicely.”

Fang Mu, upon hearing her words, pondered a moment and then understood what Su Qing meant.

Fang Mu was not curious about Su Qing’s constitution.

Guardian Beasts changing one’s constitution was nothing new in the Beastmaster world.

There were several types of such beasts that Fang Mu himself knew of.

However, among the Guardian Beasts Fang Mu knew, none required their Contractors to consume petals.

Su Qing inviting him to the park was not merely for a casual stroll, but also to find out whom he was planning to act against.

Fang Mu had no intention of keeping the matter of him acting against the Blood Race Queen a secret from Su Qing.

Moreover, even if he wanted to, he couldn’t keep it hidden from her.

She would inevitably find out who the target was when the action took place.

“Since Senior Su Qing finds the flowers in the park pleasing, I would be honored to admire them with you,”

“I happen to have several fine blooms with me.”

“If Senior Su Qing is willing, you’re most welcome to taste them!”

Having said that, Fang Mu gestured invitingly to Su Qing.

After the two entered the park, Su Qing used her spiritual power to envelop the space within a five-meter radius around herself and Fang Mu.

“Libra, I know your name is Ah Mu.”

“I have always preferred to interact with people as equals; how about from now on, I’ll call you Ah Mu and you can call me A Qing?”

“I want to know who is the target you want me to act against this time?”

“I can only agree to cooperate with you if I know the target in advance.”

“I hope you don’t mind!”

Chapter 957: Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove!

Su Qing’s words could be said to be very candid.

Her relationship with Fang Mu was merely that they were both members of the Star Wheel.

Beyond that, there were no other private dealings between Su Qing and Fang Mu.

A Grandmaster Creator who had to deal with someone, and the situation even involved the Order level, would mean the enemy was no simple matter.

Helping Fang Mu equated to standing on the opposing side of a person or a power.

Even those with the broadest minds wouldn't agree to help without first clarifying the situation.

...

Su Qing rushed to the Dragon Rising Federation as quickly as she could, first to show her sincerity.

To prove to Fang Mu that she had met the precondition of the trade.

Second, to understand the situation as early as possible and then give Fang Mu her response.

If it turned out she couldn't cooperate with Fang Mu, it wouldn't delay him from seeking the help of others.

Upon hearing these words, a hint of a smile appeared on Fang Mu's face.

Su Qing's willingness to speak clearly in advance showed that she was a very prudent person.

Fang Mu was quite willing to communicate with someone as prudent as Su Qing.

Fang Mu spoke directly,

"I have to deal with a Blood Race Queen."

After stating his target, Fang Mu didn't continue to describe the preparations made on his side for capturing the Blood Race Queen.

Fang Mu was prepared to eliminate all objective factors and give Su Qing the opportunity to consider the matter seriously.

Acting against the Blood Race Queen meant offending the entire Blood Race.

Even if Fang Mu's side had made thorough preparations, there was no guarantee that nothing unexpected would happen.

Upon hearing this, a shocked expression appeared on Su Qing's face.

She had never imagined that Jianmu's target would be a Blood Race Queen!

It was not at all simple to make a move against a Blood Race Queen.

Fang Mu's words reassured Su Qing.

She had been afraid that Fang Mu's target would intersect with her own network of relationships.

That would have made it difficult for Su Qing to proceed.

Su Qing had no personal dealings with the Blood Race, and even harbored considerable enmity towards them.

Su Qing spoke directly,

"If it's dealing with the Blood Race, I have no problem with that. I just wonder how well-prepared you are on your side, Ah Mu?"

"I have seen the entourage that a Blood Race Queen takes when she travels."

“The retinue of a Blood Race Queen is massive.”

“Aside from the Blood Servants the Blood Race Queen has at Red Moon Castle, at least four or more Blood Race Princes will attend her.”

“Without sufficient preparation, there’s no way to detain a Blood Race Queen!”

Fang Mu nodded on hearing this.

Shu Liangjun had mentioned these details to Fang Mu.

