Casia thought he had hit Xivar where it hurt the most and was eager to see her suffer in despair. He stared at Xivar's face, but she still looked at him with a mocking gaze.

After a while, Casia nearly lost control, causing the Security Bureau personnel to sternly warn him, and only then did Xivar slowly speak, "I'm afraid I'll disappoint you. I'm perfectly fine, as you can see, unharmed.

"My mental power is also just fine. Not only has it not been destroyed, but it hasn't even decreased."

"What a joke," Casia laughed louder, "Even if you keep denying it, there's no way I'll believe such an outrageous thing."

A medical report was suddenly slapped down in front of Casia, and his laughter immediately stopped. The air was silent for a moment. Casia quickly scanned the report from top to bottom, his expression one of disbelief.

After reading it several times to make sure his eyes weren't deceiving him, his chest heaved violently. He thought. "How is this possible?"

"The Empire can't cure mental damage. Where did you fake this report?" he asked.

"Fake?" Xivar sneered dismissively. "Do you think I'm like you? Faking things to make myself look good?" "This isn't fake." She took back the report, standing up and looking down at Casia. "It was Lord Nyx who saved me. She healed all my mental damage. I'm feeling great now, and without you, Ill only live better from now on

“As for whether what I'm saying is true, you'll find out soon enough.” Xivar touched her chin thoughtfully. “I remember they show news in the prison every day. You'll see it on the news.”

Casia was stunned. He thought, 'Nyx? SSS-level female?'

He shook his head in disbelief. “Impossible, impossible. How could mental damage be completely healed? She's just a female with strong mental power, not a god.”

Catching the words in Casia's speech, Xivar snorted, “Even if she's not a god, Lord Nyx is definitely the Beast God Messenger.”

Xivar wasn't a believer in gods, but she wasn't a staunch atheist either. After today's events, she started to believe, deep down. that the Beast God was real Nyx was like the sudden arrival Of The Beastmenst God Messenger, saving both males and females. Not only Xivar, but many people throughout the Empire also began to have this thought.

Everyone on StarNet was paying attention to today's events. What happens in public naturally didn't escape being posted on StarNet for judgment.

A male cheating, a female facing a mental attack-these two things combined were already enough to attract a lot of attention. However, in the face of the shock caused by an SSS-level female, the event itself seemed almost trivial

The video from the scene was posted on StarNet. When people saw Nyx rush forward without hesitation to hold the injured female, some emotional viewers were already in tears.

Soon after, the hospital released an announcement, confirming that Xivar's body had fully recovered, her mental waves stable, and her mental power hadn't decreased.

The announcement also mentioned that Nyx was willing to treat other females with mental damage. Those in need could sign up at the hospital, and the hospital would assist Nyx in organizing her treatment work

For a moment, StarNet was in shock.

When a series of shocking revelations, which completely broke their previous understanding came one after another. people naturally began to think of gods.

Nyx seemed to fit all their fantasies about the Beast God Messenger, whether it was her special and powerful mental power. or her pure and compassionate nature.

Although most people just expressed their amazement, a small number of people were deeply moved and truly developed faith. Those who already believed in the Beast God became even more resolute in their faith.

Some devout followers Of The Beastmenst God couldn't resist going to the Holy Ground. Even though they weren't allowed to enter, they still wanted to pray to the Divine Tree at the edge of the Holy Ground.

When Nyx bid farewell to the Ford family and arrived at the Holy Ground, it was already evening

As soon as she stepped off the flying vehicle, she was stunned to find that the outer edges of the Holy Ground were packed with people. Even the guard soldiers had added a few more squads.

Despite the large crowd, the scene wasn't chaotic. Almost everyone maintained a serious attitude, bowing or kneeling, praying sincerely toward the Divine Tree.

When they saw Nyx, their eyes sparkled with a different light, and they bowed to her as well.

Nyx was rendered speechless. Why are they bowing to me?' she thought.

She didn't have time to think deeply before she suddenly felt a strange call-it was the Divine Tree calling her. "Nyx, come." Nyx froze in surprise. She was still outside the Holy Ground, so far from the Divine Tree-how could she hear its call? The voice of the Divine Tree seemed very happy, calling her repeatedly. "Nyx. Nyx" Nyx was even more surprised. The last time they met, the Divine Tree didn't call her by her name in such a familiar way, nor did it have such a lively tone.

Once inside the Holy Ground, when she looked up at the towering tree from close range, Nyx widened her eyes and felt it more clearly.

Although its appearance hadn't changed much, she could feel it. The Divine Tree's power had grown stronger.

Nyx quickly took a few steps closer to the Divine Tree

The last time they met, the Divine Tree's power had been so weak that even communication seemed difficult- it was almost like a normal tree. But now, its power seemed to have recovered a lot.

The thick trunk and its sprawling branches, which blocked the sky, were surrounded by a faint halo of light from top to bottom.

"I'm here," Nyx sighed lightly, wrapping her arms around the Divine Tree, feeling waves of joy coming from it.

She blinked and, with a thought, summoned her Soul Form. The little sapling immediately moved towards the Divine Tree, curling a tender leaf like a finger, poking at the Divine Tree's thick trunk.

Though it was an intangible Soul Form, the Divine Tree was no ordinary tree and could naturally feel the sapling's touch. In an instant, all the branches rustled continuously, and the Divine Tree laughed.

"My Soul Form, has it grown a bit?" Nyx asked the Divine Tree.

Not only had it grown after absorbing the black mist, but after saving Xivar today, the sapling had grown a bit

The Divine Tree lovingly stroked the sapling. "Yes, it has grown. As you grow, it will grow. The Divine Tree's tone was gentle and full of pride.

Nyx was its child, carrying part of its divine character, and as she protected more Beastmen, the divine character would gradually merge with her.

"How much it will grow in the future depends on your fate." Suddenly, the Divine Tree extended one of its softest branches and touched Nyx's chest.

wine chiver.

The collar opened a small gap, and Nyx, unprepared, felt a cold touch that made her shiver, instinctively reaching out to grab the branch.

"Crack," came a faint sound. Looking down in surprise, she found that the branch had actually broken off, falling into her hand.

Nyx was startled. The Divine Tree's power has clearly increased, but how has the branch become so fragile? she wondered. She hadn't pulled it with much force, and yet it broke.

"Don't be afraid, Nyx." The Divine Tree sensed her panic and comforted. "This is a gift for you.

As if in response to the Divine Tree's words, the branch moved on its own, slowly coiling around Nyx's wrist, affectionately rubbing against her.

To Nyx's astonishment, it suddenly shrank in size, from a long branch to the size of a palm, and then transformed into a tattoo-like mark, imprinting itself on her chest.

The Divine Tree, satisfied, said, "It will protect you."

Gods didn't interfere with an individual's life or death, but for their children, gods couldn't help but show some favoritism. blows. This was the amulet

If Nyx were ever in a life-threatening situation, the Divine Tree could block one of those deadly now some i the Divine Tree gave to Nyx.

Nyx was stunned, unable to resist touching her chest. She looked up at the Divine Tree, her worry evident. "You've just regained some strength. You shouldn't waste it like this."

After giving away this branch, the Divine Tree's power had noticeably weakened, almost returning to the level it was at the last time they met.

"Hurry, take it back," she frowned and urged the Divine Tree. But the Divine Tree refused.

"This part of the power originally comes from you, the Divine Tree reassured Nyx, then extended several branches to lift her to a higher position.

Suddenly, her feet left the ground. Nyx gripped the tree branch tightly, unable to stop herself from closing her eyes, gasping

"Don't be afraid, Divine Tree held her steady.

