Chapter 11 Regret Divorcing

Sophia pulled herself together and chatted with Bianca, who was cheered up. Then she said goodbye to Bianca.

As soon as Sophia walked out, she saw Pierce standing by the wall outside with a cold vibe. He pressed his thin lips with a deep frown.

He could clearly hear their conversation in the room.

Pierce thought, "Didn't she try to cheer Grandma up because she still cares about me?"

"She must have regretted divorcing me and wanted to come back with me!"

"She's loved me for three years. How could she stop suddenly?"

That thought softened him up.

Seeing her mild and soft smile when she walked out, he had stronger complex feelings including guilt and pleasure.

He didn't treat her well during the three years of marriage.

He decided to make it up to her.

Sophia divorced him without asking for anything.

It meant that she only cared about him.

Pierce thought, "She doesn't want me to mistake her for a gold digger!"

It made him more confident.

1 Regret Divorcing

“Sophia, if you regret divorcing, it’s not too late to take back.”

your words

After losing her identity as his wife, she would live a harder life.

Pierce fixed his eyes on her. His voice was deep and cool. And he felt a bit proud.

He compromised by saying so.

Hearing what he said, she glanced at him.

A touch of cold flashed in her heart. She felt ridiculous.

Then she chuckled, turned around, and went downstairs.

She didn’t bother to waste her time on him.

How could she regret divorcing?

How could she pretend as if nothing had happened?

How could she tolerate Pierce and Emelia?

It was suffocating.

When she left without speaking. Pierce’s face darkened and froze.

He felt he had lost something.

It made him somehow upset and anxious.

He loosened his collar, went downstairs, and found she had left.

Ava stopped him with a mad face.

“Sophia is so vulgar! How dare she! She forcibly married you. We had to accept her. In the past three years, we supported her life. But she is so ungrateful!

“The farce she made online embarrasses us. We should teach her a lesson.

“After she got divorced, she needs to work. Just make her banned so that she’ll have to ask us for help when she can’t find a job. She’ll learn a lesson and know who’s the boss!”

Pierce frowned with a darkened face. His eyes were deep. A sense of gloominess came upon his heart. He raised his hand coldly to tidy up his clothes.

“Mom, stay away from this. Take care of our guests.”

His tone was cold. Then he walked out directly.

After going out, he called Devan.

“Did you find where Sophia lives?”

He had been trying to find out her address. But it ended in vain.

She even blacklisted him.

Pierce thought. “She just disappeared like that to avoid me?”

Devan paused and answered nervously.

Pierce bit his teeth with his heart skipping a bit as if someone had clutched his heart.

It made him so uncomfortable.

He didn’t believe that she could get away from him.

Chapter 11 Beget Divorcing

Three months passed.

Eagle Entertainment, a top entertainment company in Aberdyfi, held a charity party as expected.

The participants were elites from the upper class, either rich or powerful. It was an important event.

In the showbiz, Eagle Entertainment enjoyed a high status.

As known to all, actors and actresses from Eagle Entertainment would be marked as the best actors and actresses.

Because Eagle Entertainment was backed up by the Cruise Group, a leading company in the industry.

But this party wasn't open to the public, so reporters couldn't get any photos.

Late in the afternoon.

A luxurious but low-key Bentley stopped at the entrance of Cartan Hotel.

Pierce, noble and cold, came out of the car with Emelia, her date.

At a young age, Pierce took charge of the Clement Group and made the Clement Group flourish within years. Both sides of the law knew that they could not offend him.

The moment Pierce and Emelia showed up, they caught people's attention.

After all, his affairs with two women went viral online. It even affected the stock share of the Clement Group.

But he was capable enough to turn the table.

Chapter 11 Begret Dinvoring

Emelia was in an expensive customized dress, standing beside him with soft and charming eyes.

In the past three months, she had been interrogated by the police from time to time. And she had been put in custody for 15 days.

Yet, he seemed indifferent.

Luckily, Luke was too young and wanted his mother. So Pierce bailed her out.

It made her feel a bit happy.

But she didn't expect him to intend to send her abroad!

Emelia stalled for time with the excuse of Luke's poor health.

Anyway, Sophia lost her baby and was divorced.

Emelia reached her goal.

Emelia was determined to be Pierce's wife.

In the bright hall.

Pierce held shares of Eagle Entertainment, but he was a small holder. Even though, his status made people respect him.