Fang Mu knew roughly how strong the Blood Race Queen was.

The truly noteworthy individuals under the Blood Race Queen, aside from the Blood Servants she raised, were indeed those Blood Race Princes!

The Dukes below the Princes could easily be taken care of.

Fang Mu promptly took out three vials of Spiritual Elixir with a purity of sixty percent and handed them to Su Qing.

“A Qing, these three elixirs are my promise to you.”

“Since I mentioned before that whether the matter succeeds or not, it would be considered a favor you did for me,”

“why not take these three vials of Spiritual Elixir now?”

“I’m not targeting this Blood Race Queen for no reason; she covets something that belongs to my master.”

“Otherwise, my master wouldn’t have sent me to target this Blood Race Queen!”

“Besides you, Golden Bull, and Aquarius will join this operation.”

“In addition to the three Order Strong, there are three Sequential peak experts to provide support.”

“Capturing this Blood Race Queen and exterminating all her Blood Servants and accompanying Blood Race members is by no means a difficult task.”

“You can rest assured!”

Su Qing accepted the three vials of elixir from Fang Mu without any courtesy.

Her approach was straightforward: take people’s resources to do their bidding.

After receiving the resources from Fang Mu, as long as she did her utmost to help him capture the Blood Race Queen and kill the Blood Race, that would suffice.

Su Qing guessed that the Blood Race Queen Fang Mu was targeting must be a new queen of the Blood Race.

Blood Race Queens have always cherished their feathers, being well aware that many forces in the Human World are very interested in the Blood Race.

Similar situations had occurred in the past, almost resulting in the loss of a queen for the Blood Race!

Only a newly risen queen of the Blood Race would dare to lead her Chosen Clan into the Human World.

According to the terms signed between the Contract Garden and the Blood Race, the visit of a Blood Race Queen to the Human World violated the agreement.

Thus, this Blood Race Queen probably wouldn't inform other members of the Blood Race about her purpose for journeying to the Human World.

Su Qing was not curious about what exactly the Blood Race Queen had her eye on from Qixing.

The fact that Qixing would hunt down a Blood Race Queen for it was enough to highlight its importance.

Su Qing always acted with precise judgment.

Since Qixing had asked Jianmu to join Star Wheel on his behalf, it indicated that Qixing had little desire for social interaction.

Therefore, Su Qing wouldn't presume to seek acquaintance with Qixing.

She only needed to form a good relationship with Jianmu to obtain resources from Qixing.

“Although these flowers here are beautiful, they are merely mundane.”

“Ah Mu, you probably don’t like the scenery here very much either.”

“Let’s not tarry here. Take me to your estate now!”

“Surely there must be flowers suitable for an elegant room there.”

“For our first meeting, I have prepared two gifts for you.”

With that said, Su Qing flicked her wrists, and in her right and left hands, she suddenly held a lustrous jade basin each.

Chapter 958: Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove!_2

Atop the jade basin stood a sprout each.

These two sprouts appeared quite ordinary at first glance.

But Fang Mu knew that the gift Su Qing, an Order Strong, brought to meet him would certainly be extraordinary!

Fang Mu could sense that Su Qing had the intention of making his acquaintance.

Subconsciously, Fang Mu utilized his Innate Divine Skill [Eye of Omniscience] from Fool's Shadow to examine the two sprouts in the jade basins.

Evolutionary Path:

①: Crystal Jade Lilac, ②: Overflowing Fragrance Lilac, ③: Healing Lilac.

Seeing the data of these two plants from Su Qing's hands, a slight change appeared in Fang Mu's expression.

Su Qing keenly noticed this.

Su Qing knew that Fang Mu must have discovered the extraordinary nature of the gift he had given!

This caused Su Qing some surprise.

The plants he had given to Fang Mu were certainly something Fang Mu would show to Qixing.

Qixing, as a Grandmaster Creator, would surely be able to see the extraordinariness of the two plants.