Trusting Divine Tree, Nyx quickly calmed herself and bravely opened her eyes. Her view rose, overlooking the land below. She saw people leaving the outer edges of Holy Ground, while new ones continuously streamed in.

"Nyx, you have brought me much faith power." Divine Tree embraced Nyx tightly. A deity that had been gradually forgotten was now like a withered tree coming back to life, welcoming new followers.

At Crimson Sands, the sunset was golden, spilling across the windowpane belonging to the leader. Jaws narrowed his eyes. His long fingers tapping the table, staring at the photo on the holographic screen. His expression darkened. The photo was taken outside Holy Ground.

The canyon

wind blew fiercely, her hair a mess, Nyx holding up her skirt, about to jump off the aircraft. Her skin was so white it seemed to glow, like a goddess descending to earth. And around her were the devoted followers, kneeling before her.

He stared at the photo for a long time, then raised his hand, his knuckles gently stroking the photo, his fingers caressing Nyx's face. He gave a mysterious chuckle.

"Beast God Messenger," he repeated slowly, savoring the words. It was indeed a fitting title for an SSS-level female.

Unfortunately, the Beast God didn't exist. And this beautiful, fragile little thing was nothing but an experimental subject who had luckily survived. She was no "Beast God Messenger

He casually turned off the Intelligent Brain and leaned back in his chair, closing his eyes. Soon, a faint sound reached his ears. Slowly opening his eyes, Jaws turned his head and made eye contact with the figure appearing not far away. He smiled slightly, "You're here? Black Mamba."

Kian was wearing black gear. He looked travel-worn, still carrying the faint scent of blood. He nodded calmly.

"I heard you wanted to see me."

After the mission, pressed for time, he hadn't even had a chance to rest before rushing over.

Jaws smiled and gestured to the chair. "Sit. How did the mission go? Was it smooth? The next task I have for you is to reunite with your female. How does that sound?"

Before he finished speaking. Kian's hand immediately went to his weapon. His expression remained calm, but a cold killing intent appeared in his eyes.

He couldn't defeat Jaws, who was an SS-level male, but if he could drag Jaws down with him, he had at least a seventy percent chance of succeeding.

"Don't be so tense, Jaws smiled. "I don't have any ill intentions. I just want to help you. The tasks I have for you next are mostly on Central Planet. Once you finish those, you'll have time to secretly watch over your female."

Kian remained on guard. He certainly wanted to be with Nyx, but he wasn't sure if Jaws was really this kind-hearted.

There was no sign of weakness on Jaws' face. He still wore a smile. "You don't need to report anything about her to me. Don't worry, I have no interest in her, I won't compete with you for her.

"Of course, if you want, you can bring her here to live with us. I can guarantee that on my territory, she will only belong to you. You won't have to endure anymore or fight for her attention." Jaws tone was full of temptation.

Kian's eyes flickered for a moment, but quickly became resolute. He would never do something that went against Nyx's will just for his own desires.

Jaws caught the shift in Kian's gaze and raised an eyebrow slightly.

He was in no rush. Even the most determined person couldn't withstand emotions when it came to love.

From a distance, it was easy to control himself. But if he was close, Black Mamba would watch helplessly in the shadows as other males vied for his beloved female's attention. Jealousy and greed would certainly arise. He might make some reckless decisions.

Jaws added fuel to the fire, saying softly, "Actually, it wouldn't be a bad thing for you to take her away from the Empire. Her situation in the Empire isn't as safe as you think."

An SSS-level female was like a sweet, delectable little cake, irresistible to anyone. Jaws tossed a pile of intelligence data in front of Kian. "The old worms in the Empire are already starting to stir."

Kian picked up the intelligence, flipping through it quickly. His aura grew colder, and his fists clenched tightly.

Of The Beastmen 83

Chapter 83

That night, countless people were unable to sleep. Kian sat still the entire night, wrapped in his yellow fur coat.

Across the empire, females who had previously suffered from mental attacks also couldn't sleep. Thinking of the possibility of recovery, their once bleak futures suddenly seemed bright, and they were too excited to keep their eyes shut.

Countless treatment requests flooded in, overwhelming the hospital system. The staff responsible for sorting the list suddenly saw a familiar name and froze in place.

"Aurora? Wasn't this the female who attacked Lord Nyx but was backlashed? How dare she submit a request, asking Lord Nyx to save her?" Disgust flashed in the staff member's eyes.

The hospital treated people out of duty, even the most heinous criminals must receive medical attention. But Nyx wasn't a doctor, and she wasn't obligated to help anyone. She helped out of kindness. Aurora didn't deserve Nyx's treatment.

The staff member reported it upwards, and the superiors quickly rejected Aurora's request.

The list was completed, but considering that Nyx had just treated Xivar, she likely needed some rest, so the hospital refrained from contacting Nyx. Nyx waited until the afternoon with no response, so after lunch, she took the initiative to go to the hospital.

The hospital staff were surprised to see Nyx. "What are you doing here?"

Nyx was surprised too. "Aren't there any females who need my treatment?"

"Uh. The doctors exchanged glances.

Of course, there were females who needed treatment. As soon as the notification was sent sent out, the requests flooded in.

While the total number of females with mental damage in the empire wasn't large, everyone was eager and couldn't wait to get treatment. But Nyx had just treated Xivar yesterday, and surely she needed to rest for a few days. She shouldn't use her mental power again today.

Even with 555-level mental power, surely such a drain would be overwhelming. After all, she collapsed right into the arms of the General after treating Xivar yesterday. It must have been from excessive exhaustion.

"Are you su

sure you can start t

treatment now?"

"Please don't push yourself."

"You should rest for a few more days."

The repeated advice made Nyx appear confused. "I'm fine. I don't need more rest

Seeing her insist, the doctors looked to her guardian for help.

Today, Zayne was with Nyx. He knew Nyx's physical condition well and gave a slight nod condition. "There's no problem."

Since he said so, the doctors had no choice but to agree.

the doctors. "Nyx is in good

The first female on the treatment list couldn't believe her ears when she heard treatment would start right away.

"So soon?" She excitedly jumped off the bed but was immediately hit by dizziness and stumbled back.

Worried about Nyx, the doctors stood nearby, concerned she might run out of energy during the treatment. If anything went wrong, they'd be ready to intervene

In the next moment, in the blink of an eye, a vast mental fluctuation spread from Nyx, stunning everyone around.

The treated female closed her eyes and slowly leaned her head against Nyx, relieved from the dizziness and pain, a faint smile forming on her face.

With her experience treating Xivar, Nyx was much more skilled this time. The collapse of this female's Sea of Consciousness was not as severe as Xivar's.

About half an hour later, the Sea of Consciousness was nearly repaired. Nyx let go of her hand and nodded to the doctors. "It's done."

The room fell completely silent. The doctors, unable to react immediately, stood frozen for a long moment before realizing what Nyx had said. They couldn't believe it was over so soon and wondered if it was successful.

The doctors were quickly serving tea and water to Nyx. "Please rest for a while." They then hurried to conduct a physical examination on the next female patient.

Nyx took a sip of hot water, stretched her arms, and shook her head, saying. "No need to rest, I'm not tired. Let's move on to the next one.

She had glanced at the list earlier and saw that there were over a hundred females waiting for treatment, so they had to speed things up

"Next?" After a long pause, someone finally dared to ask, "Do you mean, you still have the energy to treat another female today?"

Nyx froze for a moment, thinking that perhaps the doctors misunderstood the difficulty of the treatment, but she didn't know how to explain, so she just nodded. "I think I can."

