

Chosen Mate Of The Beastmen Empire

Of The Bea 241

Chapter 241

192

The man in the mascot costume found it absurd. He had debated for a while whether to let these kids go, but now they were practically delivering themselves to him.

It seemed like this was fate; he decided to kidnap these three children and sell them.

Nyx was inside the haunted house, playing a puzzle game.

Back when she lived on Earth, she had never visited an amusement park.

But in the Empire, she often went out to play.

However, there were no haunted houses in the Empire's amusement parks,

Nyx curiously looked around. The dim environment and eerie music created a terrifying vibe, making one instinctively feel uneasy.

"Nyx, aren't you scared?" The female colleagues' voices trembled, noticing Nyx seemed unusually calm. Nyx shook her head. She had never believed in these things since she was young, and now with the protection of the Divine Tree, she wasn't afraid of such illusory things.

Besides, everything here was fake-just props and NPCs played by employees.

As they were talking, a cold hand suddenly reached out from under a table and grabbed at their legs, causing a burst of screams.

Nyx swiftly dodged, pulling her colleagues to steady them. "Be careful."

The female colleagues, still shaken, clung to her tightly, treating her as their savior.

Nearby. Aurelius gaze landed on Nyx's arm, which was being held by her colleagues, his eyes narrowing

"There's a clue here," he spoke up to alert everyone, drawing their attention, while subtly moving closer to Nyx and quietly taking her hand

Just then, the wardrobe suddenly opened. With a loud crash, a skeleton fell to the ground.

Aurelius immediately grabbed Nyx, burying his face into her neck, breathing rapidly, as though frightened.

"Don't be afraid." Nyx gently held him, softly patting his back. "it's all fake"

She didn't feel anything unusual at all. After all, no one said that powerful males couldn't be scared of ghosts. Moreover, it was completely normal for a little kitten to be easily frightened.

The others fell into silence, and even the employee dressed as a ghost stood frozen. In all his time working here, this was the first time he had seen something like this.

A man so tall curled up in his girlfriend's arms, asking for comfort and protection from her.

Erik was almost laughing with rage, thinking this tiger truly was as shameless as always.

He raised his hand and grabbed Aurelius by the collar, ripping him away from Nyx. "If you're scared, you can follow me."

He emphasized, his tone full of meaning "Let me protect you"

1/3

99%

Chapter 211

"No need." Aurelius took a deep breath. Tim not scared."

However, his eyelashes trembled uncontrollable. It looked as if he was trying to feign calmness.

Nyx's affection for him only grew, and she took his hand. "Don't try to act brave. Close your eyes. I'll guide you."

With that, her mind was almost entirely focused on Aurelius.

With his plan succeeding. Aurelius secretly delighted in it, casting a provocative glance at Erik.

Thanks to Nyx's colleagues, he had gained such wonderful inspiration.

The female colleagues, who had witnessed the entire scene, exchanged looks, and even their fear seemed somewhat diminished.

They thought. Who would have thought that the mighty Your Highness of the Beastmen Empire is like this? They couldn't help but look at the green-eyed Theon and Erik with sympathy.

Both Theon and Erik clenched their fists. Once they left the haunted house, they couldn't take it anymore and shoved the tiger aside. "You rest here; we'll go with Nyx to the next activity."

Nyx also agreed, patting Aurelius on the head. She thought, 'A frightened little kitten should be basking in the sun, resting

Just sit here and take a break, we'll go to the water activities and come back to get you later," suggested Nyx.

Aurelius obediently lowered his head, but there was a flash of anxiety in his eyes. He didn't want to be left behind.

He was racking his brain to find an excuse to follow along when he suddenly noticed Archie with his friends running toward them, shouting. "Something's happened, dear sister."

Nyx turned her attention to them upon hearing, realizing the cubs were missing.

But she wasn't overly panicked. "What happened? Speak slowly."

Though the cubs were young, they were very strong in combat, equipped with weapons in their Space Buttons, and their Intelligent Brains could quickly contact anyone when need be. Their safety was well ensured.

Archie's friends gasped for breath. "Someone's going to die. Chubby caught a human trafficker, and they're about to kill him."

With that, the surroundings fell silent.

Nyx's colleagues exchanged confused looks, their faces filled with doubt. They thought, A six-year-old child is about to kill a trafficker?

Nyx's expression immediately darkened.

She had forgotten that the cubs didn't know how fragile Earthlings were. If they acted without caution, they might actually cause someone's death. "Show me the way. Quick!" she urged.

A circle of people had gathered around the scene of the incident.

The human trafficker lay on the ground, barely alive. The head of his bear costume had been knocked askew, exposing his face as the crowd pointed at him and hurled curses.

"He deserved to be beaten to death."

"I think he must've fallen by himself. Three kids-how could they beat such a big man?"

2/3

04:56 Mon, 3 Mar Q

Chapter 241

"Exactly,"

The little girl's parents had already arrived, still shaken, holding their child who had narrowly escaped. They took some time to calm down before handing the candy the child had clutched to the police. "Make sure to punish that heartless bastard. well

"Don't worry." The police assured, carefully sealing the evidence and comforting the victim's family.

However, the case still needed further investigation

The police turned their attention to the three children who were rumored to have knocked the trafficker out with one punch, causing him to vomit blood.

Archic quickly moved Chubby, Sky, and Ash behind him, pulled out his ID, and quietly explained the situation to the police.

In an instant, the police's expressions toward the three little ones changed. They thought, Nyx's children? No wonder, the witnesses said that the trafficker almost died after just one punch from them!

"I only hit him lightly." Chubby raised his hand innocently, as he remembered that Nyx didn't allow him to beat people.

If that trafficker hadn't stopped them from leaving and pulled out a towel soaked with ether to try to cover their mouths, he wouldn't have fought back.

"It's okay. We believe you." the police, in front of the three well-connected little ones, spoke with the gentlest tone, almost squeaking in their voices.

When Nyx and her group arrived, the police were even more respectful, apologizing profusely, "We are so sorry for the bad experience caused to you and your children; it was truly our negligence.

What was supposed to be an ordinary human trafficking case was immediately connected to Nyx, turning it into a huge event that could shake the entire Earth.

If this impacted Nyx's opinion of Earth, and in turn, the Beastmen Empire's stance toward Earth, not only would the trafficker deserve to die, but these local law enforcement officers would also face punishment and be regarded as sinners of the entire planet.

The police were drenched in sweat and immediately reported the incident to their superiors.

The onlookers whispered amongst themselves, wondering who these people could be. They thought, Relatives of a city leader? Provincial officials? Could they be national-level figures?

3/3

Of The Bea 242

Chapter 212

Chapter 242

Upon seeing Nyx, Chubby, Sky, and Ash immediately lowered their heads. "Sorry

On their first day on Earth, they caused trouble and made things difficult for ir mom.

99%

"I didn't mean to hit him that hard, Chubby muttered defensively. He didn't expect that the guy, looking so fierce, would be so fragile.

The other onlookers thought the trafficker must have had some illness, and it was just bad luck that he collided with these kids

Archie, however, knew the truth. He thought, 'Dear sister's children are terrifying

Thinking back to how he had even tried to take revenge on Chubby, he couldn't help but wipe the sweat off his forehead, truly realizing how foolish he had been

He suddenly felt that Chubby was actually quite nice to him.

Sky was holding a melting grape-flavored ice cream, awkwardly hiding it behind his back.

He had forgotten to put the ice cream in the Space Button, and the ice cream he had bought for Nyx had melted.

Ash and Sky exchanged glances and dashed off to the ice cream stand. "Ill go buy another one for Nyx." In front of such obedient little ones, no one could bring themselves to scold them. Nyx bent down and kissed each of their faces. "You protected that girl; good job." As for the trafficker, as long as he still had breath, it wasn't a big deal to Nyx. The little girl's family was overcome with gratitude towards the three little saviors.

If they hadn't helped, their daughter might never see her family again in this lifetime. What awaited her could be being sold to a poor village, turned into someone else's organ donor, or becoming a disabled beggar on the streets.

The little girl's mother couldn't bear to think any further. She took off the gold bracelet from her wrist and tried to shove it into Nyx's hands, offering to transfer money as well.

"You don't have to do this. Nyx waved her hand, refusing the monetary gift.

"What about a thank-you letter? Can you give us an address? The work address will do, we'd like to send a thank you letter to you. They didn't give up.

Suddenly, the roar of flying vehicles suddenly filled the sky, interrupting the conversation.

People looked up and saw several official flying vehicles heading towards the amusement park.

They thought, "Are important people coming? There's no way they'd go to such lengths just for a human trafficker. So... who exactly are the parents of these triplets?"

The flying vehicles slowly descended, and security personnel formed a line, dispersing the crowd.

The crowd's curiosity remained unsatisfied as people craned their necks, trying to see who the visitors were, whispering and exchanging information.

"It seems like there's a mayor

1/4

04:56 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 212

"Oh my."

Then they must be relatives of provincial leaders, why else would the mayor come personally?"

"Wait-no!"

"There's also a provincial leader here,"

As more people arrived, they could no longer see clearly and could only see the provincial leader shaking hands and bowing to the parents of the triplets.

"Is it really a national-level big shot?"

"Strange, why can't I find out who they are?"

"Duh, how could a big shot be so easy to look up?"

"Quick. let's go buy the same ice cream."

"Looks like the human trafficker has hit a wall. He's in big trouble."

"He deserves it."

The crowd lingered near the amusement park, reluctant to leave, eager to see more of the drama unfold.

Gradually, many more advanced flying vehicles arrived, and some even had flags and symbols of other countries on them.

The onlookers were dumbfounded, completely confused by the situation. They thought, "Why are foreign officials here? Has a human trafficking case really escalated to an international level?"

The roar of flying vehicles occasionally filled the sky, making the boss's friend feel uneasy and nervous.

The friend who had been kicked out by the boss sneaked back while the boss was leaving with Nyx.

He used to come often to build rapport with the boss, and after many visits, the boss had recorded his face in the system. and hadn't had time to delete it after their argument.

The friend made his way into the yard and into the villa, heading straight for the surveillance room, where he cut the feeds and deleted the recordings.

After finishing this, he sighed in relief but suddenly heard the roar of flying vehicles outside, which startled him like a bird scared by a bow

He hurried to the window and saw that it wasn't just any flying vehicle, but an official one, making him tremble with fear.

It must be because of Nyx

For a moment, the friend thought about backing off but soon firmed up his resolve. Now that he was here, he thought he had to at least get a vial of the gene improvement drug before leaving Knowing his boss, he hurriedly searched and, sure enough, found a special small box in the pet room. Dollar and the tabby cat, who were napping, were awakened and angrily pounced on the intruder.

"Get off, you damn cat!" The friend, unable to dodge in time, was scratched deeply on the leg, gritting his teeth and kicking

Dollar

In a flash, the tabby cat knocked Dollar aside, taking the kick instead.

2/4

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 949

#

A kick to an astute man in a rage was more than any cat could endure

Immediately, Dollar's howl became unbearably loud as it scratched at the tabby cat curled on the ground nomadic condemned

The friend's scalp tingles. He only came to steal something, never intending to kill the cat. He thought, if the drug is lost, it might be dangerous, but if the cat lies, the boss, who treats the cat like family, would definitely make me pry

He dared not stay any longer, quickly grabbing his suitcase and coming off

On the way home, the sound of a flying vehicle passing through the sky was heard again.

The friend leaned out of the car and looked, only to see it was another olivaceous flying vehicle

This time, there were more of them, and their rank was higher.

He was so scared that his hands shook. He no longer hesitated, pulled over, and injected a syringe into his arm. Then, another one

As long as he injected all the syringes, he'll gain an extra thirty years of life. Even if he got caught for burglary and convicted, it would still be worth it.

He injected all three syringes in one go and calmly tossed the syringe and small box into the waste disposal, lying down at home

There was no discomfort in his body. He sneered, thinking that he knew it was all a lie.

Near the amusement park, the crowd finally got their answer.

"Quick, check the news?"

"Look at the trending topics. The official release

•

Nyst

"Nyx! That's Nyx"

Those three kids are her children":

"What?"

In the news, Nyx and her group had temporarily removed their disguises, talking with official personnel and taking photos.

The little girl and her family also joined in, their expressions dazed, clearly still in shock. They thought, 'Good heaven, we actually got to talk to Nyx"

With Nyx around, they no longer feared human traffickers escaping punishment. That would never happen.

The official personnel apologized to Nyx and the public, assuring that they would strengthen security worldwide and crack down on all forms of crime.

They escorted Nyx and her group back to their respective residences.

The flying vehicle landed outside the boss's villa.

As the hatch opened, Nyx immediately picked up the sound of a pitiful meowing.

Her expression changed instantly. She hurriedly stood up. "I need to check on Dollar."

Seeing her change in mood, the boss panicked. "What's wrong?"

3/4

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 242

Nyx's emotions affected everyone's every move.

The group rushed into the boss's villa, moving like a military unit, following the sound to the pet room.

"Oh, my tabby!" Seeing the scene, the boss let out a sharp scream.

The room was a complete mess.

99%

If it weren't for the tabby cat lying on the floor, barely breathing, his first thought would be that the cat caused the chaos.

But the tabby cat had clearly been beaten. Someone had broken into the house.

The scene before them was shocking,

Nyx crouched down, carefully checking the tabby cat's breathing and heartbeat. It was still alive.

"It's saved." Nyx sighed in relief. "You all go out first and take Dollar with you."

The medical bay couldn't treat severe internal injuries, so she had to take care of the tabby cat herself.

The group followed her instructions and left the pet room.

The boss hugged Dollar, checked its body, confirmed there were no injuries, and slumped down helplessly onto the floor.

"Do you have surveillance footage?" an official asked.

After stressing security, something like this happens. In just one day, Nyx had witnessed two such terrible incidents on Earth, making the officials absolutely furious. They were determined to catch the thief.

Earth's image was being destroyed by these scoundrels.

The boss checked the surveillance but found it was completely deleted, leaving nothing behind.

"It's fine." He waved his wrist with the Intelligent Brain on it. "There's other surveillance. It was a gift from Nyx earlier.

now

Everyone thought, 'No matter how skilled the thief is, there's no way to delete this surveillance footage

They sat down and watched the footage together. When they saw the thief's figure sneakily appear in the footage, the boss's face turned pale.

Suddenly, the doorbell rang.

The boss opened the door, and his friend's sister stormed in, looking crazed. Upon seeing all the official personnel in the room, she froze.

She hesitated for a moment, and then pointed at the boss and angrily shouted, "Did you poison my brother?

You owe him his life!"

4/4

Of The Bea 243

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar 67 »

Chapter 243

Chapter 243

The boss furrowed his brows "Your brother's dead?"

"You're the one who's dead!" the woman shouted loudly. "My brother's in the hospital now. If anything happens to him, I won't let you of "Calm down a bit, the boss said, "Do you have evidence that I poisoned your brother?"

"What evidence do you need?" The woman clicked her tongue. "He was fine this morning, but after he left your place, something happened. Isn't it too suspicious?"

She naturally didn't have any evidence; she just wanted to extort some money.

The boss sneered, "You're right. It is indeed suspicious."

This completely took the friend's sister by surprise. She stared at him wide-eyed in disbelief. "You-"

With so many people in the room, she found herself in a tough spot.

After stammering for a long time, she mustered up the courage to make her demand. "No matter what, if you pay for my brother's medical fees and all the following costs, plus some compensation, I won't pursue this any further."

She raised her right hand and made a gesture, indicating that she wanted 80 million dollars.

For the boss, this amount wasn't much and certainly couldn't be considered exorbitant. She thought he'd likely try to settle things quietly

But the boss shook his head. "Whether you pursue this or not isn't up to you."

He pointed at the surveillance screen. "Your brother stole three vials of medicine from here, which is why he's in the hospital. We've already warned him that the medicine has side effects and could potentially be fatal.

"If he really lost his life, then it's the consequences of his own actions. But if he's still alive, I will pursue this to the end."

Looking at the familiar figure on the screen, the friend's sister was stunned.

She thought her brother didn't lack food or clothing. Although he always wanted to make more money, he never would ve fallen so low as to become a thief 'Medicine? What kind of medicine could make him crave it so badly? There shouldn't be any such medicine on Earth, right? she wondered.

She stiffened and looked at the Male Beastmen beside the boss, and she felt things were about to get worse. Soon, her bad feeling proved true. Aurelius pulled up the cost of the feline gene-enhancing drug from the Intelligent Brain, and the astronomical figure stunned everyone present.

"It's hard to convert to currency, but in terms of resources, each vial is worth half of the entire Earth's gold mine reserves. He calculated.

Together, the three vials would be enough to bankrupt the entire Earth's gold reserves.

Even though everyone in the room already knew the medicine was incredibly expensive, seeing this horrifying price left them doubting their eyes.

The friend's sister never expected things to turn out this way.

1/5

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 243

In the large living room, countless gazes were fixed on her, making her feel embarrassed.