Pierce and Emelia were surrounded by people when they came.

"It's said that a new director with a strong background was assigned to Eagle Entertainment suddenly. Did you hear that?"

"It's said this is a party for the new director."

"That director has connections with Cecilia."

Emelia listened, pondering. She looked at Pierce with expectation.

It was tiring to be in a troupe. She preferred to be in a show!

In fact, she had long wanted to be an actress, but she didn't have a chance to talk to Pierce.

Pierce chatted with people decently and calmly with a sense of indifference.

nas

As soon as people left, Emelia spoke at once.

“Pierce, I want to quit my job in the troupe. Can you ask this new director if I can...”

Pierce frowned slightly, took a sip of wine casually, and said coldly as usual.

“Got it.”

It was not a big deal. He only needed to talk to the new director.

It was good that Emelia could live independently without him..

Emelia looked up at him with a smile. She believed that he wouldn't refuse her .

People's gabble sounded in the hall.

Someone said. “Mr. Kylan Cruise is here too. Why does his date look so familiar?”

Kylan looked noble and aloof. His composure and strong vibe were obvious.

His date was also eye-catching.

Sophia's face was stunning. She was wearing a customized black dress.

that had been delivered by plane from another country, looking amazing. Her natural beauty set off her ethereal vibe.

As soon as she showed up. Pierce's face darkened as her eyes shrank.

Sophia had disappeared for 3 months. She actually showed up here in this way!

Sophia was arm-in-arm with Kylan. They looked close.

Sophia knew Pierce would come.

Sooner or later, they would meet in this industry.

As Pierce's wife, Sophia used to work in the company but barely attended such events with him.

Sophia calmly gave a glance at Emelia, who was standing by Pierce.

So disappointed in him, she was not that mad.

For Pierce, Sophia was a woman who wasn't good enough to stand by his side.

Sophia felt that they were made for each other as they were both cheap!

Chapter 12 Betray

Kylan chatted with people with an aloof smile.

Pierce stared at Sophia arm-in-arm with Kylan and walked over with cold and fierce eyes.

He stared at Sophia's bright smile with strong anger on his face.

Pierce believed that Sophia paid a visit to the Clement family because she regretted divorcing. However, now, she was here with another man!

He wondered if she had betrayed him to annoy him.

Kylan glanced at Pierce coldly and sneered.

"Mr. Clement, long time no see."

Pierce withdrew his gaze, shook hands with him, and took his hand back at once.

"Mr. Cruise, long time no see."

A touch of cold flashed in Pierce's eyes. Then he looked at Sophia.

Sophia stood there with pure eyes. Her delicate features were perfect. Yet, her eyes were indifferent. She was no longer obedient and nervous.

Pierce had never seen her like this.

Pierce had complex feelings.

He felt a bit annoyed.

He thought, "Why would she be with Kylan? They make me uncomfortable when they stand together!"

Emelia's face darkened and froze when Sophia appeared.

She wouldn't let Sophia take Pierce away from her!

Emelia bit her lips, took a step forward, and sized Sophia up.

"Ms. Cruise, why are you here? You just divorced Pierce. Are you now with Mr. Cruise?"

When she said that, people heard her and looked over in shock.

Emelia's voice was not very loud but was clear to others,

"Or did you agree to get divorced because of him?"

Emelia purposefully blamed Sophia for betraying Pierce.

Pierce frowned slightly. His face darkened subconsciously.

He should have interrupted Emelia, who said something inappropriate. But her words did arouse his doubts.

Kylan sneered and sized Emelia up with disdain. He mocked.

"As far as I know, they got divorced because you were between them. Now, everyone knows that you're good at tricks."

Emelia's face turned pale.

She didn't expect Kylan to mock her for Sophia!

Emelia looked down with grievances, wanting to say something.

"Mr. Cruise, I'm not the other woman. She must have spoken ill of me."

Her eyes turned red as she resorted to Pierce.

But Pierce didn't intend to help her. His cold gaze was fixed on Sophia's face.

Sophia couldn't help chuckling, her eyes cold.

"I feel disgusted to mention you. You should stay with cheap things. This party isn't for you."

Her smile was mocking.

What a good actress Emelia was!

Sophia's face froze. She didn't expect Sophia to mock her in public!

It made her embarrassed.

Emelia bit her lips, being piteous.

Then Kylan raised his hand to pat Sophia's shoulder and said in a deep, gentle, and calm tone.