"Well, okay then. If you feel like you're running low on energy, make sure to stop in time," said the doctor. Nyx glanced at the lively little sapling and thought she should be fine for now.

When the treatment of the second female was completed, the results of the first female's examination were ready.

Nyx heard an excited scream as the female with the examination report rushed towards her like the wind. "That's great! My mental power has really recovered!"

"Lord Nyx, from now on, I'll be your loyal supporter. You can ask me for anything, and if you like my partner, you can play with him as you wish."

"Stop-stop!" Nyx interrupted her rambling. Playing with someone else's partner was not her thing

Struggling to shake off the female's clinginess, Nyx nodded to the doctors. "We can start treating the next female now."

The doctors couldn't believe what she said. Despite the doctors' disbelief, by the time the third and fourth females were successfully treated, they were completely shocked and stunned.

Under the doctors' awed gazes, Nyx approached the fifth female. This was a female who had no mental power even before her injury, and her condition was severe. She had been intermittently unconscious for decades, with her physical condition deteriorating.

Nyx let her lean against her chest and raised her hand, just about to touch her forehead, when she suddenly heard a commotion outside the ward. "Why isn't my daughter being treated? I followed the procedure and made the request. I want to talk to Nyx personally."

Hearing her name. Nyx frowned and turned to look towards the door. The troublemaker was a middle-aged female, who Nyx didn't recognize. Zayne, however, narrowed his eyes, recognizing her. It was Aurora's mother.

Aurora's family had been relatively calm recently, but as soon as the news spread that Nyx could treat females with mental damage, they immediately became restless. Their request for treatment had been rejected, which they couldn't accept

"Aurora is still unconscious! It's all Nyx's fault! She harmed her, so why isn't she treating Aurora?" said Aurora's mom.

The security arrived quickly but was somewhat helpless. If it were a male causing trouble, they could handle it immediately. but when it's a female, they often had to pacify them.

Before they could speak, the first female Nyx had treated earlier suddenly rushed forward like a gust of wind grabbing Lis Windsor, Aurora's mother, by the collar. "Keep your mouth clean! Stop slandering Lord Nyx! The security won't dare hit you, but I will!"

Lia was caught off guard and froze. Coming to her tentes, she became even angrier and raised her hand to dap the audacious young female in front of her. "How dare you hit mei

But as her hand was raised, another female stopped her. Two more females surrounded her full of aggression. They were all females Nyx had treated earlier. Grateful for Nyx's help, they naturally wouldn't allow anyone to bully her

They were all females here. So Lia's female identity didn't mean anything to them.

"You..... you." Lia was furious.

Facing Lia's shocked and angry gaze, the first female couldn't help but chuckle. "I will hit you. We'll all hit you. We all know how Aurora got hurt, don't play the victim here. You should be grateful Aurora hasn't woken up or she'd be in prison now"

As soon as those words were spoken, a chorus of agreement filled the air.

Lia looked around, gritted her teeth, and suddenly sat down on the ground, crying out loudly. "My Aurora. Isn't Nya supposed to be such a good person? Why can't she forgive Aurora, considering how kind she is? Please I'm begging"

Her expression changed so quickly, it shocked everyone present. They were all frozen in place.

She was so shameless, even the other females didn't know how to deal with her. As they were about to drag her with someone suddenly shouted, "His Highness is here! The Queen is here too!"

Not just the Crown Prince and the Queen, but behind them, the King's Guards followed in a mighty procession Lia's fake crying stopped abruptly, a look of shock and fear flashing in her eyes.

The King's Guards quickly took control of the scene. With the Queen personally overseeing things, whether the troublemakers were female or male, they'd be subdued as quickly as possible.

Everything happened so fast, Nyx didn't even have time to react-it seemed like it was over before it began

She blinked, told the female in her arms to wait for a moment, stepped out of the room, and nodded to the Queen greeting her.

When she met Aurelius's gaze, his deep blue eyes showed her a gentle smile, almost as if telling her not to worry. Nyx smiled back at him. Then, Nyx turned to look at Lia, who had been subdued, frowning.

Hurting Aurora wasn't her intention. But even though she had a good temper, she wasn't someone without a backbone. No matter how one looked at it, Aurora got what she deserved.

"When she wakes up, apologizes to me in person, and accepts legal punishment. I'll treat her. Nyx said Whispers spread around.

"Nyx is still too kind-hearted, willing to treat someone like that."

"Well, if it were me, I definitely wouldn't do it."

"Aurora doesn't deserve it."

Zayne stepped forward, positioning himself between Nyx and Lia, blocking Lia's venomous glare. His ears twitched slightly. and he heard some security guards mumbling quietly, "Go back and check the surveillance, what happened? We specifically cleared the area, how did she manage to get in?"

Immediately, Zayne's gaze sharpened, and he quickly looked around. As a male from Desolate Planet, he'd seen real darkness and had the sharpest combat instincts. His piercing eyes scanned every hospital staff member present, as if seeing right through them, his every nerve was tensed to the limit.

Target locked-Like a fierce wolf, Zayne shot forward, attacking a male nurse with lightning speed, his moves precise and decisive. After taking down one, he immediately turned to strike the second, delivering a fatal blow that incapacitated the target.

After taking down two, the remaining accomplices finally reacted. They couldn't hide anymore and quickly removed their disguises, attacking Zayne all at once.

Surrounded by seven or eight people, Zayne showed no fear. Even when he was hit on the shoulder, it seemed like he didn't feel the pain. Instead, he stormed forward like a raging storm, disarming one of his attackers.

It was as if the fight awakened his full bloodlust, his eyes burning with crimson battle intent, completely shedding the gentle demeanor he'd shown when with Nyx. The notorious violent medic from the army finally revealed his true nature.

The King's Guards rushed in to assist vigilantly watching the surrounding lyne. Aurelius quickly moved to Nyx's side, wrapping his arm around her waist,

A stray bullet flew in, and Nyx felt a blur in front of her. Aurelius shielded her in his arms, preventing the attack. Once he had a weapon, Zayne quickly ended the battle.

Gasping for breath, his wolf-like, fierce eyes scanned the surroundings. Once he confirmed the enemies were all down, he walked toward Nyx under the stunned gazes of everyone.

Nyx was trembling all over. She had never seen Zayne in such a disheveled state-covered in blood, with messy hair sticking to his face, and his shoulder seemed to have a large wound.

Zayne seemed to belatedly realize how bloodied he was and stopped in his tracks, not getting any closer to Nyx. He was dirty. With so much blood, it would probably scare her.

He wanted to step back, but Nyx rushed towards him, trembling as she wrapped her arms around him, her whole body shaking.

Zayne's chest rose and fell sharply. He wanted to raise his hand to comfort her by rubbing her back, but he was afraid the blood on his hands would get on her. After several moments of hesitation, he let his hand fall.

"It's alright, Nyx, don't be afraid." His voice was hoarse from rapid breathing-

Watching the nearby teammates fail in their ambush, Lia completely lost her strength and collapsed, her limply.

Attacking an SSS-level female was an even more serious crime than assassinating royal family members.

dull as she fell

The entire floor of the hospital was temporarily sealed off, and all involved individuals were immediately escorted to the Security Bureau and locked in the highest-level detention cells.

Other members of the Windsor family were also detained. Even Aurora's hospital room was under tight surveillance with numerous Security Bureau personnel.

All of this was being personally handled by Crown Prince. He had everything arranged meticulously, including sending the most skilled royal doctors to check and treat Zayne's wounds. But the most important thing was calming Nyx's emotions.

Aurelius held Nyx in his arms, patiently staying with her as they waited for Zayne's surgery results. Due to the special nature of the weapon, Zayne's injury couldn't be treated in the medical chamber and would require some time to heal.