She regretted coming here and shook her head, stepping back repeatedly. "It's not my fault."

She thought if someone should pay, it should be her brother.

She didn't want to be dragged shown into bankruptcy: While desperately thinking of ways to save some money, she tried to escape. In the police stopped her.

"What are you doing? What do you think you're doing? On what grounds are you stopping me?" In her extreme panic, she instinctively made an even more itational move and tried to shove the police aside with her hands.

This time, the police finally had the chance to act. In a few quick moves, they subdued her. "Your actions just now were extortion and you'll face legal consequences,"

The friend's sister's face turned ashen. She looked around at the cold eyes of the official personnel and belatedly realized the gravity of her situation.

The item that her brother stole wasn't just an ordinary object; it was something that attracted the attention of a dangerous figure, and now, at this critical moment, she had walked right into the line of fire. She certainly wouldn't be let off lightly

By the time Nyx emerged, holding the revived tabby cat in her arms, the farce had already come to an end. The boss was crouched on the ground, depressed,

That precious potion was a gift from Nyx to Dollar, but it was stolen because of his mishandling, and it nearly cost the tabby cat its life. Even though the culprit would face retribution, the boss couldn't shake off his sorrow, Dollar was perched on his neck and softly stroking his head with its paw, seemingly attempting to console him.

As soon as Dollar saw Nyx and the tabby cat, it abandoned the boss and dashed toward Nyx like a little whirlwind, meowing.

"Don't worry; your little buddy is fine now," Nyx said, crouching down to pet him.

Seeing this, the tabby cat shook its fur and meowed, signaling that it wanted to be petted too.

Nyx effortlessly petted both cats, skillfully making them roll around in delight, before finally withdrawing her hand with satisfaction.

When she looked up, she noticed that the boss was still crouching there. Just as she was about to ask, the official staff cautiously approached. "About those three potions, we're currently unable to compensate for them. Could we ask for a little more time?"

Nyx said, "The potions were intended for my friend. You can talk about the compensation with him." Upon hearing this, the boss could no longer hold back and began crying uncontrollably. I'm so sorry

He felt guilty for both Nyx's sincere gesture and for Dollar. He thought, 'What use is there in asking for financial compensation? Dollar's thirty years of life could never be returned.

Suddenly, a familiar small box appeared in front of him, and the boss's crying abruptly stopped.

Next, another identical box was pushed toward him by Nyx.

Nyx spoke casually, "Three for Dollar, and three for the tabby cat. This time, we won't lose them, right?" Although the cost was high, it was nothing to her at this point. She had conveniently prepared two extra boxes of the potions.

2/5

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 213

The boss stood frozen, staring at the two expensive boxes. He didn't dare accept them or even nod in acknowledgment, trembling all over.

The two cats, however, instinctively lay on top of the boxes, as if they knew these were gifts from Nyx. "Rest assured; we'll ensure the safety of the potions and the cats, the official staff promised solemnly. They were eager to salvage some of Earth's reputation. Since Nyx cared so much about the cats, they had to make sure they were well protected.

A command was issued from above, and special security personnel were stationed nearby.

Erik still wasn't fully at ease. He took some tools and equipment from the Space Button and asked the boss, "Do you need me to help modify your house?"

The boss, who had gone through a flood disaster, trusted Erik's skills and nodded, thanking Erik repeatedly. Erik didn't treat anyone with favoritism and proceeded to modify the homes of Nyx's other friends as well. He completed one house per day, and it took a total of more than ten days to finish all the modifications. During these days, the amusement park that Nyx had visited was packed from morning to night. People fantasized about encountering her or, at the very least, trying the same rides or eating the same ice cream.

she had.

However, Nyx didn't return to the amusement park. Instead, she took the cubs on a flying vessel, touring around Earth and enjoying various scenic spots.

Although Earth's level of development was relatively low, its art and culture were quite advanced, and there was no shortage of delicious food.

The three cubs were having a blast, and they had put on weight from all the food.

As the primary provider of their meals, Theon walked along, learning as he went, eager to satisfy Nyx and the cubs' appetites once they returned home.

Aurelius, on the other hand, was observing Earth.

There were many customs here that differed from those in the Beastmen Empire, and he planned to take this opportunity to learn more about them. After all, Nyx had lived here for 20 years.

Just before they planned to head back, Aurelius suddenly brought it up. "In six days, it will be the New Year. Would you like to stay and celebrate it with your friends before leaving?"

Nyx was surprised and looked up. "Huh? You know about the New Year?"

The Beastmen Empire didn't celebrate the New Year, so clearly, Aurelius had done some research just for her.

She smiled and nodded. "Sure, let's celebrate the New Year before we leave."

She did indeed miss the lively vibe of the large festivals on Earth

Since it was a holiday for family reunions, she sent a message to her mates, asking if they wanted to come and spend a few days together.

Within six days, her mates arrived. They missed Nyx so much after just one day, let alone after so many days without seeing

3/5

Mar

Chapter 213

her. They were practically longing for her, unable to sleep or rest.

Finally reunited, Nyx could truly feel the warmth of their affection.

When she was finally let go, it seemed like her home had unknowingly changed its appearance.

Aurelius had silently prepared everything, and his level of seriousness far exceeded Nyx's expectations. He had prepared everything perfectly, decorating the house in a vibrant color, even planning the New Year's Eve dinner menu.

Naturally, the other males were not to be outdone and joined in as well.

On New Year's Eve, everyone gathered together. Archie stared in shock at the males running around, wanting to help but not able to find a way to pitch in

He looked at his friends, feeling a bit awkward. "Are we Earthlings, or are they Earthlings?"

He thought. Such a true big shot in every sense, able to excel in all aspects Archie rolled up his sleeves. "I'll prepare good food for you guys. This time, I won't let Chubby outdo me in making

Bruce and Layla helplessly facepalmed. They thought, 'At his age, he's still competing with a six-year-old-so embarrassing"

Even worse, despite years of diligent practice, Archie was still completely outclassed by Chubby.

Not just Chubby, Sky, and Ash were even better at this kind of handiwork.

One blow after another left Archie feeling downcast, drowning in frustration.

With his tail between his legs, he pulled out three large gift boxes from his pocket, trying to change the subject. "Here,

them

The boxes were filled with small gold bars, a universal resource in both Earth and the galaxy.

Everyone handed out prepared gift boxes to the cubs.

For the first time, the three cubs experienced the joy of gift boxes, their eyes sparkling. Their usually mature demeanor faded, revealing their innocent and playful nature.

Ash even turned into a small gray wolf, howling in a cute wolfish tone.

Nyx was so charmed that she couldn't stop smiling, unable to resist hugging him and showering him with kisses.

Soon. Sky joined in.

Chubby quickly put down the gift boxes in his hand and rushed to Nyx.

Nyx was holding one cub in each arm, with another one wrapped around her.

She suddenly felt a fluffy sensation on her calf and looked down to find Dollar and the tabby cat also nudging her legs.

Take

In under a month. Dollar's weight didn't go back to its highest point, but it wasn't skinny anymore. It turned back into a round, chubby orange cat.

Nyx gave a thumbs-up to the boss. "As expected of you."

Even the tabby had put on weight, its once agile and muscular form now slightly plump.

The boss awkwardly waved his hand. "It's mostly because they worked hard themselves."

4/5

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 243

The two cats, who had survived a near-death experience, were now completely out of danger and had regained their health

Nyx had achieved her goal on this trip and had a particularly happy New Year.

Upon returning to the Empire, she spent several days organizing photos and videos.

Life returned to normal. But for some reason, Nyx couldn't shake the feeling that the males in the house were secretly planning something.

The feeling became more distinct and intense. She didn't overthink it but directly asked the most honest Theon. "Is there something you guys are hiding from me?" Theon couldn't hide anything. He stammered. "Nyx... did... did you find out?"

Of The Bea 244

Chapter 214

Chapter 244

Nyx thought. So they really are hiding something from me? She squinted her eyes,

Theon couldn't stand her probing gaze and didn't immediately confess. Instead, he tried to struggle. "We're not ready yet.... Can you give us a little more time?"

After a moment of silence. Nyx nodded. "Alright."

It seemed like her mates were planning a surprise for her, and she shouldn't spoil it by probing too much. But curiosity was impossible to resist.

Nyx secretly calculated her birthday and the anniversary of her arrival at the Empire. It seemed that both were far off, not in the near future.

The more she thought about it, the more curious she became. She thought, "What on earth are they planning?"

After thinking for a few days without reaching a conclusion, Nyx decided to stop obsessing over it and set it aside for now.

She took the cubs to Coleman's to get new clothes made.

The three cubs grew up wearing clothes personally made by Coleman, and they were quite familiar with this elder gentleman. As soon as they arrived at the studio, they rushed up and called out, "Coleman!"

Facing the adorable cubs, Coleman couldn't maintain his perfect gentleman image. He smiled wide, showing his teeth, and hugged each of them one by one. "You've grown up."

"Hey, what's this?" Chubby noticed something exquisite on the table, something they had never seen before. Nyx, hearing the sound, turned her head to look in the direction he pointed, and was surprised to find that it was a crown.

It seemed like it was still a work in progress, not yet completed. The material was entirely made of gold, studded with various gemstones, exquisitely crafted, making her imagine what the finished product would look like-luxurious and dazzling

This wasn't a common design from the Empire, nor was it Coleman's usual style.

When Nyx looked at him with questioning eyes, Coleman nodded. That's right; this is a design I made based on traditional Earth jewelry. There are so many beautiful things on Earth that inspire new ideas in me."

As he spoke, he picked up the crown from the table. "Would you let me try it on, just to see how it looks?" Nyx didn't think much and lowered her head compliantly. "Sure"

The size of the crown fit her perfectly. With Coleman's help, Nyx successfully placed the heavy crown on her head. She lifted her gaze and gazed at the mirror in awe. She thought, "It's so beautiful."

She had always believed she wasn't suited for such luxurious attire, but with this grand and delicate crown, she found she could pull it off

Coleman was also quite pleased. After admiring her for a while, he took out another old-style crown with a veil "Here, try this one too."

Nyx couldn't help but tease him. "Are you trying to break into the jewelry business?"

Although Coleman had occasionally matched jewelry for her when designing clothes in the past, it had never been his main focus. This time, though, he had designed two such high-level headpieces all at once.

1/2

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 211

99%

Coleman smiled slightly without explaining

The two crowns were just a small interlude. After Nyx tried them on, he put them away and got down to business.

Compared to the last time she came for clothes, Nyx hadn't changed much in size, but the cubs had to be re- measured.

Not only had they grown taller, but they had also put on some weight after eating well on Earth.

Coleman had no choice but to urgently adjust the size of the previously custom-made clothes so they wouldn't be too tight.

The clothes for the three cubs were quite an enormous task. It wasn't until evening that Nyx, with the cubs, returned home. laden with their new outhts,

When she opened the door to her home, Nyx was stunned,

2/2

AD

Comment

Send gift

Of The Bea 245

Chapter 245

The house had been decorated like a dreant

Flowers and candles were scattered throughout every corner, light gauze and balloons surrounded the space-these decorations were rare in the Empire and were clearly in the Earth style.

What surprised Nyx even more was the attire of her mates.

She stared at Theon in his military uniform and Zayne in his doctor's outfit, and then looked at the other mates, and suddenly realized-this was how they had looked when they first met.

The males surrounded her, their gazes gentle as they looked at her.

"Nyx, will you be our matron?" As the main planner of the event, Aurelius kneeled on one knee and held up a ring.

Nyx stood there, unable to snap out of it for a while.

She thought back to Coleman's mysterious smile and finally understood why he had asked her to try on the two crowns. They were wedding headpieces prepared for her.

During their trip to Earth, the males had done a lot of research, learning about Earth's wedding ceremonies and wanting to give their beloved female a grand wedding

Nyx looked at her mates kneeling before her, her heart pounding wildly.

Even though they had been living together for six years, with three cubs now, being asked for marriage so formally still made her feel emotional. After all, she had grown up on Earth. As a child, she had also fantasized about proposals and weddings like other little girls

She extended her hand, allowing Aurelius to put the ring on her.

"What's this?" The material of the ring felt strangely familiar to her.

The band was made of wood, with a transparent gemstone that looked very unique.

Nyx curiously touched the gemstone, and to her surprise, it began to glow with a dazzling light.

"It's a branch of the Divine Tree, entwined with the Sacred Crystal" Aurelius took her hand and kissed it lightly. "The Divine Tree made the rings for us and even picked the perfect date for the wedding."

The wedding was set for three days later.

Even though it wasn't widely publicized and only friends and family were invited, the wedding still caused a stir across the entire empire. The whole StarNet was set ablaze.

[Look, I captured a photo of Lord Nyx]

[I also took a photo.]

[I recorded a video.]

[Wow.]

[Lord Nyx is still so beautiful.]

1/4

04: Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 215

[Such a stunning white dress, no wonder it's designed by Master Coleman.]

[Isn't this the kind of wedding dress that Earthlings usually wear?]

99%

[I'm in love. I want a wedding just like this...]

Nyx stepped onto the flower-covered red carpet, her long train held by Xivar, while the little ones, dressed as flower children, happily followed beside her.

She walked step by step towards her mates, kissing them amidst the fragrant, sweet air.

Cheers and blessings erupted all around.

"Awww... It's making me want to get married too." Archie bit a little handkerchief, tears of emotion streaming down his face.

The boss was holding Dollar and the tabby cat in each arm. Upon hearing this, he shot Archie a disdainful look. "You don't even have a girlfriend, so what wedding are you talking about?"

"Uh, Archie choked and tried to explain, I can still prepare in advance, right?"

Such a grand and beautiful ceremony-after witnessing it, no one could remain indifferent.

Even the Queen clapped and wished them well, while showing signs of envy and longing.

She couldn't help but glance meaningfully at Emperor and a few other mates. When she received no response, she glared at them, growing irritated.

Truly a bunch of nerds. With such clueless fathers who don't know how to please females, it's no wonder their other sons turn out as foolish as those royal princes. Aurelius must be the rare, smart and considerate one, she thought.

Emperor and several Dukes were focused on watching the ceremony, suddenly feeling a strange chill on their backs.

They weren't sure what they had done wrong, so they could only smile awkwardly at Queen the matron. The cake on the table had already been cut, and Emperor hurriedly took a piece and fed it to Queer

As she tasted the cake, Queen's eyes lit up. She thought. It's delicious.

The wedding cake was handmade by Theon-rich, smooth, sweet but not overly so, a treat that couldn't be found anywhere else in the Palace.

No longer concerned with criticizing her mates, Queen immersed herself in the satisfaction brought by the sweet treat.

The banquet lasted from noon until evening. As dusk fell, the lights came on, decorating the manor like a fairytale, with flower petals gently falling from the air.

Dollar raised a paw to catch a petal, and with the tabby cat, they playfully fought over it.

When they looked up, they saw Nyx, now dressed in traditional wedding attire. They immediately stopped fighting and meowed as they pounced at her feet. They found Nyx utterly beautiful in that moment, unable to take their eyes off her.

The vibrant color was both dignified and passionate, making Nyx appear even more delicate than a flower. Under the radiant crown, her face was irresistibly charming.

Everyone present was stunned. Nyx was also very pleased with her appearance. She took a selfie and posted it on her StarNet

2/4

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar Ei

Chapter 215

feed, sharing this meaningful day with her followers.

Her followers, surprised by her taking the initiative to post, were overjoyed. They held the phone, staring at it repeatedly.

Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhh!!

[So beautiful!]

[Another outfit?]

[This one is even better!]

[I also like this red one.]

[Lord Nyx showed me her wedding dress, which pretty much means we're married now. So happy I am...]

[Where did this dreamer come from?]

[Get lost.]

[What's wrong? Can't I even dream?]

Many of Nyx's admirers couldn't help but fantasize about being the protagonist of this wedding, leaving obsessed comments in the message area.

Of course, they were just daydreaming and joking, but Nyx's houseful of jealous males caused a commotion. After the banquet ended, the guests all said their goodbyes and left.

Nyx changed out of her dress, removed her makeup, and was about to lie down happily when a pair of large hands suddenly grabbed her waist.

She gasped, her feet leaving the ground and falling into a broad embrace.

When she regained her senses, she was stunned to find that all her mates had come into her room, their eyes burning as they gazed at her.

The originally spacious bedroom seemed a bit cramped due to their presence.

Nyx thought their eyes were filled with intense possessiveness, and she couldn't help but feel nervous. "Why aren't you all resting?"

Everyone had worked hard all day, so she thought they needed a good rest.

Aurelius seized the opportunity, pulling Nyx into his arms and lightly kissing her neck. "According to Earth's wedding customs, tonight—"

Tonight was supposed to be the wedding night.

"But we're not really marrying for the first time," Nyx blushed and protested.

It wasn't that she was shy, but having so many mates on her would be overwhelming for her. Aurelius opened the Intelligent Brain and showed her the comments under the StarNet post. "Nyx, they all want to be your mates. But only we are qualified to serve you, right?" Aurelius' voice had a bit of a grievance.