Yet Fang Mu, as Qixing's disciple, had also seen the exceptionality of the plants!

To have such discernment at such a young age, his level as a Creator must be far from low!

Even for an Intermediate Crafting Master, it would be difficult to discern the special qualities of these two plants upon casual inspection.

After all, the two plants had not even developed flower buds yet.

Fang Mu gracefully accepted the gift Su Qing had given.

“I thank you on behalf of my master first!”

“I will definitely nurture these two plant-type Guardian Beasts well!”

As Fang Mu’s confidence grew, he realized there was no longer any need to pretend.

However, in the presence of Su Qing, he still allowed himself to remain in a state of total engagement.

Fang Mu’s words were deliberately spoken.

Fang Mu expressed his thanks on behalf of his master, but remarked that he would personally take good care of the Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and the Golden Jade Clove.

In doing so, he was signaling to Su Qing just how much his master favored him.

Even something meant for making connections could be entrusted to him by his master!

Fang Mu believed that Su Qing would surely understand the meaning behind his words.

If Su Qing couldn’t grasp that simple implication, then all the years lived as a strong person would have been in vain!

Su Qing had come to help of her own volition, so there really was no need for her to bring a gift for their first encounter.

Moreover, the two gifts she brought were exceptionally precious!

Fang Mu had heard of Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting before.

It was listed on the rare Beast Master plant rankings.

In terms of value, it was much more precious than Red Jade Mountain Tea!

Even if Red Jade Mountain Tea evolved to produce a Flower Spirit, it could not compare with Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting in terms of value.

Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting had no combat capability whatsoever.

However, the fragrance it emitted had a powerful cultivation effect on dragon race Guardian Beasts.

It helped to improve the bloodline of dragon race beasts.

Not only that, but feeding its pollen to dragon race Guardian Beasts would allow them to purify their own bloodlines.

Bloodline purification was a process of refining the bloodline.

It could revitalise the potential of those dragon race Guardian Beasts that had not been well-cultivated from the start.

A single Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting could support a force that specialized in breeding dragon race Guardian Beasts.

While the pollen of Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting wasn't as pricey as the root powder of Sunset Elegant Lotus, one gram could still fetch a minimum of two million Dragon Rising Coins!

Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting was undeniably a money-making tree!

The exclusive traits [Rich Flower] and [Strong Root System] are universal exclusive traits.

All plant-type beastmasters could potentially exhibit these two exclusive traits during their ascension.

For most plant-type beastmasters, the appearance of these two exclusive traits would excite Beast Masters so much that they might lose sleep.

These exclusive traits offered no enhancement to combat capability.

But for a functional, production-type Guardian Beast like Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting, they were akin to divine traits!

[Rich Flower] made the branches of Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting extremely thick, allowing more flowers to bloom.

This meant Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting could release more fragrance.

The exclusive trait [Rich Flower] was different from [Magnificent Blossom].

While [Magnificent Blossom] merely increased the number of flowers, [Rich Flower] increased both the number and yield of the flowers.

[Strong Root System] enhanced the strength of the root system and its ability to absorb nutrients, inherently making the plant stronger.

As for the ability to recover the plant's health, there was simply no opportunity to use it.

Because anyone who acquired Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting would never allow it to get damaged.

In terms of Evolutionary Path, there were three options: Lucky Dragon Puking Pearl, Exploding Dragon Puking Pearl, and Sword Dragon Puking Pearl.

Fang Mu would definitely choose to evolve towards the direction of Lucky Dragon Puking Pearl.

Lucky Dragon Puking Pearl brought Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting among the ranks of the auspicious.

Exploding Dragon Puking Pearl and Sword Dragon Puking Pearl obviously enhanced the offensive traits of Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting.

Offensive traits were utterly useless for this type of functional beast.

Golden Jade Clove was auspicious by nature.

The skill [Warming God] had the effect of nurturing spiritual power.

Its fragrance could speed up the recovery of spiritual power and soothe the fatigue brought by its use.