However, with an S-level male's robust physique, it wouldn't take long—he would fully recover within half a month. Holding the anxious Nyx in his arms, Aurelius gently coaxed her, giving her a potion to prevent panic and nightmares.

The potion contained sedative ingredients, and Nyx fell asleep in Aurelius' arms, tears still clinging to her long eyelashes.

At the Security Bureau, Lia initially refused to cooperate. She flew into a rage when she heard the results of the interrogation. "Estrus inducer? How could that be? I just wanted to scare her into forcing her to treat Aurora—what would inducing her estrus do for me?"

The interrogator raised a small bag and showed her the syringe inside. "But every one of your accomplices has an estrus inducer hidden on them."

Of The Beastmen 85

Chapter 85

The inducer hadn't been seen in the Empire for many years. Originally developed as a recreational drug to help females get into the right state and provide mental soothing for males, the drug was widely abused, and countless females came forward claiming they had been injected against their will.

The royal family issued a ban, and the drug was restricted. Laws were later amended to make it illegal. Now, the only place where one could acquire such a drug was the Underground Arena.

"Those people really came from the Underground Arena" Lia exhaled deeply, giving up her resistance and started to confess. She truthfully explained how she had connected with the Underground Arena's forces, her motives, and the purpose behind her actions.

"But I had no idea about the inducer. You can investigate however you want." Her words were sincere, and the experienced interrogators could tell.

Since that was the case, it was clear that there were other masterminds behind these attackers, likely males, with the intention of injecting the inducer into an SSS-level female.

This was a major matter, and the interrogators couldn't afford to slack off. They took turns interrogating the attackers, but all they got was one response. "The boss wants to see Nyx. Otherwise, how could anyone have taken the job for the small reward from the Windsor family!"

As for who 'the boss' was, they refused to say, no matter how much pressure they were under.

"Jaws? Adam? Griffin? Dark Fox?" The names of several major Space Pirates were thrown out in turn, with interrogators carefully watching the attackers, not letting go of any change in their expressions.

They didn't even react slightly to these names. They'd already been arrested and detained by the Empire-no matter how long the Space Pirates hands were, they couldn't stretch far enough to do anything to them.

"What are they afraid of? thought the interrogators, Could it be that the ones pulling the strings are high- ranking officials within the Empire? The Security Bureau personnel looked grim.

In the hospital, Zayne finished the surgery quickly and his usual calm returned to his expression. His eyes met Crown Prince for a moment, both of them coldly avoiding eye contact, and they both turned their gaze to Nyx at the same time.

Nyx was having an uneasy sleep, even trembling occasionally despite being in Aurelius' arms. "Zayne," she murmured softly.

Zayne reached out and gently stroked her back a few times to calm her down. With such a big event happening, it wasn't safe to stay in the hospital too long. Now that Zayne's surgery was complete, they could take Nyx home.

"Your hand's not in a good condition. I'll take you both, Aurelius said, not letting go of Nyx as he stood up and walked ahead.

They attracted countless curious gazes along the way. The news of Nyx's attack was contained within the hospital, and the people outside were unaware.

Pedestrians saw the three of them and their eyes immediately lit up, gossiping about their relationship dynamics. Seeing how Aurelius took care of Nyx so tenderly and also treated Zayne with kindness, they couldn't help but admire him.

"His Highness really exudes the aura of the main consort."

"As expected from His Highness"

The way he carries himself, other males can't imitate that."

21:45 Mon, 17 Feb

Chapter 85

The configuration of two males and one female was very common throughout the Empire. Most of the time, the two males were evenly matched.

But the dominant aura that the Crown Prince radiated was too strong. He was holding Nyx in his arms, and anyone who saw it would think he was the main consort.

The surrounding noise disturbed Nyx's already light sleep, and she murmured in a daze, "Zayne."

Zayne glanced at Aurelius and said, "Let me carry Nyx It was just a shoulder injury, nothing that would stop him from carrying Nyx.

Hearing Nyx calling out for Zayne in her sleep, the onlookers' opinions immediately changed.

"Looks like Lord Nyx really prefers Zayne after all."

"Well, he's not bad at all."

"During the livestream, Lord Nyx seemed to prefer him too."

"Could he be the first male Lord Nyx likes?"

"Females usually have special feelings for the first male they like, it's different."

The whispers reached Aurelius' ears. He lowered his gaze to hide the emotion in his eyes, but his expression remained calm and graceful, as if he didn't mind the gossip. But he still didn't let go, insisting on holding Nyx in his arms.

Nyx woke up before they could reach home. The moment she woke up, she shivered, panic all over her face.

Aurelius immediately tightened his hold on her and gently comforted her. "It's alright, don't be afraid. "We're almost home." Zayne pointed to the mansion ahead, telling her to relax.

Felix and Theon had heard the news and rushed back home, anxiously waiting at the gate. After carefully examining Nyx from head to toe, the two of them finally relaxed a little.

Confirming that Nyx was safe, Felix looked at Zayne with approval. Today, thanks to Zayne's quick thinking, the danger was nipped in the bud. Otherwise, even if those people hadn't gotten their hands on her, they would have still caused Nyx harm.

"How's your injury?" Theon asked with concern.

Before Zayne could speak, Nyx was already looking at him with longing eyes. "I want to see your injury." Zayne helplessly took her hand and reassured her, "Nyx, it's not a serious injury, don't worry."

This kind of injury wasn't much for him. In his earlier years, when he was struggling on the Desolate Planet, he'd been on the brink of death several times and still managed to survive. Now, it was just a shoulder injury, not something Nyx should be overly worried about.

Even though Zayne didn't want Nyx to see the ugly and gruesome injury, he couldn't refuse her insistence. He had to take off his shirt in front of her.

His toned physique made his chest and abs stand out when he was shirtless, but Nyx was too focused on the injury to appreciate the view. She leaned in to look at Zayne's shoulder.

The bleeding had stopped, and the wound was covered with medical dressings to aid healing. But even with the dressing, Nyx could see how serious the wound was-it had reached the bone.

1:45 Mon,

Chapter 85

To protect her, Zayne got hurt so badly. Whether before or after the time travel, this was the first time Nyx had seen such a severe injury. Tears were falling relentlessly, splashing down like they had no care for their own life.

Zayne hurried to get dressed. "It'll heal in less than half a month, the wound will close up quickly."

Even though he was acting so relaxed, and the injury didn't affect his daily life, Nyx still followed him like a little tail, eagerly wanting to take care of him.

Zayne could never let Nyx serve him tea and water, so he helplessly laid down on the bed. "Stay with me for a while, Nyx."

After thinking for a moment, he felt that inviting Nyx to sleep in his bed was a bit impolite, and was about to apologize. But Nyx had already lay down next to him. "Sleep, I'll keep you company."

As she said that, Nyx reached out and gently patted him on the body, as if trying to coax him to sleep. With that soft little hand patting him over and over, Zayne couldn't feel sleepy at all, just a sense of excitement.

On the other hand, under the effect of the sedative in the medicine, Nyx soon had her breathing slow down and fell asleep. In her sleep, Nyx unknowingly crawled up Zayne's body, snuggling tightly against him.

For a moment, Zayne truly understood the meaning of being both in pain and in pleasure. He tried to steady his heavy breathing, enduring the stimulation brought by his beloved female pressing so close to him.

Outside the room, Aurelius had been waiting and waiting, but Nyx still hadn't come out of Zayne's bedroom.

Of The Beastmen 86

Chapter 86

The door to Zayne's bedroom was tightly shut, and no sounds could be heard from inside.