Nyx instantly felt guilty, nodding her head.

Zayne appropriately handed her a cup of wine.

3/4

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar 2

Chapter 245

The wine wasn't strong, but smelled fragrant, so Nyx thought it tasted a bit familiar.

She reminded herself that she had a very low tolerance for alcohol, so she only took a small sip each time.

But after drinking.

round of wine with her mates, her cheeks flushed.

In a daze, she suddenly remembered what the wine tasted like. It was Flibanserin, designed to enhance female arousal.

4/4

Of The Bea 246

04:57 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 246

Chapter 246

The six-year-old cubs had already learned not to disturb their parents' activities.

In the morning, when they found that Nyx hadn't come out for breakfast, the cubs couldn't help but ask Zayne, "Is Nyx sick?"

"She's not sick." Zayne patted their heads. "But Nyx might be having a baby."

As Chubby, Sky, and Ash grew older, Nyx had already been thinking about a new parenting plan.

The wedding night, when the vibe was perfect and the day was quite significant, she stopped her mates from using contraception.

Chubby's eyes widened in surprise. "Really?"

He thought, "Another little, fluffy brother to play with?"

He still liked Sky and Ash. But as they grew older, the soft lion and little gray wolf who once cuddled up to him were gone.

Now, Sky and Ash's height and build were no different from his, and to outsiders, it was hard to tell who was the older brother and who were the younger ones.

Chubby really wanted to relive the feeling of holding the lion and little gray wolf.

What beast form will this new brother have?" he asked eagerly, looking up at Zayne. "Will it be fluffy too?" "Still unclear." Even though Zayne was all-knowing, he couldn't answer this question for now. The answer would only be revealed once the cub was born

Chubby wasn't disappointed and nodded. "Okay."

Even if it wasn't fluffy, it didn't matter much to him.

"I will take care of Nyx, Chubby said with a sense of responsibility.

He now knew that Nyx was a child of the Divine Tree, a special female, and pregnancy posed no danger to her. Even so, he still felt that a pregnant female was very fragile and needed to be well protected.

Chubby grabbed his two younger brothers and started giving them a lesson. "From today, no jumping onto mommy randomly, and no running around the house recklessly"

Sky and Ash, who were still new to being older brothers, were even more excited than Chubby and couldn't contain their joy. They lost interest in playing outside and, after breakfast, dashed straight into Nyx's bedroom.

When Nyx woke up, she found herself sandwiched between two fluffy bodies, with the lion and gray wolf pressing their warm bodies against hers.

Realizing Nyx was awake, Sky and Ash immediately got up, affectionately rubbed her face, and then switched to human form, swiftly bringing her the toiletries.

Nyx was confused.

She groggily moved her arms and legs, confirming they were all intact, without any disabilities. She touched her forehead, which wasn't hot, confirming she wasn't sick. So why are Sky and Ash suddenly so attentive? she wondered.

Although the cubs usually tried to care for Nyx like their fathers did, their doing this today was rather strange in Nyx's eyes.

1/3

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar 2

Chapter 216

Soon, Chubby entered with breakfast, taking over the work of his younger brothers and feeding Nyx. He even perled each kernel of corn for Nyx and fed it to her with a spoon.

"What's going on with you guys today!" Nyx laughed in disbelief.

She guessed it might be because she had woken up late today, and the cubs thought she was unwell, so she reassured them "Don't worry, I'm not sick."

The three little cubs nodded. "We already know. You're not sick. You just have a little baby on the way Nyx suddenly started coughing violently.

The cubs were scared and quickly poured her some water and patted her back.

After a while. Nyx finally calmed down, her ears burning "Who told you this?"

She pinched her hot earlobe, shaking her head in denial. "It's still uncertain whether I'll have a baby,"

It would take a few more days for the results. She preferred not to get the cubs too excited, in case they were disappointed later.

Despite what she said, Chubby, Sky, and Ash still stayed by her side all day.

A week later, the test results came back with a change.

Seeing the pregnancy confirmation on the report, Nyx sighed in relief. Fortunately, she didn't disappoint the cubs.

With two previous birth experiences, she was very calm this time, putting down the report and pulling the three cubs into her arms, jokingly asking them. "What kind of little baby would you like?"

"Anything is fine," Chubby answered immediately. After a moment's hesitation, he added softly. "It would be even better if it's fluffy."

As a cold-blooded little python covered in scales, he preferred soft, warm little animals.

Nyx quickly imagined her mates' beast forms and thought the chances of a fluffy baby were quite high. She comforted Chubby, "Alright, I will try to give you a fluffy little brother."

Even though Nyx was just comforting him. Chubby visibly perked up.

"What about you, Sky!" Nyx looked at Sky.

The little gray wolf thought for a long time before saying, "I like little kittens." He had spent a long time with Dollar and the tabby cat on Earth and had missed his two little cat friends since returning to the Empire.

Nyx paused for a moment, thinking it might be difficult. Strictly speaking, a kitten like Aurelius, the chosen one, only appeared once every thousands of years.

However, newly born liule tigers and leopards were also small in size, so she thought they might just meet Sky's requirements as well.

Before Nyx could comfort Sky, Ash eagerly interrupted, "Nyx, I want a little sister."

Nyx thought, These two cubs really are full of tricky requests.

Female cubs weren't as rare as Eldergene Awakening, but the chance was about 1 in 80, so the hope was slim

But she didn't immediately shut down Ash's wish. Instead, she gently coaxed, "The possibility of a little sister is very small. If it's a little brother, Ash, don't be too sad, okay?"

2/3

Chapter 216

Ash quickly nodded. Although he wanted a younger sister more, he didn't dislike younger brothers

The cubs were filled with anticipations, and every slay they would tell stories to the baby in Nyx's belly, from one month old to three months.

This pregnancy was mostly quiet, but sometimes the baby would move violently, leaving Nyx unsure of its personality.

The mates took turns staying by the bed, afraid of repeating the situation when Sky and Ash were born.

But this new cub didn't seem in a hurry to come out. Three months had already passed, and it was well beyond the due date, but Nyx still hadn't gone into labor

The males were terrified. Even the usually calm Zayne began to feel uneasy. He tossed and turned for days, holding Nyx tightly, his voice trembling. "If it doesn't work, we'll have to perforin surgery"

Before he could finish. Nyx's face changed.

As if hearing Zayne's words, the baby inside her seemed to hurry up and finally left Nyx's womb.

Nyx lay in the medical chamber, watching a larger and rounder egg than Chubby, being held by Zayne.

The huge size explained why it had stayed in her belly much longer than usual.

Sera, the fourth child of Nyx, quietly rested in Zayne's hands, appearing very well-behaved.

When Nyx stepped out of the medical chamber, it suddenly sprang into action like a clockwork toy, rushing toward her.

Even Zayne was startled. Quick as a flash, he hugged the egg.

The true nature of Sera exposed itself as it writhed in his arms, throwing a tantrum and rolling around.

On the side, Theon and Erik were stunned. They thought, "This little one is even more troublesome than

Chubby was

Everyone turned to look at Jaws. Could it be his cub again? they thought.

Jaws narrowed his eyes. "What? I'm not alone in being troublesome, am I?"

"Let me hold it." Nyx reached out to rescue the distressed Zayne.

Once in Nyx's arms, Sera immediately turned back into a good baby, snuggling up to her tightly.

Nyx's maternal love surged. Along with the overwhelming emotions, she suddenly felt a strange sensation in her chest.

3/3

Of The Bea 247

Chapter 247

Chapter 247

Nyx's feeling was vivid. But there were too many people around; not only her mates but the cubs were there too. Nyx didn't want to check the situation by lowering her head.

She had to temporarily ignore the subtle sensation and waved to Chubby, Sky, and Ash. "Come, look at the little baby. You were the same: you were once an egg when you were born," she asked the cubs with a smile, "Do you still remember?"

The cubs nodded in unison.

Ordinary Beastmen cubs have no memory of being inside the egg, but they all remembered.

"Nyx, I want to hold it. Chubby opened his anus, eager to try.

Although Nyx trusted Chubby, who had experience with cubs, this fresh egg was obviously not as calm and well-behaved as Sky and Ash.

She cautiously handed it over to Chubby,

Fortunately. Sera behaved. Although it wanted to stay in Nyx's arms, once it was in its brother's hands, it behaved and didn't jump around.

Chubby tightly hugged the warm egg, his eyes sparkling. "Does it like me?"

As if to answer him, the egg in his arms wobbled.

Chubby was even happier and couldn't help but laugh.

Seeing this. Sky and Ash couldn't hold back anymore. I want to hold it too. Until now, they had never had such close contact with a newborn cub.

Chubby looked up at Nyx, and with her approval, carefully handed the egg to his brothers, reminding them, "Hold it steady."

Sky and Ash hugged the egg together, with Sera in the middle and huge grins on their faces. They were so happy that they didn't even know what to do.

"It's so round; were we this fat before?" Ash asked curiously.

As soon as he finished speaking, the quiet egg in his arms suddenly jumped up and slammed hard into his forehead.

Everyone in the room was surprised.

Ash was dazed from the pain.

"Hold on." Nyx quickly rubbed his head and then applied an ice pack. "Does it hurt?"

"No." Ash held his forehead.

Although it didn't hurt, he was really sad, and tears streamed down his face. It hates me."

M

"No, it doesn't hate you," Nyx said, hugging Sera with one arm and Ash with the other, trying to calm things down. "You've been so good to it, telling it stories every day; of course it likes you"

Hearing her words, the angry Sera suddenly froze, as if its fiery temper was doused with water, and it became quiet.

Nyx took the opportunity to educate the grumpy little one. "When your brother says you're fat, he's not mocking you. Little babies are so cute when they're chubby. If you keep hitting your brother like that, it will hurt him, and he will be very sad."

1/3

99%/

Chapter 217

After the explanation, Sera seemed to feel guilty about its earlier behavior and snuggled up next to Ash, gently tapping its forehead against his.

Ash instantly smiled through his tears, hugging it without holding a grudge.

Nyx sighed in relief. She stared at Sera, vaguely sensing a troublemaker's aura from it.

Nyx looked up at her mates, scanning each of them, unable to tell which one of them was the father of this little one.

Not only did it have a temper, but Sera's clinginess also surpassed its three older brothers and even Nyx's expectations.

It was a little one that refused to sleep alone, no matter what. It had to sleep next to Nyx and be held by her to sleep. It had a strong sense of possessiveness.

From the moment it was born, it had domineeringly claimed its spot in Nyx's arms, not allowing anyone to take its place.

The males tried to get into bed but were repeatedly thwarted. Finally, one of them could no longer bear it. "Nyx, let Chubby and the others sleep with it."

Chubby was more than willing to take on this challenging task, but Sera refused.

It desperately tried to hide in Nyx's arms, unwilling to be taken away.

The little one was surprisingly strong.

Nyx was firmly pressed down, letting out a soft hiss.

Immediately, the males panicked, as if facing a grave threat.

The round little Sera stayed frozen in place.

"What's wrong, Nyx? Zayne rushed over. Does your chest hurt?"

ure

Nyx shook her head. An awkward expression spread across her face as she struggled to lift her head, unsure of how to explain

Before she could speak, Zayne realized what had happened.

The room fell silent.

The males stared at Nyx, their expressions various.

After a while, Zayne's voice was hoarse. "Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

It was also his fault for not noticing any changes in Nyx's body sooner.

Nyx lowered her head, too embarrassed to say anything.

She had felt a distinct change the day Sera was born, but it had gradually weakened, so she didn't think much of it

Yet today, such a surprise knocked her out.

"Don't be afraid; this is normal," Zayne comforted, putting an arm around her shoulder. "It's preparing for feeding the baby."

"But when I had Chubby. Sky, and Ash, there was no such thing." Nyx suddenly widened her eyes, realization dawning on her. "Could Sera be a female baby?"

Hearing her call, the listless Sera immediately perked up and gently bumped into her arms.

2/3

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 217

Looking at the overly clever little one, Zayne fell silent for a moment. It should be a female baby, no doubt. But such a lively and strong female baby was unprecedented in the entire Empire,

The female cub hatched in the form of a baby. Compared to the male cubs, who could immediately run around after birth. they were clearly much weaker and required careful care, Sera, however, was an exception. It was clearly far from "weak," being naturally fierce and strong, even surpassing her three brothers in some aspects.

The males exchanged glances, their emotions very complex.

They had always thought that this cub was particularly troublesome and planned to teach it a lesson after it hatched. They never expected that the mischievous little rascal would suddenly transform into their little daughter.

This was nothing like the well-behaved and soft daughter they had imagined.

Ash, however, wasn't bothered by such thoughts. Upon hearing that Sera was a female cub, excitement instantly shone in his eyes.

"Nyx is the best!" He looked up at Nyx in admiration. The chance of a female cub being born was so low that he had long stopped hoping for it, but Nyx had still fulfilled his wish.

Nyx hadn't expected to give birth to a female cub either. After the shock, she was overjoyed. She picked up Sera, kissed her repeatedly, and placed her back into the warm bed. "Since you're my daughter, you can keep sleeping with me."

The males had no words to refute.

If the matron was at the top of the food chain in a family, then the female cub was right below the top, and any care and attention lavished on her was never too much.

Of course, the one who needed the most care was still Nyx

Nyx.

"Nyx, can you describe the feeling in more detail? Zayne spoke gently.

After thinking for a moment, he felt that Nyx's description might not be very accurate, so he leaned in. "Let me check you over.

3/3

Of The Bea 248

No Ads

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 218

Chapter 248

"Check what?" Nyx froze for a moment.

When she snapped back to reality, her face turned bright red. She thought. Is sex really appropriate in front of the culi?"

She awkwardly moved back to avoid Zayne's touch. "There's not much of a difference; no need to check."

"I need to confirm your condition, Zayne insisted. "That way, I can prepare the right nutrients and balance your health"

Sering his serious expression, Nyx had no choice but to telent. She pened Sera in the bed. "He a good girl and wait for Mommy to come back."

"Let's go. After reminding the cubs, she stood up and walked towards the bedroom exit with her mates.

Even for a proper check-up, they had to avoid the cub a little. Although the cubs didn't understand, Nyx still felt shy.

The males, all concerned about the matron, followed behind Nyx, leaving the cubs to look after their little sister.

As soon as Nyx's gaze was out of sight, Sera revealed its dominant nature. It rolled from one end of the bed to the other, taking over the territory and skillfully pushing its three brothers off without them noticing.

The three brothers were completely unaware and, as they were pushed off the bed, clapped their hands and praised, "Our little sister is so lively!"

Just as they fi finished complimenting. Sera stopped moving, seeming to grow tired and ready for a nap.

Chubby raised a finger to his lips. "Shh-"

Sky and Ash nodded in agreement.

They continued watching Sera for a moment. When they saw it was completely still and seemed to have fallen asleep, they gently covered it with the blanket and quietly left the room.

The bedroom was quiet for a while.

Two minutes later, a small gap appeared in the blanket, and Sera poked its head out.

Seizing the moment when no one was watching, it jumped off the bed and began roaming around the room. Eventually, it found Nyx's wardrobe, grabbed two small outfits from inside, and quietly hid them in a corner.

The clothes smelled delicious, filled with the scent of Nyx.

Sera happily rolled around in the clothes.

When it heard Nyx's footsteps approaching, it quickly jumped back onto the bed and lay perfectly still, as if nothing had happened

Nyx stepped out, her face red, and returned the same way.

After a careful check from Zayne, her blush lingered, and she held her chest with one hand.

She didn't notice the clothes in the corner and assumed Sera had been behaving in the bed, waiting for her to return. She praised, "Sera's such a good girl.

The mischievous little cub, having just done something naughty, took the compliment without any guilt.

It rolled into Nyx's arms, requesting to be carried to the bath.

1/5

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 218

After Sera's gender was revealed, her status in the family skyrocketed.

Nyx became even more hands-on with taking care of the baby, handling bath time and applying nutrients all by himself.

The house started filling up with all sorts of toys, snacks, baby products, and cute little outfits that were popular among young females.

The males couldn't help but go on a shopping spree, which caught the attention of some observant people. Someone made a post on StarNet: Just saw Jaws and Kian at a baby store on Central Planet.]

The comment section was full of envy.

[Seriously? What kind of luck is that?]

I wanna run into them too!]

[Wait, just now? Which store? Are they still there?]

[They must've been shopping for Chubby

[What did they buy? I want the same stuff as Chubby!]

[Same here!]

The original poster replied to everyone: [Actually..... I think Lord Nyx might be pregnant again. Here, check out these pics.]

He uploaded two photos-one of Jaws and one of Kian, each picking out baby products.

Jaws was holding a crib mobile, while Kian was studying the ingredients on a box of baby rice crackers. Both of them looked totally focused, not even noticing someone was taking pictures.

Those products were clearly not for a six-year-old. They were more suited for a newborn.

Instantly, the post blew up.

A

[Wait, that actually makes sense.]

[When did this happen?]