It was a type of plant-class Guardian Beast that helped Beast Masters improve their spiritual power.

Although it was not on the level of sacred relics, it could still aid the sacred relic Falling Cherry Essence.

Fang Mu estimated that with the skill [Warming God] from Golden Jade Clove, he could extend his daily soul refinement time through the sacred relic Falling Cherry Essence by at least half an hour!

Beasts that could improve a Beast Master's own abilities were always more valuable to Fang Mu than those that produced resources.

Because of the exclusive trait [Long Flowering Season], as long as Fang Mu was willing to supply resources to Golden Jade Clove, it could keep blooming all year round.

It could provide assistance to Fang Mu over a long period of time.

Golden Jade Clove itself was not capable of forming a Flower Spirit.

However, through the exclusive trait [Accompanying Flower Spirit], it could sign a pact with Flower Spirits of the same species, not only speeding up the growth of the Flower Spirit's strength but also using the bloodline of the Flower Spirit to further stimulate its own fragrance.

This would make the effects of the fragrance even more potent!

Maintaining Golden Jade Clove in bloom throughout the year would certainly require a vast amount of wood element potions and Life Energy.

Fang Mu had as much of this as he needed.

Once Fang Mu returned to the Mountain Manor, he planned to cultivate Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove immediately.

In general, Fang Mu would follow the first Evolutionary Path recommended by Fool's Shadow for breeding Guardian Beasts.

But for Golden Jade Clove, instead of evolving it into Crystal Jade Lilac, Fang Mu wanted it to evolve into Overflowing Fragrance Lilac!

Chapter 959: Borobudur!

The Golden Jade Clove evolved into the Crystal Jade Lilac, its golden branches turning into a yellow crystal texture.

It could elevate the Golden Jade Clove from a Middle Grade Auspicious to a High Fortune level.

The elevation of the auspicious level was equivalent to increasing the market value of the Golden Jade Clove.

Once the Golden Jade Clove came into Fang Mu's hands, he nurtured it.

Fang Mu would never actually sell the Golden Jade Clove.

Selling a pot of Golden Jade Clove wasn't as good as casually selling a bottle of Spiritual Elixir!

...

Compared to the value of the Golden Jade Clove, enhancing its functionality was more important!

Once evolved into the Overflowing Fragrance Lilac, the scent of the Golden Jade Clove would become even more intense.

The effect of the Skill “Warming God” would also see a significant enhancement!

Su Qing was willing to give such a greeting gift demonstrated her attitude toward him.

This was Su Qing’s way of showing goodwill, though the method was extremely subtle.

In Su Qing’s expectation, she probably had to wait until he brought the Golden Jade Clove and Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting to Master Qixing, then have Master Qixing owe her a favor in return.

This would very likely make Master Qixing develop some favor toward Su Qing afterward.

Firstly, Master Qixing’s identity was fabricated by Fang Mu; Master Qixing was indeed Fang Mu himself.

Secondly, Fang Mu preferred a direct response to this type of proactive goodwill.

“A Qing, unless I am mistaken, these two plant-type guardian beasts should be one pot of Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and one pot of Golden Jade Clove.”

“My master has always been very fond of functional-type guardian beasts.”

While speaking, Fang Mu took out a bottle of Life Elixir with ninety-eight percent purity and handed it to Su Qing.

“My master always taught me to make good connections, but not to owe favors to others, this is my return gift.”

“I hope we can have more opportunities to cooperate in the future!”

Fang Mu’s words carried dual meanings.

When Fang Mu mentioned his master’s love for functional-type guardian beasts, he was implying that Su Qing could engage in more trades using functional-type guardian beasts with him in the future.

Giving a bottle of Life Elixir with ninety-eight percent purity as a return gift to Su Qing was of higher value compared to the Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove.

It’s not that Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove lacked functionality, but these functions could only be effective in the hands of those with abundant resources.

For those with insufficient resources, just cultivating the Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove was challenging enough.

