Chapter 91

"No." Seeing how eager Nyx seemed to be. Felix suddenly spoke, stopping them. The voice grew a bit more serious as Felix scolded Theon, "Keep some dignity. Theon, this is a live broadcast,"

Showing the belly in public like this didn't seem appropriate. Nyx immediately realized this, pulled her hand back, and nodded. "Alright."

The viewers in the live stream were extremely disappointed.

[No, I want to see it.]

[Don't treat us like outsiders.]

[Ahhhhil

[Is there anything advanced subscribers can't see?]

I want to see.]

Though I'm not General Lane, it still feels really immersive.]

Hurry up and continue.]

Amidst the viewers cries and pleas, Nyx rubbed Theon's ears and promised him, "Til brush your fur next time when we're not live"

Interrupted by Theon, she forgot where she had left off brushing the Black-maned Lion, so she also promised Felix, "Ill brush it for you next time too."

Just then, she got a little tired of sitting, stood up to stretch, and walked around the garden, showing the viewers the various plants in the little garden.

It was the warmest season on Central Planet, and most of the flowers were blooming. The sweet, mixed fragrances filled the air, kissed e sun, spreading throughout the garden.

Nyx broke off a branch, picked a few unknown little flowers, and with her fingers weaving, she made a harmonious-colored flower crown. After sizing it up, she placed it on the Black-maned Lion's head. "Here, for you, Felix"

The serious and majestic Black-maned Lion looked unexpectedly cute with the adornment. Nyx couldn't help but laugh out loud. Her soft laughter made the Black-maned Lion's heart melt. He lowered his head and circled around in front of Nyx to show off

The viewers were speechless for a moment.

[I'm speechless.]

[Doesn't Marshal Lane think this looks bad for his image?]

[I stopped wearing things like this when I was three.]

[How can a male wear flowers?]

Although the flower crown was indeed exquisite, and it didn't look ridiculous on the lion's head but rather beautiful, it really didn't match Marshal Lane's image.

Chapter 91

Suddenly, some viewers finally reacted.

[Wasn't Marshal Lane quite proactive when he was brushed just now?]

[Seems like he was a bit too eager.]

[If I'm not mistaken, he even pushed Thron aside.]

[Competing for affection with his nephew?]

[Marshal Lane's image is ruined.]

Although people were joking about how Marshal Lane lost his image in the competition for affection, everyone had to admit that nothing was more important than winning Nyx's favor.

Theon wasn't willing to back down, wrapping himself around Nyx. "Nyx, you can't be biased."

When he said this, the viewers were shocked. All females were biased. With all the males around, no female ever treated everyone equally.

Even if the males used all their tricks to win the female's favor, they might not get much more affection. What really mattered was which male the female liked more.

[General Lane's gotten cocky, hasn't he?]

[If I dared talk to my matron like that, I'd be slapped.]

[Not just competing for affection, but openly saying it?]

[What boldness.]

[Only because Nyx is so nice.]

But even if the female was nice, she wouldn't tolerate the males acting so recklessly. The viewers thought that Theon might lose

because of this.

"Alright, alright," Nyx nodded and reassured him, Theon likes blue flowers, I remember."

She didn't just make a flower crown for Theon. Zayne had healed from his injuries and had already started working again. He wasn't home, but she made one for him as well.

Aurelius had been busy with official duties, only occasionally transforming into a little white cat to seek affection from her. She kept him in mind and made one for him too.

Each of the four males received a flower crown, one each. The viewers gradually stopped calling the flower crowns childish, instead feeling a twinge of jealousy.

[Forget what I said earlier, males should wear flower crowns.]

[Flower crowns are the best accessory for males.]

[The strongest male should wear the most beautiful flower crown.]

[Can we get a few as well!]

[If there's a giveaway, I bet I could be the lucky winner.]

[Females want them too! Stop the raffle for the males, give us a separate pool for the females.]

[Agreed.]

The comments flooded in, and Nyx couldn't help but laugh as she read what the audience was saying. "Alright, I'll do a raffle for flower crowns, but only ten spots."

Any more and she wouldn't be able to make enough, and the flowers in her little garden couldn't handle her picking them so recklessly.

She didn't create a distinction between males and females, so she opened the raffle to all viewers. The ten lucky winners, whether male or female, couldn't help but take pictures and post them on StarNet to show off.

Countless people expressed their envy, offering large sums of money to buy the flower crowns, but no one was willing to part with theirs.

Since they couldn't get the same flower crown, they tried to get the same comb. In no time, Nyx's signature combs sold out, and the stores had to restock repeatedly. They were restocked and sold out again in seconds, always in short supply.

This type of comb had barely been used by anyone before; in the space age, people had more convenient ways to manage themselves. The comb had become an antique, and most people bought it for collection or decoration purposes.

With just her own effort, Nyx turned a comb that used to sell only a handful each month into a hot-selling item across the empire. The massive amount of dollars poured in, and the merchants couldn't stop grinning, daring to contact Nyx.

By coincidence, Nyx, who usually didn't pay much attention to unfamiliar private messages, happened to see the merchant's message and the carefully designed picture—A cute little person holding the comb, with two adorable lions playfully cuddling around her.

In that moment, Nyx's heart softened. She asked Felix and Theon, and of course, neither of them minded. So Nyx agreed to the merchant and authorized them to use their images for the advertisement.

It wasn't for the ad money; it was simply because the design was so cute, she really liked it. Because of this, the trend of buying the combs intensified, lasting for a long time.

The furry males were ushering in their spring. Married furry males saw their family status rise, and unmarried furry males were becoming quite popular in the mating market.

Other males whose beast forms didn't have fur couldn't help but feel envious.

[No choice, females are always picky about us.]

[Nyx shouldn't dislike us, right? She even petted Black Mamba before.)

Nyx stopped scrolling when she saw the message about Black Mamba on StarNet.

Previously, Felix had promised to help her find someone, but she hadn't received a response.

Since awakening, so much had happened to her, and she had been busy helping the females with their treatment. She'd forgotten to follow up with Felix.

And the young military school student had remained silent in her friend list, neither reaching out nor

"Felix." Nyx grabbed Felix and asked, "Have you found Kian?"

Hearing Kian's name from Nyx. Felix froze for a moment. Since the day he received Kian's Intelligent Brain, he had thoroughly investigated him. He had found his family background and his experience competing in the Underground Arena.

He had even tracked down the shop where Kian bought the blue iris necklace and uncovered the tension between him and Ashton Naturally, he knew that he was the Black Mamba whom Nyx had previously calmed.

As Felix continued his investigation, he discovered that Kian's father, who hadn't been granted bail by the matron, had been detained in the Supervision Office. But Kian had forged documents and smuggled his father out.

Taking his father with him was enough to prove his unwavering determination to betray the empire. The military had issued a warrant for Kian's arrest, though it hadn't yet been posted across the empire.

Felix didn't tell Nyx about this because it would upset her. But since Nyx asked again, Felix hesitated, about to speak when the Intelligent Brain suddenly rang with an urgent communication.

"Hold on. Nyx, Felix said, his expression turning serious.

The message came from Rex. This well-informed cabinet member had received some urgent intel.

Rex: [Two people died early this morning, it was an assassination.]

Rex: [One was a noble, the other a cabinet member. In the noble's house, they found links to an inducer, suspected to be the mastermind behind the previous attack on Lord Nyx]

Rex: [The Security Bureau is investigating secretly. I will continue to follow up.]

Felix immediately cross-referenced the deceased's details with the previous list of names, realizing that both of these individuals were on that list and had malicious intentions toward Nyx.

And now, these two had been swiftly and cleanly taken out—this couldn't be a coincidence.

this? Felix fell into thought, his face darkening. He had a strong feeling that this matter wasn't over.

The news didn't stay contained for long, and soon it spread across the empire. In just one night, two major figures were dead, and the whole empire was buzzing with talk.