[A new baby already?]

[Is it true? Is it true? Is it true? Is it true?]

[I sell baby products-high-end custom ones, I can't disclose customer details, but let's just say... I recently received a massive order from a certain VIP]

[Oh:]

(Which VIP? Come on, give us a hint!]

It's gotta be one of Lord Nyx's mates, right?]

[Now that you mention it, the Palace has been feeling pretty festive lately... though that could just be because His Highness's coronation is coming up.]

2/5

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 218

[Actually, our Sea Race Group is planning to launch a new baby snack line. Word is, the order came straight from the clan leader

[Speechless]

[Okay, this pretty much confirms it.]

[This is amazing news!]

(Waaaaahhh, why didn't Lord Nyx tell us something this huge?)

Xivar came over to Nyx, showing her all the excitement on StarNet.

“Wanna make an announcement that Sera is a female?” She was already getting hyped. This is BIG news! The whole empire would go crazy over it

With Nyx around, the Empire had never been more stable and prosperous.

Her powerful mental strength would keep the Empire's males from losing control.

People were endlessly grateful to the Beast God for sending an emissary to save them, but deep down, they couldn't help but worry. What would happen five hundred years later, when Nyx returns to the Beast God's embrace! Would the Empire fall back into chaos

Sera's birth was like a reassurance, a sign of hope.

Mental power levels in females were usually inherited from their mothers. An SSS-level female giving birth to a female baby meant the Empire had a future.

Xivar rubbed her hands together, barely able to contain her excitement. She wanted to celebrate this historic moment with the whole empire.

Let's wait a bit. No rush.” Nyx, as always, was calm. “We can announce it after Sera hatches.”

Seeing that Nyx had already made up her mind, Xivar didn't push further. Instead, she switched topics. "Are you going to His Highness coronation?"

Nyx nodded. "Of course"

It was a huge event. If she didn't show up, that little white cat would probably sulk like a sad kitten. Not only was she going. but she was bringing the kids along too.

Just for the occasion, Nyx had even made Sera a beautiful little net carrier, making sure she'd be the cutest baby at the ceremony.

“But are you sure you're up for it?” Xivar's gaze landed on her chest. The ceremony lasts almost the whole day; won't it be exhausting?”

From the moment the female hatchling was conceived until just before it hatched. Nyx had to prepare in advance to feed it. It was really tough on her.

Nyx cleared her throat and said, "I'm fine. Zayne helped adjust my body, so I barely feel anything now."

At first, Nyx thought when Zayne talked about "adjusting" her body, he meant making sure she got enough nutrition so that Sera would have plenty to eat after hatching. She never expected his main goal was actually to suck her nipples to ease the swelling feeling.

After some some time under his care, Nyx felt incredibly relieved. She even started wondering if there would be anything left for Sera to eat after hatching and ended up asking Zayne about it

3/5

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 218

Zayne didn't explain anything-he just showed her firsthand that the food supply for their baby hadn't decreased at all. It was still more than enough,

Thinking back to that moment. Nyx felt utterly embarrassed.

Zayne had set off a terrible trend.

After he got his way, the other males in the house couldn't hold back anymore. They all started using the excuse that "too much milk builds up there and has to be released to pester her.

"Come on, hatch already, baby," Nyx whispered as she pressed her warm cheek against Sera's eggshell.

Once the baby hatched, she thought its father would probably be too embarrassed to steal its food anymore, Even though Sera was eager to meet its mom, the rich nutrients inside the egg ended up extending its incubation period to a full five months.

On the day of the coronation ceremony, it still hadn't hatched. Dressed in a cute little mesh wrap, it rested quietly in her mother's arms, looking especially well-behaved.

Just as expected, it was the absolute star of the event. Everyone's eyes were locked on her, completely captivated.

"Oh my... the baby."

"It moved! It just moved!"

"So cute"

"Is that Lord Nyx's baby?"

"It's so big-there's no doubt about it."

Meanwhile, in the official royal livestream, the chat was going wild.

[Look! Look at Lord Nyx! She's holding an egg!!

[AAAAAHHHHHHHHH!]

[A new baby is really here!]

[Oh my, she already gave birth?]

faint]

[And it's even wearing tiny clothes! This is too cute-I'm gonna fai

[I'm already passed out...]

[That little mesh wrap is so pretty and pink! Did Lord Nyx make it herself?]

[Dressed up so fancy-could it be a female baby?]

101

[You guys are really reaching...]

The odds of a female birth are 1 in 80. It's not that easy!

to get o

one.]

(Even Chubby wore pink before. It's just clothes, doesn't mean anything.)

[Lord Nyx just likes dressing up babies in cute outfits. It's got nothing to do with gender.]

4/5

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 248

Just as the chat was getting heated, the background music suddenly swelled into something grand and dramatic

The ceremony had officially begun.

Dressed in full imperial regalia. Emperor made his grand entrance, stepping into the spotlight. He bowed before the Divine Tree's statue and then ascended the platform step by step

The audience's attention shifted back to him, and excited cheers erupted

Nyx lifted the round little Sera high into the air, letting it experience the electrifying vibe and witness its father receiving the scepter and crown

Suddenly, she heard a sharp, familiar crack

Even with all the noise around her, that sound rang crystal clear in her ears

Nyx's expression changed in an instant. She hurriedly pulled Sera back into her arms and, sure enough, there was a crack running across the eggshell.

5/5

Of The Bea 249

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 219

Chapter 249

“She's hatching? Why now, of all times thought Nyx.

Theon immediately noticed Nyx's shift in expression. “What's wrong?”

Following her gaze, he spotted the crack on the egg. It was spreading fast-so fast it was visible to the naked eye. He panicked

The cracking sounds kept coming, one after another. All the males around them snapped to attention.

Most female hatchlings couldn't break out of their eggs on their own and needed some help, but Sera was clearly not one of them. She was way too eager to get out, smashing through the eggshell at lightning speed, barely giving her fathers time to react.

The males scrambled to take Sera from Nyx's hands, trying to move her somewhere quiet, but before they could even take a step, a piece of eggshell fell onto Nyx's hand.

Nyx looked up, stunned, just in time to see a tiny, chubby fist punching through the shell with determination, forcing its way out through the hole.

"Oh my Screams erupted all around.

Even though Nyx wasn't the main focus of the ceremony, she was still under constant watch.

The commotion she caused had already drawn a lot of attention.

At first, people just noticed Nyx looking flustered. Then, when all her powerful mates suddenly stood up in a hurry, obvious that something big had just happened.

Curious, they looked closer-only to witness this unbelievable scene.

It wasn't just the audience at the venue screaming; the live chat was going so crazy that the stream almost crashed.

it was

Today was the day Aurelius officially ascended the throne. The whole Empire had the day off, and almost everyone was tuned in, watching the live broadcast as it all unfolded.

[AAAAAAAAAAAAAH!]

[Aaaaaah-]

[Did I just see what I think I saw?]

A female. A female hatchling-J

JA FEMALE HATCHLING! AAAAAAH!]

[Help her, quick!]

[Hurry!]

[Why are you rushing? She doesn't need help—she's doing it all on her own!]

That tiny, chubby fist looked soft and delicate, but it was full of power. In just a few punches, she had already knocked a hole through the shell. Then, without stopping, she threw in a few more solid hits.

Nyx was frantically catching the falling eggshell pieces with a small net, completely overwhelmed.

1/3

04:58 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 219

The first three cubs had all been born in relatively peaceful settings, but Sera was breaking out in front of an entire audience

The place was absolute chaos, with nonstop screaming everywhere.

“Is she going to be scared? The other cubs frowned, worried that Sera might be frightened by all this,

But Sera wasn't scared at all. If anything, she looked even more excited-like she was born to be the center of attention. basking in everyone's gaze.

Even the newly crowned Emperor himself couldn't steal the spotlight from her.

The whole thing was so unexpected that the ceremony had to be paused. Thankfully, the coronation had already ended- Aurelius was now officially the new ruler, wearing his crown and holding his scepter.

Without hesitation, he jumped down from the platform and rushed toward Nyx, desperate to be by his beloved female's side.

"Nyx-Aurelius the Emperor called out, his voice full of urgency.

The crowd instinctively parted to let him through.

The retired Emperor and former Queen exchanged glances and shook their heads with a sigh. Becoming Emperor was supposed to make Aurelius more composed, but instead, he looked more flustered than ever.

They understood how excited he must be as a father, but this was a major event, broadcast live to the entire Empire and even the whole Star Alliance. 'Shouldn't he at least try to stay composed and maintain his royal demeanor?' they thought.

The former Emperor suddenly let out a loud cry. "By the Beast God-

"What's gotten into you?" The former Queen frowned at her mate, who was completely losing it.

"Look-just look-"The former Emperor was so overwhelmed he could barely speak, his hand trembling as he pointed. toward the source of his shock.

Following his gaze, the former Queen's eyes went wide. A deafening shriek of joy burst from her lips as she jumped up. completely abandoning any sense of royal etiquette.

Sera had white hair and blue eyes. She was Aurelius' hatchling.

Aurelius stood frozen. He stared at the hatchling who had just broken free from the egg, completely dazed

The newborn female cub was tiny, covered in nutrient fluids and looking a little messy. But her round little face already had traces of Nyx's features-she was a beauty just like Nyx.

She had Nyx's facial features but inherited Aurelius' hair and eye color.

Nyx wiped her face, hands, and feet clean, wrapped her up in the tiny clothes she had prepared in her Space Button, and carefully picked her up.

Though she was smaller than a newborn human baby, she felt sturdier. Her skin was smooth and chubby, not wrinkled and reddish like the newborns Nyx had seen before.

Sera locked eyes with Nyx, her gaze sharp and alert. She let out a few loud cries, as if she had just figured out how to make sounds. "Ma... Mama"

Nyx was overjoyed. She couldn't help but plant a kiss on her chubby little cheek before calling out to Aurelius, "Come hold her!"

2/3

04:53 Mon, 3 Mar

Chapter 249

When she looked up, she saw Aurehus deep blue eyes welling with tears. She thought. The mighty Emperor of the Empire is actually crying in public vw was startled and was about to comfort him when the former Queen came rushing over like a whirlwind "Let me hold her. I want to hold her!"

Sagging out of it. Aurelius quickly scooped up the baby before his mother could get to her.

"Tch Aurelius" The former Queen pouted, giving him a playful glare.

But when she saw the father and daughter with matching hair and eye colors, she couldn't help but burst into laughter. Turning to Nyx, she pulled her into a tight hug. "Thank you, Nyx

The royal family finally had a little princess. Looking at the lively and adorable baby girl, the entire royal family beamed. with joy

The audience was just

Beast God bless us

[Thank you Lord Nex

Waaahhh, thank you. Lord Nyx]

I swear my loyalty to the Empire! To Lord Nyx! To the little princess!]

The coronation ceremony had turned into a grand celebration for the princess's hatching. The whole empire was rejoicing.

Sera, wearing a tiny crown on her head, excitedly looked around until she got tired. Then, she snuggled into Nyx's arms and dozed off

By the time she woke up, they were back home.

Feeling hungry. Sera instinctively reached out with her tiny hands and tugged at Nyx's clothes.

Nyx, who had been resting with her eyes closed, thought it was one of her mates messing with her again. She almost swatted the tiny hands away by reflex

But when she opened her eyes and saw the baby in front of her, she quickly stopped herself and picked her up instead.

Outside, the males had heard the commotion and pushed the door open.

3/3

Of The Bea 250

Chapter 250

"Get out," Nyx mittered, embarrassed.

"The baby's stomach is tiny, Nyx, Zayne said meaningfully. "The rest of it-

Til handle it myself, Nyx cut him off

Driven out, the males looked visibly disappointed.

Sera didn't understand what her parents were talking about, but she did understand that her dad had called her stomach small.

She was not happy about that Determined to prove him wrong, she ate and drank as much as she could until her little belly was round and taut.

Nyx felt amused. Worried she might spit up, she quickly picked her up and patted her back to burp her.

The milk-drunk baby drowsily curled up in Nyx's arms, kicking her little legs. Then, all of a sudden, she transformed into a tiny, snow-white kitten.....

was completely stunned.

The little white kitten had a clump of dark hair on her forehead, looking almost exactly like her father-except much, much smaller.

Her ears hadn't perked up yet, her paws were tiny and pink, and her round little belly was covered in soft, fluffy fur, making her look like a puffed-up dandelion.

There was no doubt that Sera was her cub. But Nyx thought, 'How did a female cub shift into beast form?

Rubbing her eyes to make sure she wasn't dreaming. Nyx scooped up the tiny kitten and rushed out the door. "Zayne! Aurelius!"

The males had been standing guard outside. The moment they saw the kitten in Nyx's arms, they froze in disbelief.

"Eldergene Awakening" After a long silence, Aurelius shook his head.

Eldergene Awakening was so rare that it only happened once in tens of thousands of years. Even within the royal family's records, there was hardly any information about it. He had never heard of a female Beastman undergoing a regression to ancestral traits.

Since this was a special case, Zayne carefully took the kitten from Nyx and carried her off for a medical check-up.

Nyx followed anxiously, watching the medical report come out. Only after confirming everything was normal did she finally breathe a little easier.

But she still couldn't fully relax. She was afraid Sera wouldn't be able to turn back into her human form. The little white cat had no idea Nyx was worried. All she knew was that this four-legged body felt way more useful than before. With her tiny tail held high, she proudly bounced around the room.

After exploring the medical room and the living room, she sneaked into her mom's bedroom. Feeling a little too full of herself, she wriggled into the corner she had claimed as her secret base.

When Nyx caught up, she saw her long-lost clothes and random little trinkets piled up in the gap of an unnoticed corner. The little white cat was rolling around excitedly in the middle of it all.

1/4

05:44

Chapter 250

Nyx thought. Yeah, there's no doubt whose kid she is!

Remembering how Aurelius had done the same thing when he lost control back then, she shot a teasing glance at Aurelius.

Feeling the weight of her parents towering gazes, the little white cat suddenly snapped back to reality. She stood still, then shamefully embraced her head with her hands and transformed back into a human, attempting to appear as tiny and helpless as she could-hoping that her cuteness would spare her from punishment.

Nyx quickly picked Sera up off the ground. When she found Sera was back in human form, all her worries vanished in an instant. A smile spread across her face as she rubbed her little one's belly and let out a long sigh of relief.

Now that she had experience with this, the next morning, when she found her baby had turned into her beast form again, Nyx wasn't worried at all. Instead, she just scooped up the tiny kitten and smothered her with kisses.

The soft little kitten meowed under the relentless affection. The moment she escaped her mom's clutches, she bolted away like a flash

Compared to the more restricted baby-like human form, Sera much preferred the freedom of her beast form. It wasn't until she was around two or three years old that things started to shift. Human form's flexible hands proved to be much more useful than beast form's paws.

She stopped spending all her time in beast form and stayed in human form more often, finally starting to look like a proper little girl

By the time she turned eight, as the royal family's only little princess, Sera was officially crowned as the Crown Princess and named the first in line to the throne.

The royal members were unanimous in their decision. It was a full vote, and across the entire empire, not a single voice opposed it-

She carried both the bloodline of an SSS-level female and the royal lineage. She was born a queen-to-be. Nyx and Aurelius never tried to suppress Sera's natural instincts. Unlike Aurelius, who was mature beyond his years, Sera was a bit more playful and childish. But when it came to formal occasions, she could carry herself with presence.

Just like her older brothers, she was a genius child. She was already skilled at handling government affairs, and Aurelius would occasionally give her small tasks as training, though he never piled too much work on her.

Most of the time, she had full freedom-playing when she wanted to, studying when she wanted to, staying home when she felt like it, and going to school whenever she liked.

“Seraphina” During break time at Central Planet's all-girls school, a wave of screams suddenly erupted.

The teachers watched in horror as Sera casually pulled a tiny black snake out of her pocket, making them shriek her name in panic. "Seraphina, don't play with snakes!"

It was clearly a highly venomous Black Mamba. And it was very much alive.

The teachers were terrified it would hurt the students, but no one dared to go near it. They were stuck in a standoff and had no choice but to call her parents.

When Nyx and Aurelius got the call, they were stunned. They never imagined there would be a day when they would get summoned to the principal's office.

Nyx rushed to the school and, upon arrival, nearly blacked out when she saw her daughter casually playing with a newborn

2/4

05:44 Tue, 4 Mar D.

Chapter 250

Black Mamba in her hands. "You can't just bring your little brother to school to play with!"

Nyx took them home and told Sera, "You can't do that again. Your little brother is not a toy"

Sera blinked her big round eyes. "Huh? Okay"

Seeing her nod obediently, Nyx let out a sigh of relief.

The kids at home were all well-behaved. Once they were corrected, they never made the same mistake twice.

In the afternoon, Nyx woke up from her nap and heard Sera giggling outside. Curious, she opened the door and found Sera tormenting Chubby, Sky, and Ash. Even the ferret hadn't escaped her mischief.