"If you don't feel good, I'll drive her away. Don't let her spoil your mood."

He comforted her quietly and led Sophia in another direction.

Kylan totally ignored Sophia.

Sophia didn't look at Pierce at all and sneered in an indifferent voice.

“Never mind. I don’t want to be entangled with them. It’s embarrassing.”

If the security came in, it would cause a sensation.

She didn’t want to attract others’ attention because of her relationship with Pierce.

Pierce’s face darkened with a gloomy vibe.

Seeing them away, Pierce had sharp and dangerous eyes.

He had feelings beyond description as if his chest would explode.

Emelia grabbed Pierce’s sleeves in fear and bit her lips restlessly.

“Pierce, did I say something wrong? I just feel it’s unfair for you that she met a nother man so soon!”

The hall quieted down gradually.

Kylan took Sophia to the middle of the crowd, attracting people’s attention.

“Guys, on behalf of the shareholders of Eagle Entertainment, I’ll announce tha t Ms. Sophia Cruise will be the new director of Eagle Entertainment! Let’s give her a clap!”

Applaud sounded then.

Although people didn’t know Sophia’s background, such a sudden assignment was nothing rare.

However, the news made Emelia’s face gloomy.

She came for Eagle Entertainment. But now. Sophia was the director!

“Pierce...”

She looked at Pierce nervously. A touch of panic flashed in her eyes.

Pierce pressed his lips and frowned slightly, saying in a cold voice.

“Maybe we should talk about it some other day.”

He didn’t expect Sophia to be the new director of Eagle Entertainment.

It was an important position. How could she get it?

Pierce wondered if it was because of Kylan.

Pierce’s face darkened.

People congratulated her.

Pierce drank unhappily. When people talked to him, he replied coldly.

Emelia was with Pierce. Naturally, people talked to and flattered her, including rich people’s wives.

She was surrounded.

People around Sophia left, and Kylan was busy dealing with others. Pierce saw her happily listening to the music with a smile while leaning against the piano as the band was playing the cello..

Pierce walked to her with a glass of liquor. As he drank, his eyes turned red.

He looked down at her before her with a cold face, his eyes deep. A strong smell of wine spread from his body.

He was angry and tried to control himself. But he couldn’t restrain his anger. He couldn’t stay calm when she became another man’s date. So he was no longer decent when he spoke.

“You suddenly became the new director? Who made you the director?”

Pierce looked at Sophia, who was mild. The anger surged in his heart. but he remained calm.

With a step forward, his tall figure shed a shadow over her. He put the wine glass heavily on the piano and put one hand on the piano with the other on her soft and thin waist.

"It's reasonable for me to ask since I'm a stakeholder of Eagle Entertainment, right?"

Pierce looked at her, his voice deep and hoarse.

Her waist was so soft and slim. He wondered if Kylan would feel that way too.

The thought made his face dark. So Pierce grabbed her waist harder.

The next second.

Sophia raised her leg to hit him in his crotch with her knee.

Pierce's face became pale. The pain made him unable to stand straight. As he bent, he almost

As he bent, he almost put his head on her shoulder. He let go of her and clutched his fists subconsciously. Sweat came out of his forehead.

Sophia stood there, looking down at him expressionlessly with indifference.

She sneered slightly and said in a cold tone,

“Mr. Clement, you only have 3% of the shares. Do you have the right to doubt the decision of shareholders' meetings?”

In the past three months, she had made enough preparations.

Sophia was cold, proud, and disdainful.

She hated him approaching her as she could smell Emelia's disgusting perfume!

16:36

Even though Sophia took the chance to vent her anger, she felt that Pierce deserved the pain!

Looking at his painful face, Sophia felt unprecedentedly pleased.

Chapter 13 Trick

No one in Aberdyfi dared to talk to Pierce impolitely, let alone attack him.

Sophia's reaction shocked Pierce. It was new to him.

After the pain cased, Pierce stood straight gradually with a pale face. His eyes were deep and dark with gloominess.

They looked at each other.

Kylan walked over and chuckled, pinching Sophia's shoulder closely.

"What are you talking about?"

Sophia raised her brow and answered in a cool and lazy tone.

"Mr. Clement doubts my ability. I think he'd better shut up."

"Don't be naughty."

Kylan's tone was soft. He looked at Pierce significantly.

"Mr. Clement, Sophia graduated from a top university and worked in a famous company. She's capable enough to be the director of Eagle Entertainment."