Before the heat of this event could die down, things escalated again—One after another, several high-ranking officials were assassinated. The killer was quick and efficient, very skilled at escaping. The targets seemed to be very specific.

The Security Bureau still couldn't identify the killer, but by looking into the victims' identities, they found the killer's choices to be very deliberate. These deceased nobles had all been involved in shady dealings for years, and some even had deep connections with the Underground Arena.

In no time, everyone who had committed wrongdoings among the nobility was in a state of fear. Seizing the opportunity, the royal family quickly took action. With the design of Crown Prince himself, they gathered many pieces of evidence and took down several entrenched factions.

The empire's territory was vast, and there were certainly still areas with corruption, but at least on the Central Planet, a thorough purge had occurred.

Many of the empire's parasites were eradicated, and countless arrogant and untouchable nobles and officials were crushed, including the Quill Family.

Chapter 92

Ashton had just returned to school, his first day back at the Imperial Military Academy. Before even starting class, he was shocked by the news of his father's arrest.

Many knowing glances were cast around him, and he couldn't help but break into a cold sweat, shaking like a leaf. He thought. How could this happen?'

The general public was thoroughly satisfied with the fate of these corrupt nobles. The entire empire cheered, praising the royal family and Crown Prince, even hailing the unidentified killer.

He only killed bad people. And he was so strong. Many people began to admire him, calling him the "Justice Killer." The public was in a frenzy, while the Security Bureau was overwhelmed.

With so many nobles assassinated on the Central Planet and the killer still not caught, it was clear that Central Planet was no longer safe, and a storm was brewing.

At the military, Felix sat in his office, watching a video with a serious expression. It was footage of Kian participating in combat competitions during his time at the Imperial Military Academy.

On the desk were several photos of the crime scenes where the nobles had been assassinated, showing their positions when they died.

Felix compared Kian's fighting habits and techniques, scrutinizing every detail, and then looked at the fatal injuries of the victims, replaying it all in his mind. His expression grew heavier, and his body tensed.

If his judgment was correct, this male named Kian was the very same "Justice Killer" who had been making waves recently. Without hesitation, Felix immediately drafted a report, submitting it to various departments, to issue a nationwide wanted

notice for Kian

Theon," Felix called his nephew over when they returned to the estate, handing him a stack of files on Kian. "Be extra cautious around this person."

Theon read through the documents carefully, then hesitated. "Could he be doing all this to protect Nyx?"

Felix nodded slightly. He thought the same. All the nobles who were killed, one by one, were on that list of people who had originally planned to harm Nyx ple had ill intentions towards Nyx and were plotting against her, but before they could carry out their plans, they lost their ines first. The first noble who was killed had already been confirmed to be the "boss" mentioned by the assailants in the hospital.

It seemed like Kian was protecting Nyx, in a sinful, crazy way. He didn't gather sufficient evidence or follow legal procedures; he just identified who intended to harm Nyx and used the most primitive form of violence to solve the problem at its root.

"Even though it seems like he's protecting Nyx, we can't just let him go." Felix said coldly. A person this reckless was an unstable potential danger for Nyx.

Theon nodded, understanding, I will protect Nyx closely and make sure he doesn't get a chance to act"

Just reminding Theon wasn't enough. Felix hesitated and knocked on Nyx's door. "Nyx, there's something I need to tell you about Kian"

Nyx ran over and opened the door. Has Felix already found Kian? Where is he?' she wondered. Nyx looked at Felix with bright, hopeful eyes.

Felix couldn't bear to see her upset, but he steeled himself and spoke, "He has betrayed the Empire and joined the Space Pirates."

Chapter 92

For a moment, Nyx looked bewildered. Although she had no clear idea about Space Pirates, she knew they weren't good people:

She simply couldn't reconcile Kian with the Space Pirates. Nyx didn't believe it. She quickly skimmed through the information Felix handed her, her body swaying slightly.

Felix was quick to support her and helped her sit down by the bed, kneeling on one knee and carefully watching her expression. He knew Nyx wouldn't be able to handle this kind of shock.

The case Nyx's emotions, the materials he showed her were much more toned down compared to the ones Theon received. They contained solid evidence-facts without any speculation on his part about Kian being a “justice killer.”

First, it was just his guess, and there was no concrete evidence yet. Second, if Nyx knew that Kian had killed so many people, she might collapse even further.

Felix gently held Nyx's hand and seriously reminded her, "From now on, you must stay alert around this person. If you see him near you, don't believe any of his lies and make sure to tell us immediately

Nyx remained silent for a long time. She held the documents in her hand, flipping through them over and over again. Suddenly, she pulled out the blue iris flower necklace from her drawer and tightly clutched it in her hand.

Before, she had only known that Kian's family life was unhappy. After seeing these documents, she understood just how miserable Kian had been

'Did he join the Space Pirates to get more medicine to save his father? she thought. A wave of frustration and helplessness. washed over Nyx. If she had known all this earlier, she could have saved Kian's father. Maybe then Kian wouldn't have made such a big mistake.

Felix quietly stayed by Nyx's side, gently patting her back in an attempt to calm her down.

Deeply heartbroken, Nyx remained dejected for many days before finally regaining a little bit of her spirit. In ision Office, there were still many out-of-control males, just as unfortunate as Kian's father.

After several days, the Supervision Office once again welcomed an SSS-level female.

The director was enthusiastic and personally greeted Nyx. Soon, the office was filled with a shocked scream. "What did you say? You plan to do Mental Soothing for the out-of-control males in the Supervision Office?"

Of The Beastmen 93

Chapter 93

"That's not appropriate. The director of the Supervision Office thought Nyx had gone crazy

Mental Soothing was a very private matter, usually only done by a partner. Even though he knew that Nyx was a special 555- level female, capable of Mental Soothing without mating, he still found it hard to accept.

"Your Mental Soothing, after all, still requires some physical contact. These males are all strangers to you" Touching so many unfamiliar males with her own hands, it was too crazy

"Don't worry, I know my limits. I won't touch them carelessly," Nyx said, of course having considered this, and had already tested it with her guardians.

She didn't need to touch them. She could purify the black mist, though it would be less efficient

The Supervision Office Director was dumbfounded. Logic told him he shouldn't believe it, but he'd witnessed too many miracles with Nyx, and he felt she wouldn't lie to him. "Well, perhaps you can give it a try

After some thought, the Supervision Office Director tentatively asked. "Can I recommend the first candidate for Mental Soothing Currently, they were housing a big shot who, when he went berserk, was terrifying- almost as bad as Marshal Lane. If Nyx could save him, it would solve a major headache for the Supervision Office.

Nyx nodded in agreement.

As they walked, the Supervision Office Director rambled on, introducing Nyx. "Lord Kai used to be the Empire's Chief Diplomat, but he had to step down for a while due to a high Loss of Control Index. He's an 58- level male, and his beast form is a leopard"

Just as they were talking, a deafening alarm suddenly rang through the entire Supervision Office.

What's going on?" The Director watched as a group of staff, carrying injection guns, ran around in panic.

the staff stopped and reported, out of breath and visibly flustered, "Lord Kai is missing""

The Supervision Office Director sucked in a sharp breath.

Nyx was shocked as she listened to the report. That leopard had actually pretended to be hit by the injection gun and faked being unconscious. The staff thought the tranquilizer had worked and were about to move him, but he took the chance to escape. Such a smart leopard.

Is anyone injured?" Nyx asked.

The staff nodded solemnly. "Larry, the one who was supposed to inject the tranquilizer, got slashed and is receiving

Treatment

Nyx fell silent. It seemed that the leopard really held grudges-he was vengeful. Thankfully, no one had died. But the staff weren't optimistic. "After Lord Kai lost control, his temper became unpredictable. He's a violent madman. If we don't find him quickly, there will definitely be big problems"

Nyx turned to Theon, urging. "Theon, you should go help too.