Now in their teenage years, Chubby, Sky, and Ash were the top prodigies of the Imperial Military Academy. They were tall. exuded confidence, and despite being a few years younger than their peers, they completely outclassed everyone else.

Chub Voss, Sky Voss, and Ash Voss-those three names were legendary.

They had even taken command during a terrorist attack targeting military cadets, saving countless lives and earning military honors at an incredibly young age.

As for Heps the ferret, he was already in his twenties, nearing thirty. Gentle and refined, he was one of the most renowned alchemists in the Empire.

But right now, at home, all four males had shifted into their beast forms, completely at Sera's mercy as she squished, played, and tossed them around. Their dignity was long gone.

Nyx cleared her throat as a form of threat.

Sera immediately turned her head, looking all innocent as she defended herself. "My brothers wanted to be my toys."

It was true. None of them seemed mind.

Watching Sera wrap them all around her little finger, Nyx sighed and rubbed her forehead. She had no idea who Sera got this whole innocent-on-the-surface-but-actually-a-little-devil thing from..

The doorbell rang, saving Sera from any punishment.

It was Xivar who came to visit. Xivar brought her little bear cub along, plus the baby seal pup she'd had a few years ago.

With two more "toys" added to the mix, Sera's eyes lit up as she sweetly called out, "Xivar."

"Sera." Xivar practically flew over, scooping her up in a hug with a blissful expression. A soft, sweet female cub was all she wanted now.

Clasping her hands together, Xivar prayed to Nyx. "Please, let my next baby be a sweet little girl."

"A sweet little girl?" Nyx gave her a complicated look and shook her head. "Well, I don't think I can help with that."

Nyx had given birth to a little girl. But she didn't think Sera was 'sweet. Not even close.

Xivar didn't catch the subtext. Still hugging Sera tight, she made an offer. "Then let me borrow Sera for a day.

I'll trade you my little bear and baby seal for her."

Nyx had known Nivar for years and completely trusted her with Sera. She asked Sera if she wanted to go, and when Sera nodded, she agreed.

3/4

05:44 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 250.

As the crown princess, even if Sera wasn't surrounded by an official royal escort, she still had plenty of hidden guards watching from the shadows, keeping her safe.

Holding Sera's little hand, Nivar happily walked down the bustling streets of Central Planet. "I found this amazing little cake shop recently. I'll take you there!"

Sera nodded, but at the same time, her sharp eyes locked onto a suspicious-looking guy lurking in a corner.

He was a frail-looking male, radiating an air of defeat. His cheeks were sunken, and his bloodshot eyes were filled with hatred-hatred directed at Xivar.

Even if Nyx had been here, she might not have recognized him as Casia at first glance.

After spending over a decade in one of the harshest mining prison camps, Casia had aged dramatically. Today was the first day his family had finally bailed him out.

Having been cut off from the world for so long, he was still adjusting. He'd worked up the courage to take a stroll through the city, only to stumble across Xivar, a familiar face.

Casia clenched his teeth, eyes burning with hatred. Before he could even think, he started tailing her.

He was in ruins, yet Xivar was thriving-better than ever. That was something he could never tolerate.

Inside a beautifully decorated cake shop, Xivar took a seat and skillfully ordered two small cakes and some drinks. "Sera, do you want anything else?"

Before e Sera could answer, Casia suddenly slammed a hand onto their table.

With a sinister voice, Casia spoke, "Long time no see, Xivar. Is this your daughter!"

Of The Bea 251

Chapter 251

It had been years Xivar had completely forgotten Casia even existed, Hearing his voice, Xivar had a faint sense of familiarity but couldn't place him. She stared at him for a moment before it finally clicked. "You got out asked Xivar, thinking that was way ahead of schedule

Even though Casia hadn't been the main culprit lack then, all the minor crimes he'd committed over the years had stacked up. He should've been looking at at least thirty years in prison

Looks like your family hasn't given up on you" Xivar said, shaking her head with a smirk.

She hadn't thought about Casia in years, so she hadn't bothered keeping up with his family's affairs. Knowing he'd gotten out early didn't make her mad-it just felt irrelevant. All she noticed was how sickly and ugly he looked now

Casia stared straight at Xivar. Her face was even more beautiful than it had been ten years ago, glowing with happiness. It made him seethe with both hatred and lust Casia' snuck into this private room without anyone noticing. He thought if he took control of them right now, he could do whatever he wanted.

Your eyes are disgusting." Xivar said with a look of pure disgust. "If you don't want to end up back in prison, get out of my sight

She'd finally gotten a day out with Sera. No way was she letting trash like this ruin it..

But that one simple sentence was enough to send Casia over the edge. "Disgusting? Didn't we used to share a bed?"

"There was no Mental Soothing between us. I just pitied you—that's the only reason I ever stayed."

"What are you acting all high and mighty for?" He let out a low, mocking laugh. "If it weren't for your father, you'd never even get the chance to meet an A-level male like me."

"Is being an A-level male that impressive?" Sera suddenly cut in, interrupting him.

Sera blinked her blue eyes, looking all innocent, as if she were genuinely asking. But there was a hint of sarcasm in her tone.

Casia, blinded by anger, didn't bother to take a good look at Sera. He just assumed she was Xivar's kid. "Obviously! You inherited your mother's mental power. There's no way you're ever going to end up with an A-level male in this lifetime!"

Xivar couldn't help but burst out laughing. She thought it was just too ridiculous. Casia was standing here, looking at an eight-year-old female, and all he could think about was marriage.

Xivar wasn't about to let the conversation stay on Sera. Instead, she pulled up her Intelligent Brain and opened her personal profile, showing Casia the "mates" section. "Hate to break it to you, but I've found a few more mates over the years."

Casia's eyes widened in disbelief as he stared at the profiles of several A-level and even S-level males.

"Why the hell would they be interested in you?" he asked, thinking, "Maybe an A-level male would lower himself for Rex's sake, but S-level males? Those guys are on a whole different level. There is no way they'd ever stoop this low"

"Why? Because I'm one of the top 100 mecha designers in the Empire. Xivar raised her hand, showing off the ring that proved her status, and then sneered at him, "And you? Just another worthless A-level male?"

She might be ranked 79th, which didn't seem that high, but out of millions of mecha designers in the Empire, breaking into the top 100 was already a huge deal. And she was still young—her future was bright.

She was just a D-level female, yet she had made it this far.

1/3

Chapter 251

Meanwhile, Casia prided himself on being a high-ranking male, yet he had accomplished ally thing Worse be absolutely even had a criminal record. She thought Casia was pathetic

With Nys leading the way, females and males in the Empire now had more freedom to love and choose their mates without being tied down by rank.

Females were stepping out of their homes, building their own paths, and making names for themselves in different industries.

Someone like Nivar, exceptional in her own right, was admired by countless males-even with her 1-level mental power

As a matter of fact, Casia was the one who wasn't worthy of her.

Casia's eyes were locked on that ring, his pupils shaking. He thought. "How's this possible i

He knew Xivar had always been interested in mechas, but he never took it seriously. He thought. Such a joke & female Becoming a mecha designer? It has to be a joke. That ring has to be fake

He frantically pulled up his Intelligent Brain and searched for Xivar's profile

He hadn't used his Intelligent Brain in years, so he was a little rusty. But when the search results came up, he thought his eyes were playing tricks on him.

The results showed it was real. Xivar hadn't lied.

In that instant, it felt like lightning had struck Casia. He opened his mouth to say something, but no words came out.

Xivar was already out of patience. She pressed a button to call a waiter. "There's an intruder in our private room. Get him out—he's ruining our meal."

"You" Furious beyond reason, Casia rolled up his sleeves, ready to take a swing at Xivar. He needed to vent his anger somehow, and brute force was the easiest way for him.

Casia thought, 'No matter how strong Xivar is, a female is still weak compared to a male. One punch is all it takes to put her in her place.

But before his fist could land, Sera shot out a kick, slamming it into the back of Casia's knee and making him stumble.

Casia gritted his teeth in pain, thinking. 'Damn brat. How the hell did a female kid have that much strength?' He scrambled to grab Sera, but Sera wasn't just strong-she was freakishly fast. She dodged him with ease, making him look like a fool. No matter how many times he lunged, he kept missing Sera's big, round eyes sparkled with excitement. She didn't get chances like this to fight bad guys very often.

Like a cat toying with a mouse, she danced around him in circles. Every time she pretended to slow down as if he was about to catch her, she'd spin around and land another punch.

She collapsed on the spot, breathing heavily as if she had run out of strength, just as the sound of chaotic footsteps echoed outside the private room.

Casia was overjoyed. Ignoring the fact that the door had already swung open, he swiftly pulled out the dagger he carried and grabbed Sera, snarling at Xivar, "You better beg me, or I'll kill your daughter."

It was just a bluff. He was betting that Xivar would surrender for the sake of her precious daughter. He had no real intention of killing Sera other than teaching her a lesson.

As long as no one died, the worst that would happen was a few more years in prison. Meanwhile, he thought Sera would never forget the pain of having her limbs broken, and Xivar would live the rest of her life in the humiliation of begging him.

2/3

05:45 Tue, 4 Mar GD.

Chapter 251

The thought made Casia grin.

The servers and other guests who had rushed over stood frozen in shock. "N-No, calm down!"

They thought, Wait, what? That's not Lord Xivar's daughter! That's the Crown Princess! Who the hell is this lunatic, daring to openly attack the Crown Princess?

Xivar sucked in a sharp breath, staring at the deranged Casia like he was the dumbest creature alive. "You're dead meat."

From the comers of the room, royal guards were already emerging.

arrogant. "Shut up and beg-

Casia thought Xivar was just bluffing and sneered, acting even more arrogant.

Of The Bea 252

Chapter 252

Before Casia could finish a particle beam struck his wrist. The searing pain left him speechless for a second before he let out a blood-curdling scream

Casia thought, My hand-my hand is ruined. Who the hell did this The Security Bureau can't have gotten here this fast they also don't have weapons this powerful and wouldn't fire on sight

Trembling with fury and confusion, Casia turned toward the source of the shot-A group of males stood there

Each one held a weapon. They weren't in uniform, but their chilling presence was unmistakable. They were professionals killers.

Every weapon was aimed at Casia

The moment Casia so much as twitched, another shot hit his left shoulder, sending him crashing to the floor in agony

Casia thought. "In broad daylight, how the hell did these people dare?"

Casia wanted to curse, but he didn't dare move or make a sound. One more hit, and he might not live through it

He lay there, pressing his car against the floor, listening as the males slowly approached. His heart pounded so hard he thought it would explode.

"Forgive us for allowing Your Highness to be startled. It was our failure, the royal guards said, kneeling on one knee as they formed a protective circle around Sera.

"It's not your fault." Sera replied, calmly straightening her slightly ruffled clothes.

She wasn't scared. She had let herself get caught on purpose. It was a sting operation. She had noticed Casia a long time ago.

If she had simply had him arrested earlier, he would've only been detained for a few days. If she had fought back when he attacked, she could have overpowered him-but that wouldn't have solved the real problem. At most, he'd get a few extra years in prison.

Now, it was over for good. Attempting to assassinate the Crown Princess was one of the Empire's most serious crimes. Even if Casia wasn't executed on the spot, he would be locked up for life.

Sera smiled, satisfied.

To the onlookers, her expression, her posture-it was just like her father's. Even after a life-threatening situation, Sera remained poised and unshaken, regal and perfect, just like the new Emperor.

The mere chance to see the Crown Princess in person felt like a once-in-a-lifetime blessing for everyone there. Everyone except Casia, who stared blankly, his mind completely frozen.

He had spent over a decade in prison, toiling away in the mines, completely cut off from the outside world. He had no idea what had changed.

He thought. 'It's supposed to be His Highness, isn't it? Did the royal family just have a little princess? Did she replace Aurelius?

He stared blankly at the female cub. White hair and blue eyes-definitely the royal family's traits. And her features looked kind of familiar to him.

"You're Nyx's daughter? Casia finally realized who Sera looked like. It all made sense to him now.

Casia thought back to the moment his bad luck started-and all the times he'd suffered humiliation at Xivar's hands-it all seemed to trace back to that Nys. Casia felt his chest tighten, his vision darkened, and he passed out on the spot.

1/3

Chapter 252

Casia ended up staying unconscious for three whole days. The moment he woke up, he was hit with a lifetime imprisonment sentence

Xivar rushed over immediately, rubbing salt in the wound with a grin, "Oh, and by the way, your father got caught for bribery. He's gonna be joining you in prison!"

And that wasn't even the worst part-Casia's entire family was going down with him, ruined because of his actions.

That was the price of attempting to assassinate the Crown Princess.

Casia turned pale as a ghost and started wailing, screaming that he was innocent.

If he'd known Sera was Nyx's daughter, he would never have dared touch her.

Xivar looked down at Casia with a cold, distant gaze. "Rot in here until you die."

What was supposed to be a fun day for her got totally ruined.

Sera wasn't too bothered, though. She happily finished her little cake, and then went ahead and ate a whole big one too. But Nivar still felt guilty.

She bought Sera a bunch of gifts and found another day to take her out again.

Over the past ten years, Earth still hadn't fully integrated with interstellar civilization, but official trade had already begun.

These days. Central Planet's streets were packed with Earth's street food.

Sera the little glutton spent the whole day outside playing and came home with a full belly, even smacking her lips in her sleep.

"Mom, my younger brother never had food from outside before. That's so sad! Let's take him out to eat." Early in the morning, the little white kitten was already perched by Nyx's bedside, meowing and acting cute.

Nyx saw right through Sera using her brother as an excuse. She chuckled and decided to indulge her little foodie. "How about after breakfast? Theon already made us breakfast. We can have lunch and dinner outside."

"Okay" Sera happily kneaded Nyx's arm with her little paws. "For lunch, I want stir-fried food. For dinner, roast beef. And I want to drink cola." She rattled off a whole list of food, practically drooling.

Meanwhile, little Black Mamba, Sera's younger brother, just sat there looking completely lost. He had no idea what any of those things were. He curled up into a little ball, dazed.

Even though his beast form was a highly venomous snake, he was ridiculously easy to bully. He had a gentle and patient nature, like a ball of dough that anyone could knead however they wanted.

Looking at him, Nyx could see glimpses of how Kian used to be.

But unlike Kian his father, this little one was far luckier. He was born into a happy family, where he could just be mom's boy. Even when they went out, he always coiled around Nyx's wrist, sticking close to her.

While waiting in line for street food, he overheard Nyx saying she was thirsty. Slowly, he slithered down and volunteered to go buy her a drink

2/3

05:45 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 252

"Are you

(sure?" Nyx wasn't too convinced.

Little Black Mamba noided confidently. He had only just latched a few days ago—he was a tiny baby who couldn't even take on a human form vel

The fresh juice shop welcomed its youngest-ever custo

The moment the stall heard his slow, babyish voice, their hearts melted. They gently lifted him onto the counter so he could reach the menu with the tip of his tail.

The door chime rang, and a mother and child walked into the store.

As the mother approached the counter and saw the little black snake, her face turned deathly pale. She let out a high-pitched scream "A SNAKE-Why is there a snake in your store? Get it out of here right now"

"Ma'am, please calm down. He's a customer too." The staff quickly shielded little Black Mamba.

The mother trembled so violently that her legs gave out, and she collapsed onto the floor, unable to get up.

Her son was shaking like a leaf too, his face drained of color. He stood frozen in place, unable to take a single step. Even as he watched his mother fall, he didn't move to help her up.

No normal person would be this terrified. Yet that mother and son pair were Kian's mother and younger brother.

Back when Kian lost control, he left them with serious psychological trauma. Not only were they scared of snakes, but they were especially terrified of black ones.

Even now, with Kian being successful and holding a high position, they didn't dare to suck up to him. Instead, they spent every day and night worrying about revenge. Out of sheer avoidance, they blocked out all news related to Kian, hiding like two frightened turtles.

Years had passed, and the chubby kid from before had grown into a full-fledged fat male. Overwhelmed by fear, he puts on a tough front and yells, "Whose kid is this with no manners? Don't you know snake beast forms are terrifying? Why the hell wouldn't you shift into your human form in public?"

"Where the hell are your parents? You scared my mother-if you don't compensate us, this won't end well."

3/3

Of The Bea 253

Chapter 253

¶

It was peak dining hour, and the place was packed When people heard the commotion, they all turned to look,

their gars

full of disdain

These days, male snake shifters weren't as draconic as they used to be. They were generally accepted now, and even those who still feared snakes wouldn't openly lash out at a baby

The poor little Black Mamba was only the size of a palm. He hadn't done anything wrong, yet he was being yelled at and just curled up on the counter, looking utterly pitiful. It was heartbreaking-

"Who's this lunatic barking like a mad dog?"

"Blatantly discriminating against someone like this-who's the one with no manners now?"

"Exactly"

"What's wrong with going out in beast form? I love going out in beast form.

"Besides, he's just a baby. He can't even shift into human form yet"

"If I were the parent. I'd beat this guy up right here"

"No class

"And he dares to demand compensation?"