As their eyes met, there was a secret confrontation.

Sophia worked in a famous company. But which one?

Pierce knew it, of course.

But he frowned slightly as he learned that she graduated from a top university.

He didn't know that.

When Sophia's information was given to him, he didn't even bother to check it out because he didn't want to waste his time on knowing her.

But she was indeed capable enough.

Yet, Pierce took her as an insignificant secretary subconsciously, without any intention to put her in a major position.

In the company, she solved many problems for him, which he ignored.

Kylan took Sophia away after speaking, and Pierce didn't stop him.

Pierce's eyes gradually darkened. Complex feelings loomed on his face, which made him look gloomy. His heart sank.

Emelia noticed all that clearly.

Her face paled with great jealousy in her eyes.

Emelia thought, "They've got divorced. Why is Sophia still trying to seduce Pierce? Shameless woman!"

Emelia would never let them get back together!

Sophia chatted with people on the second floor.

With a glass of red wine, she leaned against the fence gently with a happy and elegant smile.

The position of the director of Eagle Entertainment was just a start for her.

Pierce was surrounded by people again. So Emelia finally found a chance to secretly leave for the second floor.

Soon after people around Sophia left, Emelia walked over.

Emelia pretended to be pitiful like before.

“Sophia, you’re amazing. Can you do me a favor?”

Sophia glanced at her coolly with impatience. Then she looked away.

What a bummer!

“Can you quit? Don’t you see that no men like capable women? Kylan will find it boring to be with you in this case!”

Sophia coldly looked at her with a half–smile.

“Do you think all men are as blind as Pierce and would fall for a cheap woman like you?”

Emelia’s face froze. Her pitiful expression disappeared at once. She glared at Sophia.

“Sophia, you ruined my relationship with Pierce. I just took what belonged to me back. You’re the one between us. How dare you blame me?”

Sophia took a sip of wine and swallowed it down gently. The strong liquor flowed down her throat. And her pure eyes became freezing.

Sophia took a step forward slowly with an indifferent face.

“You meant to kill my baby.”

Emelia’s eyes blinked. Then a smug smile was shown on her face.

“Yes. Pierce said he’d never allow other women to give birth to his children. He only wants me. So I did him a favor.”

Emelia took a step backward with a smile towards the stairs with hysterical eyes.

“Sophia, when you got married, Pierce got back with me. But you were in the dark like an idiot. How could you compete with me? How would I let a dead baby be in my way?”

Sophia tried so hard to forget about the past, but now, Emelia brought it up on purpose again.

It annoyed Sophia a bit.

She didn't mind Pierce and Emelia's humiliation.

But she couldn't bear it when Emelia smugly mocked her baby!

Emelia's words hurt her like a blade piercing her body. The pain spread over her.

She raised her hand suddenly and slapped Emelia's face hard.

“Bam.”

As soon as her slap landed on Emelia's face, Emelia leaned backward.

The next second.

She fell downstairs.

“Ah!”

Her scream sounded in the hall.

People watched in shock.

Pierce heard the scream and came over at once. Looking up at Sophia, who was cold, in astonishment, his eyes darkened immediately.

Emelia leaned against his chest in pain with blood on her forehead, crying with a shaky body.

“Ms. Cruise is still mad at me. I apologized, but it didn’t work. She wants me to go to hell.

“I said I wanted to be an actress, but she said I wasn’t worth it. Pierce, will I be banned by her?”

Pierce looked at Sophia with deep, complex feelings.

Sophia walked downstairs slowly in an elegant way. Hearing what Emelia said, she put on a bigger smile.

“How would I ban you? You’re born to be an actress. It will be a pity if you don’t be an actress.”

It shocked people.

Sophia implied that Emelia was good at pretending!

Pierce frowned at Emelia’s painful face. A cold vibe was emitted.

He knew Sophia hated Emelia and might do anything.

For fear that Sophia would be in trouble once anything bad happened to Emelia, he restrainedly said in a mild but deep voice.

“Sophia, it’s my fault. You can come to me. Don’t be impulsive!”

Sophia was sad about losing the baby. So was he. After all, it was his baby too!

But now, Pierce worried that Sophia might lose control.

However, for Sophia, Pierce was helping Emelia for fear that Emelia would be hurt!

But Sophia wasn’t afraid.

16:36

Sophia chuckled. A sense of strange pleasure flashed in her heart. She said a bit emotionally.