Theon shook his head. "I must stay with you" No one was more important than Nyx.

"Yes, yes, the Supervision Office Director wiped the sweat from his forehead, shaking his head in despair, "If the leopard runs here to Lord Nyx, we're in trouble."

His words were like a prophecy. Before he could finish speaking, a pair of gleaming beastly eyes suddenly appeared from around a corner, staring fixedly in their direction.

It was a leopard. Before anyone could react, those beastly eyes rapidly closed the distance. The agile leopard stirred up a fierce wind as it charged towards them, the target being-Nyx.

Theon's pupils constricted, and he immediately moved to shield Nyx. In an instant, he and the leopard were engaged in a fierce struggle. The sound of their bones and muscles clashing was so intense it was terrifying.

The frantic animal roars sent a jolt through Nyx's nerves. She instinctively took a step back but quickly regained her composure and stepped forward, attempting to break up the fight.

"Step back, Nyx Theon shouted loudly.

But Nyx didn't care. She stubbornly charged towards them. As Nyx approached, the leopard let out an excited roar, seemingly wanting to leave Theon and jump at her instead.

Theon couldn't let that happen. He seized the leopard's momentary lapse and slammed it harshly to the ground.

The leopard was enraged and roared.

It suddenly unleashed an uncontrollable burst of strength, twisting and flipping Theon over. Then, it bared its vicious fangs and charged straight for Theon's throat, intending to take out this annoying obstruction first.

"Theon!" Nyx cried out, ignoring the differences between male and female, and with both hands, she tightly hugged the mad leopard around the waist, preventing it from attacking Theon.

Nyx's feeble strength couldn't stop the rampaging male; instead, she was easily dragged and almost stumbled..

The director, who was standing nearby, instinctively closed his eyes, unable to watch the tragedy unfold. The staff rushed forward to intervene, but instead, they only made the leopard more furious.

only, a soft body pressed against the leopard's back, causing its movement to slow for a moment, hesitation creeping into its actions.

The hesitation lasted only a second, but the arrival of the staff seemed to ignite the leopard's anger further. It didn't stop attack and charged forward again

Nyx lost her footing and stumbled a few steps, then tilted, falling to the ground. The strength disparity was enormous, and the leopard could have easily shrugged off this annoying little attachment.

But it seemed to intentionally slow down, lowering its body to offer Nyx a seat on its strong back. Nyx plopped down onto the leopard's muscular back. Finally, it stopped.

She panted heavily, her hand on her chest, and looked down at the leopard, meeting its cold, unfeeling gaze. Nyx froze in fear-She had never seen such a gaze in any animal.

From childhood, whether wild or domesticated, animals had always been affectionate toward her. Even the fiercest would show gentleness in her presence.

But this leopard's gaze held no warmth whatsoever. In the moment of shock, the leopard's throat emitted a low growl, and it bared its teeth at her aggressively. Nyx quickly jumped off its back, ran several steps toward Theon.

Behind her, the leopard's green eyes remained fixed on her retreating figure, showing clear dissatisfaction with her escape. A group of staff rushed forward, holding injection guns.

The leopard seemned to scoff, giving them a contemptuous glance before its gaze returned to Nyx. Its eyes tangible. Nyx clearly sensed its focus on her. It didn't seem so indifferent.

She calmed herself slightly and walked back toward the leopard. This time, she didn't meet its eyes but lowered her gaze to show her harmlessness. The effect was immediate.

From Nyx's perspective, though, the others could see that as Nyx approached, the leopard's eyes filled with unmasked interest. It eagerly scratched the ground a few times with its paws.

It seemed it could no longer hold back and walked toward Nyx, lowering its head to sniff her, her hair, neck, and waist.

Its tail, which had been hanging low, now stood upright, and the leopard's nostrils flared as it became almost entranced. Nyx took the opportunity to release her Soul Form—a small sapling.

Without any physical contact, a faint glow emanated from the sapling, surrounding the leopard. The dark, ominous black mist around it gradually thinned.

The process was slow. The leopard, at times, swished its tail, crouched down, or spun in circles, shaking its head and wagging its tail to try to attract Nyx's attention..

But Nyx remained focused, clearing the black mist. Although her gaze was on the leopard, she didn't pay attention to its every move.

She never reached out to pet the unfamiliar leopard. After a while, the leopard's gaze grew more puzzled. Its green eyes blinked, then it suddenly lunged forward.

Chapter 94

Theon, who had been keeping an eye on the situation, could no longer sit still. He had been reluctant to interfere, considering how focused Nyx seemed. He was unsure of what might happen if he interrupted,

So, he clenched his fists and endured, watching helplessly as the leopard moved closer to Nyx, sniffing her, and then began to make flirtatious gestures, trying to seduce her.

Fortunately, Nyx remained unmoved. However, the leopard grew bolder. Seeing that Nyx ignored him, he suddenly leaped at her

Theon reacted quickly, catching Nyx just in time, preventing her from hitting the ground. In the blink of an eye, the two males, who had never gotten along, clashed again, this time even more fiercely and aggressively than before.

The black mist, which had finally started to thin, returned with vengeance. The leopard, filled with hostility, truly lived up to the staff's description—he was a vicious, mad animal.

Nyx dizzily shook her head and shouted, "Stop!"

It didn't work. The leopard didn't listen at all. But Theon, at the sound of her shout, almost missed his strike and nearly got bitten by the leopard. The staff couldn't help; they wanted to assist General Lane but couldn't find the right moment.

The battle in front of Nyx was dizzying, and she tried to use the same trick again to grab the leopard and stop its movements, but the leopard anticipated her actions, already prepared, and easily dodged, leaving her unable to catch even a single hair.

While fighting with Theon, the leopard even swung its tail, teasing Nyx. After being played with several times, Nyx was at a loss.

This leopard was the wildest animal she had ever seen with her own eyes, sensitive, nervous, and full of aggression. Completely exhausted, she just sat down on the ground. She hadn't planned to fake an injury, but by accident, it worked.

As Nyx fell to the ground, both the leopard and Theon stopped, turning to look at her. Nyx was rendered speechless. Suddenly struck by inspiration, she quickly pretended to have hurt her knee, covering it with both hands, and letting out a ss of pain.

Nyx." Theon dropped the leopard and hurried over to her.

Worried for her too much, the usually sharp male seemed to lose his sense of judgment and was genuinely deceived by her poor acting

The leopard seemed conflicted. It looked at Nyx with disdain, as if thinking, "Where did this fragile little thing come from?"

Although it didn't give Nyx a friendly look, its worry still showed through in its actions. After pacing around a few times, the leopard couldn't help but get closer to Nyx.

Ignoring Theon, the leopard bent down to sniff her knee, trying to assess her injury.

Taking advantage of the quiet moment, Nyx made a gesture, speaking softly, "Be good, sit down, okay!"

The leopard's ears twitched, pretending not to hear. Nyx's tone became more serious, "Sit down."

The leopard glanced at her. It clearly understood what Nyx meant, but pretended not to, refusing to obey, showing its stubbornness

Realizing that Nyx wasn't actually injured, the leopard figured out it had been tricked and bared its teeth, growling fiercely at

Nyx.

This time, Nyx wasn't scared. She stared at the leopard expressionlessly. As expected, the leopard just put on a show of force. growling a few times before calming down, circling around her, and suddenly getting closer.

Its hot breath hit her neck, and Nyx couldn't help but shiver, every hair on her body standing on end. It seemed like it wanted to bite her neck, but the skin there was delicate and fragile, and the leopard hesitated, unwilling to bite.

Not her arm either. Her clothes couldn't handle being pulled. The leopard changed positions several times, trying different angles, but none of its attempts succeeded. It grew a bit restless, pushing its head against Nyx, nudging her, trying to get her to walk with it.