The crowd erupted in criticism, and the fat guy's face turned red with shame.

But what shook him even more was that someone in the crowd recognized him and his mother.

"Wait isn't that Kian's mother?"

"Oh my, it really is."

"Mother? Please. They cut ties ages ago. If anything, they're more like enemies."

"No wonder they're so terrified of snakes."

"Serves them right."

"After all these years, still the same pathetic people. Tch."

Ray, the fifth child of Nyx, heard his dad's name and curiously lifted his little head.

The moment he looked up, he actually saw his dad standing there. His eyes lit up instantly. "Daddy!"

He thought, 'Come save me.

"The parent's here? Where? The fat guy finally found a target to vent his frustration. "Hurry up and take your kid away-

He followed the little Black Mamba's gaze and froze mid-sentence.

Nyx had taken the kids out for the day and didn't want to attract too much attention, so the whole family had visual distortion devices on. Kian was no exception. But Kian couldn't hide his aura.

The fat guy stared blankly at the unfamiliar male in front of him, feeling an eerie mix of familiarity and dread.

1/3

Chapter 253

His eyes drifted downward to the visual distortion device clipped to the collar. A barl feeling crept over him.

The next second, Kian in front of him took off the device, revealing a face he'd never forget in his life, no matter how hard he tried.

His worst nightmare had come true. The fat guy's vision went black. He thought, "When the hell did Kian have a kid? Central Planet is huge. I just happened to curse at a random little Black Mamba, so how did he end up being Klan's kids

All that arrogance from before was gone in an instant. The fat guy was completely speechless, standing frozen for a moment before bolting out the door. He thought Kian was definitely going to kill him.

Fear gripped his heart as he ran like his life depended on it, never looking back. Behind him, his mother sat helplessly on the floor, screaming in terror, "Stay back. Don't come any closer."

Just moments ago, the fat guy had acted all concerned about his mother while demanding compensation. But now that his true color was exposed, their so-called mother-son bond was nowhere to be seen

Seeing their plastic relationship fall apart, the bystanders couldn't help but sigh and laugh.

They thought, 'Funny how he doesn't have the strength to help his mother up, but he sure has enough to run for his life

As the middle-aged female trembled in despair, Kian didn't even glance at her. He just walked straight to the counter and gently scooped up the tiny Black Mamba hatchling in his palm.

"Coconut juice! Mama wants coconut juice. Even after being scared like that, the little one still remembered its mission "Less ice, 30% sugar, no coconut jelly."

The store clerk, completely charmed, placed the order as requested and handed it to Kian.

"Thank you, but I'll take it." The hatchling curled its tail around the drink and politely said goodbye. "Bye-bye, sir!"

The clerk clutched her chest like she'd been struck straight in the heart.

The other customers in the store were equally mesmerized. A lot of them had kids of their own, and when they compared. they thought the little Black Mamba seemed better.

"So well-behaved is he

"Too cute."

"As expected from Lord Nyx's kid"

"When was he born? Lord Nyx never tells us anything about that."

After all these years, another adorable little snake had appeared, bringing back memories of when Chubby first debuted

Compared to his lively older brother Chubby, this little Black Mamba was quiet and reserved. He didn't like making noise. but he was incredibly obedient and well-mannered

People were reluctant to curse at a kid like this. They couldn't help but think back to Kian's childhood. They thought maybe Kian was once like this-gentle, quiet, a well-behaved little snake. But his mother had never loved him. He grew up in a cold, unfeeling home, met with indifference and likely beaten more times than he could remember.

The thought of it made them feel a pang of sympathy. Countless condemning stares fell on the middle-aged female

Kian finally lowered his gaze and looked at her

A decade wasn't enough for Beastmen, with their long lifespans, to visibly age. But she looked years older.

2/3

Chapter 253

His eyes drifted downward to the visual distortion device clipped to the collar. A bad feeling crept over him. The next second, Kian in front of him took off the device, revealing a face he'd never forget in his life, no matter how hard he tried

His worst nightmare had come true. The fat guy's vision went black. He thought, When the hell did Kian love a kid? Central Planet is huge. I just happened to curse at a random little Black Mamba, so how did he end up being Kian's kid?"

All that arrogance from before was gone in an instant. The fat guy was completely speechless, standing frozen for a moment before bolting out the door. He thought Kian was definitely going to kill him.

Fear gripped his heart as he ran like his life depended on it, never looking back. Behind him, his mother sat helplessly on the floor, screaming in terror. "Stay back. Don't come any closer."

Just moments ago, the fat guy had acted all concerned about his mother while demanding compensation. But now that his true color was exposed, their so-called mother-son bond was nowhere to be seen.

Seeing their plastic relationship fall apart, the bystanders couldn't help but sigh and laugh.

They thought. 'Funny how he doesn't have the strength to help his mother up, but he sure has enough to run for his life.'

As the middle-aged female trembled in despair, Kian didn't even glance at her. He just walked straight to the counter and gently scooped up the tiny Black Mamba hatchling in his palm.

*Coconut juice! Mama wants coconut juice." Even after being scared like that, the little one still remembered its mission. "Less ice, 30% sugar, no coconut jelly."

The store clerk, completely charmed, placed the order as requested and handed it to Kian.

"Thank you, but I'll take it. The hatchling curled its tail around the drink and politely said goodbye, "Bye-bye, sir!"

The clerk clutched her chest like she'd been struck straight in the heart.

The other customers in the store were equally mesmerized. A lot of them had kids of their own, and when they compared, they thought the little Black Mamba seemed better.

"So well-behaved is he

"Too cute."

"As expected from Lord Nyx's kid."

"When was he born? Lord Nyx never tells us anything about that."

After all these years, another adorable little snake had appeared, bringing back memories of when Chubby first debuted.

Compared to his lively older brother Chubby, this little Black Mamba was quiet and reserved. He didn't like making noise, but he was incredibly obedient and well-mannered.

People were reluctant to curse at a kid like this. They couldn't help but think back to Kian's childhood. They thought maybe Kian was once like this-gentle, quiet, a well-behaved little snake. But his mother had never loved him. He grew up in a cold, unfeeling home, met with indifference and likely beaten more times than he could remember.

The thought of it made them feel a pang of sympathy. Countless condemning stares fell on the middle-aged female.

Kian finally lowered his gaze and looked at her.

A decade wasn't enough for Beastmen, with their long lifespans, to visibly age. But she looked years older.

2/3

Chapter 253

After what happened back then, she spent years being the subject of whispers and gossip fr left her more fragile, more bitter, and increasingly unstable.

Her mates couldn't take it and left one by one. Even if they couldn't legally break off their bond, they still fled to other planets to escape her. Only her favorite main consort and youngest son had stayed.

She believed there was nothing wrong with favoring one child over the other. So, she spoiled her youngest even more, indulging him endlessly and supporting his pointless existence with the money from her other partners.

Only now did she realize how horribly wrong she had been

The son she had given everything to had abandoned her in an instant, running for his life without even remembering she existed

Sitting on the cold floor, she suddenly felt all the energy drain from her body. In that moment, she aged decades more. Watching Kian's tall, unwavering back as he walked away, she coul hold it in anymore and wailed.

If only she had been a little nicer to this son back then, maybe she could be living a better life now. But reality was cruel. Today, she hadn't just angered Kian-she had pissed off Nyx too. She was absolutely screwed.

The fat guy bolted out of the store, jumped into his aircraft, and sped home-only to realize he had completely forgotten about his mother.

For a moment, he panicked and felt guilty, but he quickly calmed down. He thought it was fine. His mother was female, so no matter what, she wouldn't get hit. She was completely safe. As long as he could dodge

Kian's fists, everything would be fine.

Trying to reassure himself, he opened his Intelligent Brain, planning to ask his mother what was going on.

If Kian was still there, there was no way he would go pick her up. He had to wait until Kian left.

But the moment he opened his Intelligent Brain, he saw a notification-and his face instantly darkened with rage.

3/3

Of The Bea 254

I

Chapter 254

Rejected the fat guy thought.

He couldn't help but angrily type out a message: [Why? I passed the written test and the interview

He had worked so hard to land this job-he even spent money pulling some strings

11

How could they reject me? Taking the money but not delivering? What kind of scam is this? he thought

No matter how much he ranted and cursed, the other side never responded.

Thinking about the huge sum of money he had spent to get this job, he felt like he couldn't breathe,

He thought about reporting it to the Security Bureau, but buying a job wasn't exactly legal. Besides, he thought if this Kian's doing, even if he went to the Security Bureau, there was no way he could win against Kian

After thinking it over, he had no choice but to swallow his anger.

Not working for a while wasn't so bad. It wasn't like he wanted to work anyway. The money his mother gave him was than enough for him to enjoy life.

With that in mind, he decided to just leech off her, goofing around, eating, drinking, and having fun-until one day, bank account ran dry. That was when he realized his mother had stopped transferring money to him.

"Mom, you forgot to send me my allowance." He asked for money like he always did, but this time, all he got was a cold laugh and a disdainful look.

"Allowance?" His mother gave him a contemptuous once-over.

Looking at him without any motherly affection, she finally saw him for what he was—a useless waste of space with absolutely no redeeming qualities.

She said, "You're already an adult, and you're still asking me for money? When Kian was your age, he was already making a name for himself on the battlefield

The fat guy's smile froze. "Why are you bringing him up?"

When he was a kid, he had always been jealous of Kian. They had the same mother, but Kian was an S-level genius, while he was just an E-level nobody. Even after taking all sorts of expensive genetic enhancement drugs, he barely made it to D-level

Later, when Kian left the family, he had mixed feelings. On one hand, he lost someone he could bully and exploit. On the other hand, he was finally free from Kian's overwhelming shadow.

No matter what outsiders said, in his mother's eyes, he was always much better than Kian.

'So what's going on today?' the fat guy thought, completely at a loss.

"Starting today, I won't give you another cent." The humiliation she had suffered at the cafe had completely crushed her. She refused to waste any more money on him.

Rather than throwing money at a son who was destined to be useless, she might as well keep it for herself. With a cold voice, she declared, "Allowing you to live in my house is the last bit of mercy I'll give you. If you don't get a job, then you can starve."

The fat guy felt like he had been struck by lightning. He had no idea what he did wrong. He bowed and begged, but his mother's heart had already turned to stone.

1/3

05:45 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 251

00

After two days of sulking, he realized he didn't want to starve to death in he started sending our job applications More matter how many resumes he sent there was no triponir

I felt like he was even less desirable than before. Even when he lowered his standards and tried applying for job on Book the planets, no one would hire him

He thought. What the hell! This how to be Kian's doing

As he watched his bank account balance drop closer and closer to zero, his frustration grew

One morning, when his mother woke up and realized he was gone, she didn't think much of a

But later, when she tried to pay for something, she was stunned her bank account was empty. Her fury urged so violently that she nearly passed out.

When the Security Bureau received the report, even they were surprised.

It was rare for family conflicts to escalate to the point of calling the Security Bureau-but a mother reporting her seen som for theft was practically unheard of.

They took a closer look and immediately recognized the person who reported the incident. They exchanged glances without saying a word. They thought, "Those two asked for it'

When Nyx heard the news, she felt a lot better.

No matter how patient she was, seeing her kid get bullied for no reason made her angry.

Ever since he got scolded, Ray had been feeling down for days. He was already a quiet little thing, but now he seemed even more withdrawn. Curled up in Nyx's arms, he mumbled, "Mom, am I really that annoying?" Nyx's heart ached for him.

The whole family jumped in to comfort Ray, doing everything they could to cheer him up. "Of course not. Ray, you're super adorable.

Sera raised her little hand and swore to the Beast God. "All my classmates like Ray. Last time I took you to school, they were so jealous of me. If you don't believe me, I can take you again."

Nyx quickly stopped Sera before she got too excited.

Nyx then kissed her sad little snake and said, "Ray, you've done nothing wrong. You're such a good boy, and everybody loves you.

"The ones who yelled at you are the real bad guys. They've done bad things before, and they're just scared of you because they have a guilty conscience."

To show Ray just how much people liked him, Nyx and Kian took him out for a little trip.

This time, they didn't use any visual disruption devices. No matter where they went, they drew everyone's attention.

Little Black Mamba coiled around Nyx's neck, entwined with the blue iris necklace Kian gave her. He looked just like a fancy accessory for Nyx.

Naturally, all eyes were on him. As he listened to the people around him showering him with compliments, his eyes started to sparkle, and the tip of his tail lifted slightly.

"Lord Nyx, Lord Kian." A voice grabbed Nyx's attention.

2/3

Cluger 201

She lifted her are a thing or dead ther

He dooogle for a moment and said. "Youre due praeday dour detay

Kan the the hand, but gur money at how the

"Yes. That's mir" The tonerjoyed that an ally remembered hem. Teatres get to see you again?

His eyes shifted to Rian and Nyre intended, and then to the line lack the wound toyx's race and finally seled on the blue is near. He could help feel emotional

Back then, Kiani had left a strong impression i

Kiani was past a felf-com young male, carrying a cold and

But the men here that necklace.

something intense flickered in his eyes-full of longing and love he couldn't quite hude

The store owner had silently wished that this young male wedd one day get what he desired.

But later, he started seeing Nyx in the media, and, to his surprise, she was often wearing that very necklace. He felt both excited and a little disappointed.

On the one hand, his work had caught the attention of an 555-level female. On the other hand, their worlds were too far apart—there was no way that poor male Kian could actually win the heart of his beloved Nyx

He never imagined that Kian would actually succeed. Now, Kian was standing beside Nyx, and they even had such adorable kid together.

The store owner looked at the little Black Mamba, his face full of affection.

"Wait right here," he said suddenly before rushing back to his shop.

3/3

Of The Bea 255

Chapter 255

The store owner hurried back and soon returned with a beautifully wrapped box. He smiled and held it out to the little Black Mamba This is for you. Do you like it?"

Inside the box was a pendant shaped like a snake. The material looked like top-quality material, and the craftsmanship was exquisite. It was clearly worth a lot Nyx was startled. She thought. We haven't done anything to deserve such a valuable gift. How could we just take it?

But when she saw Ray's big round eyes fixed on the pendant, clearly liking it a lot, she opened her Intelligent Brain, ready to buy it.

The store owner shook his head and refused to take any money. "No need to pay. This is a gift for your little one."

"Please, take it," he insisted, earnestly. Thanks to you wearing that necklace all the time. I've had a constant stream of customers.

As one of the biggest celebrities in the Empire, Nyx was the best advertisement he could ever ask for.

In just over a decade, his small jewelry store had grown into a high-end brand, all thanks to Nyx and Kian. Nyx and Kian's love story had made his business thrive. Their child was like a symbol of good luck to him. The way he looked at Ray was full of warmth, as if he was gazing at a little lucky star.

Feeling a bit overwhelmed by all the attention, Ray curled up shyly.

He was still a little embarrassed, but for the first time in days, he truly felt loved. The gloomy feelings that had been weighing him down were completely gone.

As Ray looked at the gift that had been prepared just for him, his eyes sparkled like little gems.

After much persuasion, Nyx finally let Ray accept the present.

The little Black Mamba wobbled excitedly, carefully wrapping his tail around the box. In a rare moment of enthusiasm, he chirped, softly and sweetly. "Thank you."

The store owner couldn't stop smiling. He thought,

"How can there be such a cute little cub in the world?"

Even without this connection, he would still be captured by this little cub.

Nyx spent the whole day playing outside with the cub, and the result was amazing.

When they went out, little Black Mamba was down and out, but by the time they came back, he was all excited, happily pulling out the pendant from the box and showing it off in front of everyone.

He was convinced that, besides his family, there were really so many people who liked him. They even gave him gifts.

Everyone doted on him and praised him enthusiastically.

Sera clapped her hands. This pendant looks just like Ray

Seeing his sister take an interest, Ray generously handed the pendant over to her to admire.

The pendant felt smooth and warm to the touch, with an even black color all over. It was shaped to show the curve of a snake's body and the fine details of its scales. At first glance, it looked just like a twin of little Black Mamba, so lifelike.

05 45 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 255

Sera could put it down, sighing. The material feel so unique, heavy and warm"

Although she had never been particularly interested in jewelry, she came from a wealthy family and had been pampered since childhood he had seen all kinds of luxury pieces, but never anything as unique as this pendant.

At her words the others also grew curious

Can I see it. Ray Chubby reached out his hand.

Linde Black Mamba nodded obediently. He med his older siblings and wasn't worried about his stuff being ruined.

his

Chubby carefully held the pendant in his palm, playing with it, and the more he looked at it, the more he thought its structure was unusual. The material seemed like jade, but also not quite the same.

As he furrowed his brows, sleep in thought. Ash suddenly spoke up. "Wait a minute?"

His voice was urgent, unlike the calm and gentle tone he usually had.

Everyone turned to look at him, even more puzzled when they saw him pull a pile of mechanical products and weapons from his Space Button

Like Erik, Ash was good with machines and weapon-making. He inherited his father's talent, already having many inventions under his belt.