“It’s a pity that she is still alive. Next time, I won’t choose the second floor. You should go to hell with her!”

She wouldn’t explain. Anyway, no one would trust her.

Since Emelia loved acting, Sophia decided to let her have her wish.

Threats worked better than explanations.

After finishing speaking, Sophia turned around and left on her high heels.

Her strong vibe shut people up.

Those people knew how power worked. Sophia was the new director of Eagle Entertainment. But Emelia was just a woman relying on Pierce.

Of course, they knew which side they should take.

There were doctors ready for an emergency. Pierce asked someone to take Emelia to the break room.

The party went on.

Kylan went back to Sophia and learned what had happened. Then his face darkened.

Sophia smiled and comforted him.

“Don’t be mad, Kylan. She wouldn’t bear to severely hurt herself.”

Kylan’s voice was cold and deep. He felt disgusted.

“She’s a disgusting woman!”

Sophia went to the bathroom.

When she came out, she was surprised to see an aloof and proud man waiting for her at the door.

The corridor was quiet.

She walked over expressionlessly, only to be grabbed by her arm.

“Sophia, don’t be so stupid again. Aren’t you worried about the consequences?”

Pierce sounded anxious. Her indifference made him even more annoyed.

Sophia shook off his hand in disgust.

“I’ll be happy if she dies.”

Pierce frowned. A touch of annoyance flashed across his face. Yet, he controlled his anger and explained.

“Back then, the PR Department decided to turn the public opinion against you. It has nothing to do with her.

“The police have finished the case after she hit you. She was put in custody and fined.

“She’s been punished. I’ll send her away soon. Sophia, can you forget about these things?”

The corridor was quiet, and the atmosphere was oppressive.

Sophia raised her head abruptly and stared at him coldly. She sneered.

“Forget? Think about what you said. Do I owe her anything?”

“Pierce, she got a 16,000 dollars fine. Is that worth my baby’s life?”

Her cold words made Pierce's face change.

His heart twisted suddenly as if someone had grabbed it. There was pain in his heart.

His veins popped out on his forehead. Her cold and painful eyes made him guilty.

He felt pain across his body.

Pierce raised his brow and pressed his lips. He wanted to tell her everything.

But those concerns made him suppress all his feelings. His eyes were dark and deep. And his tone was deep and cold.

"It already happened. Sophia, we need to move on. I'll give you whatever you want. She'll never come to you again."

He would try his best to make it up to her.

As for the lost baby, Pierce forced himself not to think about it.

When Sophia mentioned the lost baby, his heart ached as if it had been pierced. The pain was suffocating.

Pierce clutched his fists, suppressing his emotions.

He was guilty about the baby and what happened to Sophia.

"Should I accept it since it happened? Should I forgive you and thank you? Do you deserve it?"

Sophia couldn't help raising her voice. Her eyes were cold.

How ridiculous!

Pierce helped Emelia with his connections to get a lighter punishment. and even paid the penalty for her.

Apparently, he ignored the lost baby, who was his baby too.

The thought made her unable to breathe in pain.

Hatred engulfed her.

She thought, "If I hadn't married him, my baby would have been alive!"

She regretted it. But it was too late.

There was great pain in her heart. A touch of cold flashed in her eyes.

She reached out suddenly and grabbed his collar to push him to the wall. Her cold attitude came out of the depths of her heart. And her voice was deep and low.

"Pierce, you'd better protect her forever. Otherwise, I will send you two down to hell."

After that, she shook off him and left.

Sophia worried that she would lose control and kill them if she didn't leave.

Pierce silently stayed put in shock. Staring at her back, he had complex feelings.

Then he heard a conversation in the bathroom.

"Did Ms. Cruise push Mr. Clement's date?"

"Of course not. I was right there. That woman said a lot to annoy Ms. Cruise on purpose.

"Ms. Cruise slapped her in her right face. Then she took the chance to fall down stairs from the left side.

“She must have planned about it. So she only got slightly injured. Smart tricks. What a scheming woman!”

Two women came out one after another. Seeing Pierce standing at the door with a dark face, they were shocked.

His eyes were dark and cold.

“Is what you said true?”

The speaker was a bit nervous.

31 40

“It’s true. Many people were there and saw it.”

Emelia’s trick only worked for those stupid men. Women who grew up in rich families where tricks took place all the time would never fall for Pierce had a complex expression. He turned around with a dark face.