Theon wanted to stop this shameless harassment, but Nyx, fearing another fight might break out, quickly shook her head. "Let's go, where do you want to take me?" Nyx stood up, fulfilling the leopard's wishes.

While coaxing it, she used her mental power to continue soothing the leopard. Naturally, the others didn't dare let Nyx go alone with the crazy leopard, so they followed closely behind.

Being too close might anger the leopard, triggering another fight at any moment, but staying too far away risked an accident where they couldn't save Nyx in time.

The group had to follow at a safe distance, surprised to see that the leopard actually led Nyx back to its containment room. The other uncontrolled males in the Supervision Office hated being confined and constantly tried to escape, but they always failed

However, this leopard, despite having successfully escaped, seemed to only want to wander around for a bit and, after playing, leisurely returned to its containment room on its own.

This room was its nest. The room was decorated with mountain and forest scenes. To Nyx, it didn't look like a containment room but more like an exhibit area in a high-end zoo, Why doesn't the other Male Beastmen get such treatment?' she thought.

Trng Nyx's suspicious gaze, the Supervision Office director awkwardly explained, "This containment room was decorated Kai himself before he lost control"

It seemed that he had calmly accepted the fact that he would be staying in the Supervision Office long-term, perhaps for the rest of his life, and had leisurely made himself a comfortable nest.

In fact, he even generously donated a large sum of Starcoins to the Supervision Office, improving the living conditions of other males as well.

This was quite unexpected for Nyx. It was rare for a male to be so calm and open about their loss of control-it was as if he had completely given up struggling, almost like he had written his will.

"Could it be because he's an SS-level male and can't find a female with strong enough mental power to provide him with Mental Soothing, so he just gave up and is waiting for death?" Nyx stroked her chin, deep in thought.

Taking advantage of her distraction, the leopard skillfully hid its figure behind the landscaping, blending into the surroundings. When Nyx came to her senses and tried to continue with Mental Soothing, she found that the leopard had already disappeared.

"Where did it go? she thought. As she looked around in confusion, the leopard suddenly jumped out, scaring her with its sudden appearance.

Seeing her pale face, the leopard's colorful tail wrapped around her wrist and gently flicked, as if trying to comfort her. Nyx was rendered speechless.

After being teased several times, Nyx confirmed that the leopard had no malicious intent: it seemed to just find this fun. She thought. What a mischievous leopard.

Unable to resist, Nyx reached out and pinched its ear. The leopard dodged left and right, its fluffy ears trembling as it avoided Nyx's pinching

Whether it was because the black mist was gradually being purified or because it was back on its own turf, the leopard seemed to be in a much better mood, energetically circling Nyx, showing off, and making low, powerful sounds at her.

Nyx didn't understand. The people around her, however, were stunned.

The leopard turned and picked up a heavy stone, bringing it to Nyx. The staff recognized it immediately: this was his favorite stone, the one he often used to sharpen his claws, made of rare gold Theon took a deep breath, fuming with anger. This leopard was trying to court Nyx.

Chapter 95

The leopard's every move was clearly showing off its strength, sending signals of courtship to the female. Theon clenched his fists so tightly they made a creaking sound.

"Calm down, calm down. The director of the Supervision Office grabbed him, fearing that he would rush over and ruin everything again.

Although the leopard was courting, Nyx hadn't actually accepted. Not only had she not accepted, Nyx wasn't even aware of what the leopard was doing. She was completely focused on battling the black mist, occasionally giving the leopard a casual response.

The concentration of black mist gradually decreased to a critical level. The leopard's gaze began to change. The green beast eyes suddenly had a more human-like quality, and when they landed on Nyx, its pupils jolted.

Seeing a female was like a blow to the head, and the leopard had a dazed expression. But it quickly regained its composure, shook its head to hide its brief lapse, and stepped back a few paces to maintain a safe distance from Nyx.

"Don't move," Nyx stopped it. The Mental Soothing isn't finished yet."

Unlike the soft, soothing tone she used with others, she was no longer gentle with this leopard. Nyx thought she was being fierce, but her voice still had that soft quality to it.

The leopard's gaze shifted again, showing a mixture of emotions. Obediently, it returned to her side but kept its distance, lying down in a submissive posture.

The leopard, now fully aware, finally became docile, and the efficiency of Mental Soothing increased significantly. Nyx let out a long breath. Feeling Nyx's Mental Soothing, the leopard closed its eyes, its heart tumultuous.

"So this is an SS5-level female's Mental Soothing? It doesn't even require mating? he thought.

Nyx didn't even touch him; they just sat facing each other in silence. Yet, he could clearly feel his chaotic soul being healed.

Is this the power of an SSS-level female? The leopard's claws twitched.

Nyx nodded, signaling it was over, the staff rushed in, eagerly taking the leopard for a checkup. Last time, when Nyx gave Mental Soothing to Marshal Lane, it brought the Loss of Control Index down to 18, which shocked everyone at the Supervision Office.

This time, no one knew if the miracle could continue.

'I'll rest for a while, then soothe next male,' Nyx said, slumping in the chair, leaning on Theon, speaking to the Supervision

Office director.

The Supervision Office director nodded in understanding. "I'll prepare something for you to eat." After thinking for a moment, he added, "If you feel like your mental power is too drained, don't continue, please don't push yourself."

After soothing the males, all females needed rest for several days. No female, except Nyx, intended to soothe two males in one day. The Supervision Office director trusted Nyx's ability, but he couldn't help feeling concerned.

Nyx smiled helplessly and sighed. The little sapling in the Sea of Consciousness was still lively, so she had some energy left. Mental Soothing wasn't tiring for her; it was just the mental battle with the leopard that had drained her. This leopard was really hard to handle.

"You were much better than him," Nyx couldn't help teasing Theon.

Theon huffed, still unhappy about the leopard's courtship. Nyx smiled and gently squeezed his finger, and his mood immediately improved, but deep down, the strong desire to mate could not be suppressed.

That unfamiliar leopard actually dared to court Nyx. Thinking that he hadn't formally courted Nyx yet, Theon felt defeated. unwilling to be one step behind.

Nyx noticed Theon's breathing quicken and tilted her head in confusion, "What's wrong"

Theon shook his head, signaling that he was fine. He couldn't rush it, nor could he be hasty. The time and place weren't right now, he couldn't behave like that senseless leopard and ignore the situation.

After a short rest, Nyx continued to soothe the next male. Aside from the trouble with the leopard, the other males were just as cooperative as she expected.

In front of her, no matter if the beast form was a large or small animal, a carnivore or herbivore, they all obeyed her.

The efficiency of Mental Soothing increased greatly, though it couldn't compare to direct touch, it was still incredibly fast, and the drop in the Loss of Control Index thrilled the staff.

A Loss of Control Index in the single digits. The rescued males couldn't believe their eyes, extremely grateful to Nyx.

After soothing more than a dozen males, Nyx finally felt drained. During this time, as she treated the females, the little sapling had successfully sprouted two new leaves, proudly now having four leaves. After today's Mental Soothing, the four leaves had grown slightly larger.

'Til continue tomorrow to soothe others," Nyx promised the Supervision Office director.

"Okay, okay." The Supervision Office director responded excitedly, rubbing his hands and repeating his agreement.

Those who had lived in the Supervision Office for years were finally saved. During his tenure, he had witnessed countless males' Loss of Control Index reach 100, beyond saving, as they died in madness, struggling in their final moments.

With Nyx's strong support, he might never have to witness such tragedies again. The atmosphere in the Supervision Office was joyful, but rumors suddenly spread on StarNet

In the public's view, the method of Mental Soothing was always assumed to be mating. Just thinking about how Nyx had provided Mental Soothing to so many unfamiliar males, her image, once god-like and unapproachable, instantly shattered.