But why is he pulling out all these things while we are admiring the pendant?' everyone thought.

Ash stood up, examining each item one by one, his face growing more excited.

"Energy. His eyes locked onto the pendant. "No, it's not jade. This is a new energy source."

He excitedly took off the small energy gun he wore on his wrist and placed it on the table for everyone to see. This was his latest invention-a small, portable weapon, highly discreet-but it had always been limited by a lack of suitable energy to reach its full potential.

Just now, however, he'd noticed the energy gun showing 100% power. This had never happened before. His first thought was that the energy gun had malfunctioned, but seeing his older brother studying the pendant carefully, another thought crossed his mind.

"These are all weapons with drained energy Ash pointed at the pile on the table. "But look-

Everyone followed his gaze and was stunned to find that all the equipment was now fully charged.

The room fell silent. The only thing audible was the sound of rapid breathing.

They thought, 'If it really is the pendant's doing, then it is almost revolutionary-far more advanced than any energy currently in use. Just this small piece emits such a powerful energy field. If there are enough reserves, the Empire would experience rapid, unprecedented development.

Ray wandered around the pendant, confused. He couldn't tell that it was such a powerful thing.

When he heard his fathers asking if they could take the pendant for testing, he was a little reluctant but didn't hesitate to agree.

The results came back quickly.

When Ray woke up, he found the pendant safely back by his side, and he was so happy he drank another bottle of milk.

2/3

Chapter 235

The vibe at the dinner table was filled with joy

The test results confirmed Ashes gues energy source.

The better news was that the energy reserves seemed to be abundant.

When the jewelry store owner learned what he had just mined was actually an energy mine, he stood there dumbfounded for a long time.

Then, hearing that he would be rewarded by the Empire for his contribution to discovering new energy, he was raptured "Really?"

Not only that, but the value of the new energy mine was far higher than he expected.

The shop owner could hardly contain his excitement. He spent nearly all his savings to buy this raw mine, which had been excavated for some time, passing through numerous processes and countless hands—yet no one had realized it was a new energy source.

Just as he gifted little Black Mamba a pendant, such luck found him. He was convinced now that Ray was his lucky star.

After some negotiation, the shop owner sold the energy mine to the Empire's officials, and when he looked at his account with a long string of digits, he felt like he no longer needed to make a living.

But driven by his initial passion and interest, he still kept the shop open. In just three years, the jewelry store truly made i

name for itself.

The owner opened many branches across the globe, and the shop on Central Planet kept expanding, with lots of employees busy working inside.

The doorbell rang lightly, signaling a customer was entering, and as the employees were about to greet him, they saw the owner rush up, saying. "I'll handle this."

The employees looked at the door, wondering who had such a big influence to have the owner personally greet them.

When they saw who it was, the employees couldn't help but cover their mouths and squeal quietly.

A three-year-old cub in overalls stood there—it was Ray in his human form.

He happily tilted his soft little face, and greeted the owner. "I'm here to buy a gift for my little brother."

Hearing the words "little brother", everyone perked up their ears.

She was also stunned. 'Little brother?'

The owner was

3/3

Of The Bea 256

Chapter 256

Little Mark Mamba innocently replied, "Yeah, my little brother just hatched. He's a lion

He was all smiles, grinning from ear to ear. "Aky really likes him. I do too?"

ear."ky

As fellow lions, Sky was full of affection for the newborn Kerry. Whenever he had free time, he would always be by the lion club's side

The sub-adult lion was quite large. The newly hatched lion cub was barely the size of his paw, soft and cuddly as he snuggled against Kerry.

Watching them together. Nyx felt like he was seeing the young Sky and the sub-adult Sky, both crossing time and space to meet in one place.

They looked identical, yet Kerry wasn't Theon's cub, he was Felix's.cub.

However, Kerry's personality wasn't like Felix's or Nyx's. Even when he was in the egg, he was active and clingy, and loved to snuggle and roll around.

Nyx stared at the little cub happily kicking his ball on his back and couldn't help but give Felix a curious look. She thought, 'Could it be Felix was like this when he was little too?'

The usually serious male lion cleared his throat and quietly turned red in the ears. He didn't remember what he was like as a child. But his emotional detachment was actually a congenital condition, so he thought, maybe he wasn't as cute when he was little.

He thought if he hadn't been sick, maybe he'd have been this innocent and carefree.

The fluffy little cub grew tired from playing and curled up into a small ball on the floor, rising and falling with each breath.

Felix was worried he might get accidentally stepped on, so he slowly lay down next to him.

Kerry was startled, quickly rolling over, and stared up at the imposing beast next to him.

He looked down at himself, and then at his brother, and finally at his dad, his round little head tilting back and forth as if full of confusion.

Sky guessed what Kerry was thinking. He smiled and comforted Kerry. "You're still small, but soon you'll grow even bigger than your Daddy.

"As long as you eat healthy and exercise more, you'll catch up to your dad in no time."

Kerry believed it without a doubt.

He was bursting with energy, so he chugged a huge bottle of milk with Nyx watching, and then tore through the whole house. But that wasn't enough for him, so he bolted outside to chase after little critters.

He was still so young, just out of the shell, and his body was small, with short, chubby limbs. When he ran, he kept stumbling, not even worth noticing to those little animals

The little lion cub tackled and pinned them down firmly, leaving them completely dumbfounded, unable to figure out what had just happened.

They thought, 'How could such a tiny creature be so fierce?'

As a few lion roars echoed, they lifted their heads and watched in shock as two majestic adult male lions strode out of the large house. Following closely behind them was a subadult male lion.

1/3

Chapter 256

At that moment, they finally understood why this little one was so formidable and couldn't help but tremble in fear

Kerry, with a babyish voice, mimicked his dad and brothers roars, and then showed mercy, lifting his short leg and letting the prey go, satisticks

He charged straight at the three big lions, pretending to pounce and bite them. But instead, he accidentally crashed headfirst into his father's iron-like leg, sending himself tumbling backward. His freshly fed, round belly was completely exposed.

Nyx stood at the doorway, watching this scene with a smile.

The four hous-two big ones and two small ones-gathered together, and it was such a heartwarming sight. Kerry, full of energy, couldn't stay still. After lying on the ground for a bit, he shook his head and stood up, climbed onto his brothers, and then jumped onto his dad's head.

To Nyx's surprise, Felix wasn't a strict father at all, he was incredibly patient with the cub.

Even Theon found it unbelievable, looking Felix up and down. "When did your temper change so much?"

In his memory, Felix had always been an unyielding authority figure. When he was rebellious and disobedient before, Felix had no problem knocking him around.

Felix gave him a meaningful glance. I've always been like this. I haven't changed."

Before Theon could reply, Felix spoke again, "When you were little, you were as mischievous as Kerry, I spoiled you just the same."

Theon didn't remember anything from his cub years. But just looking at Felix's expression, he knew Felix was telling the truth.

Felix didn't need to, nor would he bother, lying to him.

The golden-haired lion lowered his head in embarrassment, feeling too shy to speak. If not for his thick fur, his face would've been bright red.

Nyx suddenly sensed something subtle. She thought, 'Oh right... Felix is Theon's elder

She couldn't help but think about the confusing generational relationships between the four lions at home. It was really a

"Nyx," a slightly resentful voice suddenly came from behind, making Nyx jump. Nyx turned around and saw Ash standing there.

Normally, Sky and Ash were always together since they were twin brothers, and their bond was particularly close. But now, Sky was caught up in playing with the lion cubs, leaving Ash by himself.

The two lion brothers were laughing and playing in the garden, making Ash look lonely and even a little pitiful.

Ash had turned into beast form. He was a large, but not yet fully grown, gray wolf, circling Nyx and wagging his tail in an attempt to please her. "Nyx, I want a little brother too."

He was so jealous of Sky. He thought, Why does Sky get to play with a little lion CUB? I also want an adorable little wolf cub to play with.

Nyx went speechless. She thought, 'Actually, it will be possible. If I have another little wolf cub and raise it alongside the little lion cub, wouldn't that allow me to relive the feeling of raising Sky and Ash?'

Thinking about it, Nyx couldn't help but feel moved.

2/3

05:45 Tue, 4 Mar D

Chapter 256

Just as she was about to agree, she felt some suddenly wrap their arms around her waist from behind.

After so many years into her marriage, she was extremely familiar with all her mates. She didn't need to look back to know who it was. "Zavne?"

Zayne chuckled softly and lifted her in his arms, leaving Ash, who looked confused, with a casual remark. "I'll create a little brother for you now.

3/3

Read Of The Bea 257

Of The Bea 257

Chapter 257

Nyx collapsed on the bed in the bedroom, burying her face in the pillow, her face flushed red

Even though they'd been married for a long time, she still got shy when it came to unprotected sex

But when she thought of the small, snow white Snow Wolf pup the strong feeling of anticipation overpowered all other reaction

Pale Wolf was a wolf, and Snow Wolf was also a wolf, so it was just perfect for Sky to have a little brother. She turned over, lifted her hand, and hooked Zayne's neck, but she saw Zayne taking birth control pills Zayne stared at him in surprise, her eyes wide.

"Don't you want a pup?" she asked, confused. She grabbed Zayne's hand to stop him from putting the pills in his mouth

Zayne stared back at her in surprise. He thought. Do we really want to have pups? Kerry just hatched. I was just kidding then

He thought it was fun to see his beloved female get shy.

But Nyx took it seriously, grabbing the pills from his hand and tossing them onto the side table.

"Nyx" Zayne wanted to say more, to make sure she wasn't just acting on impulse, but he was pinned down by Nyx without hesitation

Her soft little hand was pressed against his chest, and Nyx was fully on top of him, looking down at him from above.

Faced with such an enthusiastic matron, Zayne couldn't bring himself to say anything that would ruin the mood.

His gray-blue eyes showed a look of obsession, and he quickly lost himself in it.

little

In the jewelry store, Ray successfully placed the order and paid the deposit.

Even though there were many finished pendants to choose from in the store, the owner, wanting to show his respect, planned to personally handcraft the lion pendant Ray wanted.

"It'll take about thirty days to finish," the shop owner said, pointing to the Intelligent Brain on his wrist and smiling as he reassured Ray. "We'll contact you through your Intelligent Brain for the exact pickup time, okay?"

Ray touched his little version of the Intelligent Brain and nodded obediently.

"Did you come by yourself? Do you want me to give you a ride home?" Seeing him about to leave, the shop owner was a worried.

The security on Central Planet was good, but for a three-year-old little cub, it was still a bit dangerous.

"No, thanks," Ray said happily, baring his sharp teeth. "My dad is waiting for me outside."

Kian really cared for his only precious little cub. As long as Ray wanted to go out and play, even on weekdays, Kian would always make time to accompany him.

Ray had wanted to come out alone to buy something, so Kian didn't follow him around.

Ray's wish to shop alone was fulfilled, and when he got home, he excitedly wanted to share his experience with his mom.

1/4

Chapter 257

Before he could even reach Nyx's room. Ash stopped him.

Ash bent down and picked up his short little brother, carrying him away from Nyx's bedroom. "Nyx us bary, does donurb her for now

w blinked his innocent eyes

"What's mom doing?"

Ash couldn't help but recall some of his own childhood memories. He awkwardly lowered his head. He stated for a while, unable to explain clearly, and then tried to change the subject "She's creating a little wolf cub do you like Y

11

Ray's attention was indeed diverted. He clapped his little hands. "I like it. Is it a wolf cub like my brothers

He compared the size of the newborn lion cub in his mind, imagining his brother much smaller, and thought it was niger rule.

"It's different." Ash said, relieved that the topic had shifted. "It's a Snow Wolf, like Zayne"

Ray got it. "A white wolf cub.

He nodded enthusiastically. I like it for sure"

Zayne's fur was as white as snow, thick and warm, and Ray loved snuggling up to him

Ash smiled slightly, taking his little hand. "As long as you're good and don't disturb Nyx, we'll have a little Snow Wolf beacher

"Really?" Ray's eyes suddenly lit up. He thought. Does that mean I'm going to have two little brochent & fufy bon cubs, plus a fluffy little Snow Wolf...I will be the happiest elder brother in the world

The thought of being able to hug two fluffy little creatures soon made him smile in his sleep for several nights. Ray couldn't hide his excitement.

A few days later, he went to pick up the custom-made lion pendant as scheduled and added a new order. "I want to customize a little Snow Wolf pendant too."

"Oh?" the shop owner smiled and teased him. "Why do you want a little Snow Wolf? Did you get a new line brother?"

"Not yet," Ray said seriously, shaking his head and then nodding "But it'll happen soon"

He was worried Ash might be tricking him, so this morning, he asked Nyx about "Mom promised me she'll give me a little Snow Wolf brother. The little cub was so happy that he was unable to resist showing off

The shop went silent for a moment, and then everyone burst into laughter.

They thought, 'How could something like that happen just because she promised she will?

The shop owner helplessly rubbed his forehead and picked up Ray

This little Black Mamba was still too young, didn't understand things, and took his parents casual remarks seriously

Even if Nyx really wanted to have a baby and was actively preparing for it, it would still take some time. Plus, nobody could decide whether it was a male or not.

Over the years, not many people knew that Nyx spent most of her time avoiding pregnancy. They thought she never used

2/4

Chapter 257

any precautions

To them, as an 555-level female, Nyx had already been incredibly strong for having Sera after six years, and then Ray after right years.

And now, after just three years, Kerry was born-surely a blessing from the Beast God.

But even with the Beast God's blessing, it wasn't like she could just give birth to a Snow Wolf whenever she felt like it.

Everyone laughed for a while, and then tried to hold it in, not wanting to upset the little cub.

Ray wasn't mad though. He looked around, not understanding what everyone was laughing about.

He trusted Nyx completely, believing that she was the most powerful person in the world and that anything she promised him would definitely come true.

The shop owner couldn't bring himself to shatter Ray's dream.

He thought for a moment, and then suggested, "Why don't you come back to customize the pendant once the little Snow Wolf is born?"

"When that happens, you can bring a photo of your brother, and I'll carve a pendant that looks exactly like him."

This way, Ray wouldn't get the pendant and then end up disappointed when his new brother didn't show up, making him even more upset.

Ray happily agreed, "Okay"

The shop owner quietly shook his head and sighed.

He thought, 'By the time the little Snow Wolf brother is really born, the cub might already be an adult by then and might not remember the promise made today'

Even though he had little hope, the shop owner still seriously picked out the best white materials and began designing the pendant in advance.

Around noon, the shop owner was lying on the table, resting his eyes. The screen of his Intelligent Brain was on, showing the sixth version of the design he was working on

After napping for half an hour, he stretched and suddenly heard a soft voice beside him. "Are you awake?"

The shop owner was caught off guard and nearly jumped out of his skin, realizing someone had snuck up on him.

He thought. He thought. As expected of Lord Nyx's offspring-so young, yet able to get close to me without me noticing, even though I'm a highly vigilant -level mule

The shop owner patted his chest in a date, trying to calm his racing heart. After a while, he finally regained his composure and smiled

After their last meeting, he thought it would be a long time before he saw little Black Mamba again, but it hadn't even been a year, and here they were, meeting again..

Before he could ask what brought him here, Kay pointed at the design on the screen of the Intelligent Brain.

"Is this little

He opened up the cub's version of the Intelligent Brain and showed the shop owner a photo. "He looks a bit different from my little brother"

Chapter 2571

The shop owner looked at Ray Apie ndy

4/4

Of The Bea 258

Chapter 258

The screen showed a picture of a little Snow Wolf snuggled up in Nyx's armis.

It was indeed a bit different. The little Snow Wolf was plump, with thick fur all over, looking like a fluffy white pom-pom. Its gray-blue eyes were full of intelligence, as though it was gazing directly at the person looking at the photo through the

Compared to him, the Snow Wolf cub in the design looked malnourished, lacking much of its spirit.

The shop owner was stunned, unable to speak for a long time.

After a while, he swallowed hard and struggled to find his voice. "Really? Is there really a little Snow Wolf now?"

His trembling voice, shifting in pitch, caught the attention of the staff, and everyone froze, their minds blank.

They forgot all about their roles and etiquette, rushing over to look at the photo, eager to satisfy their curiosity.

After just one glance, the staff nearly burst out in excitement, overwhelmed by how cute it was.

They thought, 'It's so round, so adorable-just one look at its plump little body, full from absorbing too many nutrients in the egg, and there's no doubt this is definitely Lord Nyx's cub.

They had originally thought it was just the playful words of little Black Mamba, but now, they realized they had made a mistake.

They thought. 'Someone like Lord Nyx really can just give birth to a little Snow Wolf if she wants to.

Staring at the photo for a while, the shop owner had a sudden burst of inspiration. He quickly threw all the previous design drafts he didn't like into the recycle bin, opened a new page, and began sketching the true image of the little Snow Wolf.

"Just like last time, a finished product within thirty days," he hurriedly told little Black Mamba. "We'll arrange the pickup time later; we'll stay in touch."