He wondered why Sophia didn’t deny it just now.

It made him feel a bit blue. His attitude turned cold.

Sometimes, what he saw might be deceiving.

Since Pierce left, the two women were relieved.

Pierce went back to the break room, where Emelia was sitting sofa weakly. She had a bandage on her head, looking pitiful and fragile.

Pierce walked over, looking at her swollen right face. His eyes narrowed with a cold vibe.

“Does it hurt?”

Emelia pretended to be tough and considerate, sniffing.

“No. Pierce, don’t blame Ms. Cruise. She was just too mad and lost control.”

Pierce narrowed his eyes with annoyance and impatience in his eyes.

It reminded him of Sophia’s expression and the woman’s words in the bathroom.

For a moment, he didn’t want to stay with Emelia.

“Did she really push you?”

Emelia’s face turned pale. She almost cried.

“Pierce, you don’t trust me?”

Pierce withdrew his gaze and suppressed his emotions, touching his brow.

Emelia’s face froze. Her heart sank.

The shocking news made her look up at him in disbelief.

She didn’t expect Pierce to ask her to leave!

The next day after the party.

Sophia started working. She had learned about Eagle Entertainment in advance.

There were complicated entanglements among people. The share structure was the fruit of people's leveraging interests.

Cecilia was the biggest shareholder. But no one knew her identity.

Sophia went to the company early in the morning.

When she pushed open the door of the president's office, she found that the owner was making a call.

Mike Brant raised his brow and motioned her to wait.

Sophia smiled and nodded. Mike was Cecilia's cousin. She was related to him too. He was the president of Eagle Entertainment.

Sophia lowered her head and smiled helplessly. "Mike!"

Mike nodded slightly with gentle eyes.

"I'll ask the secretary to take you to your new office. Work hard. Or I'll dock your pay."

Sophia smiled and felt warm. She pled.

"Come on, Mike. I'll do my job well!"

Mike laughed, "I have asked your secretary to take care of you. You can go to your office now. Come to me if you need help."

Sophia nodded. Just as she was about to leave, Mike stopped her and rubbed his hands.

“We have many handsome employees. If you like any of them, just get him! They are all yours!”

Sophia’s lips twisted.

She smiled helplessly. Then she followed the secretary to her office.

Her office was right across the corridor. It was as large as Mike’s. The office was as bright and clean. The fragrance of flowers floated in the air. Apparently, it was decorated.

Her male secretary, Aylene Wilkins, handed her a stack of documents.

Aylene was considerate and efficient. He worked for Kylan before.

Kylan assigned him to the position of her secretary.

“Ms. Cruise, this project is for new trainees. We’ll work with a hot show. Select qualified and popular ones.”

Sophia nodded. It was indeed the fastest way to pick.

She flipped through the documents casually and then saw Emelia’s name in the end.

She paused. Aylene explained.

“She was the final trainee. She made it through the back door...”

Sophia chuckled. Emelia knew Sophia's position. However, she still dared to hand in her information.

Aylen added, "There will be a dinner party with these five new trainees. Will you attend the dinner party?"

She didn't have to show up as she was the director.

Sophia raised her brow and said coolly.

"Of course..."

The dinner party was held in Dream Club, a private club in Aberdyfi. It was very expensive to have fun here.

Sophia and Aylen entered one after another.

Aylen took her handbag, and Sophia lowered her head to look at her phone.

Just then, a group of rich young men walked over.

"Sophia?"

Sophia paused. They were Pierce's friends.

She slightly frowned, wondering. "Don't they know I divorced Pierce?"

A man called Chad Barker came over with a smile.

"Sophia, did you come here for Pierce? He's in the box and almost drunk..."

Sophia paused and smiled.

“We’ve got divorced.”

Chad and the others were shocked.

Then they saw Sophia and Aylene walking away while laughing.

Chad asked the waiter about her box number and then went back to the box with the others.

Pierce was constantly drinking in the box. But he was sober.

His body was in the shadow, making it hard to see him clearly.

Chad pushed the door open and sat before him.

“You got divorced? I saw Sophia laugh and talk with a man. They walked into a box!

“It’s not worth it, Pierce. That woman left with the money. You should know what kind of woman she is. Sophia doesn’t have a good background, but she’s pretty and capable enough for you!”

They all felt it was a bad decision to choose Emelia and divorce Sophia.

Pierce sat quietly with a cold vibe around him. He clutched the wine glass hard.