Let alone utilizing the effects of the Earth Dragon Pearl Spitting and Golden Jade Clove!

Fang Mu was openly demonstrating his capabilities, clearly telling Su Qing that Master Qixing was a Saint Creator!

It let Su Qing clearly understand the value of connecting with Master Qixing.

This would make Su Qing more inclined to engage and even align with Master Qixing's group of influence.

The Beastmaster world was incredibly harsh and realistic; in this world, there was no such thing as unfounded favor or goodwill.

Especially during trading processes.

Showcasing one's capability was arguably the best way to build connections in the Beastmaster world.

Fang Mu, on mentioning Master Qixing's preference for functional-type guardian beasts the first time, reiterated his hope for future cooperation again.

Fang Mu believed Su Qing would understand the implications of his words.

Of course, Fang Mu had no intentions of forcing or demanding anything.

Once Su Qing understood his meaning, Fang Mu would use his available resources to trade with Su Qing accordingly.

Mutual benefits were crucial for sustaining long-term cooperation.

At this moment, Su Qing's expression was no longer as calm as before.

Su Qing stared at the bottle in Fang Mu's hand for a long time before lowering her head.

Moments later, when she raised her head, her expression had returned to its gentle and composed state.

Every smile and frown of Su Qing exuded elegance, making her otherwise ordinary face seem radiant.

Su Qing and Fang Mu were of the same generation, yet in Su Qing's heart, Fang Mu was still a junior.

Su Qing did not want to lose her composure in front of a junior.

Even though Su Qing regained her composure, she was still extremely shocked inside.

Master Qixing was actually a Saint Creator!

And likely not a newly appointed one.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have so casually disregarded a Life Elixir with a purity of ninety-eight percent.

To even allow his disciple to decide the use of a Saint Creator-level elixir!

Su Qing did not refuse.

The bottle of elixir Fang Mu handed over represented goodwill from Master Qixing's side.

Only by accepting this gesture could she engage more with Master Qixing in the future.

"Ah Mu, I will accept this elixir, please thank Master Qixing for me!"

As an Order Strong, Su Qing could address a Grandmaster Creator as 'Your Excellency', an adequate way to show her respect.

In the Beastmaster world, there's an unwritten rule that no matter one's strength, facing a Saint Creator always requires addressing them as 'Master'.

It's the same for a Grandmaster Creator!

Fang Mu acknowledged Su Qing's form of address.

"Let's go back to the manor."

"If you consume flowers, may this Heaven Fragrance Peony serve as your treat?"

With that, Fang Mu took out a Heaven Fragrance Peony larger than two bowl spans.

This Heaven Fragrance Peony was deliberately pruned by Fang Mu half a month ago while trimming the branches of the Heaven Fragrance Peony.

In conditions of ample resources, it was very easy for the Heaven Fragrance Peony to form buds and bloom.

However, if two flowers bloomed on the same branch, it was highly likely that neither would form Flower Beads.

Once Fang Mu noticed this, he began to prune half-opened buds whenever a branch bloomed.

Chapter 960: Bodhi!

Although this half-opened flower bud couldn't be propagated by cutting, it could still bloom normally as long as it was soaked in a high concentration of the Life Elixir.

The bud absorbed the life energy and was able to bloom normally!

Fang Mu stored these blooming buds in his Purple Ice Crystal Ring, where they could be preserved for a long time.

Under the moonlight, the flowers of the Heaven Fragrance Peony emitted a faint pinkish-purple mist.

Their ethereal and luxurious scent filled the surroundings, making all other flowers in the park pale in comparison, and elevated the overall style of the park in the early autumn season.

...

The moment Su Qing saw the Heaven Fragrance Peony flowers, she felt a surge of hunger.

This hunger was so intense that even her own physique was attracted to the Heaven Fragrance Peony flowers.

In fact, Su Qing's desire for the Heaven Fragrance Peony flowers was even more fervent than for the 98% pure Life Elixir.