What is Nyx doing in there? Countless speculations flooded his mind, and Aurelius recalled the whispers of the bystanders.

They said Nyx liked Zayne more. Today, Zayne got hurt for Nyx, so it was only natural for her to favor him a bit more.

But to Aurelius, a fellow male, Zayne's injury was actually insignificant, and it didn't seem like it warranted Nyx acting as if she had eyes only for him.

From start to finish, Aurelius had been left aside. And this wasn't the first time Zayne had taken Nyx away from him—just like at the court ball.

Aurelius's hand holding the cup trembled slightly, and hot water spilled onto his hand, but he seemed unaware, lost in his chaotic thoughts.

Nyx had slept in Zayne's bedroom for the whole afternoon. Zayne greedily enjoyed this rare happiness, his gaze glued to Nyx's adorable and innocent sleeping face.

gaze glued to

When evening came, Nyx rubbed her eyes and slowly sat up, feeling something hard and springy beneath her, as though she was sitting on solid muscle, and she shivered, quickly scrambling away as if she had been burned.

A red b

hue spread from her cheeks down to her neck, and she couldn't speak, feeling utterly embarrassed. She had not only fallen asleep but had shamelessly pressed herself against Zayne's injury.

“Is the wound okay?” she stuttered as she tried to pull at his collar, checking Zayne's injury, worried that she had hurt him.

Zayne's gaze was deep as he moved his shoulder. “It's fine.” He stood up and walked towards the bathroom, and Nyx instinctively started to follow him, only to realize what he was about to do. She froze, her ears turning even redder, almost as if they were bleeding.

It seemed she wasn't suited to taking care of someone with an injury. She couldn't help with this kind of thing. Taking advantage of Zayne being occupied with his personal matters, Nyx slipped out of his room.

Theon and Felix were preparing dinner. Seeing Nyx emerge from Zayne's bedroom with a flushed face and messy hair, Felix paused. Theon showed a surprised expression.

Forcing back the sourness, he didn't ask what Nyx and Zayne had been doing but instead asked her opinion about dinner, "Nyx, is there anything else you'd like to eat tonight?"

"Anything's fine," Nyx nodded hurriedly and rushed over to the cupboard, grabbing a can of drink and gulping it down to relieve her flushed face and dry mouth.

Seeing her move quickly, as usual, both males expressions softened a bit. It seemed nothing had happened.

"Has His Highness left?" After calming down, Nyx looked around and realized she hadn't seen Aurelius. Only then did she remember she had been so focused on staying by Zayne's side that she had forgotten to say goodbye to Aurelius.

Aurelius had helped her a lot today, always busy looking out for her, but she had ignored him.

Nyx opened Intelligent Brain. Her chat with Aurelius was still on that morning's message, where he had said the Loss of Control Index had dropped to 10 and asked if she wanted to go out again, hoping to thank her in person.

At the time, she had been preoccupied with Felix, so she had just replied with "No need to thank me." Realizing she might have come off too cold, Nyx quickly sent a little bunny emoji, hoping to make up for it.

Nyx [This time it's my turn to thank you.

Nyx: Is there anything you like? Could you tell me?]

She wanted to prepare a thank-you gift for Aurelius. She sent the message, but there was no reply for a long time. Nyx waited for a while, feeling a bit anxious. She slowly paced back to her bedroom, sighed, and sat on the edge of the bed.

The image of the little white cat crying vaguely appeared in her mind again. She couldn't help but lie down on her back, throwing herself into the soft bed, rolling over and over a few times.

She wondered if he was angry or busy. After much hesitation, her gaze suddenly caught a glimpse of white outside the window. Nyx froze in place. 'Am I seeing things?' she thought.

In a swift motion, Nyx sat up and quickly walked to the window, only to be stunned. It was already evening. Although it wasn't quite time to rest, the sky on Central Planet darkened early, and it was completely dark outside.

The little white cat sat by the window. Behind it was the endless darkness, making it seem small, pitiful, and helpless. Their eyes met, and it raised its paw to gently tap Nyx's window, without making a sound. It only looked at Nyx with its watery blue eyes.

In an instant, Nyx's memories were pulled back to that night-The tearful little cat ran away during the day, but later came back on its own, curling up outside her window, looking pitiful.

Just like back then, Nyx quickly opened the window and pulled the little white cat inside. Coming back to her senses, she couldn't help but laugh, "What are you doing outside my window?"

The little cat out of control, doesn't understand, but does the Crown Prince also not understand? she thought. "I'm starting to wonder if you really don't remember what happened during your loss of control." Nyx's gaze probed, looking up and down at the little white cat

Aurelius innocently blinked his round eyes at her. "Why do you say that?" He truly didn't remember what happened during his loss of control.

"Did I ever do this when I was out of control? What was I like when I was with you?" he gently asked Nyx. Even if he didn't remember, Aurelius was certain that he must have been very happy back then. The soft, warm embrace of Nyx was engraved deep in his soul, and it lingered in his dreams.

"During that time, did you hold me often like this?" The little white cat mewed and wiggled its way into Nyx's arms, as if abandoning its human rationality and dignity, turning itself into Nyx's pet.

The extremely cute little cat voluntarily cuddled up to Nyx. She barely managed to steady herself and resisted the urge to pet it. But she also couldn't bring herself to push the little white cat away. That was too cruel.

After a while, Nyx couldn't help but sigh, "Actually, I was really sad when you left. You never got to play with the little ball I bought for you, and then you were gone."

As she spoke, she turned around and pulled the little ball from the drawer, waving it in front of the little white its From Nyx's tone, the little white cat could clearly sense her affection and reluctance. It first perked years with joy, only to freeze when it noticed signs of use on the ball. "Meow?"

cat

Facing the little white cat's disbelieving eyes, Nyx awkwardly explained, "Zayne played with me once, wanted to cheer me up"

Zayne again he thought. The little white cat's fur stood on end, its tail flicking nonstop. If it weren't for being in front of Nyx, its sharp claws would have been out.

"I'll buy you a new one," Nyx quickly reassures

The mighty imperial Crown Prince couldn't be appeased by just a new little ball.

Once Nyx said it, she felt a little guilty, and was about to say something else to make up for it, when she saw the little white cat nodding its little head.

"Can the pattern be different from this one?" It wasn't that he didn't like this pattern, but he wanted to differentiate it from the old ball.

Nyx didn't expect him to be so easy to please, and she naturally agreed. The childish Crown Prince was even cuter than the mute Cotton Candy from before. It made Nyx's heart flutter.

She couldn't help but reach up to pet the soft little cat's head. And it was unstoppable. Lost in the wonderful sensation of the fluffy fur, Nyx's cat petting became more indulgent. The little white cat tilted its face up, closing its eyes, fully cooperating

Suddenly, the door knocked, interrupting the cozy scene between the person and the cat in the room. Zayne's voice came from the doorway.

"Nyx, it's time to eat," said Zayne.

As if waking from a dream. Nyx quickly released her hands, clearing her throat in embarrassment. "Sorry"

Aurelius had intentionally been flirting, so he wouldn't blame her for being rude. He was just disappointed and frustrated that the good moment had been interrupted.

Although unwilling, the little white cat had no choice but to transform back into human form restoring its neat appearance When the door opened. Zayne saw Aurelius in Nyx's room, and his expression instantly changed.

"Your Highness" Zayne's voice was as cold as ice, warning. "It's best not to enter a female's bedroom so casually Neither blood relatives nor a legitimate partner or guardian, staying in Nyx's bedroom as a lone male was extremely disrespectful. Even the usually dignified Crown Prince of the Empire had made such a mistake. Aurelius lowered his head to apologize to Nyx. "It's my fault. I'll go to the Security Bureau for 20 lashes. That was the Empire's legal punishment for harassing females.