The Supervision Office couldn't allow Nyx's reputation to be tarnished and immediately released a statement, firmly declaring that Nyx's method of Mental Soothing was not mating, and that there was no physical contact with the males during the process.

Before the official announcement was even made, many staff members and the males who had been saved were already defending Nyx.

The argument on Star Net was intense. After the guardians and Aurelius shut down a few accounts and dealt with the loudest troublemakers, the controversy only grew, with rumor-mongers raising the banner of free speech and opposing the silencing actions

Inside the Supervision Office, everyone was as anxious as ants on a hot pan. Though they knew this matter wouldn't be taken well, seeing Nyx being slandered made them furious. They worried that Nyx would be disappointed and stop providing Mental Soothing for other males.

Amid the uneasy atmosphere in the Supervision Office, Nyx showed up early the next morning as promised. Her emotions were incredibly stable, and she was completely unaffected by the discussions on StarNet.

On the other hand, the males were all extremely angry. If it weren't for Nyx stopping them. Aurelius would have already blocked those malicious comments and forced the issue to quiet down,

Nyx thought that, although that would have been effective, it would have made it seem like she was guilty. "Since everyone says seeing is believing," she asked the Director of the Supervision Office, "Can I livestream it?"

Livestreaming Mental Soothing was unprecedented. As soon as Nyx appeared on the official Supervision Office account's livestream, the crowd rushed in like hyenas scenting blood.

[Livestreaming Mental Soothing?]

[This is wild.]

Is this a proper livestream?]

[Has Nyx lost it? Has the Supervision Office lost it too?]

Maybe I should get some Mental Soothing too. I'm good at it.]

Fans angrily cursed at these despicable people while reporting them to the Female Protection Association. glanced at the comments but didn't argue. She simply nodded to the staff beside her. "We can start."

A few staff members carefully brought the first male to receive Mental Soothing today and stood nearby. This male's beast form was a kingfisher, and his medical check-up showed his Loss of Control Index was as high as 88.

The small kingfisher was trapped in a cage, flapping wildly, causing his feathers to fall off and his body to bleed. Normally, his feathers would be bright, but now he looked dull and disheveled, torn apart by the loss of control.

The once lively comments began to quiet down. Anyone who saw such a scene couldn't help but feel heavy-hearted. There were many more males like him in the empire, and the only fate awaiting them was death.

In the oppressive silence, Nyx approached the cage. As she got closer, the frantic kingfisher slowly calmed down, blinking his eyes and weakly chirping toward her.

The audience couldn't see Nyx's Soul Form, but they could see her gaze, filled with pity and gentleness, directed at the kingfisher. It felt as if that gaze reached through the screen and touched them, stirring a warm and subtle feeling in their hearts.

The agitated kingfisher showed Nyx an incredible amount of gentleness and quickly began to recover, visibly regaining his spirit.

The viewers urged the staff, hoping the medical results would come out quickly. There was actually no mating.

In fact, seemed like Nyx did almost nothing, yet the Mental Soothing was complete.

Watching with their own eyes as the Loss of Control Index dropped to single digits even though everything seemed so unreal, no one had any doubts left.

After the kingfisher, other males appeared in the livestream, including a rhino with broken horns a crocodile chewing on its own tail and a golden snub-nosed monkey depressed to the point of losing fur

These were all males Nyx had chosen for Mental Soothing first, prioritizing those in the worst condition

As they watched Nyx save one after another, the people who had been hard-headed and causing trouble were forced into silence, barely muttering a few words like "staged" and "acting before quickly leaving the live stream. As soon as they were gone, the livestream returned to peace and calm.

In an Empire where the male-to-female ratio was 1:80, this news was like music to the ears of the males. Lond Nyx wasn't just an SSS-level female, she was clearly the Beast God's messenger sent to save humanity.

Nyx kept her word. As the live streams continued, her reputation in the Empire soared. The saved males kept coming to thank her, with visitors arriving non-stop. Nyx began to sense that her males at home seemed to be a bit moody about it.

Loss of Control Index wasn't high, he still wanted Nyx's Mental Soothing.

Not just Zayne. Theon and Felix felt the same way. It was in their nature-males were inherently possessive.

Even though Nyx hadn't had any real contact with those other males, they couldn't help but feel jealous- jealous that Nyx's attention had been on those males.

Nyx extended a finger and gently pressed it to Zayne's forehead, smoothing out the frown there. "Even if your Loss of Control Index isn't high. I can still give you Mental Soothing"

These past few days, she'd been busy doing Mental Soothing for other males in the Supervision Office, and had indeed neglected her own. Now, she happened to have some new little combs, so she could comb their fur while doing Mental Soothing for them.

Feeling Nyx's special attention and affection, the three males instantly had a spark in their eyes. Thankfully, Nyx's bedroom was big enough. With three oversized, fluffy males around her, they could still all fit.

None of them wanted to lose out-they all wanted to be closer to Nyx. Nyx was overwhelmed by their enthusiasm, feeling so happy she could hardly breathe.

“Queue up, queue up, take turns,” she struggled to calm herself and organize them.

To decide who went first, they almost got into a scuffle, but eventually, under Nyx's control, they decided with a game of rock-paper-scissors. Felix was luckier and won first.

The black-maned lion threw aside all his pride, lying in Nyx's arms and purring non-stop, no longer looking anything like the imposing Imperial Marshal.

Nyx had completely forgotten the nervousness and stiffness she felt in front of Felix before, now smiling as she meticulously combed through the lion's fur. As the small comb moved bit by bit, Nyx focused intently, cleaning the black mist off the lion's body thoroughly.

Once the black mist had faded to a certain degree, it became much harder to eliminate. Because of this, Nyx exerted quite a bit of effort, feeling a bit dizzy. Cleaning up this stubborn black mist wasn't exactly efficient te any other male, she wouldn't have continued, but for Felix, she wanted to do her best.

The fur was gently combed, and the black-maned lion relaxed to the point of nearly dozing off. When the last trace of black mist vanished, he trembled and couldn't help but let out a thunderous roar.

In an instant, Felix returned to his human form, his bones cracking as he felt an unprecedented clarity of mind and a surge of power, utterly astonished.

“Come give me a check-up,” he turned to Zayne and said.

Upon hearing this. Zayne's expression shifted, and he had some suspicions. The check-up results came out quickly, confirming his guess-Felix's Loss of Control Index had been completely cleared. Not only that, his physical condition had taken a huge leap, with all his stats far exceeding those of an SS—level male.

He wondered if it was the case that lowering the Loss of Control Index to zero allowed the Male Beastmen's power to be fully unleashed. Zayne couldn't help but sigh. This is truly a completely new topic. After all, before this, no Male Beastmen's Loss of Control Index had ever been reduced to zero.

"SSS-level Nyx was overjoyed. "Then I'll definitely do more Mental Soothing for Felix in the future."

She had always felt Felix's work was dangerous, often having to go on missions. If Felix's power could rise

Chapter 97

Judging the number and strength of the opponents, the leopard did not reveal itself rashly. It was very good at concealing its movements, and even the most alert of animals hadn't noticed the presence of such a fierce predator nearby.

Its gaze lingered on Nyx, its claws digging into the tree trunk, making a screeching sound that left deep scratches. Finally, it seemed to have made a decision, quickly disappearing, leaving only a faint shadow in the darkness.

Inside the room, the males were immersed in affection with Nyx, unaware that a leopard had lingered outside. Nyx was completely unaware.

It wasn't until morning when she opened her eyes and saw the bloody corpse of the prey outside the window that the room erupted in a deafening scream.

The guardians rushed in, fearing something had happened to Nyx, their hearts nearly stopping.

"Nyx" Seeing the female safe and sound, curled up on the bed, the guardians calmed down.

Theon quickly darted to the window, frowning as he opened it and picked up the prey. It was a freshly dead deer, still giving off heat. The wound suggested it had been killed by a large cat, a single, clean strike.