Su Qing, intoxicated, took a deep breath of the scent, and took the Heaven Fragrance Peony from Fang Mu's hands.

She gently parted her red lips and tore off a petal with her teeth.

After chewing lightly a few times, Su Qing's beautiful amber eyes curved up.

Her eyebrows lifted slightly in a clearly enjoyable expression.

At that moment, Fang Mu keenly noticed that the fragrance of the Heaven Fragrance Peony had intensified.

However, this scent was not emanating from the peony flowers themselves, but from Su Qing.

This piqued Fang Mu's curiosity about Su Qing's physique, but he refrained from asking further.

Everyone has their own secrets, especially a strong individual like Su Qing.

Even if Fang Mu and Su Qing were to become very close in the future, Fang Mu would not pry into her secrets, unless Su Qing chose to share them voluntarily.

Su Qing did not immediately finish eating the Heaven Fragrance Peony flower.

She lightly pursed her lips, looking seriously at Fang Mu as she asked,

"What is this peony called?"

"This peony is very useful to me; may I trade with you for one?"

Su Qing was very direct in her speech.

Rather than saying it was a trade proposal, it was more of a request.

Otherwise, a powerful person would not easily reveal what they need.

By proposing a trade for the Heaven Fragrance Peony, Su Qing was giving Fang Mu the opportunity to name his price.

Fang Mu, upon hearing this, shook his head without hesitation.

The Heaven Fragrance Peony was a very precious resource in Fang Mu's possession; it, along with the Restoring Appearance Palm, was a pillar of the Peach Beguile brand.

Today, the Peach Beguile brand had turned into a cash cow for Fang Mu.

Feng Chenhao had initially thought of establishing the Peach Beguile brand with Fang Mu, hoping that behind Fang Mu, there was at least one Master Creator, and he had sold his property hoping to make some minor profits.

Later, who knew that behind Fang Mu was not a Master Creator, but an immensely powerful and concealed god!

With his status as an agent of Peach Beguile, Feng Chenhao had climbed onto the list of the Dragon Rising Federation's new wealthy elite.

Although there was still a gap between him and the old generation of rich magnates, Feng Chenhao's wealth was enough to make him dominate his peers!

Feng Chenhao had never thought that he could become so wealthy in his lifetime.

Now even the elder running Langya Biology would consult him first on matters.

The entire family had to wait upon his good graces.

In his family, Feng Chenhao's decisions often held more sway than those of his own grandfather.

Feng Chenhao was a clever man and knew that his desires had been satisfied.

But Fang Mu clearly was not content with just that.

Fang Mu had plans to expand Peach Beguile worldwide.

Not just in Dragon Rising Federation, women worldwide loved beauty.

At Peach Beguile, any new product, no matter where in the world it was launched, could sell out.

Furthermore, Fang Mu's management strategy for Peach Beguile was exceedingly forward-thinking.

Peach Beguile was not so much pleasing female consumers as it was catering to men.

Members of wealthy families, when attending banquets to express their respect for the hosts, would bring their wives rather than just any female companion.

The matriarchs of these wealthy families often competed in terms of skincare and appearance even more fiercely than they did in their attire!

Moreover, the Heaven Fragrance Peony could also produce Flower Beads.

Heavenly Fragrance Pearls were treasures of substantial value, and later on, Fang Mu also cultivated the Fragrant Peony through the Blood Aged Wine.

Fang Mu had successfully cultivated seventy to eighty auspicious peony varieties.

However, he had not been able to cultivate the Heavenly Fragrance Peony again.

Currently, Fang Mu only had four Heavenly Fragrance Peony plants.

Even if Shui Miao wanted to trade with Fang Mu, it was impossible for Fang Mu to sell them!

The nearly a hundred auspicious peonies cultivated by Fang Mu were planted in the flower beds beside the long pavilion in the Mountain Manor.

The more than a hundred auspicious peonies bloomed competitively, adding a lot of color to the Mountain Manor.