Nyx widened her eyes, "No, no need—Lashes seemed a little too much. Aurelius hadn't done anything inappropriate, and in fact, it was she who couldn't resist and ended up petting the little white cat too much.

"It was me who asked you to come in, you didn't do anything wrong. Nyx said, pulling Aurelius and asking him to stay. "Let's have dinner together."

In the cold gaze of Zayne, Aurelius leaned down to kiss the back of Nyx's hand, grateful for her forgiveness. "It's my honor to dine with you."

The dinner was plentiful and adding another set of cutlery for Aurelius was no problem at all. Nyx sat at the head of the table, with Aurelius and Felix, both guests, sitting on either side. Zayne and Theon sat a little farther from her.

Since they were eating at home, Nyx didn't need anyone serving her. She was used to everyone eating together. But Aurelius, unaware of her habits, immediately took it upon himself to serve her.

Without waiting for Nyx to speak up to stop him. Zayne stood up and walked behind her, taking the glass from Aurelius's hand and filling it halfway with a drink. There's no need to trouble Your Highness, I'll do it"

As Nyx's guardian, who had spent the most time with her, Zayne knew her needs like the back of his hand, caring for her in such a familiar way that no one else could step in

A piece of fish was deboned, not directly fed to Nyx but cut into small pieces and topped with the perfect amount of sauce This was Nyx's preference when eating fish.

After finishing a piece of the sweet and sour Sticky Ribs, a bit of Grilled Oyster Mushrooms was added to the dish-this was Nyx's taste in vegetables.

When Nyx wanted soup, Zayne would know and serve it to her without her having to ask

Aurelius watched quietly for a moment, then spoke, "You have an injury on your shoulder, it's inconvenient; let me do it"

It was just a minor injury, and Zayne didn't think it was inconvenient at all. But Nyx heard this and insisted that he not continue serving her, she even wanted to feed him instead.

Forced to sit back down, Zayne watched helplessly as Aurelius took his place. Aurelius's learning ability was incredibly sharp just a short while ago, he had already memorized all the details.

Nyx felt a little embarrassed, "You don't have to do this

But Aurelius said gently. "I'm so grateful for your care during my time of loss of control. Now, let me take care of you."

Mentioning Cotton Candy made Nyx's expression soften. Aurelius's beast form had two shapes, a secret still within the Empire. But the others at the table already knew well- Nyx's precious little white cat was actually Aurelius.

Thinking about how much Nyx adored that cat, even Felix couldn't sit still. Zayne and Theon were even more on edge. The atmosphere at the table grew tense.

And just then, Aurelius took the opportunity to ask Nyx, "Would you come to the Palace tomorrow evening as my guest? My Father and Mother also really want to thank you in person."

With the excuse of elders, Nyx couldn't refuse. She was about to agree when she suddenly heard Zayne let out a low groan..... Her attention instantly shifted, and she hurriedly looked at Zayne. "Zayne, what's wrong? Is it your wound that's hurting?" she asked anxiously.

Zayne moved his shoulder, lowered his eyes, and shook his head, but he exuded a sense of fragility.

Seeing him like this, Nyx imagined a pitiful, drooping Snow Wolf in her mind, and she immediately couldn't care about anything else. Apologetically, she declined Aurelius's invitation. "I'll visit the Palace some other day."

The Palace had invited her, but her guardians would have to go with her. However, Zayne's current state clearly couldn't handle such a trip, and she didn't want to leave him alone at home. Until Zayne recovered, she would stay home and keep him company while he healed.

With just a small sign of weakness, he succeeded in gaining her favor. Zayne's eyes revealed a barely noticeable hint of pleasure.

Aurelius's forehead almost bulged with veins, but he kept his face impassive and nodded. "Fine, I'll have the royal doctor continue to treat Zayne and ensure he recovers quickly"

He was curious to see how long this little injury could help this big-tailed wolf maintain Nyx's affection. The two exchanged a glance, the tension palpable.

Nyx didn't notice the subtle hostility between them and thought Aurelius was just concerned about Zayne, assuming they got along quite well.

Dinner took forever. Only Nyx was focused on eating, while the few men exchanged barbs, hardly stopping their verbal sparring-

After dinner, as they saw Aurelius off, Nyx received a message from Xivar.

Xivar: [Lord Nyx, are you okay? Were you scared today?]

Xivar: [Can I come see you?]

Xivar: [I made some sweet water, drinking it will make you feel better. I'll bring it over.]

Although the news of Nyx's attack was under wraps, it couldn't be hidden from someone like Rex, a high- ranking influential figure.

Not long after, the doorbell rang, and Xivar, along with his father, came to visit. Xivar brought Nyx the carefully brewed sweet water and expressed his concern.

"After something like this happened, do you still plan to treat those females?" Xivar asked anxiously.

Nyx nodded. Of course, the treatments must continue, but recently she wasn't planning to go out. The females in need of treatment could come to the manor, and Felix would arrange a small building for her as a temporary studio.

Xivar was deeply moved. Nyx was so kind-hearted, and yet someone wanted to harm her.

"Till

Till design a mecha for you as soon as possible," Xivar said with fiery determination.

Nyx smiled and, though she didn't have high expectations, still encouraged him with a nod.

In the study, Rex and Felix sat across from each other. On the table, there was a pile of intelligence documents.

"Some people in the cabinet have been restless lately. Rex began. "With today's attack on Lord Nyx, besides the Windsor family, someone else must be behind it. They might be among these people."

In the pa

past, he might have just observed from the sidelines and stayed out of these matters. But now, Nyx was Xivar's benefactor. He wouldn't allow anyone to harm Nyx

As soon as Rex received the news, he rushed to warn them.

Felix flipped through the intelligence documents, which were full of blatant ambition, almost oozing desire for Nyx. These restless people even wanted to force Nyx to do Mental Soothing for noble males. They even planned to conduct some kind of research on Nyx

"With just this bit of information, we can't pin the blame on them," Rex said coldly. "I will do everything I can to gather more dirt on them."

I'm not afraid of them coming at us openly; it's the covert attacks like today that worry me. Rex said, his tone serious "Please, make sure to protect Lord Nyx"

"As for the public matters, don't worry," he pledged. "I'll make sure no harmful proposals to Lord Nyx pass." Felix nodded and said, "I've taken an extended leave"

For the time being, he would stay by Nyx's side, never leaving her. If any vile person dared to provoke Nyx again, they would face the wrath of the empire's war god.

Not just Felix, Theon's transfer request had also been approved. An 555-level female needs to be assigned dedicated protection personnel, and Theon got the spot. From now on, he would be Nyx's personal bodyguard. No more traveling back and forth, no more being separated from Nyx

When Nyx heard the news, her eyes immediately lit up. Theon held her in his arms and spun her around. To her, the happiest life was just this—having the important people around her.

But then, Nyx hesitated a little and asked Theon. "Won't this affect your future?"

She was happy that Theon could stay on Central Planet, but Theon had originally been the youngest major general in the Empire, with an endless future ahead. Someone like him being her bodyguard felt like such a waste of talent,

"How could it?" Theon smiled and shook his head. "I fought tooth and nail to get this spot

So many people wanted the opportunity to be a bodyguard for an SSS-level female. The competition was beyond counting. Worried that Nyx might be startled during the day and have trouble sleeping at night, Theon quietly stayed outside her room all night.

The attack didn't seem to have caused Nyx any lasting trauma. She had only been a bit down for one day, and after a night's rest, she was back to her lively self.