After successfully placing the order with the shop owner, Ray felt satisfied and headed home.

In the living room at home, the massive Pale Wolf was wagging his tail and making silly sounds to soothe little Snow Wolf.

He was completely in love with his little brother from the wolf clan.

Little Snow Wolf remained calm, but his little tail wagging behind him betrayed his true feelings-he was actually happy.

Ash coaxed little Snow Wolf to follow him, strutting proudly to show off to Sky. "Look, my little brother is white."

Not to be outshined, Sky brought out the lion cub. "My little brother looks more like me."

Ash said, "My little brother is fluffier and softer."

Sky said. "My little brother is super lively and can even climb trees."

The two soon-to-be-adult males showed an unexpectedly childish side, bragging and comparing their little brothers.

dy rolling Back and forth, they argued, neither one giving in. Meanwhile, the little lion and little Snow Wolf were already around, smuggling together affectionately.

The arguing between Sky and Ash slowly quieted down.

1/3

Chapter 258

They both, without saying a word, remembered their childhood, always hanging together ran

They exchanged a glance and suddenly burst out laughing, shifting into beast form and bumping shoulders. Both d. "Your little brother is also mine"

Nyx, sitting on the sofa, watched everything unfold and couldn't help but smile, sharing a look with her mates. Looking at the two large and two small fluffy creatures, she felt an itch to join in. She glanced at her mates and parted her lap

Her mates immediately understood, rushing to shift into beast form and pounce on her.

"Don't fight, one at a time," Nyx said, pulling out a row of small combs, brushes, various scented coat oils, and scales care products from her Space Button.

Even after so many years of such intimate moments, she still never got tired of it.

The males, as eager as ever, still fought over who would get to her first.

Little Snow Wolf lifted his head and stared blankly at his parents.

He noticed the happiness on Nyx's face when she held his beast-form dad, and he thought to himself. It seems like Mom likes them better in their beast form.

Before bed at night, Nyx kissed each of her mates, and then kissed each of her cubs' faces as goodnight kisses.

For the older cubs, she just gave a light peck. As for the little ones, she didn't hold back a bit.

She cuddled the affectionate Sera in her arms, showering it with kisses.

The little white cat, now just over ten years old, had grown nearly as big as her father, making it heavy to hold but so satisfying to kiss,

Nyx lovingly hugged Sera, and then turned to pick up little Black Mamba, who had shifted into beast form. Not caring if he had any poison, Nyx kissed him several times.

The shy little black snake coiled around her arm.

It was time for the little lion and little Snow Wolf.

Nyx easily grabbed one with each hand and gave them a bite, one after the other.

The two round, chubby cubs looked like sticky balls, one sprinkled with soybean flour and the other without, making Nyx want to eat them up.

Under Nyx's overwhelming affection, little Snow Wolf squinted his eyes contentedly.

Remembering the dads who only got one kiss and the brothers who only got a quick kiss on the cheek, he found Nyx liked beast form more.

When the lion Kerry turned one, he first transformed into his human form.

Except for Chubby, who transformed earlier in a moment of panic, most of the male cubs in the family transformed into human form around this time.

2/3

Chapter 258

But when Noel Nyx's seventh child, was born, things were a bit different. When he turned one, the usual time to transform he didn't show my signs of doing so.

Libe Snow Woll had grown quite a bit and still clung to Nyx all day, using his soft, fluffy fur to lure her into hugging and kissing him

At first, Nyxworst too worried. After all, male Beastmen cubis typically transformed into human form between the ages of two and right

Hut as time passed and little Snow Wolf turned two without changing, she began to feel anxious,

She thought. This obler brothers all transformed into human form carlier than the other cubs. Why is he different?

3/3

Of The Bea 259

Chapter 259

It seemed that all of Nyx's experience raising her first six cubs didn't help with Noel

The whole family was worried about him.

Zayne checked him countless times but couldn't find anything wrong

His development was completely normal, all his stats were as good as his brothers, except he couldn't turn into his human form.

form.

Zayne read through the checkup reports again and again, puzzled, and could only comfort Nyx, "You give him more. He's only two; it's probably not a big issue."

Little Snow Wolf perked up his little ears, secretly watching his mom's expression

That night, after Nyx finished her bath and was getting ready to rest, she pulled back the covers and was surprised to find a fluffy little cub in her bed.

Do

"What's wrong, Noel?" She picked up the freshly bathed, sweet-smelling Little Snow Wolf and kissed his forehead. "Do you want to sleep with me?"

Little Snow Wolf nuzzled into her arms and whispered, "If I can't turn into human form, will you think I'm super?"

Nyx froze.

She hadn't expected the cub to ask such a question. After snapping out of it, she hugged him tightly, feeling a pang of sympathy. "Of course not."

These past few days, she had been so worried about Noel not transforming into his human form that she had neglected his feelings

Noel was a smart cub, and he must have sensed her anxiety, which made him start doubting himself.

Nyx felt guilty and opened her Intelligent Brain to find a science video for Little Snow Wolf. "Noel, you are still a baby. It's perfectly normal not to transform yet. Many cubs don't turn human until they're eight."

Little Snow Wolf felt a little better and peeked up at Nyx. "So, I'm not sick or stupid?"

"Exactly. You are a smart and healthy baby," Nyx said, gently hugging him and whispering words of comfort. Soon, Noel closed his eyes, curled up in Nyx's arms, and fell asleep.

Nyx lovingly stroked his warm, fluffy little body, sighed, and, not wanting to put him down, decided to let him sleep beside her all night.

From the next day on, following Nyx's suggestion, no one in the family mentioned Noel's inability to transform into human form. They all took extra care to protect his emotions.

For this smart yet sensitive cub, Nyx couldn't help but indulge him even more.

By the time Noel was three and a half, he still clung to his mom all day and sometimes snuck into her room wanting her to hold him while he slept.

Watching Noel's wagging tail, Nyx thought it felt like she was raising a clingy little puppy.

1/3

Chapter 259

Except, this little puppy was extremely smart. Not only could he talk and call her mom, but he also excelled at his studies, and like his father, had a natural talent for medicine and pharmacology

He had an unusual sensitivity to herbs that others lacked, and many of his creative ideas were so impressive that they made ferret Heps feel inferior, his eyes turning green with envy.

Not only was he good at schoolwork, but his combat and physical training didn't fall behind either.

When Kerry, his lion brother, started receiving training from their general father, Noel joined in to learn as well.

The two fluffy cubs sat side by side.

Felix first taught them beast form combat techniques;

Coincidentally, little lion and little Snow Wolf could practice with each other. After serious learning, they would fight fiercely, pouncing on each other, locking throats, and rolling around in a whirlwind of fur.

Nyx watched from the side, and even though it was a fierce fight, she didn't feel any cruelty. She just thought they were adorable, and she smiled.

When Felix started teaching the combat skills in human form, the lion quickly and neatly shifted into his human form, stretching his limbs for a warm-up. Meanwhile, the little Snow Wolf squatted beside him, looking confused and unsure.

Nyx's smile on her face froze a little.

She was worried that the little Snow Wolf would be upset because he couldn't turn into human form, so she hurried over to hug him and gently comforted him, "Don't worry. Noel. You are so smart. You can learn it later."

"Come on: let's go get some ice cream." She tried to distract the little cub.

Ice cream was of course very attractive to the little cub, but Noel was more interested in becoming stronger.

He didn't want to reject Nyx, but at the same time, he didn't want to miss the opportunity to get stronger. He shook his ears a little, feeling a bit anxious.

Nyx could see his desire and sighed, reaching out to pat his head. "Alright, Noel. You can keep learning with your brother, and then you can have ice cream with him afterward,"

Even though he couldn't turn into human form, the little Snow Wolf didn't want to miss a single class.

During the lesson, he stared at Felix, making sure he didn't miss any details. After class, he logged into the holographic training system with Kerry, controlling a virtual human form body to spar with his brother. They went back and forth, but he didn't fall behind.

Nyx watched for a while and saw that his mood remained stable, even excited, so she relaxed.

Before bed, the little Snow Wolf finished a day of learning and training and hid in his room to conduct experiments.

He had recently been trying to improve a stamina recovery potion and had a complete idea in mind. He planned to make a sample to test the effects.

As usual, he found the materials he needed from his dad and took them to his room without hiding it, and then shut the door behind him.

The whole family supported the little cub's research, being considerate and not disturbing him.

The little Snow Wolf skillfully placed each material into the machine to process it, adjusting the ingredient ratios according to his ideas.

2/3

05.40

Chapter 250

Everything was going smoothly, but today, none of the materials required shelling first, which really stumped

Looking around, he saw no one, and the room was quiet

Noel rolled his eyes, stretched his body, and he secretly shifted to human form

His agile hands were so much more useful than his bear paws for claws. He spared down, completely forgetting

the material

The machine's humming sound covered up the sound of knocking at the door.

The door gently opened from the outside, and Noel didn't notice at all

Zayne walked in holding a cup of milk and asked softly, "Noel, would you like me to help you shell the wild flax seed?"

Zayne only needed to glance at which materials were missing from the stock to roughly guess the little cub's experiment plan. Thinking that the cub might find some operations difficult, he volunteered to help.

As soon as he entered the room, he saw a small figure squatting there

The little cub was completely naked, with untrimmed hair that was a bit long and hanging down his back.

Hearing the sound, he suddenly turned his head, revealing a round face that looked like both his dad and mom. His big gray-blue eyes were full of panic, and the material he had been peeling dropped onto the floor

Zayne managed to steady his movements, barely avoiding spilling the milk he was holding. But his words stopped abruptly and he stared at the little cub in human form in front of him, falling silent for a while.

Chapter 259

Everything was going smoothly, but today, one of the materials required shelling first, which really stumped him.

Looking around, he saw no one, and the room was quiet.

Noel rolled his eyes, stretched his body, and secretly shifted into his human form.

His agile hands were so much more useful than his beast form claws. He squatted down, completely focused, peeling the material.

The machine's humming sound covered up the sound of knocking at the door.

The door gently opened from the outside, and Noel didn't notice at all.

Zayne walked in holding a cup of milk and asked softly, "Noel, would you like me to help you shell the golden flax seed?"

Zayne only needed to glance at which materials were missing from the stock to roughly guess the little cub's experiment plan. Thinking that the cub might find some operations difficult, he volunteered to help.

As soon as he entered the room, he saw a small figure squatting there.

The little cub was completely naked, with untrimmed hair that was a bit long and hanging down his back.

Hearing the sound, he suddenly turned his head, revealing a round face that looked like both his dad and mom. His big gray-blue eyes were full of panic, and the material he had been peeling dropped onto the floor. Zayne managed to steady his movements, barely avoiding spilling the milk he was holding. But his words stopped abruptly, and he stared at the little cub in human form in front of him, falling silent for a while.

Of The Bea 260

Chapter 260 Chapter 260

D

Zayne and Noel locked eyes for a long time, neither of them saying anything

After a while. Zayne took a deep breath, pulled out a set of clothes for the cub from his Space Button, spratted down, and began putting them on Noel, piece by piece.

Were you pretending not to be able to turn into human form?" he suddenly asked

Zayne knew Noel's personality was like his own-obseilient and well-behaved on the surface, fnt secretly full of linde schemes Thinking back to the results of the previous check-up, he shook his head and smiled helplessly. He thought he should have guessed it earlier.

The intense sense of guilt from being caught on the spot was beyond the little cub's psychological capacity. Noel became obedient and nodded in admission.

Outside the door. Nyx had no idea what was going on. When she saw Zayne carrying Noel out, she was surprised and covered her mouth. "Noel can turn into human form now?"

The heavy weight on her heart lifted, and she let out a long breath.

But when she came to her senses, she saw that father and son both had serious expressions, and the vibe was a bit tense

Nyx got confused. She thought, 'Did something go wrong?'"

She became nervous, quickly walking over to check if there was something wrong with Noel.

"Don't worry. Nyx; he's healthy." Zayne almost ground his teeth. "Not only healthy, but his acting skills are also excellent

If it had only been a few days of pretending, it wouldn't be a big deal. But Noel had been pretending for over two years without showing a single flaw, only to be accidentally exposed today.

Nyx thought. With such strong skills, even adults would be ashamed. No wonder we've all been fooled by this little cub.

She listened to Zayne describe the cub's misdeeds, stunned, not believing her ears.

She looked at Noel in confusion. She had always trusted the cub, deeply worried that he would feel inferior because he couldn't transform into human form. She never thought that such a tiny cub would be capable of lying.

Noel lowered his little head, feeling guilty.

“Why don't you want to transform into human form?” Nyx couldn't understand him.

Facing Nyx's question, the little cub lowered his head and mumbled softly, "I want mommy to always like me. Mommy likes beast form. As long as I don't transform into human form. I can stay by mommy's side in beast form."

e was even less willing to transform into human form. If he wasn't The successes of these past two years validated his idea. He caught, he wanted to keep pretending until he was about eight.

Nyx was stunned and speechless. She reflected on herself. It was true that she was more affectionate toward her partner and cub in beast form, but that didn't mean she disliked human form.

Whether in beast form or human form, they were essentially the same person.

Her love wouldn't change because of beast form or human form.

1/3

05:46 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 260

The whole family rushed into the living room

Hearing Noel's explanation, they all turned to look at Zayne with strange expressions.

"What a cunning little Snow Woll, just like his father, they thought.

Zayne, caught up by the cubs's actions, started worrying whether both his and the cub's image would fall in Nyx's eyes and lose her favor.

“Nyx,” he knelt on one knee and lowered his head to apologize, “I didn't teach him well.”

He was willing to accept any punishment. For this lying cub, he swore there would definitely be consequences later.

The vibe in the living room grew tense.

Seeing Zayne kneel, Noel also fell to his knees with a thud, reaching out to hug Nyx's leg. "I'm sorry, Mommy. Please forgive me."

Unable to watch any longer. Kerry rushed up to plead for Noel, "Mom, don't be too hard on him."

Nyx felt overwhelmed by their actions and quickly pulled them up.

She first hugged Kerry, kissed and comforted him, and then grabbed Noel's small hand, seriously saying, "Whether you're in human form or beast form, you are my beloved baby. If you want more of my company, you can just tell me directly. Wouldn't I agree?"

Noel sniffled and froze for a moment after hearing that. He thought, "Yes. If I had said it directly, mommy would have agreed.

He asked. "But, Mommy, you never kissed Chubby, Sky, and Ash."

Chubby, Sky, and Ash exchanged awkward glances, blushing slightly.

They thought, 'We are already adults-how could we still be held and kissed by Nyx?'

Nyx couldn't help but laugh, "Because your brothers have grown up."

She had to be mindful of the boundaries.

Actually, with Chubby, Sky, and Ash grown up, Nyx felt a bit melancholic, but over the years, she had a few more cubs to fill the void in her arms.

"When your brothers were little, I held and kissed them every day," Nyx said while bringing up past photos and videos from her Intelligent Brain.

The warm and happy feeling flooded back to her heart.

Noel stared at the screen, realizing that his brothers weren't as miserable as he had imagined.

Nyx seized the opportunity, saying, "Noel, do you know? Your dads, sisters, and brothers have always been worried about you, afraid you wouldn't be able to transform into human form."

Although they no longer talked about it, as long as Noel couldn't transform into human form, everyone's anxiety only grew. They had done many checks for him and gathered all kinds of related materials and supplements.

Now, they realized their worries were unnecessary and that they had been played by Noel. They thought this cunning cub deserving of a good scolding

little

Noel felt too ashamed to lift his head, his face flushed red.

05:46 Tue, 4 Mar

Chapter 260

He knew he was wrong. Without waiting for his father's orders, he ran to the corner to face the wall.

華牛每

It was already late at night, and Nyx glanced at the time. Not wanting the cub to stay up all night, she called out to Noel, "Come and apologize to everyone."

Noel shuffled back, obediently following Nyx's instructions.

He kept saying sorry one after another, and his tears fell like a broken string of beads, unstoppable.

At a sight like this, all the anger everyone felt dissipated.

Even Zayne sighed and decided to let it slide, considering it was Noel's first mistake.

"Stop crying Nyx immediately pulled the sobbing little one into an embrace to calm him down. "As long as you correct it in the future, you'll still be my beloved baby"

Noel turned back into a little Snow Wolf, his fur damp with tears. He looked like a pitiful, rain-soaked puppy.

Nyx gently wiped his face, cleaned him up, and settled him on the small bed.

"I'll stay with you." Kerry volunteered, turning into a small lion and cuddling up with Noel, using his warm body to comfort him.

This episode was quickly put behind them.

Everyone tacitly decided not to bring it up again, giving Noel a chance to reform and protecting his dignity.

Zayne carefully saved the experiment Noel had been doing halfway and left it for him to continue next time.

Noel woke up early in the morning, his eyes still swollen.

He carefully rolled out of bed without waking Kerry. He opened the door, intending to find Nyx in the bedroom, but discovered that his parents were sitting in the living room, seemingly discussing something.