Fang Mu had invited Su Qing to dine at the Mountain Manor after learning that Su Qing only ate fresh flowers, because of the existence of this peony garden.

Since he did not plan to trade the Heavenly Fragrance Peony to Su Qing, Fang Mu straightforwardly refused.

“I can’t trade the Heavenly Fragrance Peony to you,” he said.

“Even for my master, this type of auspicious peony is an extremely precious item.”

Upon hearing Fang Mu’s words, a clearly disappointed expression appeared on Su Qing’s face.

At that moment, Su Qing heard Fang Mu continue to speak.

“Although I can’t trade the Heavenly Fragrance Peony to you, trading you some flowers periodically is no problem!”

“I will try to persuade my master!”

Upon hearing this, a look of joy appeared on Su Qing’s face.

Su Qing wanted to trade for the Heavenly Fragrance Peony, needing specifically the flowers themselves.

Su Qing was unaware of the existence of the Flower Beads.

If Fang Mu was willing to trade the flowers of the Heavenly Fragrance Peony to her, it would make no difference to her than trading a whole Heavenly Fragrance Peony plant.

Moreover, Su Qing would not even need to cultivate the Heavenly Fragrance Peony herself, saving her a lot of trouble and resources.

“That would be very good!”

“I wonder if exchanging the fruit of the Bodhi tree for these flowers would be okay?”

“One Bodhi fruit for one flower.”

Upon hearing this, Fang Mu was internally shocked by the value that the flowers of the Heavenly Fragrance Peony held in Su Qing’s heart.

The Bodhi fruit is a light attribute spiritual material ranked high among precious items.

It is produced by the Bodhi tree, a light/wood dual attribute Guardian Beast that only grows in pure lands.

The fruit of the Bodhi tree has the function of awakening spiritual intelligence and can enhance the Spiritual Intelligence of Guardian Beasts.

For ordinary Guardian Beasts, the Bodhi fruit isn't very useful.

Because as Guardian Beasts rise in tiers, their Spiritual Intelligence also increases.

However, some Guardian Beasts' Spiritual Intelligence grows very slowly even as their tier increases.

For example, some Insect Beasts can only understand a Contractor's commands after advancing to the Platinum Tier.

No longer hazily executing commands.

Besides these low-intelligence Guardian Beasts, the Bodhi fruit also plays a significant role in awakening Vicious Beasts.

Today, all existing Bodhi fruit trees are owned by the Double Flower Fairy Residence.

By offering to trade Bodhi fruits with Fang Mu, Su Qing was also revealing her identity.

Otherwise, Su Qing could have used other spiritual materials to exchange resources with Fang Mu.

Su Qing's willingness to reveal her identity can be seen as a further gesture of goodwill from her.

"Okay, let's trade according to what you said!"

"In the next few days, I will see how many Heavenly Fragrance Peony flowers I actually have here."

Fang Mu's Blood Aged Wine would soon condense another drop.

If he could obtain a large number of Bodhi fruits, Fang Mu was very willing to first nurture the Vicious Illusion Sparrow.

Just at that moment, Fang Mu's phone rang.

Picking up his phone and seeing the caller ID, he smiled and said to Su Qing.

"A Qing, let's head back now; Aquarius has already arrived at my manor."

"You can also meet Aquarius and Golden Bull!"

“For this operation against the Blood Race Queen, the four members of our Starwheel need to work together!”

After receiving the call from Shui Miao, Fang Mu felt exceptionally confident.

Now that everything was ready on his side, all that was needed was for the Blood Race to make a move.

Fang Mu could then initiate an operation against the Blood Race outside the area of the Dragon Rising Federation.

The Blood of Abundance was only a step away from advancing to the Legendary Quality.

Fang Mu thought to himself.

With the help of this Blood Race Queen and her entourage of Blood Servants, could the quality of the Blood of Abundance be enhanced?

Fang Mu had a premonition that once the Blood of Abundance advanced to Legendary Quality, the exclusive traits it would offer would bring him a genuine surprise!