The only aftermath was that she couldn't handle Zayne being out of her sight for too long. Even when treating other females, she insisted Zayne stay by her side, never leaving her alone.

The females receiving treatment also had their partners by their side, but none were as clingy as Nyx and Zayne.

"Nyx, take a break." Zayne handed Nyx some cut fruit after she had treated three people in a row, fixing a few stray locks of her hair.

Nyx obediently sat next to him, leaning on him. Skin to skin, the warmth from Zayne's body comforted her, making her feel safe.

After eating the fruit, Zayne wiped her mouth and then massaged her arms, waist, and calves, relieving the stiffness from holding the same position while treating others.

Nyx nestled into him, carefully avoiding his injured shoulder. "Don't press too hard."

She was worried that if Zayne used too much pressure, it might affect the injury. Zayne thought she was in pain, so he immediately lightened his touch.

The pressure was!

too light, though, and it tickled. Nyx couldn't help but giggle. The males present was rendered speechless. They had never seen anything like this before.

They had been so nervous about being in the Marshal's residence, but now they were left speechless by what they were witnessing, completely forgetting their anxiety. In fact, Zayne was just as shocked as they were.

In the past, Nyx had always been kind to him, but not overly affectionate. But after his injury, Nyx had suddenly become like a little sugar cake, sticking to him all the time.

Back then, when they went on walks in the Royal Garden, he had wanted to give Nyx a massage to help her relax, but she had refused without hesitation. And now, Nyx had finally accepted him.

Zayne's heart raced wildly. He wondered if she would say yes if he confessed now and asked to become her partner. After much hesitation, Zayne couldn't bring himself to speak.

He wasn't someone who hesitated in making decisions, but in front of Nyx, he didn't dare to rush it, fearing he might make the wrong move. In the midst of his scattered thoughts, a cool, sweet sensation suddenly touched Zayne's lips.

He looked up in surprise to see Nyx feeding him a piece of pear. It was one of the few fruits he liked.

Nyx winked at him, and he knew this wasn't just a coincidence. Taking a deep breath, Zayne felt a surge of heat rise in his chest, spreading through his limbs.

Nyx had actually noticed his preference and even remembered it. No female had ever done something like this for a male. The other people present didn't know Zayne's preferences, but just watching Nyx personally feed him had already left them utterly stunned. A female feeding a male was unthinkable.

Even though there were rumors on StarNet, they knew Nyx was a gentle female who treated her males well, but they had never imagined it would be to this extent.

The males present were all envious. Even the females felt something subtle stirring in their hearts.

If it were any other female, they would definitely mock her for being so attentive to a male. Males were naturally slaves to females and didn't deserve this kind of treatment.

But when it came to Nyx, they couldn't bring themselves to mock her. In fact, because Nyx's actions were so natural, they found it hard to see anything wrong with it, or anything bad about it.

Gradually influenced, they began to treat their own males more kindly, unconsciously lowering the frequency of commanding and scolding

Thomas Danes was one of the males accompanying the matron to receive Nyx's treatment. Everyone in the company knew about it, and when he returned to work, his colleagues couldn't help but ask him for details. "How was it? Was the treatment successful?"

"Isn't the Marshal's estate magnificent?"

"Did you meet Lord Nyx?"

"Is she really that gentle?"

A dreamy look appeared on Thomas's face as he nodded continuously.

The treatment was very successful, and the whole family was overjoyed. The matron was especially happy. Not only that, but since the matron became friends with Nyx and often visited her, her aura had become more peaceful..

For several days, the matron hadn't been angry with him, and even smiled at him sometimes. In all the time Thomas had known her, he had never seen the matron so gentle with him. It was simply unbelievable.

Thomas's joy was clear to his colleagues, who were all amazed. Whether out of genuine concern or jealousy, someone couldn't resist reminding him, "Your matron's mental power has recovered-do you think she might look down on you now?"

"You're not going to be abandoned, are you?"

"If she hits you, scolds you, or picks on you, just try to bear it."

Thomas was just an E-level male, and had it not been for the matron's injury and loss of mental power, she would never have taken him as her partner.

Stung by the comment, Thomas lowered his head a bit, feeling self-conscious, but quickly cheered himself up. "That won't happen."

The matron treated him extremely well now, and had even promised to visit him at the company today and go home with him. His colleagues didn't understand where his confidence came from, and they all shook their heads, sighing.

The matron was a C-level female. Now that her mental power had recovered, she would definitely disdain him. Even if they didn't break up, she certainly wouldn't be kind to him on a daily basis.

Under the sympathetic gazes, Thomas couldn't help but retort, "My matron is really gentle now, she treats me very well.

Before he could finish, someone let out a derisive laugh and patted his shoulder. "Alright, stop talking."

Thomas's protest was taken as him trying to act tough. Not wanting to dig deeper into his sore spot, everyone changed the subject and got back to work.

Thomas felt frustrated, sitting back at his desk, sulking the entire day. His colleagues could see his reaction and it only confirmed that he wasn't really doing well and was just forcing a smile.

Just before the end of the workday, a sudden commotion outside the company spread like wildfire throughout the entire office.

"A female?"

"How could a female be here?"

"She's sitting down. Is she waiting for someone?"

"Waiting for someone??"

"Who is she waiting for?"

As they were gossiping, a figure suddenly rushed towards the female like the wind. When they looked closely, the colleagues were stunned.

"Thomas?"

"Is that Thomas's matron?"

Colleagues who were familiar with Thomas couldn't help but lean over to listen to what was happening over there.

"You... you came?" Thomas stammered, cautiously taking the matron's hand, overwhelmed with surprise.

The matron raised an eyebrow and said, "I promised, didn't I? I said I would come to the company today to find you. Are you off work? Then hurry up and go, I've been out playing all day, I'm exhausted, hurry up and get home."

Hearing the female's clear and cheerful voice, and seeing her kind and pleasant attitude, the onlookers were stunned and couldn't snap out of it for a long time.

The colleagues who had stubbornly refused to believe in Thomas before were now speechless, exchanging awkward glances. They thought, "When did Thomas's matron become so mild-tempered?"

A female this gentle—there probably weren't many like her across the Empire. Scenes like this were playing out not just here, but in several places across the Empire.

Many males had been feeling very pleased with themselves lately, not just because their matron's damaged mental power had been healed, but also because their treatment from the matron had vastly improved compared to before.

Those who knew them were naturally shocked. One spread to ten, ten to a hundred. The gossip kept spreading, and soon discussions were buzzing all over StarNet.

Outside the window, the sun was shining brightly. Nyx finished the last treatment for a female, finally completing all her work and feeling a sense of relief.

She slumped back into her chair, stretched, took the water cup from Theon, drank a few sips, and opened her Intelligent Brain to browse StarNet.

She hadn't gone out during this time and had stayed at the manor, treating the females every day. Yet, there were still many posts about her on StarNet. Her popularity hadn't dropped at all, with voices constantly calling for her appearance.

Countless males eagerly awaited Nyx's appearance. Even though they knew they had no chance of becoming her mate, she was still their dream matron, and they'd be satisfied as long as they saw more updates about her.

Even males with mates secretly hoped that Nyx would appear more often, wishing their own matron would be influenced and become gentler. After all, many of the females who had been treated by Nyx and interacted with her had changed their temperaments.

The endless requests began to overwhelm Nyx. Nyx was rendered speechless.

She never really wanted to be an internet celebrity, but her fanbase kept growing. The voices of anticipation were so strong that she couldn't ignore them. She felt like she should respond somehow.