However, Nolan Morrison, who sat near the door, had different opinions.

“Why isn’t Emelia good enough? It was Pierce’s mother who forced her to leave him! If Emelia didn’t leave, she would pick up with Emelia!

“On the contrary, Sophia had ulterior intentions. She married Pierce forcibly. Their marriage was just a trade. Now, they've got divorced. We should feel happy for Pierce!"

People fell silent.

Then they heard the sound of glass breaking.

He put the glass heavily on the table, which made the glass break.

The atmosphere became suffocating and quiet.

Pierce stood up in silence and walked out with a smell of alcohol.

Chad followed him at once and whispered in his ear.

Pierce turned and didn't go to Sophia's box. Instead, he rested in another box.

He had complex feelings beyond description, which made him upset.

Then he got a message.

He checked it and found it was from Emelia.

"Help me! I'm in Room 8808 in Dream Club."

Pierce's face changed. He stood up abruptly.

It was the room number that Chad had just told him.

Pierce heard cries from inside.

He kicked the door open.

When he saw what was happening, he was surprised. Then Emelia jumped into his embrace, crying pitifully.

There were about 9 people. But Sophia was not here.

He was a bit relieved.

But the atmosphere in the room was a bit oppressive.

Someone recognized Pierce and was shocked.

“Mr. Clement? Why are you here?”

Pierce patted Emelia’s shoulder.

“What happened?”

Before Emelia opened her mouth, he heard a cold female voice.

“What?”

Sophia greeted the crew and then made a phone call outside.

Seeing this, she glanced at Pierce coldly.

Emelia sobbed.

“Sophia asked me to drink with them!”

She cried even harder as if she had been so humiliated.

It shocked everyone.

Pierce’s face darkened at once. He looked at Sophia with cold and complex eyes.

Sophia sneered and corrected her.

“You should call me Ms. Cruise.”

Emelia didn’t deserve to call her by her name!

The show producer walked over. He had wine all over his body and explained hurriedly.

“It’s a misunderstanding. I asked Ms. Wilson to drink, but she wouldn’t. and even slapped me. She scattered the wine on me. But I didn’t force her. They can prove it!”

“That’s true. She can refuse. But she shouldn’t pretend!”

“No one forces her. But she attacked the producer. That’s so rude!”

Other people explained with disgust at Emelia’s reaction.

Pierce put on a long face. Anger loomed on his brows.

He didn’t believe them.

“Ms. Cruise, do you think he’s telling the truth?”

Pierce called Sophia Ms. Cruise, which showed his cold attitude.

Sophia had learned that the producer was famous in the showbiz. The producer was an upright man.

She glanced at the others. “Of course, I do!”

Anyone but Emelia was trustworthy here!

Aylen stood out and nodded at Sophia.

“Ms. Cruise, that’s true. He didn’t force her. But Emelia overreacted...”

Emelia cried louder. “Nonsense. You bullied me! Pierce..

The producer didn’t know how to defend himself. Emelia cried so hard as if she had been bullied!

He hated Emelia. But he couldn’t afford to offend Pierce, who backed Emelia up.

He could only look at Sophia with pleading eyes.

Sophia raised her brow, chuckled, and interrupted her with disdain.

“Ms Wilson, don’t worry. Even if I want some girls to drink with them, I won’t ask a woman who has a kid to do so!

“They all like young and pretty girls. They have eyes. Only Pierce likes. you ”

Emelia’s cries ceased. She stood there with a pale face as if she had been slapped. She was so embarrassed.

She was indeed 8 years older than the other four trainees. She was the oldest trainee,

A pretty girl among the four trainees couldn’t help snorting, which proved Sophia’s words.

It turned the atmosphere embarrassing.

But the producer felt confident with Sophia’s help. He gritted his teeth.

“Ms. Wilson, you’re a good actress. You’ll achieve something as an actress!

“You don’t need to be in my show. With Mr. Clement’s help, I’m sure you can be the heroine in a show.”

Emelia froze.

She had nervous eyes. But the nervous look soon disappeared. It was not a big deal to offend a producer. Anyway, she had Pierce’s support.

Pierce’s eyes were gloomy and cold. His expression was complex.

He should have trusted Emelia. But he was swayed.

In the face of Sophia's disdainful look, he felt as if he had been burned.

He pressed his lips and lowered his head to look at Emelia.

"I'll have you sent back."