It's fine. Nyx." Zayne held Nyx and gently comforted her.

This didn't feel like a threat. It seemed more like a gift from some big cat. But it was strange that there was such a large predator in the manor. Such a dangerous animal shouldn't be in the manor, let alone outside Nyx's window.

I'll check the security system, Felix said gravely.

After carefully inspecting, the security system was operating normally without any issues. Felix reviewed the manor's surveillance footage and spotted a leopard. Most of the footage was blurry, but when the leopard got close to Nyx's window, its figure was clearly visible.

"That's Theon froze. He leaned in for a closer look and confirmed the leopard's identity. "Kai."

fought with this leopard a few times, and he wouldn't mistake it. It wasn't just any leopard, but an SS-level Male man. No wonder it could break through the security system and storm into the manor.

"Breaking into private property and harassing females-does he want to go to jail?" said Theon.

Felix raised his hand to stop Theon's angry reprimand and pointed at the leopard on the screen. "Look at its condition. It seems like it's lost control.

"How could that be?" Theon frowned. "Nyx just did a Mental Soothing for him a few days ago."

Without another word, Felix contacted the Supervision Office. Sure enough, they gave a confirming answer. The director sighed with a bitter smile. "Lord Kai has indeed lost control again. Last night, we got an alert, but we haven't been able to find his whereabouts"

Kai was an SS-level male, and the Supervision Office found it very tricky. The last time he lost control, like Felix, he had proactively gone to the Supervision Office before losing control. But this time, it happened suddenly.

Upon hearing the leopard appeared at the Marshal's manor, the director earnestly requested Felix to keep an eye out and step in if needed to help subdue Kai.

With the leopard's stealthy abilities and brutal nature, the Supervision Office likely wouldn't be able to handle Felix nodded and agreed, "Understood. Even if the director hadn't mentioned it, he would still keep an eye on it, because that leopard had its sights set on Nyx.

During their stakeouts, the leopard wouldn't show up by Nyx's window, but as soon as Nyx played around the manor during the day, she would find the prey.

The leopard had an amazing ability to observe, accurately predicting Nyx's movements and placing gifts in her path. No matter how hard the guardians tried to keep watch, it seemed they couldn't stop the leopard from trying to win Nyx's favor.

Nyx was utterly helpless. She already knew who the leopard leaving her gifts was. She already knew who the leopard leaving her gifts was.

Theon didn't tell Nyx that Kai had once tried to court her, and that his current actions might also be part of his pursuit. Or maybe he had already taken Nyx as his mate and was trying to feed her.

The thought of this made Theon's temples throb. This couldn't continue. The guardians decided to take the initiative, and Nyx went with them to Kai's home.

Kai's father was an Earl, and his manners were refined. In front of an esteemed SSS-level female, he was extremely respectful, but when Nyx asked about Kai, he coldly turned up the corner of his mouth.

ether.

Eliana May, Darius's matron, appeared, greeting Nyx warmly but showing no concern for Kai. "Im not his birth mother. He's a bastard."

Eliana seemed indifferent when talking about this. Marriages among the nobles were often for the sake of benefits and family alliances, and it wasn't rare for both parties to ha Theon, who had been walking beside Nyx, immediately became alert and looked towards the thicket. The sound grew louder, as if some large animal was trying to emerge from there.

'A leopard?' Without a second thought, Theon rushed towards the noise-Startled, the leopard turned and dashed off into the distance.

The forest was dense, and as Thron moved through it, his clothes were occasionally caught on branches, hindering his progress. Frustrated, he shifted into beast form.

But the lion's large frame didn't adapt well to the dense jungle, and after following the trail for a while, he was tricked and lost the target.

The incident happened so suddenly. Nyx stayed put, looking around. She didn't wander off but sat on a nearby chair, waiting for Theon to return. Soon after, the rustling in the woods started again.

"Theon?" Nyx turned her head at the sound, only to be startled when she met a pair of familiar green eyes. The leopard, having been wandering outside for these days, seemed to have fully turned into a real wild beast, exuding raw animal instincts. As their eyes met, the massive body suddenly pounced, fiercely pinning her down onto the chair.

"Ah!" Nyx cried out. All Nu

The hard edge of the chair dug into her arm, and this time, it wasn't pretend-she really felt the pain and hissed as she held her arm. This completely surprised the leopard; he hadn't expected Nyx to be so fragile. The leopard jumped up in shock, awkwardly pacing around Nyx in circles, and then raised his paw, angrily scratching at the hard metal edge of the chair. His claws were sharp enough to slice through iron.

A loud crashing sound rang in Nyx's ears, making her shudder and widen her eyes. Ordinary leopard claws shouldn't have this kind of strength.

She seriously suspected that the leopard was threatening her. If she didn't comply, perhaps her fate would be like that of this

As Nyx watched in fear, the leopard, having vented his frustration, cautiously moved closer to her again, this time trying to lick her arm.

Wild animals heal by licking their wounds, and the leopard seemed to think Nyx was too clumsy to do it herself, so he decided to take over.

"Don't lick." Nyx quickly stopped him by pushing his large head away, not letting him do it

The tongue of a cat was covered with sharp barbs, and she feared that it would make things worse if he licked her, so she blocked him. To calm the leopard down, Nyx pushed the prey she had picked up toward him.

The leopard tilted his head in confusion and pushed the prey back toward her with his paw. He was good at hunting and wouldn't go hungry. He was more than capable of feeding his female.

But it seemed like she didn't want to accept him.

He wondered, "Why is she rejecting me now when she accepted it before? Does she not like this prey? Or is it because I accidentally hurt her earlier, making her upset?"

After a bit of back-and-forth, seeing that the leopard was insistent on offering the gift, Nyx finally relented. "Fine. I'll hold onto it for you."

A glint of satisfaction flashed in the leopard's eyes as he leaned in to sniff her neck.

Her fair and soft neck emitted a sweet fragrance, and the leopard's eyes half-closed in delight, his sharp teeth clenching and unclenching, tempted to bite down on the soft flesh of Nyx's neck, but he hesitated.

She was too fragile. He wondered what he should feed his partner to make her stronger. A partner this fragile couldn't handle him. The leopard shook its fur, troubled.

Having a wild beast pushing against the back of her neck, seemingly weighing how to strike, Nyx couldn't help but shiver and finally shouted. "Theon!"

Come catch this leopard!' she thought.

Hearing Nyx's call, the angry golden-haired lion roared and sped back, but missed again. That sly leopard had already vanished like the wind-gone without a trace.

After this lesson, for several days, as soon as Nyx went out during the day. Theon stayed by her side, never giving the leopard a chance. At night, Theon stayed outside Nyx's window, not allowing the leopard to come near.

In the middle of the night, light rain began to fall. Nyx was woken by the sound of the rain and, looking out the window, saw that Theon was still outside, keeping watch.

"Do you want to come in and sleep?" She knocked on the window and waved at him. Although she felt a little shy about being alone with him in the room at night, she couldn't let Theon stay out in the rain.

Theon seemed even more shy than she was. Hearing Nyx's invitation, the innocent young male's ears turned red and warm. He lowered his head, hesitating for a while before finally gathering the courage to crawl through the window into the bedroom.

I'll sleep on the floor. I won't move, Theon turned into a lion and lay at Nyx's feet, seriously assuring her. shy about inviting him to the bed, Nyx carefully covered him with her blanket. For a moment, the large lion was ded by the sweet scent of Nyx. He almost couldn't resist rolling over on the spot.

This happy life was something he could never have imagined before meeting Nyx. Just being allowed into the room, and staying close to his beloved female, made him feel incredibly content.

Early the next morning, Felix and Zayne's faces changed when they saw Theon walking out of Nyx's bedroom with a satisfied look on his face. With Theon's character, he wouldn't do something like sneaking into a female's bedroom, so Nyx probably invited him.