'Maybe I should post a few photos? But randomly posting selfies felt a little strange, she thought. After struggling with the decision, she had lunch and slowly walked through the manor's small garden.

almost overwhelmed and nearly crashed.

Although Nyx was no longer the easily scared little Earthling she once was, seeing these dizzying numbers still left her a bit stunned.

On the huge light screen, despite shrinking the font to the smallest size and setting the filter to maximum, the barrage of comments was so dense and layered that she couldn't read them at all.

She shrugged her shoulders, gave up on reading the comments, and greeted everyone, "Good afternoon, everyone."

Nyx had never seen how other female influencers in the Empire live-streamed. In her impression, the streamers on Earth were always active, engaging with their viewers, so she tried to follow their example. Even though she felt nervous, she made an effort to appear calm and cheerful.

After her previous streaming experience, she was a little more relaxed this time and even waved at the viewers while greeting them. The Empire's audience had never seen such a down-to-earth female streamer. In an instant, the sweet smile that greeted them struck the viewers' hearts.

[Good afternoon, Lord Nyx!]

[She's is live. I'm so happy, so happy!]

[I'm really over the moon to see Lord Nyx!]

[I screamed so loud at home that my neighbors came over to check on me, but when they saw the stream, they screamed with me!]

[Good afternoon, so good!]

[Waaah, so happy, finally not waiting in vain!]

[So cute, Lord Nyx.]

[I'm going to pass out!]

The feeling of being in the live stream was completely different from watching a replay. The intense interaction made Nyx feel closer and more alive, far more endearing than in the recorded videos.

Nyx found a comfortable spot on the soft grass, sat down, and waved her hand to the side, "Theon."

At her call, a handsome and sturdy golden lion appeared on the screen. In front of the astonished audience, Nyx wrapped her arms around the lion's big head, laid it down on her soft lap.

Every witness was shocked.

"Today's stream is about grooming lions" Nyx raised the small comb in her hand and gave it a few flicks to show the audience. "It's this tune-toothed metal comb, very comfortable for grooming Theon really likes it, you can try it too

While she was carefully explaining the comb, no one's attention was actually on it.

Theon lay perfectly still, obediently resting his head on Nya's lap. His entire lion body was nearly melting with relaxation. The thought of Nyx grooming him from his head to his tail made the lion's tail twitch slightly

The barrage of comments went wild,

Theon, move aside, I want to lie down!

The lion's too heavy, it might crush my beloved Nyx! I'm a bunny in beast form, let me do it!

I really love this too, Lord Nyx, can I try it?]

When will such a good day come for me? Waaahhhh.)

I have new dream material for tonight.]

Nyx affectionately rubbed the lion's head, murmuring a few words to help him relax. Starting from the long mane on his neck. Nyx gently swayed her wrist, combing little by little, in just the right strength and speed. The viewers were just watching, feeling incredibly relaxed, some even starting to feel drowsy. They almost wished they could jump through the screen and take the place of the happy lion.

This feels so good.]

It must be itchy, I'm going soft all over.]

I can't resist turning into beast form.]

Tingly and soothing.]

The sound of the comb brushing the fur is so therapeutic.]

I want to buy one too.]

Already ordered.]

Too bad no one's here to comb my fur.]

I'm thinking about begging my matron.]

Theon was a very clean and tidy lion. His beautiful mane barely had any tangles. When there were a few stubborn knots, Nyx patiently worked through them with her hands before using the comb to smooth them out.

The combed mane was even fluffier and smoother. The small comb gently slid down the lion's solid back without causing any discomfort.

The soothing, tingly sensation spread through his body. The lion slowly relaxed from his tense and shy state. His eyelids fluttered closed as he let out a content purr, a sign of comfort and happiness.

Nyx couldn't help but smile with her eyes squinted. Usually, Theon tried to maintain a serious image in front of her, always striving to act dignified and not easily reveal his true feelings. Only during moments like this, when he was getting groomed, did he show some playfulness and laziness,

The comb was small, and compared to the massive lion, the size difference was even more pronounced. Grooming the entire lion was a huge task. Nyx wasn't in any hurry. This wasn't an urgent task; it was more of a leisurely activity, something to enjoy slowly,

On a warm afternoon, the sunlight made them feel lazy to the bone. One person and one lion were nestled together on the green grass, like a cozy, heartwarming painting

The viewers watched, and they felt like their bodies and minds were healed.

The males, deeply immersed in it, couldn't help but transform into their beast forms, rolling around in front of the screen. The females watching the livestreams gradually became mesmerized.

They didn't even find the lion's roughness scary anymore. Suddenly, it seemed that the males having beast forms might be a good thing-like having a few pets at home.

Nyx finished brushing one side, not missing even the four thick paws. She leaned in close to Theon and whispered, "Want to switch side Lie down?"

The male lion's ears twitched, and he didn't react immediately. By the time he came to his senses, he quickly stood

1. up.

"N-No, I can't." The large lion lowered his head, struggling to refuse. Human form and beast form were still different. In human form, he could bear it with clothes covering him, but in beast form.

It wasn't just about embarrassment in front of others-he didn't want to scare Nyx

"Alright." Nyx didn't force him, gently patting his head. Theon raised his head and rubbed against her palm, incredibly docile.

Suddenly, his amber eyes narrowed, and the male lion abruptly turned toward something in the distance, his body tensing into a battle-ready stance.

"What's going on?" Nyx was startled.

TI

Felix's estate-there shouldn't be attackers. The viewers also began to get nervous

[You scared me!]

From behind the trees, a black-maned male lion suddenly emerged, slowly walking toward them.

It seemed like the black-maned lion had reached the peak of his body control. As he walked, his massive body made no sound, stepping silently on the ground.

The comments were full of amazement.

[Marshal Lane!]

[Wow, didn't expect to see Marshal Lane in a livestream!]

[And in beast form!]

[Such presence, so powerful.]

[Does Marshal Lane want to be brushed too?]

[Hahaha, no way!]

[That doesn't fit his character at all.]

[Can't even imagine.]

The viewers couldn't imagine the cold, tough Felix being brushed by Nyx. Although it must feel really good, it was Marshal Lane after all.

He never indulged in pleasure; in the public's eyes, he was a warrior and workaholic, a god of war. No one could picture him acting cute-this was completely at odds with his image.

Moreover, the younger golden-haired lion was watching nearby. Surely, he wouldn't lose face and compete with his nephew.

"Felix, you're here?" Nyx recognized the newcomer and immediately relaxed, opening her arms toward the black-maned lion. "Come here."

With permission, the black-maned lion almost sprinted over, subtly pushing past the other lion. Theon, pushed aside, watched helplessly as his uncle took his spot and was hugged by Nyx. Even the little comb that was originally his was now being used on the black-maned lion's fur.

For the black-maned lion, this was his first time enjoying being brushed. The feeling was new and unfamiliar, and as Nyx gently scratched him, it almost made him tremble.

Fortunately, Felix had incredible control over his body. His strong muscles tensed slightly, but he endured it well, lying perfectly still without trying to avoid it.

Nyx couldn't help but be amazed, rubbing his back. "Good boy."

Nyx's pro turned ade the black-maned lion puff out his chest. The young golden-haired lion, however, was so jealous his eyes.

Theon could no longer bear it. He took a few steps forward and nudged Nyx with his fluffy head, trying to get her attention "You haven't finished brushing me."

First come first serve-before he was done, Felix couldn't enjoy it.

"Hmm?" Nyx turned to look at him. "But I'm done with you."

She'd brushed through from start to finish, untangling every knot in his mane. The golden-haired lion blushed, lowered his head, and in a voice as soft as a whisper, said, "I'm not finished. I want to switch sides?