"It was raining last night. Nyx asked me to come in to avoid the rain, Theon explained calmly. Because of the rain, Nyx had slept in longer than usual and hadn't woken up yet. She rarely let herself sleep in, and the males didn't want to wake her up.

No one stopped her, and Nyx slept deeply, only waking up close to noon. By then, the rain had stopped, though the sky was still a bit gloomy. She felt all her muscles soft from sleep, sluggishly getting out of bed and sitting there, lost in thought.

Suddenly, there was a light tap on the window. Nyx's heart skipped a beat, and her previously fuzzy mind instantly cleared. She turned to look-A large, fluffy leopard paw appeared in front of her.

Instinctively. Nyx wanted to shout for help, but quickly stopped herself. She feared the leopard might run off before anyone Nyx made up her mind and waved at the leopard through the window, trying to catch its attention and ease its wariness. The leopard stared at the suddenly friendly female, unblinking, intrigued.

Nyx walked over and opened the window. "Come in.

The leopard seemed unmoved, still quietly observing her. From the slight rubbing of his paw, Nyx could tell he wasn't as calm as he appeared. But no matter how much she coaxed, he didn't take the bait.

After thinking for a moment, Nyx took a few steps back, sat down, and signaled for the leopard to come over, increasing her efforts to entice him. The temptation was too strong, and the leopard couldn't resist. After hesitating for a moment, he finally jumped through the window.

Seemingly remembering how his previous rash actions had hurt her, this time he moved slowly and carefully, approaching Nyx with graceful, measured steps. Nyx held her breath.

Chapter 99

The leopard was very alert. Even in front of Nyx, he didn't show much trust, with his ears always perked up, vigilant. It seemed like as soon as there was any movement, he would disappear right on the spot.

If it weren't for Nyx's irresistible charm, he would never have been so easily hooked. That night, he saw a few guys lying on her lap, and he felt a twinge of jealousy.

And now, after his persistent pursuit, she had finally given him a chance. The leopard couldn't hold back his excitement and burrowed his head into Nyx's arms.

The opportunity had come. Nyx hugged him tightly, restraining his movement, and shouted loudly, "Theon, Zayne, Felix!"

She couldn't let this leopard wander around any longer. Catching him was for his own good.

The leopard roared in disbelief, snarling, as if betrayed. His emerald eyes gleamed with hatred. He opened his large mouth, ready to bite the female, but when he got close, he couldn't bring himself to do it.

The leopard retracted his teeth, avoiding her vulnerable neck, and instead lowered his head to lick Nyx twice, as if marking her as his own.

Though his tongue had barbs, Nyx wasn't injured due to the clothes between them, but she inhaled sharply, instinctively loosening her grip and clutching her clothes tightly.

The leopard avoided her neck and chose a more delicate spot. The naive leopard thought the female was indeed soft, while Nyx's face turned bright red. "Pervert!"

Seizing the opportunity when she loosened her grip, the leopard immediately jumped out of the window and fled.

The guardians rushed into the bedroom, leaving Zayne to comfort Nyx, while the two male lions chased after the leopard, disappearing in the blink of an eye.

Are

you hurt, Nyx?" Zayne asked, gently checking if she had been scratched or bitten by the leopard.

Nyx shook her head, no wounds, but her face remained flushed for a long time. She was too embarrassed to tell Zayne what he had done.

After some time of wandering, it seemed the leopard had become familiar with every corner of the estate. Even though the two male lions chased him, he still managed to hide successfully.

Theon's face was grim. "I'm going to chop down those trees."

Felix didn't object. His patience had reached its limit. Once Kai returned to normal, he was going to have a good talk with him using fists.

After breakfast, Nyx's mood calmed a little, and she stopped Theon from chopping down the trees. The trees in the estate were growing beautifully; it would be a pity to cut them down.

The leopard had already set his sights on her and would surely come after her again.

This time, it was her own recklessness, next time, she should try to hold the leopard off first, use Mental Soothing to at least calm him for a moment, then call someone to restrain him.

"Next time, we'll catch him, Nyx comforted the frustrated Theon.

To relax, Nyx gave herself a half-day break. In the afternoon, she went out to stroll the streets with Theon. Going on a date with Nyx made Theon overjoyed. He threw all his worries aside, tightly holding Nyx's hand.

"Do you want to eat that, Nyx? Theon noticed Nyx staring at a stall selling ice cream and leaned down to ask her.

Nyx blinked, nodded in agreement. Actually, she had a vague feeling that someone's scorching gaze was fixed on her, but it wasn't directed at the stall

However, when Theon asked, she actually felt like eating it. As for that gaze, maybe it was just an overly enthusiastic fan. When out and about, she couldn't avoid being stared at, but she had gotten used to it.

Anyway, with Theon around, even the most enthusiastic fan wouldn't dare to approach and disturb her. The vendor was overjoyed to see an SSS-level female wanting their ice cream, and generously gave Nyx almost double the portion. It was so much that Nyx couldn't finish it. After taking a few bites, she shook her head, indicating she had enough.

Theon naturally took over the remaining ice cream. It was completely normal for a male to eat his female's leftovers. Theon didn't mind at all, even enjoying it.

In a dark corner, the leopard was watching this scene intently. The food that Nyx had eaten was now being carefully tasted by the male beside her.

Remembering how Nyx had betrayed him, and now, in front of him, she was being intimate with another male, the leopard couldn't resist reaching out his claws to scratch the ground, lowering his body and showing a fierce look. His ears were flattened like airplane wings.

His eyes slowly turned red with rage. The leopard shook his head, his mind seeming to cloud over, and after struggling for a moment, he suddenly exploded into a frenzied roar, charging toward Theon.

The crowd gasped.

"A leopard!"

"Such terrifying speed-Is this really a leopard?"

"It must be a Male Beastman."

"This one's SS-level. It definitely is."

When

the leopard made its move, anyone with combat experience immediately assessed its strength. An SS-level male, beast form as a leopard, his identity was already clear.

"Lord Kai?"

"Oh my god."

"He lost control again."

"Nyx please save him!"

It was obvious to anyone with keen eyes that the leopard was out of control, not just losing it, but going wild. The Loss of Control Index might have already skyrocketed above 90. If the Loss of Control Index hit 100, there would be no saving him.

Nyx was anxious, but this time, the fight between Theon and the leopard was even fiercer than when they were at the Supervision Office. She couldn't intervene. She could only brace herself and urgently perform Mental Soothing for the leopard.

The onlookers didn't dare step forward, holding their breath, hoping Nyx could save the leopard. But they also knew that under these circumstances, asking Nyx to perform Mental Soothing for the leopard was unrealistic. Most likely, they would have to wait for Supervision Office or Marshal Lane to intervene.

Nyx's forehead broke out in a light sweat. Fortunately, she had spent a lot of time in the Supervision Office performing Mental Soothing for many Male Beastmen, and the sapling had grown a fifth leaf, expanding its purification range significantly

She managed to dissipate the black mist on the leopard, even as his frantic movements made it hard to track. As the black mist faded, the leopard's eyes slowly regained some calmness. His attacks slowed, and he distanced himself from Theon, turning his head to look at Nyx.

With some of his composure back, the leopard stopped clinging to Theon and slowly walked toward Nyx. That was the true target he wanted to approach.

As he drew closer to Nyx, the black mist continued to fade. Just as he was about to get even closer, the expression in his eyes changed completely. He froze, rooted to the spot.

Nyx breathed a sigh of relief. She had succeeded. When she looked up, she was shocked to see the now-rational leopard step back several paces, distancing himself from her as if she were some kind of disaster.

Murmurs spread through the crowd.

It seems like he's fine?

Incredible."

"Huh?"

"Why did Lord Kai pull away?"

"They are the opposite sexes. It's normal for him to keep his distance."

"But that's Lord Nyx!"

"Doesn't he like Lord Nyx?"

Chapter 100

The leopard, now calm, completely lost all his previous affection for Nyx.

The Supervision Office staff arrived and took the leopard away. Nyx followed closely behind, still uneasy.

Along the way, the leopard didn't speak a word to her. He was silent and stiff, like a stone. This was completely different from the image Nyx had of him.

It was as if just as the crowd had said, he didn't like Nyx. Being too close to her made him uncomfortable, so he kept his distance.

The atmosphere was incredibly awkward. Seeing the leopard's cold attitude, Nyx didn't dwell on it. She stopped trying to press him and instead turned to check if Theon was injured.

"I'm not hurt." Theon pulled her into an embrace, resting her head on his shoulder. "Rest for a while, Nyx." Nyx had expended a lot of energy trying to soothe leopard, so she obediently snuggled against Theon and closed her eyes to

At a moment when no one was paying attention, the leopard's emerald eyes shifted silently, landing on the two of them before quickly looking away.

Just that one glance made a wave of agitation rise within him. He shook his ears, and then lay down. He forced himself not to look and listen. He would never let himself be captured by a female, never become a slave to one.

Nyx had no idea the leopard was going through such inner turmoil. She only felt relieved once she saw him safely arrive at the Supervision Office.

"Lord Kai's situation is quite special. We'll keep him here for a while longer until he stabilizes, a staff member at the Supervision Office told Nyx.

"Okay, Nyx nodded. "If he loses control again, please let me know anytime. I'll help."

The staff member gratefully nodded, but suddenly heard a soft voice from not far away, "No need" in surprise and froze for a moment. The newcomer was a young and handsome male, with striking green eyes that drew attention. He was dressed simply yet appropriately, exuding grace and elegance. He was the least intimidating male Nyx had met since her arrival in this world.

He didn't approach Nyx but instead bowed from a distance. "Greetings, Nyx. I am Kai."

Standing upright, his gaze met Nyx's perfectly—polite yet not making her feel scrutinized or uncomfortable. Nyx couldn't fathom how this male could be the same as that leopard.

Kai's demeanor was flawless, as though he were wearing a mask. After the polite exchange, he clarified his intentions. Thank your previous Mental Soothing, but you needn't worry about me anymore. I will remain in the Supervision Office."

Nyx was taken aback, her eyes trembling slightly. He was refusing Mental Soothing. Nyx had never encountered such a situation before, and her brows furrowed deeply. "But-

Before she could finish, Kai added, "There are many males who look forward to your Mental Soothing. You needn't waste your energy on someone like me."

With that, he respectfully bowed again before turning and walking away, leaving Nyx standing there, unsure of what to do.

Nyx was a little worried. The next day, while performing Mental Soothing for other males, she asked the staff at the Supervision Office for more information about Kai. Sure enough, Kai had lost control again.

"I want to see him." Nyx couldn't help but furrow her brows.

The Supervision Office was also concerned about Kai's condition and naturally didn't refuse Nyx's request.

Through the transparent viewing window, Nyx once again saw the familiar leopard. The moment she arrived, the leopard eagerly approached her, its green eyes full of her figure, lying by the window and staring at her intently.

The barrier of the viewing window seemed to make the leopard anxious, and it rammed forcefully into the transparent glass. The holding room had been personally designed by Kai, with special materials capable of withstanding his outbursts.

But with the small female right there, the leopard was unwilling to give up easily. He even seemed unwilling to stay in his familiar nest, wanting only to break through the barrier and get to Nyx.

Nyx watched helplessly as the leopard repeatedly slammed into the sturdy partition, as if it wouldn't stop until it bled. She quickly crouched down, reached her hand through the food slot, and gently shook it, trying to catch his attention.

The staff were horrified and rushed to stop Nyx.

"Don't do that."

"Please, don't."

"It's too dangerous."

The leopard was indeed attracted and leaned towards Nyx's shaking hand. He lowered his body and carefully observed her delicate, fragile hand, sniffing around it in circles.

In the tense atmosphere, the leopard studied for a while but didn't do what the staff feared. Instead, he turned around, pushed his lunch through the food slot into Nyx's hand, and let out a low growl, hoping she would accept it.

Trapped in the holding room, he couldn't hunt. He could go hungry, but his fragile female had to be fed. The staff watched this in shock. In the leopard's survival instinct, this kind of selfless offering shouldn't exist, yet it was happening with Kai. Nyx felt a strange mix of emotions. Without realizing it, she had grown attached to this leopard.

For the next few days, Nyx visited Kai every day. Occasionally, Kai would temporarily regain control. During these moments, his attitude toward Nyx was unusually cold. Although his words were gentle, he treated Nyx no differently from anyone else, as though he didn't care for her at all.

to him kindly, "I won't touch you, we can maintain some distance.

Mental Soothing, you don't need to feel any pressure, she replied.

Her Mental Soothing was different from the others; it didn't require physical contact. Even if Kai didn't like her, there was no need to reject her Mental Soothing

But Kai still refused. "What do you want from me?" He couldn't understand Nyx's persistence.

There was nothing about him that was worth the persistence of an SSS-level female. "Is it because I've been cold toward you that it has sparked your desire to conquer me?"

He didn't want to be a lapdog circling around Nyx just because he had received Nyx's kindness. Kai gave a self-mocking smile.

As an SSS-level female, Nyx was never short of male admirers. Even if it seemed like she showed some interest in him, that interest would surely be shallow and fleeting.

Once he really became Nyx's dog and was abandoned, there would only be one outcome-death. His mother died from depression caused by unrequited love, and he inherited her obsession completely. Rather than tragically repeating the same fate, he'd rather die from losing control.

Nyx sighed helplessly, shaking her head, "I didn't mean that.

She didn't need so many males surrounding her. Right now, she had three guardians and a cute Cotton Candy, which was already more than enough. If there were any more, she might not be able to handle it. After a long silence, Kai lowered his eyes, his tone returning to calm, "I'm sorry for what I said earlier. You can punish me as you see fit."

Any number of lashes would be fine. He was used to receiving punishment.

Of course, Nyx wouldn't hold onto such a small offense. For the leopard with such a tragic background and who had hardly known kindness, she had a great deal of tolerance, fully understanding his defensive, prickly demeanor.

"There's no need for punishment, but please believe me, I truly don't have any improper thoughts," said Nyx.

The reason she was so persistent was because Kai's Loss of Control Index was rising, and she watched as the leopard became more and more insane and agitated. It was hard for her to bear.

"You aren't punishing me?" Kai was stunned.

He had been prepared to be beaten half to death, thinking that was the lesson he deserved. But Nyx had casually brushed it off

Why is she being so lenient with me? he thought. Kai's gaze flickered slightly, but soon returned to stillness.

Even though Kai acted disdainfully toward Nyx in his human form, in his beast form, the leopard's longing for Nyx was completely unmasked. Every time they met, the leopard almost wanted to punch a hole in the wall and rush to Nyx's side.

Nyx had refused several times, yet he still stubbornly saved his food for Nyx, even if it meant going hungry himself, and his once glossy fur had lost some of its shine.

The staff at the Supervision Office couldn't understand if Kai liked Nyx or hated her.

At 3:00 pm, it was Nyx's regular visiting time for Kai, which had been happening for several days.

Today

elly returned to normal. In his human form, the young male was well-dressed, quietly sitting in the was no sign of anticipation on him, unlike when he was a leopard-he would already be wagging his tail at the window, eagerly waiting for Nyx.

Nyx didn't show up at the expected time. Kai substly shifted his sitting position. At 3:10 p.m., Kai stood up and began pacing. At 3:30 p.m., his perfect disguise finally showed a crack. He impatiently called for the staff, "Where isn't she here yet?"
